§ 1859.81. Financial Hardship.

A district is eligible for financial hardship to fund all or a portion of its matching share requirement after demonstrating both of the following:

(a) The district is financially unable to provide all necessary matching funds for an eligible project. To determine this, an analysis shall be made of the district's financial records by the OPSC including data and records maintained by the CDE and the County Office of Education. The analysis shall consist of a review of the district's latest Independent Audit regarding funds available from all capital facility accounts, including developer fees, federal grants, redevelopment funds, sale proceeds from surplus property, the appraised value of facilities approved for replacement pursuant to Section 1859.82, bond funds either encumbered, unencumbered or authorized but unsold, and savings from other SFP projects. All funds thus identified that have not been expended or obligated by a contractual agreement or encumbered for a specific capital outlay purpose shall be deemed available as a matching contribution, unless the district can present satisfactory evidence to the contrary. The analysis is subject to approval by the Board.

If the district's available funds, as determined by the OPSC analysis, is less than its matching share, the district will be deemed to have met the requirements of this Subsection.

(b) The district has made all reasonable efforts to fund its matching share of the project by demonstrating it is levying the developer fee justified under law or an alternative revenue source equal to or greater than the developer fee otherwise justified under law at the time of request for hardship and the district meets at least one of the following:

(1) The current outstanding bonded indebtedness of the district, at the time of application submittal for funding, is at least 30 percent of the district's total bonding capacity or within $900,000 of 30 percent of its total bonding capacity. Outstanding bonded indebtedness includes that part of general obligation bonds, Mello-Roos Bonds, and certificates of participation which the district is paying a debt service that was issued for capital outlay school facility purposes.

(2) The district had a registered voter bond election such as a general obligation bond, Mello-Roos Bond or a School Facility Improvement District, within the previous four years, that received at least a 50 percent plus one vote, for an amount that is equal to or greater than the amount needed to fund the district's matching share requirement for that project (not to exceed the bonding capacity of the district) and any other SFP project to date.

(3) It is a County Superintendent of Schools.

(4) The project for which the district is requesting financial hardship meets all of the following:

(A) It has been approved as a health and safety facility hardship pursuant to Section 1859.82(a)(1) or the project was approved as a hardship under the provisions of the LPP.

(B) The district's contribution for the project is less than $500,000, exclusive of allowable site acquisition cost pursuant to Section 1859.74.

(5) Other evidence of reasonable effort as approved by the SAB.

If the district meets the financial hardship requirements in this Section, the amount of financial hardship is equal to the district's matching share less funds deemed available in (a).

Once a district has been notified by the OPSC that it meets the requirements of financial hardship in this Section, the district may file an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 03/01) under the provisions of financial hardship for a period of six months from the date of the OPSC notification.

§ 1859.81.1. Separate Apportionment for Site Acquisition and Design Costs.

A district that meets the financial hardship criteria in Section 1859.81 is eligible for the following:

(a) For a new construction project, a separate apportionment for site acquisition when all of the following requirements are met:

(1) The district has eligibility for grants that equal at least 50 percent of the CDE master plan capacity of the site.

(2) The district has received a contingent site approval letter from the CDE indicating that the proposed site is the best available.

(3) The district has obtained a preliminary appraisal of the property by a qualified appraiser utilizing criteria outlined in Section 1859.74.1. This report may be made without access to the site.

(b) If the conditions in (a) are met, the Board will apportion all of the following less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a):

(1) An amount not to exceed 100 percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site as determined by Section 1859.74.1 or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site including any hazardous material clean-up.

(2) The estimated relocation expenses that will conform to Title 25, California Code of Regulations, Section 6000, et seq. The reasonable and necessary relocation costs for purchasing fixtures and equipment, personal property, new machinery/equipment, and the installation of any improvements at the replacement residence or business location may be included as relocation assistance.

(3) Four percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site acquisition including any hazardous material clean-up but not less than $50,000.

(4) The estimated DTSC costs for review, approval, and oversight of the POESA and the PEA.

(c) For new construction projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed 40 percent of the new construction grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a). For modernization projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed 20 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a). The amount apportioned is an estimate of the funds needed for design, engineering, and other pre-construction project costs.

Qualifying districts may request a separate apportionment for the design and for site acquisition for the same new construction project.

The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be offset from the New Construction Adjusted Grant or the Modernization Adjusted Grant amount the district would otherwise be eligible for pursuant to Sections 1859.70 and 1859.81 when the district submits an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 03/01). A district seeking a separate apportionment for site acquisition or design costs shall submit an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 03/01). If a new construction project received a previous design apportionment, the district may request an additional design apportionment for that project up to the 40 percent maximum design apportionment allowed pursuant to this Section. The Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 03/01) must be for at least 50 percent of the New Construction Grant or at least 80 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment.

When the Board is accepting applications pursuant to Section 1859.95, the funding of the new construction or modernization grant may be made from funds set aside by the Board for financial hardship. The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be adjusted at a future date [see Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 03/01)] to assure that hardship funding for the project does not exceed the amount the district was otherwise eligible to receive.

§ 1859.82. Facility Hardship Grant.

A district is eligible for facility hardship grant funding to replace or construct new classrooms and related facilities if the district demonstrates there is an unmet need for pupil housing or the condition of the facilities, or the lack of facilities, is a threat to the health and safety of the pupils. A facility hardship is available for:

(a) New classrooms and/or subsidiary facilities (corridors, toilets, kitchens and other non-classroom space) or replacement facilities if either (1) or (2) are met:

(1) The facilities are needed to ensure the health and safety of the pupils if the district can demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Board that the health and safety of the pupils is at risk. Factors to be considered by the Board shall include the close proximity to a major free way, airport, electrical facility, high power transmission lines, dam, pipeline, industrial facility, adverse air quality emission or other health and safety risks, including structural deficiencies required by the DSA to be repaired, traffic safety or because the pupils reside in remote areas of the district and transportation to existing facilities is not possible or poses a health and safety risk.

If the request is for replacement facilities, a cost/benefit analysis must be prepared by the district and submitted to the OPSC that indicates the total costs to remain in the classroom or related facility and mitigate the problem is at least 50 percent of the Current Replacement Cost of the classroom or related facility. The cost/benefit analysis may include applicable site development costs as outlined in Section 1859.76. If the cost to remain in the classroom or related facility is less than 50 percent of the Current Replacement Cost, the district may qualify for an excessive cost modernization grant for rehabilitation costs pursuant to Section 1859.83(c).

If the request is for replacement facilities that included structural deficiencies, the cost/benefit analysis must also include a report from a licensed design professional identifying the minimum work necessary to obtain DSA approval. The report must contain a detailed cost estimate of the repairs. The report and cost estimate shall be subject to review by the OPSC for conformance with the Saylor Current Construction Cost Publication and, at the OPSC's discretion, the DSA.

If the district qualifies for replacement facilities on the same site pursuant to either (1) or (2) above, the district is eligible for funding as a new construction project. Replacement facilities shall be allowed in accordance with the square footage amounts provided in the chart in Section (b) below. If the facility eligible for replacement is not shown in the chart in Section (b) below, the replacement facility shall be limited to the square footage replaced. Additional grants may be provided for applicable site development costs pursuant to Section 1859.76 and excessive cost grants pursuant to Section 1859.83. The amounts shown will be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71.

Any grants provided pursuant to either (1) or (2) above will be reduced for any space deemed available by the Board in the district or the HSAA that could be used to house some or all of the displaced pupils, fifty percent of any insurance proceeds collectable by the district for the displaced facilities and fifty percent of the net proceeds available from the disposition of any displaced facilities.

(b) A multi-purpose room, toilet, gymnasium, school administration or library/media center, facility that meets all the following:

(1) The facility was lost or destroyed as a result of a disaster, including but not limited to fire, flood or earthquake.

(2) The facility is no longer useable for school purposes as recommended by the California Department of Education and approved by the Board.

(3) All construction activities are at least 50 percent complete.

(4) Other evidence satisfactory to the Board of circumstances beyond the control of the district that precludes substantial progress being made.

(b) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(a), the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made substantial progress in the completion of the project. The audit shall consist of a review and analysis of the district's progress report in accordance with Section 1859.104(b). Acceptable evidence of substantial progress shall be when the district has completed all of the following:

(1) Obtained the final appraisal of the site

(2) Completed all California Environmental Quality Act requirements.

(3) Obtained final approval of the site by the CDE.

(4) Provided final escrow instructions or evidence the district has filed condemnation proceedings and intends to request an order of possession of the site.

(c) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 59.81.1(c), the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made substantial progress in the completion of the project. Sufficient evidence of substantial progress shall be submittal of an Approved Application.

After the Board has received the progress report required in Section 1859.104(b) for items (a) and (b) above, a review and analysis of the report by the OPSC will be made for compliance with this Section within 60 days of the submittal of the report by the district. The OPSC must notify the district within 60 days of the submittal of the report if it intends to recommend to the Board that no substantial progress has been made on the project. If the OPSC does not respond to the district within 60 days of submittal of the report, the OPSC concurs with the district that substantial progress has been made.

Should the OPSC respond within 60 days of submittal of the progress report by the district that no substantial progress has been made or the district fails to submit the progress report within the timelines in Section 1859.104 (b) for items (a) or (b) above or the district has not filed an Approved Application for funds received pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(b), the district must report the final expenditures on the project on the Expenditure Report Form, SAB 50-06 (Revised 07/00), to the OPSC within 60 days of the OPSC notification. After receipt of the expenditure report, the OPSC will recommend to the Board that a finding be made that no substantial progress on the project has been made and that the apportionment be reduced, after accounting for the district's matching share, by any funds not yet committed by a contract for the project and any interest earned on State funds for the project. The recommendation will be made at the next regularly scheduled Board meeting. If the expenditure report is not received within the 60 day period, the OPSC will recommend that the apportionment be rescinded and any interest earned on State funds be returned to the State.

If the apportionment is reduced or rescinded as a result of a finding by the Board that no substantial progress has been made on the project, the pupils assigned to the project will be added to the district's baseline eligibility. If the apportionment was reduced, the adjustment to the baseline eligibility shall reflect any funding retained by the district based on the New Construction or Modernization Adjusted Grant funding provided for the project. The district may refile a new application for the project subject to district eligibility and priority funding at the time of resubmittal.

§ 1859.105.1. Program Accountability Environmental Hardship.

(a) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.75.1, the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made progress towards acquisition of the site pursuant to Education Code Section 17072.13(c)(2). The review shall consist of an analysis of the district's progress report in accordance with Section 1859.104(c). Acceptable evidence of substantial progress shall be when the district has completed all of the following:

- (1) Obtained the final appraisal of the site.
- (2) Completed all California Environmental Quality Act requirements.
- (3) Obtained final approval of the site by the CDE.
- (4) Provided final escrow instructions or evidence the district has filed condemnation proceedings and intends to request an order of possession of the site.

After the Board has received the progress report required in Section 1859.104(c) a review and analysis of the report by the OPSC will be made for compliance with this Section within 60 days of the submittal of the report by the district. The OPSC must notify the district within 60 days of the submittal of the report if it intends to recommend to the Board that the district has not made progress towards acquiring the site. If the OPSC does not respond to the district within 60 days of submittal of the report, the OPSC concurs with the district that it has made progress to the site acquisition.

Should the OPSC respond within 60 days of submittal of the progress report by the district that no progress has been made towards site acquisition or the district fails to submit the progress report within the timelines in Section 1859.104(c), the OPSC will recommend at the next available Board meeting that the site apportionment for the project be rescinded and that any interest earned on State funds be returned to the State. If the apportionment is rescinded as a result of a finding by the Board that no progress has been made towards acquiring the site, the pupils assigned to the project will be added to the district's baseline eligibility.

(b) The district may request one-year extensions of the site apportionment as authorized by Education Code Section 17072.13(c)(2). Acceptable criteria for approval of an extension are any of the following:

- (1) The district has received letters from the DTSC and the CDE that indicate the agency concurs that the district is making reasonable progress towards acquisition of the site.
- (2) Other reasonable evidence of effort the district has made towards acquiring the site as approved by the Board.

HISTORY

1. New section filed 6-26-2000; operative 6-26-2000 pursuant to Government Code section 11343.4(d) (Register 2000, No. 26).

§ 1859.106. Program Accountability Expenditure Audit.

The projects will be audited to assure that the expenditures incurred by the district were made in accordance with the provisions of Education Code Section 17072.35 for new construction projects and Education Code Section 17074.25 and Section 1859.79.2 for modernization projects. The audit will also assure that the district complied with all site acquisition guidelines as provided in Sections 1859.74, 1859.74.1 and 1859.75.

An adjustment in the SFP grant will be made for the following:

- (a) The difference in the value of site that was used to determine the New Construction Additional Grant provided for site, the relocation cost, the DTSC fee, and the costs for hazardous waste materials removal.
- (b) For 50 percent of any insurance proceeds collectable by the district for displaced facilities and 50 percent of the net proceeds available from the disposition of displaced facilities pursuant to Section 1859.82(a) or (b).

When the OPSC receives the final expenditure report from the district on Expenditure Report, Form SAB 50-06 (Revised 01/00), an audit of the expenditures by the OPSC shall commence within two years of the report. If the district is not notified by the OPSC within the two-year period that an audit will be made, there will be no audit of the project by the OPSC and the expenditures reported by the district shall be deemed appropriate. If the district has been notified that an audit of the expenditures will be made by the OPSC, the OPSC shall complete the audit within six months of the notification, unless additional information requested from the district has not been received.

Districts shall be required to maintain all appropriate records that support all district certifications and expenditures for all costs associated with SFP projects for a period of not less than four years from the date the notice of completion is filed for the project in order to allow other agencies, including, without limitation, the Bureau of State Audits and the State Controller to perform their audit responsibilities.

Should the OPSC conduct an audit of the district certifications or the expenditures for the project and make a finding that some or all of the expenditures were not made in accordance with the provisions of Education Code Section 17072.35 for new construction projects and Education Code Section 17074.25 and Section 1859.79.2 for modernization projects, the OPSC shall recommend to the Board that the apportionment be adjusted based on the audit findings. Upon adoption of the audit findings by the Board, the district must submit a warrant for any amount identified as being owed within 60 days of the Board action. If this does not occur, the OPSC shall initiate collection procedures from the School Fund Apportionment as outlined in Education Code Section 17076.10(c).

Should the CDE make a finding that a project did not meet the standards that were adopted by the CDE pursuant to Education Code Section 17251(b) and (c) when the district had self-certified that the project met those standards pursuant to Education Code Section 17070.50(b), the Board may request that the CDE make a recommendation that the apportionment for the project be adjusted based on the CDE finding. Any adjustment in the apportionment shall be based on the percentage of space in the project that the CDE determined did not meet those standards. Upon adoption of the finding by the Board, the district must submit a warrant for any amount identified as being owed within 60 days of the Board action. If this does not occur, the OPSC shall initiate collection procedures from the School Fund Apportionment as outlined in Education Code Section 17076.10(c).

§ 1859.81. Financial Hardship.

A district is eligible for financial hardship to fund all or a portion of its matching share requirement after demonstrating both of the following:

- (a) The district is financially unable to provide all necessary matching funds for an eligible project. To determine this, an analysis shall be made of the district's financial records by the OPSC including data and records maintained by the CDE and the County Office of Education. The analysis shall consist of a review of the district's latest Independent Audit regarding funds available from all capital facility accounts, including, but not limited to, developer fees, funds generated from capital facility certificates of participation, federal grants, redevelopment funds, sale proceeds from surplus property, the appraised value of facilities approved for replacement pursuant to Section 1859.82, bond funds either encumbered, unencumbered or authorized but unsold, and savings from other SFP projects. All funds thus identified that have not been expended or encumbered by a contractual agreement for a specific capital outlay purpose prior to the initial request for financial hardship status shall be deemed available as a matching contribution. The analysis is subject to approval by the Board.

From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may retain $19,776 per classroom in each enrollment reporting period for the cost to provide interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of classrooms needed for interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (a)(7) as follows:

- (1) Determine the current enrollment of the district by grade level as shown on the latest Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Rev. 01/01).
- (2) Determine the New Construction Grants apportioned by grade level for all SFP projects and LPP funded under the provisions of Sections 1859.12 or 1859.13 where the district has submitted an Expenditure Report, Form SAB 50-06 (Rev. 01/00) indicating that the project is 100 percent complete.
- (3) Subtract (a)(2) from (a)(1).
- (4) Determine the number of classrooms by grade level reported in Part I, Line 8 on the latest Existing School Building Capacity, Form SAB 50-02 (Rev. 01/01).
- (5) Multiply the classrooms determined in (a)(4) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe.
- (6) Subtract the product determined in (a)(5) from the difference determined in (a)(3) by grade level.
- (7) Divide the difference by grade level determined in (a)(6) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may also retain $19,776 per portable toilet unit in each reporting period for the cost to provide necessary interim toilet facilities for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of toilet facilities needed for interim housing shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (a)(7) divided by eight rounded up to the nearest whole number.

If the district's available funds, as determined by the OPSC analysis less costs for interim housing, is less than its matching share, the district will be deemed to have met the requirements of this Subsection.

(b) The district has made all reasonable efforts to fund its matching share of the project by demonstrating it is levying the developer fee justified under law or an alternative revenue source equal to or greater than the developer fee otherwise justified under law at the time of request for hardship and the district meets at least one of the following:

(1) The current outstanding bonded indebtedness of the district, at the time of request for financial hardship status, is at least 60 percent of the district's total bonding capacity. Outstanding bonded indebtedness includes that part of general obligation bonds, Mello-Roos Bonds, School Facility Improvement District Bonds and certificates of participation which the district is paying a debt service that was issued for capital outlay school facility purposes.

(2) The district had a successful registered voter bond election for at least the maximum amount allowed under Proposition 39 within the previous two years from the date of request for financial hardship status. The proceeds from the bond election that represent the maximum amount allowed under the provisions of Proposition 39 must be used to fund the district's matching share requirement for SFP project(s).

(3) It is a County Superintendent of Schools.

(4) The district's total bonding capacity at the time of the request for financial hardship status is $3 million or less.

(5) Other evidence of reasonable effort as approved by the SAB.

If the district's request for financial hardship status is denied by the Board, the district shall be deemed eligible for rental payments of $2,000 per year per classroom under the Emergency School Classroom Law of 1979 for a two year period. The number of classrooms eligible for the $2,000 rental payments shall be the sum of the numbers determined in (b)(5)(B) as follows:

(A) Determine the number of pupils by grade level that the district requested a New Construction Grant on the Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 03/01) that were denied financial hardship status.

(B) Divide the number by grade level determined in (b)(5)(A) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

If the district meets the financial hardship requirements in this Section, the amount of financial hardship is equal to the district's matching share less funds deemed available in (a).

Once a district has been notified by the OPSC that it meets the requirements of financial hardship in this Section, the district may file an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 03/01) under the provisions of financial hardship anytime within a period of 180 calendar days from the date of the OPSC notification.

If the district does not submit an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 03/01) under the provisions of financial hardship within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship status, the district must re-qualify for financial hardship status under the provisions of this Section by submittal of a new request for financial hardship status.

If the district submits an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 03/01) within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship and the project(s) has been included on an unfunded list for more than 180 calendar days, a review of the district's funds pursuant to (a) will be made to determine if additional district funds are available to fund the district's matching share of the project(s).

Financial hardship approval status by the OPSC for a separate design and/or site apportionment does not apply to any subsequent funding for the project(s).

suant to Section 1859.32. These classrooms shall be reported on the Existing School Building Capacity, Form SAB 50-02 (Revised 07/01).

§ 1859.35. Calculation of Existing School Building Capacity.

The district's existing school building capacity shall be determined by totaling the amounts calculated in (a) with the amount determined in (b) or (c), whichever is the greater:

(a) Multiply the number of available classrooms in the district or the HSAA by the following: 25 for each K-6 classroom and 27 for each 7-12 classroom. Available classrooms shall be determined by the reduction of classrooms identified in Section 1859.32 from the gross classroom inventory prepared pursuant to Section 1859.31 and the inclusion of portable classrooms as provided pursuant to Education Code Section 17071.30 (a) or (b).

(b) Multiply the K-6 pupil capacity of the elementary district, the unified district or the HSAA in a unified district as determined by the results of the calculations in (a) at the time of the initial determination of eligibility by six percent. For a high school district filing on a district-wide basis, multiply the pupil capacity of the district as determined by the results of the calculations in (a) at the time of initial determination of eligibility by six percent or, as an alternative, by eight percent of the K-12 pupil capacity within the boundaries of the district. For a high school district filing on a HSAA, multiply the K-12 pupil capacity within the boundaries of the HSAA by eight percent. When the district meets the Substantial Enrollment Requirement (SER) or qualifies for a waiver of the SER authorized by Education Code Sections 17017.6 and 17017.7 (c), the amount reported in (b) shall be zero.

(c) A number equal to the number of pupils provided operational grants as indicated in the current report of operational grants made by the CDE pursuant to Education Code Section 42268, less the number of pupils at a school on the MTYRE calendar that has a density of at least 200 or more pupils per acre when the district has at least 40 percent of its enrollment on MTYRE as of the date of determination of the existing school building capacity of the district.

§ 1859.41. High School Attendance Area Reporting.

(a) A district may request that its eligibility determination for New Construction Grants be based on a HSAA or Super HSAA basis if it meets all the following criteria:

(1) The district demonstrates that the eligibility determination for New Construction Grants in at least one of the district's HSAA or Super HSAA results in negative eligibility for maximum funding at any grade level within the HSAA or Super HSAA.

(2) The New Construction Grants eligibility determination for the HSAA or Super HSAA is based on the capacity and projected enrollment of the HSAA or Super HSAA as shown in the Eligibility Determination, Form SAB 50-03 (Revised 07/01).

(3) The eligibility determination for the HSAA or Super HSAA includes a high school that serves any combination of grades nine through twelve and the high school is not a continuation high school.

(b) If a district meets the criteria in subsection (a) and requests its eligibility determination to be based on an HSAA or Super HSAA, eligibility for future grants, with the exception of community school pupil grants for a county superintendent, in that HSAA or Super HSAA must be filed on the same basis for a period of five years from the date the district received an apportionment that was justified by eligibility under that HSAA or Super HSAA. When only a portion of the enrollment at a feeder school actually contributes to the HSAA or Super HSAA, the district shall report, as a percentage, only that portion of the enrollment. A county superintendent reporting on the basis of one or more HSAA basis may file applications by utilizing HSAA or Super HSAA boundaries of any district within the county. A county superintendent may report enrollment and file eligibility for future grants separately for special education pupils or for community school pupils.

If a district requests to re-file its eligibility determination from HSAA or Super HSAA to district-wide after the five year time period has elapsed, the existing school building capacity in the district will be determined based on classrooms available in the HSAA or Super HSAA at the time of initial request for eligibility determination and the current classrooms in the remaining portion of the district. Once the baseline eligibility has been determined for the district, it will be adjusted for classrooms constructed, funded or acquired in that HSAA or Super HSAA as provided by Section 1859.51.

Existing boundaries of a HSAA or Super HSAA may only be changed as a result of Section 1859.51(f).

§ 1859.42. Projecting Non-Special Day Class Enrollment.

The district enrollment, as reported on the Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01), shall be used to calculate the district's projected enrollment other than Special Day Class enrollment. The OPSC shall use the following methodology to determine the districts projected enrollment:

(a) All projected enrollment with the exception of Special Day Class enrollment shall be calculated pursuant to the cohort survival enrollment projection system which is described as follows:

(1) For all grades, determine the numerical change in enrollment between the current grade and the next lower grade in the previous year; determine the numerical change in enrollment between the previous year grade and the next lower grade in the second previous year; determine the numerical change in enrollment between the second previous year grade and the next lower grade in the third previous year. Determine the numerical change of kindergarten enrollment on the second previous and third previous year respectively.

(2) Compute the annual change in enrollment as explained in (1) for each grade. The annual change shall then be weighted by multiplying the most recent annual change in enrollment by three, the next most recent annual change by two, and the earliest annual change by one, and dividing the sum of the annual weighted changes for each grade by six. The result shall be the average annual change.

(3) Progress the latest reported enrollment through the five-year projection period, modifying the grade progression each year by the average annual change for each grade as computed in (2).

(b) The enrollment projection will be augmented based on the number of pupils as reported by the district on Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01), that will reside in dwelling units included in an approved subdivision map or valid tentative subdivision map that exceed the number of pupils projected as a result of the cohort survival method for that subdivision map. The augmentation shall be as follows:

(1) Progress the current enrollment as reported on Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01), for one year for each grade level. For kindergarten, the progressed current enrollment shall be the same as the reported current enrollment.

(2) Subtract the current enrollment progressed one year for each grade level from the one-year projection of enrollment for each grade level as determined in (a). If the computation results in a negative number, the number shall be deemed zero.

(3) Divide the current enrollment progressed one year for each grade level by the sum of the current enrollment progressed one year in all grade levels.

(4) Multiply the number of housing units in the subdivision by the pupil yield factor provided on the Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01).

(5) Multiply the number of pupils determined in (4) by the percentages determined in (3) for each grade.

(6) Subtract five times the value determined in (2) from the value determined in (5). If the computation results in a negative number, the number shall be deemed zero.

(7) Add the value in (6) to the fifth year of projected enrollment as computed in (a) to establish the augmented projection of enrollment.

c) The projected enrollment of a HSAA shall be computed in the same manner as that set forth in this section, except that the enrollment used in such computation shall be that of the HSAA rather than the entire district. Augmentation as provided in (b) of this Section may include only dwelling units located in the HSAA.

§ 1859.43. Projecting Special Day Class Enrollment.

The district enrollment, as reported on the Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01), shall be used to calculate the district's projected Special Day Class enrollment. The OPSC shall use the following methodology to determine the district's projected enrollment:

(a) The projected enrollment of each classification of Special Day Class students served by a school district shall be computed by multiplying the reported enrollment of Special Day Class students by the five-year projection of the same grade level of students as determined by Section 1859.42. The resulting value shall be divided by the current enrollment of the same students as provided on Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01).

(b) The projected enrollment of each classification of Special Day Class students served by a county office of education shall be computed as follows:

(1) Determine the percentage change in total Special Day Class enrollment from the current year to the previous year; determine the percentage change in total Special Day Class enrollment in the previous year to the second previous year; determine the percentage change in total Special Day Class enrollment in the second previous year to the third previous year. To determine the average annual increase, add the three percentage changes and divide by three.

(2) The current Special Day Class enrollment provided by the county office of education as reported on Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01), shall be adjusted by the average annual percentage change in (1) for each year until the five-year projected enrollment has been determined.

Article 6. New Construction Eligibility Determination

§ 1859.50. Calculations to Determine New Construction Baseline Eligibility.

The district shall calculate its eligibility determination by completion of the Eligibility Determination, Form SAB 50-03 (Revised 07/01). Eligibility determination for New Construction Grants may be requested on either a district-wide basis or on a HSAA or Super HSAA basis.

If a district requests to have its eligibility determination made on a district-wide basis, eligibility for future grants in the district must be filed on the same basis for a period of five years from the date the district received an apportionment that was justified by eligibility determined on a district-wide basis.

If a district requests to re-file its eligibility determination from district-wide to HSAA or Super HSAA after the five year time period has elapsed, the existing school building capacity in the HSAA or Super HSAA will be determined based on the classrooms available in the HSAA or Super HSAA at the time of the initial district-wide request for eligibility determination. Once the baseline eligibility has been determined for the HSAA or Super HSAA, it will be adjusted for classrooms constructed, funded or acquired in that HSAA or Super HSAA as provided by Section 1859.51.

If the district requests to have its eligibility determination made on a HSAA or Super HSAA, it must meet the criteria of Section 1859.41.

The calculated eligibility on the Eligibility Determination, Form SAB 50-03 (Revised 07/01), is the initial eligibility of the district, the HSAA or Super HSAA and shall be referenced as the baseline eligibility for future SFP funding. The baseline eligibility is the basis for filing an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/01), for a new construction SFP grant.

A district affected by a reorganization election on or after November 4, 1998 may file an application for a determination of new construction baseline eligibility after a successful reorganization election.

- (a) Reduced by the number of pupils provided grants in a new construction SFP project.
- (b) Reduced by the number of pupils housed, based on the loading standards pursuant to Education Code Section 17071.25(a)(2)(A), in a new construction LPP project funded under the provisions of the LPP pursuant to Sections 1859.12 or 1859.13.

The district shall calculate its eligibility by completion of the Eligibility Determination, Form SAB 50-03 (Revised 07/01). The eligibility determination may be made by either identifying all classrooms on the site pursuant to (a) or by the identification of all square footage on the site pursuant to (b), as follows:

(a) Identify all classrooms at the school site that would have been included in the Gross Classroom Inventory pursuant to Section 1859.31 that are:

- (1) Permanent and at least 25 years old and not previously modernized with State funds.

For purposes of identifying square footage at a school site, include the total enclosed exterior square footage of the school buildings. For multilevel buildings, include the square footage at each level.

Enrollment at the school shall be the latest CBEDS report for K-6, 7-8 and 9-12 pupils. § 1859.81. Financial Hardship.

A district is eligible for financial hardship to fund all or a portion of its matching share requirement after demonstrating both of the following:

(a) The district is financially unable to provide all necessary matching funds for an eligible project. To determine this, an analysis shall be made of the district's financial records by the OPSC including data and records maintained by the CDE and the County Office of Education. The analysis shall consist of a review of the district's latest Independent Audit regarding funds available from all capital facility accounts, including, but not limited to, developer fees, funds generated from capital facility certificates of participation, federal grants, redevelopment funds, sale proceeds from surplus property, the appraised value of facilities approved for replacement pursuant to Section 1859.82, bond funds either encumbered, unencumbered or authorized but unsold, and savings from other SFP projects. All funds thus identified that have not been expended or encumbered by a contractual agreement for a specific capital outlay purpose prior to the initial request for financial hardship status shall be deemed available as a matching contribution. The analysis is subject to approval by the Board.

From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may retain $19,776 per classroom in each enrollment reporting period for the cost to provide interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of classrooms needed for interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (a)(7) as follows:

(1) Determine the current enrollment of the district by grade level as shown on the latest Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Rev. 07/01).

(2) Determine the New Construction Grants apportioned by grade level for all SFP projects and LPP funded under the provisions of Sections 1859.12 or 1859.13 where the district has submitted an Expenditure Report, Form SAB 50-06 (Rev. 01/00) indicating that the project is 100 percent complete.

(3) Subtract (a)(2) from (a)(1).

(4) Determine the number of classrooms by grade level reported in Part I, Line 8 on the latest Existing School Building Capacity, Form SAB 50-02 (Rev. 07/01).

(5) Multiply the classrooms determined in (a)(4) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe.

(6) Subtract the product determined in (a)(5) from the difference determined in (a)(3) by grade level.

(7) Divide the difference by grade level determined in (a)(6) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may also retain $19,776 per portable toilet unit in each reporting period for the cost to provide necessary interim toilet facilities for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of toilet facilities needed for interim housing shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (a)(7) divided by eight rounded up to the nearest whole number.

If the district's available funds, as determined by the OPSC analysis less costs for interim housing, is less than its matching share, the district will be deemed to have met the requirements of this Subsection.

(b) The district has made all reasonable efforts to fund its matching share of the project by demonstrating it is levying the developer fee justified under law or an alternative revenue source equal to or greater than the developer fee otherwise justified under law at the time of request for hardship and the district meets at least one of the following:

(1) The current outstanding bonded indebtedness of the district, at the time of request for financial hardship status, is at least 60 percent of the district's total bonding capacity. Outstanding bonded indebtedness includes that part of general obligation bonds, Mello-Roos Bonds, School Facility Improvement District Bonds and certificates of participation which the district is paying a debt service that was issued for capital outlay school facility purposes.

(2) The district had a successful registered voter bond election for at least the maximum amount allowed under Proposition 39 within the previous two years from the date of request for financial hardship status. The proceeds from the bond election that represent the maximum amount allowed under the provisions of Proposition 39 must be used to fund the district's matching share requirement for SFP project(s).

(3) It is a County Superintendent of Schools.

(4) The district's total bonding capacity at the time of the request for financial hardship status is $3 million or less.

(5) Other evidence of reasonable effort as approved by the SAB.

If the district's request for financial hardship status is denied by the Board, the district shall be deemed eligible for rental payments of $2,000 per year per classroom under the Emergency School Classroom Law of 1979 for a two year period. The number of classrooms eligible for the $2,000 rental payments shall be the sum of the numbers determined in (b)(5)(B) as follows:

(A) Determine the number of pupils by grade level that the district requested a New Construction Grant on the Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 07/01) that were denied financial hardship status.

(3) Divide the number by grade level determined in (b)(5)(A) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

If the district meets the financial hardship requirements in this Section, the amount of financial hardship is equal to the district's matching share less funds deemed available in (a).

Once a district has been notified by the OPSC that it meets the requirements of financial hardship in this Section, the district may file an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/01) under the provisions of financial hardship anytime within a period of 180 calendar days from the date of the OPSC notification.

If the district does not submit an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 07/01) under the provisions of financial hardship within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship status, the district must re-qualify for financial hardship status under the provisions of this Section by submittal of a new request for financial hardship status.

If the district submits an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 07/01) within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship and the project(s) has been included on an unfunded list for more than 180 calendar days, a review of the district's funds pursuant to (a) will be made to determine if additional district funds are available to fund the district's matching share of the project(s).

Financial hardship approval status by the OPSC for a separate design and/or site apportionment does not apply to any subsequent funding for the project(s).

§ 1859.81.1. Separate Apportionment for Site Acquisition and Design Costs.

A district that meets the financial hardship criteria in Section 1859.81 is eligible for the following:

(a) For a new construction project, a separate apportionment for site acquisition when all of the following requirements are met:

(1) The district has eligibility for grants that equal at least 50 percent of the CDE master plan capacity of the site.

(2) The district has received a contingent site approval letter from the CDE indicating that the proposed site is the best available.

(3) The district has obtained a preliminary appraisal of the property by a qualified appraiser utilizing criteria outlined in Section 1859.74.1. This report may be made without access to the site.

(b) If the conditions in (a) are met, the Board will apportion all of the following less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a):

(1) An amount not to exceed 100 percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site as determined by Section 1859.74.1 or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site including any hazardous material clean-up.

(2) The estimated relocation expenses that will conform to Title 25, California Code of Regulations, Section 6000, et seq. The reasonable and necessary relocation costs for purchasing fixtures and equipment, personal property, new machinery/equipment, and the installation of any improvements at the replacement residence or business location may be included as relocation assistance.

(3) Four percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site acquisition including any hazardous material clean-up but not less than $50,000.

(4) The estimated DTSC costs for review, approval, and oversight of the POESA and the PEA.

(c) For new construction projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed 40 percent of the new construction grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a). For modernization projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed 20 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a). The amount apportioned is an esimate of the funds needed for design, engineering, and other pre-construction project costs.

Qualifying districts may request a separate apportionment for the design and for site acquisition for the same new construction project.

The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be offset from the New Construction Adjusted Grant or the Modernization Adjusted Grant amount the district would otherwise be eligible for pursuant to Sections 1859.70 and 1859.81 when the district submits an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/01). A district seeking a separate apportionment for site acquisition or design costs shall submit an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/01). If a new construction project received a previous design apportionment, the district may request an additional design apportionment for that project up to the 40 percent maximum design apportionment allowed pursuant to this Section. The Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/01) must be for at least 50 percent of the New Construction Grant or at least 80 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment.

When the Board is accepting applications pursuant to Section 1859.95, the funding of the new construction or modernization grant may be made from funds set aside by the Board for financial hardship. The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be adjusted at a future date [see Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 07/01)] to assure that hardship funding for the project does not exceed the amount the district was otherwise eligible to receive.

§ 1859.82. Facility Hardship Grant.

A district is eligible for facility hardship grant funding to replace or construct new classrooms and related facilities if the district demonstrates there is an unmet need for pupil housing or the condition of the facilities, or the lack of facilities, is a threat to the health and safety of the pupils. A facility hardship is available for:

(a) New classrooms and/or subsidiary facilities (corridors, toilets, kitchens and other non-classroom space) or replacement facilities if either (1) or (2) are met:

(1) The facilities are needed to ensure the health and safety of the pupils if the district can demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Board that the health and safety of the pupils is at risk. Factors to be considered by the Board shall include the close proximity to a major freeway, airport, electrical facility, high power transmission lines, dam, pipeline, industrial facility, adverse air quality emission or other health and safety risks, including structural deficiencies required by the DSA to be repaired, traffic safety or because the pupils reside in remote areas of the district and transportation to existing facilities is not possible or poses a health and safety risk.

If the request is for replacement facilities, a cost/benefit analysis must be prepared by the district and submitted to the OPSC that indicates the total costs to remain in the classroom or related facility and mitigate the problem is at least 50 percent of the Current Replacement Cost of the classroom or related facility. The cost/benefit analysis may include applicable site development costs as outlined in Section 1859.76. If the cost to remain in the classroom or related facility is less than 50 percent of the Current Replacement Cost, the district may qualify for an excessive cost modernization grant for rehabilitation costs pursuant to Section 1859.83(e).

If the request is for replacement facilities that included structural deficiencies, the cost/benefit analysis must also include a report from a licensed design professional identifying the minimum work necessary to obtain DSA approval. The report must contain a detailed cost estimate of the repairs. The report and cost estimate shall be subject to review by the OPSC for conformance with the Saylor Current Construction Cost Publication and, at the OPSC's discretion, the DSA.

(2) The classroom or related facility was lost or destroyed as a result of a disaster such as fire, flood or earthquake and the district has demonstrated satisfactorily to the Board that the classroom or related facility was uninsurable or the cost for insurance was prohibitive.

If the district qualifies for a new or replacement school pursuant to either (1) or (2) above, the district is eligible for a New Construction Grant as a new construction project for the lesser of the pupils housed in the facility based on loading standards pursuant to Education Code Section 17071.25(a)(2) or the latest CBEDS enrollment at the site.

If the district qualifies for replacement facilities on the same site pursuant to either (1) or (2) above, the district is eligible for funding as a new construction project. Replacement facilities shall be allowed in accordance with the square footage amounts provided in the chart in Section (b) below. If the facility eligible for replacement is not shown in the chart in Section (b) below, the replacement facility shall be limited to the square footage replaced. The grant amount provided shall be $150 per square foot for toilet facilities and $75 per square foot for all other facilities. Additional grants may be provided for applicable site development costs pursuant to Section 1859.76 and excessive cost grants pursuant to Section 1859.83. The amounts shown will be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71.

Any grants provided pursuant to either (1) or (2) above will be reduced for any space deemed available by the Board in the district or the HSAA that could be used to house some or all of the displaced pupils, fifty percent of any insurance proceeds collectable by the district for the displaced facilities and fifty percent of the net proceeds available from the disposition of any displaced facilities.

(b) A multi-purpose room, toilet, gymnasium, school administration or library/media center, facility that meets all the following:

(1) The facility was lost or destroyed as a result of a disaster, including but not limited to fire, flood or earthquake.

(2) The facility is no longer useable for school purposes as recommended by the California Department of Education and approved by the Board.

(3) The district has demonstrated satisfactorily to the Board that the facility was uninsurable or the cost of insurance was prohibitive.

If the district qualifies, the district is eligible for funding as a new construction project. The funding amount provided shall be $75 per square foot for library/media center, school administration, gymnasium and multi-purpose facilities, and/or $150 per square foot for toilet facilities.

Additional grants may be provided for applicable site development costs pursuant to Section 1859.76 and excessive cost grants pursuant to Section 1859.83. The amounts shown will be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71.

Any grants provided pursuant to (b) above, shall be reduced by fifty percent of any insurance proceeds collectable by the district for the displaced facilities and fifty percent of the net proceeds available from the disposition of any displaced facilities.

The square footage provided, after accounting for all useable facilities on the site, shall not exceed the following:

Facility	Elementary School Pupils	Middle School Pupils	High School Pupils
Multi-Purpose	5.3 sq. ft. per pupil minimum 3,500 sq. ft.	5.3 sq. ft. per pupil minimum 4,500 sq. ft.	6.3 sq. ft. per pupil minimum 7,500 sq. ft.

(c) A district seeking replaced facilities as a result of either (a) or (b) above must submit an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/01) for the replaced facilities:

(1) Within 18 months if the replacement facilities will be located on the same site.

(2) Within 24 months if the replacement facilities will be located on a replacement site.

If an Approved Application for the replaced facility is not accepted within the time periods identified in (c)(1) or (c)(2) above, the Board shall re-review the criteria submitted by the district for replacement of the facility prior to apportionment of the replaced facility.

§ 1859.105. Program Accountability Progress Audit.

(a) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.70, the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made substantial progress in the completion of the project pursuant to Education Code Section 17076.10(b). The review shall consist of an analysis of the district's progress report in accordance with Section 1859.104(b). Sufficient evidence of substantial progress shall be any of the following:

(1) At least 75 percent of all site development work that is necessary prior to building construction activity is complete.

(2) At least 90 percent of the building construction activities are under contract, unless the building construction activities are delayed as a result of necessary site development work.

(3) All construction activities are at least 50 percent complete.

(4) Other evidence satisfactory to the Board of circumstances beyond the control of the district that precludes substantial progress being made.

(b) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(a), the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made substantial progress in the completion of the project. The audit shall consist of a review and analysis of the district's progress report in accordance with Section 1859.104(b). Acceptable evidence of substantial progress shall be when the district has completed all of the following:

(1) Obtained the final appraisal of the site.

(2) Completed all California Environmental Quality Act requirements.

(3) Obtained final approval of the site by the CDE.

(4) Provided final escrow instructions or evidence the district has filed condemnation proceedings and intends to request an order of possession of the site.

(c) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(c), the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made substantial progress in the completion of the project. Sufficient evidence of substantial progress shall be submittal of an Approved Application.

After the Board has received the progress report required in Section 1859.104(b) for items (a) and (b) above, a review and analysis of the report by the OPSC will be made for compliance with this Section within 60 days of the submittal of the report by the district. The OPSC must notify the district within 60 days of the submittal of the report if it intends to recommend to the Board that no substantial progress has been made on the project. If the OPSC does not respond to the district within 60 days of submittal of the report, the OPSC concurs with the district that substantial progress has been made.

Should the OPSC respond within 60 days of submittal of the progress report by the district that no substantial progress has been made or the district fails to submit the progress report within the timelines in Section 1859.104 (b) for items (a) or (b) above or the district has not filed an Approved Application for funds received pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(b), the district must report the final expenditures on the project on the Expenditure Report Form, SAB 50-06 (Revised 07/00), to the OPSC within 60 days of the OPSC notification. After receipt of the expenditure report, the OPSC will recommend to the Board that a finding be made that no substantial progress on the project has been made and that the apportionment be reduced, after accounting for the district's matching share, by any amount not yet committed by a contract for the project and any interest earned on State funds for the project. The recommendation will be made at the next regularly scheduled Board meeting. If the expenditure report is not received within the 60 day period, the OPSC will recommend that the apportionment be rescinded and any interest earned on State funds be returned to the State.

If the apportionment is reduced or rescinded as a result of a finding by the Board that no substantial progress has been made on the project, the pupils assigned to the project will be added to the district's baseline eligibility. If the apportionment was reduced, the adjustment to the baseline eligibility shall reflect any funding retained by the district based on the New Construction or Modernization Adjusted Grant funding provided for the project. The district may refile a new application for the project subject to district eligibility and priority funding at the time of resubmittal.

Districts shall be required to maintain all appropriate records that support all district certifications and expenditures for all costs associated with SFP projects for a period of not less than four years from the date the notice of completion is filed for the project in order to allow other agencies, including, without limitation, the Bureau of State Audits and the State Controller to perform their audit responsibilities.

If this does not occur, the OPSC shall initiate collection procedures from the School Fund Apportionment as outlined in Education Code Section 17076.10(c).

Should the CDE make a finding that a project did not meet the standards that were adopted by the CDE pursuant to Education Code Section 17251(b) and (c) when the district had self-certified that the project met those standards pursuant to Education Code Section 17070.50(b), the Board may request that the CDE make a recommendation that the apportionment for the project be adjusted based on the CDE finding. Any adjustment in the apportionment shall be based on the percentage of space in the project that the CDE determined did not meet those standards. Upon adoption of the finding by the Board, the district must submit a warrant for any amount identified as being owed within 60 days of the Board action. If this does not occur, the OPSC shall initiate collection procedures from the School Fund Apportionment as outlined in Education Code Section 17076.10(c).

- that have a waiver for continued use by the Board for Field Act exemptions; numerical change in enrollment between the second previous year grade and the next lower grade in the third previous year. Determine the numerical change of kindergarten enrollment on the second previous and third previous year respectively.

(2) Compute the annual change in enrollment as explained in (1) for each grade. The annual change shall then be weighted by multiplying the most recent annual change in enrollment by three, the next most recent annual change by two, and the earliest annual change by one, and dividing the sum of the annual weighted changes for each grade by six. The result shall be the average annual change.

(3) Progress the latest reported enrollment through the five-year projection period, modifying the grade progression each year by the average annual change for each grade as computed in (2).

(h) The enrollment projection will be augmented based on the number of pupils as reported by the district on Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01), that will reside in dwelling units included in an approved subdivision map or valid tentative subdivision map that exceed the number of pupils projected as a result of the cohort survival method for that subdivision map. The augmentation shall be as follows:

(1) Progress the current enrollment as reported on Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01), for one year for each grade level. For kindergarten, the progressed current enrollment shall be the same as the reported current enrollment.

(2) Subtract the current enrollment progressed one year for each grade level from the one-year projection of enrollment for each grade level as determined in (a). If the computation results in a negative number, the number shall be deemed zero.

(3) Divide the current enrollment progressed one year for each grade level by the sum of the current enrollment progressed one year in all grade levels.

(4) Multiply the number of housing units in the subdivision by the pupil yield factor provided on the Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01).

(5) Multiply the number of pupils determined in (4) by the percentages determined in (3) for each grade.

(6) Subtract five times the value determined in (2) from the value determined in (5). If the computation results in a negative number, the number shall be deemed zero.

(7) Add the value in (6) to the fifth year of projected enrollment as computed in (a) to establish the augmented projection of enrollment.

(c) The projected enrollment of a HSAA shall be computed in the same manner as that set forth in this section, except that the enrollment used in such computation shall be that of the HSAA rather than the entire district. Augmentation as provided in (b) of this Section may include only dwelling units located in the HSAA.

§ 1859.43. Projecting Special Day Class Enrollment.

The district enrollment, as reported on the Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01), shall be used to calculate the district's projected Special Day Class enrollment. The OPSC shall use the following methodology to determine the district's projected enrollment:

(a) The projected enrollment of each classification of Special Day Class students served by a school district shall be computed by multiplying the reported enrollment of Special Day Class students by the five-year projection of the same grade level of students as determined by Section 1859.42. The resulting value shall be divided by the current enrollment of the same students as provided on Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01).

(b) The projected enrollment of each classification of Special Day Class students served by a county office of education shall be computed as follows:

(1) Determine the percentage change in total Special Day Class enrollment from the current year to the previous year; determine the percentage change in total Special Day Class enrollment in the previous year to the second previous year; determine the percentage change in total Special Day Class enrollment in the second previous year to the third previous year. To determine the average annual increase, add the three percentage changes and divide by three.

(2) The current Special Day Class enrollment provided by the county office of education as reported on Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01), shall be adjusted by the average annual percentage change in (1) for each year until the five-year projected enrollment has been determined.

Article 6. New Construction Eligibility Determination

§ 1859.50. Calculations to Determine New Construction Baseline Eligibility.

The district shall calculate its eligibility determination by completion of the Eligibility Determination, Form SAB 50-03 (Revised 07/01). Eligibility determination for New Construction Grants may be requested on either a district-wide basis or on a HSAA or Super HSAA basis.

If a district requests to have its eligibility determination made on a district-wide basis, eligibility for future grants in the district must be filed on the same basis for a period of five years from the date the district received an apportionment that was justified by eligibility determined on a district-wide basis.

If a district requests to re-file its eligibility determination from district-wide to HSAA to Super HSAA after the five year time period has elapsed, the existing school building capacity in the HSAA or Super HSAA will be determined based on the classrooms available in the HSAA or Super HSAA at the time of the initial district-wide request for eligibility determination. Once the baseline eligibility has been determined for the HSAA or Super HSAA, it will be adjusted for classrooms constructed, funded or acquired in that HSAA or Super HSAA as provided by Section 1859.51.

If the district requests to have its eligibility determination made on a HSAA or Super HSAA, it must meet the criteria of Section 1859.41.

The calculated eligibility on the Eligibility Determination, Form SAB 50-03 (Revised 07/01), is the initial eligibility of the district, the HSAA or Super HSAA and shall be referenced as the baseline eligibility for future SFP funding. The baseline eligibility is the basis for filing an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 09/01), for a new construction SFP grant.

A district affected by a reorganization election on or after November 4, 1998 may file an application for a determination of new construction baseline eligibility after a successful reorganization election.

(A) The new construction project will be located on site acreage that is less than 50 percent of the site size recommended by the CDE for the master planned project capacity.

(B) The number of parking stalls to be funded does not exceed 2.25 for each classroom constructed in an elementary or middle school project.

(C) The number of parking stalls to be funded does not exceed six for each high school classroom constructed in a high school project that will serve 9-12 pupils.

§ 1859.79.2. Use of Modernization Grant Funds.

Modernization Grant funds shall be expended as set forth in Education Code Sections 17074.25 and 17070.15(f) and may also be utilized for other purposes as set forth in Education Code Section 100420(c). Modernization funding, with the exception of savings, is limited to expenditure on the specific site where the modernization grant eligibility was generated. The grant may not be used for the following:

(a) New building area with the exception of the following:

(1) Replacement building area of like kind. Additional classrooms constructed within the replacement area will reduce the new construction baseline eligibility for the district.

(2) Building area required by the federal American with Disabilities Act (ADA) or by the Division of the State Architect's (DSA) handicapped access requirements.

(b) New site development items with the exception of:

(1) Replacement, repair or additions to existing site development.

(2) Site development items required by the federal ADA Act or by the DSA's handicapped access requirements.

(c) the evaluation and removal of hazardous or solid waste and/or hazardous substances when the Department of Toxic Substance Control has determined that the site contains dangerous levels of a hazardous substance, hazardous waste, or both that exceed ten percent of the combined adjusted grant and the district matching share for the project.

(d) Leased facilities not owned by another district or a county superintendent.

Modernization Grant funds shall be expended as set forth in Education Code Section 17074.25 and may also be utilized for other purposes as set forth in Education Code Section 100420(c).

Modernization Grant funds may be used on any school facilities on the site. If the classroom facilities on the site include areas that are currently ineligible for modernization, it will not disqualify those facilities from future modernization funding.

§ 1859.81. Financial Hardship.

A district is eligible for financial hardship to fund all or a portion of its matching share requirement after demonstrating both of the following:

(a) The district is financially unable to provide all necessary matching funds for an eligible project. To determine this, an analysis shall be made of the district's financial records by the OPSC including data and records maintained by the CDE and the County Office of Education. The analysis shall consist of a review of the district's latest Independent Audit regarding funds available from all capital facility accounts, including, but not limited to, developer fees, funds generated from capital facility certificates of participation, federal grants, redevelopment funds, sale proceeds from surplus property, the appraised value of facilities approved for replacement pursuant to Section 1859.82, bond funds either encumbered, unencumbered or authorized but unsold, and savings from other SFP projects. All funds thus identified that have not been expended or encumbered by a contractual agreement for a specific capital outlay purpose prior to the initial request for financial hardship status shall be deemed available as a matching contribution. The analysis is subject to approval by the Board.

From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may retain $19,776 per classroom in each enrollment reporting period for the cost to provide interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of classrooms needed for interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (a)(7) as follows:

(1) Determine the current enrollment of the district by grade level as shown on the latest Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Rev. 07/01).

(2) Determine the New Construction Grants apportioned by grade level for all SFP projects and LPP funded under the provisions of Sections 1859.12 or 1859.13 where the district has submitted an Expenditure Report, Form SAB 50-06 (Rev. 01/00) indicating that the project is 100 percent complete.

(3) Subtract (a)(2) from (a)(1).

(4) Determine the number of classrooms by grade level reported in Part I, Line 8 on the latest Existing School Building Capacity, Form SAB 50-02 (Rev. 07/01).

(5) Multiply the classrooms determined in (a)(4) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe.

(6) Subtract the product determined in (a)(5) from the difference determined in (a)(3) by grade level.

(7) Divide the difference by grade level determined in (a)(6) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may also retain $19,776 per portable toilet unit in each reporting period for the cost to provide necessary interim toilet facilities for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of toilet facilities needed for interim housing shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (a)(7) divided by eight rounded up to the nearest whole number.

If the district's available funds, as determined by the OPSC analysis less costs for interim housing, is less than its matching share, the district will be deemed to have met the requirements of this Subsection.

(b) The district has made all reasonable efforts to fund its matching share of the project by demonstrating it is levying the developer fee justified under law or an alternative revenue source equal to or greater than the developer fee otherwise justified under law at the time of request for hardship and the district meets at least one of the following:

(1) The current outstanding bonded indebtedness of the district, at the time of request for financial hardship status, is at least 60 percent of the district's total bonding capacity. Outstanding bonded indebtedness includes that part of general obligation bonds, Mello-Roos Bonds, School Facility Improvement District Bonds and certificates of participation which the district is paying a debt service that was issued for capital outlay school facility purposes.

(2) The district had a successful registered voter bond election for at least the maximum amount allowed under Proposition 39 within the previous two years from the date of request for financial hardship status. The proceeds from the bond election that represent the maximum amount allowed under the provisions of Proposition 39 must be used to fund the district's matching share requirement for SFP project(s).

(3) It is a County Superintendent of Schools.

(4) The district's total bonding capacity at the time of the request for financial hardship status is $3 million or less.

(5) Other evidence of reasonable effort as approved by the SAB.

If the district's request for financial hardship status is denied by the Board, the district shall be deemed eligible for rental payments of $2,000 per year per classroom under the Emergency School Classroom Law of 1979 for a two year period. The number of classrooms eligible for the $2,000 rental payments shall be the sum of the numbers determined in (b)(5)(B) as follows:

(A) Determine the number of pupils by grade level that the district requested a New Construction Grant on the Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 09/01) that were denied financial hardship status.

(B) Divide the number by grade level determined in (b)(5)(A) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

If the district meets the financial hardship requirements in this Section, the amount of financial hardship is equal to the district's matching share less funds deemed available in (a).

Once a district has been notified by the OPSC that it meets the requirements of financial hardship in this Section, the district may file an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 09/01) under the provisions of financial hardship anytime within a period of 180 calendar days from the date of the OPSC notification.

If the district does not submit an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 09/01) under the provisions of financial hardship within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship status, the district must re-qualify for financial hardship status under the provisions of this Section by submittal of a new request for financial hardship status.

If the district submits an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 09/01) within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship and the project(s) has been included on an unfunded list for more than 180 calendar days, a review of the district's funds pursuant to (a) will be made to determine if additional district funds are available to fund the district's matching share of the project(s).

Financial hardship approval status by the OPSC for a separate design and/or site apportionment does not apply to any subsequent funding for the project(s).

§ 1859.81.1. Separate Apportionment for Site Acquisition and Design Costs.

A district that meets the financial hardship criteria in Section 1859.81 is eligible for the following:

(a) For a new construction project, a separate apportionment for site acquisition when all of the following requirements are met:

(1) The district has eligibility for grants that equal at least 50 percent of the CDE master plan capacity of the site.

(2) The district has received a contingent site approval letter from the CDE indicating that the proposed site is the best available.

(3) The district has obtained a preliminary appraisal of the property by a qualified appraiser utilizing criteria outlined in Section 1859.74.1. This report may be made without access to the site.

(b) If the conditions in (a) are met, the Board will apportion all of the following less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a):

(1) An amount not to exceed 100 percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site as determined by Section 1859.74.1 or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site including any hazardous material clean-up.

(2) The estimated relocation expenses that will conform to Title 25, California Code of Regulations, Section 6000, et seq. The reasonable and necessary relocation costs for purchasing fixtures and equipment, personal property, new machinery/equipment, and the installation of any improvements at the replacement residence or business location may be included as relocation assistance.

(3) Four percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site acquisition including any hazardous material clean-up but not less than $50,000.

(4) The estimated DTSC costs for review, approval, and oversight of the POESA and the PEA.

(c) For new construction projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed 40 percent of the new construction grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a). For modernization projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed 20 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a). The amount apportioned is an estimate of the funds needed for design, engineering, and other pre-construction project costs.

Qualifying districts may request a separate apportionment for the design and for site acquisition for the same new construction project.

The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be offset from the New Construction Adjusted Grant or the Modernization Adjusted Grant amount the district would otherwise be eligible for pursuant to Sections 1859.70 and 1859.81 when the district submits an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 09/01). A district seeking a separate apportionment for site acquisition or design costs shall submit an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 09/01). If a new construction project received a previous design apportionment, the district may request an additional design apportionment for that project up to the 40 percent maximum design apportionment allowed pursuant to this Section. The Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 09/01) must be for at least 50 percent of the New Construction Grant or at least 80 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment.

When the Board is accepting applications pursuant to Section 1859.95, the funding of the new construction or modernization grant may be made from funds set aside by the Board for financial hardship. The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be adjusted at a future date [see Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 09/01)] to assure that hardship funding for the project does not exceed the amount the district was otherwise eligible to receive.

§ 1859.82. Facility Hardship Grant.

A district is eligible for facility hardship grant funding to replace or construct new classrooms and related facilities if the district demonstrates there is an unmet need for pupil housing or the condition of the facilities, or the lack of facilities, is a threat to the health and safety of the pupils. A facility hardship is available for:

(a) New classrooms and/or subsidiary facilities (corridors, toilets, kitchens and other non-classroom space) or replacement facilities if either (1) or (2) are met:

(1) The facilities are needed to ensure the health and safety of the pupils if the district can demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Board that the health and safety of the pupils is at risk. Factors to be considered by the Board shall include the close proximity to a major freeway, airport, electrical facility, high power transmission lines, dam, pipeline, industrial facility, adverse air quality emission or other health and safety risks, including structural deficiencies required by the DSA to be repaired, traffic safety or because the pupils reside in remote areas of the district and transportation to existing facilities is not possible or poses a health and safety risk.

If the request is for replacement facilities, a cost/benefit analysis must be prepared by the district and submitted to the OPSC that indicates the total costs to remain in the classroom or related facility and mitigate the problem is at least 50 percent of the Current Replacement Cost of the classroom or related facility. The cost/benefit analysis may include ap-able site development costs as outlined in Section 1859.76. If the cost remain in the classroom or related facility is less than 50 percent of the Current Replacement Cost, the district may qualify for an excessive cost modernization grant for rehabilitation costs pursuant to Section 1859.83(c).

If the request is for replacement facilities that included structural deficiencies, the cost/benefit analysis must also include a report from a licensed design professional identifying the minimum work necessary to obtain DSA approval. The report must contain a detailed cost estimate of the repairs. The report and cost estimate shall be subject to review by the OPSC for conformance with the Saylor Current Construction Cost Publication and, at the OPSC's discretion, the DSA.

(2) The classroom or related facility was lost or destroyed as a result of a disaster such as fire, flood or earthquake and the district has demonstrated satisfactorily to the Board that the classroom or related facility was uninsurable or the cost for insurance was prohibitive.

If the district qualifies for a new or replacement school pursuant to either (1) or (2) above, the district is eligible for a New Construction Grant as a new construction project for the lesser of the pupils housed in the facility based on loading standards pursuant to Education Code Section 17071.25(a)(2) or the latest CBEDS enrollment at the site.

If the district qualifies for replacement facilities on the same site pursuant to either (1) or (2) above, the district is eligible for funding as a new construction project. Replacement facilities shall be allowed in accordance with the square footage amounts provided in the chart in Section (b) below. If the facility eligible for replacement is not shown in the chart in Section (b) below, the replacement facility shall be limited to the square footage replaced. The grant amount provided shall be $150 per square foot for toilet facilities and $75 per square foot for all other facilities. Additional grants may be provided for applicable site development costs pursuant to Section 1859.76 and excessive cost grants pursuant to Section 1859.83. The amounts shown will be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71.

Any grants provided pursuant to either (1) or (2) above will be reduced for any space deemed available by the Board in the district or the HSAA that could be used to house some or all of the displaced pupils, fifty percent of any insurance proceeds collectable by the district for the displaced facilities and fifty percent of the net proceeds available from the disposition of any displaced facilities.

(b) A multi-purpose room, toilet, gymnasium, school administration or library/media center, facility that meets all the following:

(1) The facility was lost or destroyed as a result of a disaster, including but not limited to fire, flood or earthquake.

(2) The facility is no longer useable for school purposes as recommended by the California Department of Education and approved by the Board.

(3) The district has demonstrated satisfactorily to the Board that the facility was uninsurable or the cost of insurance was prohibitive.

erical change in enrollment between the second previous year grade and the next lower grade in the third previous year. Determine the numerical change of kindergarten enrollment on the second previous and third previous year respectively.

(2) Compute the annual change in enrollment as explained in (1) for each grade. The annual change shall then be weighted by multiplying the most recent annual change in enrollment by three, the next most recent annual change by two, and the earliest annual change by one, and dividing the sum of the annual weighted changes for each grade by six. The result shall be the average annual change.

(3) Progress the latest reported enrollment through the five-year projection period, modifying the grade progression each year by the average annual change for each grade as computed in (2).

(b) The enrollment projection will be augmented based on the number of pupils as reported by the district on Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01), that will reside in dwelling units included in an approved subdivision map or valid tentative subdivision map that exceed the number of pupils projected as a result of the cohort survival method for that subdivision map. The augmentation shall be as follows:

(1) Progress the current enrollment as reported on Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01), for one year for each grade level. For kindergarten, the progressed current enrollment shall be the same as the reported current enrollment.

(2) Subtract the current enrollment progressed one year for each grade level from the one-year projection of enrollment for each grade level as determined in (a). If the computation results in a negative number, the number shall be deemed zero.

(3) Divide the current enrollment progressed one year for each grade level by the sum of the current enrollment progressed one year in all grade levels.

(4) Multiply the number of housing units in the subdivision by the pupil factor provided on the Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01).

(5) Multiply the number of pupils determined in (4) by the percentages determined in (3) for each grade.

(6) Subtract five times the value determined in (2) from the value determined in (5). If the computation results in a negative number, the number shall be deemed zero.

(7) Add the value in (6) to the fifth year of projected enrollment as computed in (a) to establish the augmented projection of enrollment.

(c) The projected enrollment of a HSAA shall be computed in the same manner as that set forth in this section, except that the enrollment used in such computation shall be that of the HSAA rather than the entire district. Augmentation as provided in (b) of this Section may include only dwelling units located in the HSAA.

§ 1859.43. Projecting Special Day Class Enrollment.

The district enrollment, as reported on the Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01), shall be used to calculate the district's projected Special Day Class enrollment. The OPSC shall use the following methodology to determine the district's projected enrollment:

(a) The projected enrollment of each classification of Special Day Class students served by a school district shall be computed by multiplying the reported enrollment of Special Day Class students by the five-year projection of the same grade level of students as determined by Section 1859.42. The resulting value shall be divided by the current enrollment of the same students as provided on Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01).

(b) The projected enrollment of each classification of Special Day Class students served by a county office of education shall be computed as follows:

(1) Determine the percentage change in total Special Day Class enrollment from the current year to the previous year; determine the percentage change in total Special Day Class enrollment in the previous year to the second previous year; determine the percentage change in total Special Day Class enrollment in the second previous year to the third previous year. To determine the average annual increase, add the three percentage changes and divide by three.

(2) The current Special Day Class enrollment provided by the county office of education as reported on Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01), shall be adjusted by the average annual percentage change in (1) for each year until the five-year projected enrollment has been determined.

Article 6. New Construction Eligibility Determination

§ 1859.50. Calculations to Determine New Construction Baseline Eligibility.

The district shall calculate its eligibility determination by completion of the Eligibility Determination, Form SAB 50-03 (Revised 07/01). Eligibility determination for New Construction Grants may be requested on either a district-wide basis or on a HSAA or Super HSAA basis.

If a district requests to have its eligibility determination made on a district-wide basis, eligibility for future grants in the district must be filed on the same basis for a period of five years from the date the district received an apportionment that was justified by eligibility determined on a district-wide basis.

If a district requests to re-file its eligibility determination from district-wide to HSAA to Super HSAA after the five year time period has elapsed, the existing school building capacity in the HSAA or Super HSAA will be determined based on the classrooms available in the HSAA or Super HSAA at the time of the initial district-wide request for eligibility determination. Once the baseline eligibility has been determined for the HSAA or Super HSAA, it will be adjusted for classrooms constructed, funded or acquired in that HSAA or Super HSAA as provided by Section 1859.51.

If the district requests to have its eligibility determination made on a HSAA or Super HSAA, it must meet the criteria of Section 1859.41.

The calculated eligibility on the Eligibility Determination, Form SAB 50-03 (Revised 07/01), is the initial eligibility of the district, the HSAA or Super HSAA and shall be referenced as the baseline eligibility for future SFP funding. The baseline eligibility is the basis for filing an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02), for a new construction SFP grant.

A district affected by a reorganization election on or after November 4, 1998 may file an application for a determination of new construction baseline eligibility after a successful reorganization election.

The district shall calculate its eligibility by completion of the Eligibility Determination, Form SAB 50-03 (Revised 07/01). The eligibility determination may be made by either identifying all classrooms on the site pursuant to (a) or by the identification of all square footage on the site pursuant to (b), as follows:

(a) Identify all classrooms at the school site that would have been included in the Gross Classroom Inventory pursuant to Section 1859.31 that are:

(1) Permanent and at least 25 years old and not previously modernized with State funds.

For purposes of identifying square footage at a school site, include the total enclosed exterior square footage of the school buildings. For multilevel buildings, include the square footage at each level.

Enrollment at the school shall be the latest CBEDS report for K-6, 7-8 and 9-12 pupils. § 1859.81. Financial Hardship.

A district is eligible for financial hardship to fund all or a portion of its matching share requirement after demonstrating both of the following:

- (a) The district is financially unable to provide all necessary matching funds for an eligible project. To determine this, an analysis shall be made of the district's financial records by the OPSC including data and records maintained by the CDE and the County Office of Education. The analysis shall consist of a review of the district's latest Independent Audit regarding funds available from all capital facility accounts, including, but not limited to, developer fees, funds generated from capital facility certificates of participation, federal grants, redevelopment funds, sale proceeds from surplus property, the appraised value of facilities approved for replacement pursuant to Section 1859.82, bond funds either encumbered, unencumbered or authorized but unsold, and savings from other SFP projects. All funds thus identified that have not been expended or encumbered by a contractual agreement for a specific capital outlay purpose prior to the initial request for financial hardship status shall be deemed available as a matching contribution. The analysis is subject to approval by the Board.

From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may retain $19,776 per classroom in each enrollment reporting period for the cost to provide interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of classrooms needed for interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (a)(7) as follows:

- (1) Determine the current enrollment of the district by grade level as shown on the latest Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Rev. 07/01).
- (2) Determine the New Construction Grants apportioned by grade level for all SFP projects and LPP funded under the provisions of Sections 1859.12 or 1859.13 where the district has submitted an Expenditure Report, Form SAB 50-06 (Rev. 01/00) indicating that the project is 100 percent complete.
- (3) Subtract (a)(2) from (a)(1).

(4) Determine the number of classrooms by grade level reported in Part I, Line 8 on the latest Existing School Building Capacity, Form SAB 50-02 (Rev. 07/01).

(5) Multiply the classrooms determined in (a)(4) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe.

(6) Subtract the product determined in (a)(5) from the difference determined in (a)(3) by grade level.

(7) Divide the difference by grade level determined in (a)(6) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may also retain $19,776 per portable toilet unit in each reporting period for the cost to provide necessary interim toilet facilities for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of toilet facilities needed for interim housing shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (a)(7) divided by eight rounded up to the nearest whole number.

If the district's available funds, as determined by the OPSC analysis less costs for interim housing, is less than its matching share, the district will be deemed to have met the requirements of this Subsection.

(b) The district has made all reasonable efforts to fund its matching share of the project by demonstrating it is levying the developer fee justified under law or an alternative revenue source equal to or greater than the developer fee otherwise justified under law at the time of request for hardship and the district meets at least one of the following:

(1) The current outstanding bonded indebtedness of the district, at the time of request for financial hardship status, is at least 60 percent of the district's total bonding capacity. Outstanding bonded indebtedness includes that part of general obligation bonds, Mello-Roos Bonds, School Facility Improvement District Bonds and certificates of participation which the district is paying a debt service that was issued for capital outlay school facility purposes.

(2) The district had a successful registered voter bond election for at least the maximum amount allowed under Proposition 39 within the previous two years from the date of request for financial hardship status. The proceeds from the bond election that represent the maximum amount allowed under the provisions of Proposition 39 must be used to fund the district's matching share requirement for SFP project(s).

(3) It is a County Superintendent of Schools.

(4) The district's total bonding capacity at the time of the request for financial hardship status is $3 million or less.

(5) Other evidence of reasonable effort as approved by the SAB.

If the district's request for financial hardship status is denied by the Board, the district shall be deemed eligible for rental payments of $2,000 per year per classroom under the Emergency School Classroom Law of 1979 for a two year period. The number of classrooms eligible for the $2,000 rental payments shall be the sum of the numbers determined in (b)(5)(B) as follows:

(A) Determine the number of pupils by grade level that the district requested a New Construction Grant on the Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 07/02) that were denied financial hardship status.

(B) Divide the number by grade level determined in (b)(5)(A) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

If the district meets the financial hardship requirements in this Section, the amount of financial hardship is equal to the district's matching share less funds deemed available in (a).

Once a district has been notified by the OPSC that it meets the requirements of financial hardship in this Section, the district may file an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02) under the provisions of financial hardship anytime within a period of 180 calendar days from the date of the OPSC notification.

If the district does not submit an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 07/02) under the provisions of financial hardship within 180

calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship status, the district must re-qualify for financial hardship status under the provisions of this Section by submittal of a new request for financial hardship status.

If the district submits an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 07/02) within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship and the project(s) has been included on an unfunded list for more than 180 calendar days, a review of the district's funds pursuant to (a) will be made to determine if additional district funds are available to fund the district's matching share of the project(s).

Financial hardship approval status by the OPSC for a separate design and/or site apportionment does not apply to any subsequent funding for the project(s).

§ 1859.81.1. Separate Apportionment for Site Acquisition and Design Costs.

A district that meets the financial hardship criteria in Section 1859.81 is eligible for the following:

(a) For a new construction project, a separate apportionment for site acquisition when all of the following requirements are met:

(1) The district has eligibility for grants that equal at least 50 percent of the CDE master plan capacity of the site.

(2) The district has received a contingent site approval letter from the CDE indicating that the proposed site is the best available.

(3) The district has obtained a preliminary appraisal of the property by a qualified appraiser utilizing criteria outlined in Section 1859.74.1. This report may be made without access to the site.

(b) If the conditions in (a) are met, the Board will apportion all of the following less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a):

(1) An amount not to exceed 100 percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site as determined by Section 1859.74.1 or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site including any hazardous material clean-up.

(2) The estimated relocation expenses that will conform to Title 25, California Code of Regulations, Section 6000, et seq. The reasonable and necessary relocation costs for purchasing fixtures and equipment, personal property, new machinery/equipment, and the installation of any improvements at the replacement residence or business location may be included as relocation assistance.

(3) Four percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site acquisition including any hazardous material clean-up but not less than $50,000.

(4) The estimated DTSC costs for review, approval, and oversight of the POESA and the PEA.

(c) For new construction projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed 40 percent of the new construction grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a). For modernization projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed 20 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a). The amount apportioned is an estimate of the funds needed for design, engineering, and other pre-construction project costs.

Qualifying districts may request a separate apportionment for the design and for site acquisition for the same new construction project.

The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be offset from the New Construction Adjusted Grant or the Modernization Adjusted Grant amount the district would otherwise be eligible for pursuant to Sections 1859.70 and 1859.81 when the district submits an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02). A district seeking a separate apportionment for site acquisition or design costs shall submit an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02). If a new construction project received a previous design apportionment, the district may request an additional design apportionment for that project up to the 40 percent maximum design apportionment allowed pursuant to this Section. The Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02) must be for at least 50 percent of the New Construction Grant or at least 80 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment.

When the Board is accepting applications pursuant to Section 1859.95, the funding of the new construction or modernization grant may be made from funds set aside by the Board for financial hardship. The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be adjusted at a future date [see Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 07/02)] to assure that hardship funding for the project does not exceed the amount the district was otherwise eligible to receive.

§ 1859.82. Facility Hardship Grant.

A district is eligible for facility hardship grant funding to replace or construct new classrooms and related facilities if the district demonstrates there is an unmet need for pupil housing or the condition of the facilities, or the lack of facilities, is a threat to the health and safety of the pupils. A facility hardship is available for:

(a) New classrooms and/or subsidiary facilities (corridors, toilets, kitchens and other non-classroom space) or replacement facilities if either (1) or (2) are met:

(1) The facilities are needed to ensure the health and safety of the pupils if the district can demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Board that the health and safety of the pupils is at risk. Factors to be considered by the Board shall include the close proximity to a major freeway, airport, electrical facility, high power transmission lines, dam, pipeline, industrial facility, adverse air quality emission or other health and safety risks, including structural deficiencies required by the DSA to be repaired, traffic safety or because the pupils reside in remote areas of the district and transportation to existing facilities is not possible or poses a health and safety risk.

If the request is for replacement facilities, a cost/benefit analysis must be prepared by the district and submitted to the OPSC that indicates the total costs to remain in the classroom or related facility and mitigate the problem is at least 50 percent of the Current Replacement Cost of the classroom or related facility. The cost/benefit analysis may include applicable site development costs as outlined in Section 1859.76. If the cost to remain in the classroom or related facility is less than 50 percent of the Current Replacement Cost, the district may qualify for an excessive cost modernization grant for rehabilitation costs pursuant to Section 1859.83(c).

If the request is for replacement facilities that included structural deficiencies, the cost/benefit analysis must also include a report from a licensed design professional identifying the minimum work necessary to obtain DSA approval. The report must contain a detailed cost estimate of the repairs. The report and cost estimate shall be subject to review by the OPSC for conformance with the Saylor Current Construction Cost Publication and, at the OPSC's discretion, the DSA.

(2) The classroom or related facility was lost or destroyed as a result of a disaster such as fire, flood or earthquake and the district has demonstrated satisfactorily to the Board that the classroom or related facility was uninsurable or the cost for insurance was prohibitive.

If the district qualifies for a new or replacement school pursuant to either (1) or (2) above, the district is eligible for a New Construction Grant as a new construction project for the lesser of the pupils housed in the facility based on loading standards pursuant to Education Code Section 17071.35(a)(2) or the latest CBEDS enrollment at the site.

If the district qualifies for replacement facilities on the same site pursuant to either (1) or (2) above, the district is eligible for funding as a new construction project. Replacement facilities shall be allowed in accordance with the square footage amounts provided in the chart in Section (b) below. If the facility eligible for replacement is not shown in the chart in Section (b) below, the replacement facility shall be limited to the square footage replaced. The grant amount provided shall be $153.30 per square foot for toilet facilities and $78.30 per square foot for all other facilities. Additional grants may be provided for applicable site development costs pursuant to Section 1859.76 and excessive cost grants pursuant to Section 1859.83. The amounts shown will be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71.

Any grants provided pursuant to either (1) or (2) above will be reduced for any space deemed available by the Board in the district or the HSAA that would be used to house some or all of the displaced pupils, fifty percent of any insurance proceeds collectable by the district for the displaced facilities and fifty percent of the net proceeds available from the disposition of any displaced facilities.

(b) A multi-purpose room, toilet, gymnasium, school administration or library/media center, facility that meets all the following:

(1) The facility was lost or destroyed as a result of a disaster, including but not limited to fire, flood or earthquake.

(2) The facility is no longer useable for school purposes as recommended by the California Department of Education and approved by the Board.

(3) The district has demonstrated satisfactorily to the Board that the facility was uninsurable or the cost of insurance was prohibitive.

If the district qualifies, the district is eligible for funding as a new construction project. The funding amount provided shall be $78.30 per square foot for library/media center, school administration, gymnasium and multi-purpose facilities, and/or $153.30 per square foot for toilet facilities. Additional grants may be provided for applicable site development costs pursuant to Section 1859.76 and excessive cost grants pursuant to Section 1859.83. The amounts shown will be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71.

Any grants provided pursuant to (b) above, shall be reduced by fifty percent of any insurance proceeds collectable by the district for the displaced facilities and fifty percent of the net proceeds available from the disposition of any displaced facilities.

The square footage provided, after accounting for all useable facilities on the site, shall not exceed the following:

Facility	Elementary School Pupils	Middle School Pupils	High School Pupils
Multi-Purpose	5.3 sq. ft. per pupil minimum 3,500 sq. ft.	5.3 sq. ft. per pupil minimum 4,500 sq. ft.	6.3 sq. ft. per pupil minimum 7,500 sq. ft.

§ 1859.105. Program Accountability Progress Audit.

(a) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.70, the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made substantial progress in the completion of the project pursuant to Education Code Section 17076.10(b). The review shall consist of an analysis of the district's progress report in accordance with Section 1859.104(b). Sufficient evidence of substantial progress shall be any of the following:

- (1) At least 75 percent of all site development work that is necessary to building construction activity is complete.
- (2) At least 90 percent of the building construction activities are under contract, unless the building construction activities are delayed as a result of necessary site development work.
- (3) All construction activities are at least 50 percent complete.
- (4) Other evidence satisfactory to the Board of circumstances beyond the control of the district that precludes substantial progress being made.

(b) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(a), the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made substantial progress in the completion of the project. The audit shall consist of a review and analysis of the district's progress report in accordance with Section 1859.104(b). Acceptable evidence of substantial progress shall be when the district has completed all of the following:

- (1) Obtained the final appraisal of the site.
- (2) Completed all California Environmental Quality Act requirements.
- (3) Obtained final approval of the site by the CDE.
- (4) Provided final escrow instructions or evidence the district has filed condemnation proceedings and intends to request an order of possession of the site.

(c) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(c) the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made substantial progress in the completion of the project. Sufficient evidence of substantial progress shall be any of the following:

- (1) An Approved New Construction or Modernization Adjusted Grant Application; or
- (2) A school district certification that the final building plans for the project have been submitted to and accepted by the DSA for review and approval; or
- (3) An approved separate site funding application pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(a) or an approved environmental hardship funding application pursuant to Section 1859.75.1; or
- (4) Other evidence satisfactory to the Board detailing the reason(s) that plans have not been completed and accepted by the DSA. If the Board determines that substantial progress has been made pursuant to Education Code Section 17076.10(b), the Board shall condition its finding of substantial progress upon the district's commitment to complete and submit an Approved New Construction or Modernization Adjusted Grant Application within a period not to exceed 18 months from the date of the Board's determination of substantial progress.

After the Board has received the progress report required in Section 1859.104(b) for items (a), (b), and (c) above, a review and analysis of the report by the OPSC will be made for compliance with this Section within 60 days of the submittal of the report by the district. The OPSC must notify the district within 60 days of the submittal of the report if it intends to recommend to the Board that no substantial progress has been made on the project. If the OPSC does not respond to the district within 60 days of submittal of the report, the OPSC concurs with the district that substantial progress has been made.

Should the OPSC respond within 60 days of submittal of the progress report by the district that no substantial progress has been made or the district fails to submit the progress report within the timelines in Section 1859.104 (b) for items (a), (b), and (c) above or the district has not filed an Approved Application for funds received pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(b), the district must report the final expenditures on the project on the Expenditure Report Form, SAB 50-06 (Revised 07/00), to the OPSC within 60 days of the OPSC notification. After receipt of the expenditure report, the OPSC will recommend to the Board that a finding be made that no substantial progress on the project has been made and that the apportionment be reduced, after accounting for the district's matching share, by any funds not yet committed by a contract for the project and any interest earned on State funds for the project. The recommendation will be made at the next regularly scheduled Board meeting. If the expenditure report is not received within the 60 day period, the OPSC will recommend that the apportionment be rescinded and any interest earned on State funds be returned to the State.

If the apportionment is reduced or rescinded as a result of a finding by the Board that no substantial progress has been made on the project, the pupils assigned to the project will be added to the district's baseline eligibility. If the apportionment was reduced, the adjustment to the baseline eligibility shall reflect any funding retained by the district based on the New Construction or Modernization Adjusted Grant funding provided for the project. The district may refile a new application for the project subject to district eligibility and priority funding at the time of resubmittal.

§ 1859.105.1. Program Accountability Environmental Hardship.

(a) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.75.1, the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made progress towards acquisition of the site pursuant to Education Code Section 17072.13(c)(2). The review shall consist of an analysis of the district's progress report in accordance with Section 1859.104(c). Acceptable evidence of substantial progress shall be when the district has completed all of the following:

- (1) Obtained the final appraisal of the site.
- (2) Completed all California Environmental Quality Act requirements.
- (3) Obtained final approval of the site by the CDE.
- (4) Provided final escrow instructions or evidence the district has filed condemnation proceedings and intends to request an order of possession of the site.

After the Board has received the progress report required in Section 1859.104(c) a review and analysis of the report by the OPSC will be made for compliance with this Section within 60 days of the submittal of the report by the district. The OPSC must notify the district within 60 days of the submittal of the report if it intends to recommend to the Board that the district has not made progress towards acquiring the site. If the OPSC does not respond to the district within 60 days of submittal of the report, the OPSC concurs with the district that it has made progress to the site acquisition.

Should the OPSC respond within 60 days of submittal of the progress report by the district that no progress has been made towards site acquisition or the district fails to submit the progress report within the timelines in Section 1859.104(c), the OPSC will recommend at the next available Board meeting that the site apportionment for the project be rescinded and that any interest earned on State funds be returned to the State. If the apportionment is rescinded as a result of a finding by the Board that no progress has been made towards acquiring the site, the pupils assigned to the project will be added to the district's baseline eligibility.

(b) The district may request one-year extensions of the site apportionment as authorized by Education Code Section 17072.13(c)(2). Acceptable criteria for approval of an extension are any of the following:

- (1) The district has received letters from the DTSC and the CDE that indicate the agency concurs that the district is making reasonable progress towards acquisition of the site.
- (2) Other reasonable evidence of effort the district has made towards acquiring the site as approved by the Board.

HISTORY

1. New section filed 6-26-2000; operative 6-26-2000 pursuant to Government Code section 11343.4(d) (Register 2000, No. 26).

§ 1859.106. Program Accountability Expenditure Audit.

The projects will be audited to assure that the expenditures incurred by the district were made in accordance with the provisions of Education Code Section 17072.35 for new construction projects and Education Code Section 17074.25 and Section 1859.79.2 for modernization projects. The audit will also assure that the district complied with all site acquisition guidelines as provided in Sections 1859.74, 1859.74.1, 1859.74.2, 1859.74.4, 1859.75 and 1859.75.1.

An adjustment in the SFP grant will be made for the following:

(a) The difference in the value of site and the hazardous waste removal costs that were used to determine the New Construction Additional Grant and the actual amount paid by the district for the site, the relocation cost, the DTSC fee, and the costs for hazardous waste materials removal.

(b) For 50 percent of any insurance proceeds collectable by the district for displaced facilities and 50 percent of the net proceeds available from the disposition of displaced facilities pursuant to Section 1859.82(a) or (b).

(c) The difference in the hazardous waste removal costs that was used to determine the New Construction Additional Grant for Hazardous Waste Removal on an Existing Site and the actual amount paid by the district for the allowable cost for hazardous waste removal.

When the OPSC receives the final expenditure report from the district on Expenditure Report, Form SAB 50-06 (Revised 01/00), an audit of the expenditures by the OPSC shall commence within two years of the report. If the district is not notified by the OPSC within the two-year period that an audit will be made, there will be no audit of the project by the OPSC and the expenditures reported by the district shall be deemed appropriate. If the district has been notified that an audit of the expenditures will be made by the OPSC, the OPSC shall complete the audit within six months of the notification, unless additional information requested from the district has not been received.

Districts shall be required to maintain all appropriate records that support all district certifications and expenditures for all costs associated with SFP projects for a period of not less than four years from the date the notice of completion is filed for the project in order to allow other agencies, including, without limitation, the Bureau of State Audits and the State Controller to perform their audit responsibilities.

Should the OPSC conduct an audit of the district certifications or the expenditures for the project and make a finding that some or all of the expenditures were not made in accordance with the provisions of Education Code Section 17072.35 for new construction projects and Education Code Section 17074.25 and Section 1859.79.2 for modernization projects, the OPSC shall recommend to the Board that the apportionment be adjusted based on the audit findings. Upon adoption of the audit findings by the Board, the district must submit a warrant for any amount identified as being owed within 60 days of the Board action. If this does not occur, the OPSC shall initiate collection procedures from the School Fund Apportionment as outlined in Education Code Section 17076.10(c).

Should the CDE make a finding that a project did not meet the standards that were adopted by the CDE pursuant to Education Code Section 17251(b) and (c) when the district had self-certified that the project met those standards pursuant to Education Code Section 17070.50(b), the Board may request that the CDE make a recommendation that the apportionment for the project be adjusted based on the CDE finding. Any adjustment in the apportionment shall be based on the percentage of space in the project that the CDE determined did not meet those standards. Upon adoption of the finding by the Board, the district must submit a warrant for any amount identified as being owed within 60 days of the Board action. If this does not occur, the OPSC shall initiate collection procedures from the School Fund Apportionment as outlined in Education Code Section 17076.10(c).

859.107. Amending and Withdrawal of Applications.

A funding application that received an apportionment under Chapter 12 or Chapter 12.5 may not be rescinded and re-approved under the provisions of any amended law or administrative regulation unless specifically authorized by other applicable law.

A funding application that has received an approval pursuant to Section 1859.95, but has not received an apportionment, may receive an adjustment as allowed under Regulation Sections 1859.71, 1859.71.2(c), 1859.78.4(b) or 1859.78 at the time the apportionment is made. If the adjustment is a result of Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b), the district must submit an amended Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02). The amended application shall retain its OPSC processing date. No other adjustments may be made, including those resulting from changes to the regulations prior to final funding by the SAB. As an alternative, the application may be withdrawn and resubmitted for SAB approval under the provisions of any amended or new regulation that becomes effective prior to the apportionment for the project. The district must first request from the OPSC that the application be withdrawn and removed from the Unfunded List. The district may then resubmit the application to the OPSC under the provisions of the amended or new regulation once it is effective. The resubmitted application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC. School districts that have already received a site apportionment under Section 1859.81.1(a) may withdraw the application and file as an environmental hardship pursuant to Section 1859.75.1 without forfeiting their original site apportionment, provided that the new application does not exceed the amount already apportioned.

Any application for eligibility determination that has received an approval may be amended to comply with provisions of an amended or new regulation once it is effective. The amended application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC.

A funding application submitted to the OPSC that has not received an approval will receive funding under the provisions of the regulations that were in effect when the application was submitted to the OPSC and any funding adjustment authorized by Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b). If the funding adjustment is a result of Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b), the district must submit an amended Application for Funding Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02). The amended application shall retain its OPSC processing date. At the option of the district, a funding application submitted to the OPSC that has not received an approval may be withdrawn and resubmitted for SAB approval under the provisions of any amended or new regulation once it is effective. The district must request that the application be withdrawn and removed from the OPSC workload list. The resubmitted application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC.

Any application for eligibility determination that has not received an approval may be amended at any time to conform to an amended or new regulation. The application shall retain its OPSC processing date.

Any application for new construction eligibility determination that has received an approval must be amended to conform to Regulation Section 1859.51(l) prior to submittal of an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02).

Any application for new construction eligibility determination that has not received an approval must be amended to conform to the Existing Building Capacity, Form SAB 50-02 (Revised 07/01) and the Eligibility Determination, Form SAB 50-03 (Revised 07/01) prior to submittal of an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02).

Any application for modernization eligibility determination that has received an approval must be amended to conform to Regulation Section 1859.61(g) prior to submittal of an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02).

Any application for modernization eligibility determination that has received an approval must be amended to conform to the Eligibility

Determination, Form SAB 50-03 (Revised 07/01) prior to submittal of an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02).

Districts that have received an approval of eligibility on a HSAA or Super HSAA are not required to re-establish eligibility under the provisions of Section 1859.41(a).

Districts that have requested eligibility determination on a HSAA or Super HSAA that have not received an approval must comply with the provisions of Section 1859.41(a) prior to submittal of an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02). The amended eligibility application shall retain its original OPSC processing date.

A district that has received an approval of its eligibility determination on a district-wide, HSAA or Super HSAA basis, but received no New Construction Grants, may re-file on another eligibility determination basis provided it withdraws all previously submitted Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02) requests for New Construction Grants, including those on the Unfunded List.

§ 1859.81. Financial Hardship.

A district is eligible for financial hardship to fund all or a portion of its matching share requirement after demonstrating both of the following:

(a) The district is financially unable to provide all necessary matching funds for an eligible project. To determine this, an analysis shall be made of the district's financial records by the OPSC including data and records maintained by the CDE and the County Office of Education. The analysis shall consist of a review of the district's latest Independent Audit regarding funds available from all capital facility accounts, including, but not limited to, developer fees, funds generated from capital facility certificates of participation, federal grants, redevelopment funds, sale proceeds from surplus property, the appraised value of facilities approved for replacement pursuant to Section 1859.82, bond funds either encumbered, unencumbered or authorized but unsold, and savings from other SFP projects. All funds thus identified that have not been expended or encumbered by a contractual agreement for a specific capital outlay purpose prior to the initial request for financial hardship status shall be deemed available as a matching contribution. The analysis is subject to approval by the Board.

From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may retain $19,776 per classroom in each enrollment reporting period for the cost to provide interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of classrooms needed for interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (a)(7) as follows:

(1) Determine the current enrollment of the district by grade level as shown on the latest Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Rev. 07/01).

(2) Determine the New Construction Grants apportioned by grade level for all SFP projects and LPP funded under the provisions of Sections 1859.12 or 1859.13 where the district has submitted an Expenditure Report, Form SAB 50-06 (Rev. 01/00) indicating that the project is 100 percent complete.

(3) Subtract (a)(2) from (a)(1).

(4) Determine the number of classrooms by grade level reported in Part I, Line 8 on the latest Existing School Building Capacity, Form SAB 50-02 (Rev. 07/01).

(5) Multiply the classrooms determined in (a)(4) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe.

(6) Subtract the product determined in (a)(5) from the difference determined in (a)(3) by grade level.

(7) Divide the difference by grade level determined in (a)(6) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may also retain $19,776 per portable toilet unit in each reporting period for the cost to provide necessary interim toilet facilities for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of toilet facilities needed for interim housing shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (a)(7) divided by eight rounded up to the nearest whole number.

If the district's available funds, as determined by the OPSC analysis less costs for interim housing, is less than its matching share, the district will be deemed to have met the requirements of this Subsection.

(b) The district has made all reasonable efforts to fund its matching share of the project by demonstrating it is levying the developer fee justified under law or an alternative revenue source equal to or greater than the developer fee otherwise justified under law at the time of request for hardship and the district meets at least one of the following:

(1) The current outstanding bonded indebtedness of the district, at the time of request for financial hardship status, is at least 60 percent of the district's total bonding capacity. Outstanding bonded indebtedness includes that part of general obligation bonds, Mello-Roos Bonds, School Facility Improvement District Bonds and certificates of participation which the district is paying a debt service that was issued for capital outlay school facility purposes.

(2) The district had a successful registered voter bond election for at least the maximum amount allowed under Proposition 39 within the previous two years from the date of request for financial hardship status. The proceeds from the bond election that represent the maximum amount allowed under the provisions of Proposition 39 must be used to fund the district's matching share requirement for SFP project(s).

(3) It is a County Superintendent of Schools.

(4) The district's total bonding capacity at the time of the request for financial hardship status is $3 million or less.

(5) Other evidence of reasonable effort as approved by the SAB.

If the district's request for financial hardship status is denied by the Board, the district shall be deemed eligible for rental payments of $2,000 per year per classroom under the Emergency School Classroom Law of 1979 for a two year period. The number of classrooms eligible for the

$2,000 rental payments shall be the sum of the numbers determined in (b)(5)(B) as follows:

(A) Determine the number of pupils by grade level that the district requested a New Construction Grant on the Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 07/02) that were denied financial hardship status.

(B) Divide the number by grade level determined in (b)(5)(A) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

If the district meets the financial hardship requirements in this Section, the amount of financial hardship is equal to the district's matching share less funds deemed available in (a).

Once a district has been notified by the OPSC that it meets the requirements of financial hardship in this Section, the district may file an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02) under the provisions of financial hardship anytime within a period of 180 calendar days from the date of the OPSC notification.

If the district does not submit an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 07/02) under the provisions of financial hardship within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship status, the district must re-qualify for financial hardship status under the provisions of this Section by submittal of a new request for financial hardship status.

If the district submits an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Rev. 07/02) within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship and the project(s) has been included on an unfunded list for more than 180 calendar days, a review of the district's funds pursuant to (a) will be made to determine if additional district funds are available to fund the district's matching share of the project(s).

Financial hardship approval status by the OPSC for a separate design and/or site apportionment does not apply to any subsequent funding for the project(s).

§ 1859.81.1. Separate Apportionment for Site Acquisition and Design Costs.

A district that meets the financial hardship criteria in Section 1859.81 is eligible for the following:

(a) For a new construction project, a separate apportionment for site acquisition when all of the following requirements are met:

(1) The district has eligibility for grants that equal at least 50 percent of the CDE master plan capacity of the site.

(2) The district has received a contingent site approval letter from the CDE indicating that the proposed site is the best available.

(3) The district has obtained a preliminary appraisal of the property by a qualified appraiser utilizing criteria outlined in Section 1859.74.1. This report may be made without access to the site.

(b) If the conditions in (a) are met, the Board will apportion all of the following less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a):

(1) An amount not to exceed 100 percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site as determined by Section 1859.74.1 or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site including any hazardous material clean-up.

(2) The estimated relocation expenses that will conform to Title 25, California Code of Regulations, Section 6000, et seq. The reasonable and necessary relocation costs for purchasing fixtures and equipment, personal property, new machinery/equipment, and the installation of any improvements at the replacement residence or business location may be included as relocation assistance.

(3) Four percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site acquisition including any hazardous material clean-up but not less than $50,000.

(4) The estimated DTSC costs for review, approval, and oversight of the POESA and the PEA.

(c) For new construction projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed 40 percent of the new construction grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a). For modernization projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed the following:

(1) If the Approved Application is received on or before March 15, 2002, 20 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a).

(2) If the Approved Application is received after March 15, 2002, 25 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a).

The amount apportioned is an estimate of the funds needed for design, engineering, and other pre-construction project costs.

Qualifying districts may request a separate apportionment for the design and for site acquisition for the same new construction project.

The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be offset from the New Construction Adjusted Grant or the Modernization Adjusted Grant amount the district would otherwise be eligible for pursuant to Sections 1859.70 and 1859.81 when the district submits an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02). A district seeking a separate apportionment for site acquisition or design costs shall submit an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02). If a new construction project received a previous design apportionment, the district may request an additional design apportionment for that project up to the 40 percent maximum design apportionment allowed pursuant to this Section.

The Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02), that is subsequently submitted for the New Construction Adjusted Grant must be for at least 50 percent of the New Construction Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment.

The Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02), that is subsequently submitted for the Modernization Adjusted Grant must be for at least 80 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment that was received on or before March 15, 2002.

The Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02), that is subsequently submitted for the Modernization Adjusted Grant must be for at least 60 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment that was received after March 15, 2002.

When the Board is accepting applications pursuant to Section 1859.95, the funding of the new construction or modernization grant may be made from funds set aside by the Board for financial hardship. The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be adjusted at a future date [see Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02)] to assure that hardship funding for the project does not exceed the amount the district was otherwise eligible to receive.

§ 1859.82. Facility Hardship Grant.

A district is eligible for facility hardship grant funding to replace or construct new classrooms and related facilities if the district demonstrates there is an unmet need for pupil housing or the condition of the facilities, or the lack of facilities, is a threat to the health and safety of the pupils. A facility hardship is available for:

(a) New classrooms and/or subsidiary facilities (corridors, toilets, kitchens and other non-classroom space) or replacement facilities if either (1) or (2) are met:

(1) The facilities are needed to ensure the health and safety of the pupils if the district can demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Board that the health and safety of the pupils is at risk. Factors to be considered by the Board shall include the close proximity to a major freeway, airport, electrical facility, high power transmission lines, dam, pipeline, industrial facility, adverse air quality emission or other health and safety risks, including structural deficiencies required by the DSA to be repaired, traffic safety or because the pupils reside in remote areas of the district and transportation to existing facilities is not possible or poses a health and safety risk.

If the request is for replacement facilities, a cost/benefit analysis must be prepared by the district and submitted to the OPSC that indicates the total costs to remain in the classroom or related facility and mitigate the problem is at least 50 percent of the Current Replacement Cost of the classroom or related facility. The cost/benefit analysis may include applicable site development costs as outlined in Section 1859.76. If the cost to remain in the classroom or related facility is less than 50 percent of the Current Replacement Cost, the district may qualify for an excessive cost modernization grant for rehabilitation costs pursuant to Section 1859.83(e).

If the request is for replacement facilities that included structural deficiencies, the cost/benefit analysis must also include a report from a licensed design professional identifying the minimum work necessary to obtain DSA approval. The report must contain a detailed cost estimate of the repairs. The report and cost estimate shall be subject to review by the OPSC for conformance with the Saylor Current Construction Cost Publication and, at the OPSC's discretion, the DSA.

(2) The classroom or related facility was lost or destroyed as a result of a disaster such as fire, flood or earthquake and the district has demonstrated satisfactorily to the Board that the classroom or related facility was uninsurable or the cost for insurance was prohibitive.

If the district qualifies for a new or replacement school pursuant to either (1) or (2) above, the district is eligible for a New Construction Grant as a new construction project for the lesser of the pupils housed in the facility based on loading standards pursuant to Education Code Section 17071.25(a)(2) or the latest CBEDS enrollment at the site.

If the district qualifies for replacement facilities on the same site pursuant to either (1) or (2) above, the district is eligible for funding as a new construction project. Replacement facilities shall be allowed in accordance with the square footage amounts provided in the chart in Section (b) below. If the facility eligible for replacement is not shown in the chart in Section (b) below, the replacement facility shall be limited to the square footage replaced. The grant amount provided shall be $153.30 per square foot for toilet facilities and $78.30 per square foot for all other facilities. Additional grants may be provided for applicable site development costs pursuant to Section 1859.76 and excessive cost grants pursuant to Section 1859.83. The amounts shown will be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71.

Any grants provided pursuant to either (1) or (2) above will be reduced for any space deemed available by the Board in the district or the HSAA that could be used to house some or all of the displaced pupils, fifty percent of any insurance proceeds collectable by the district for the displaced facilities and fifty percent of the net proceeds available from the disposition of any displaced facilities.

(b) A multi-purpose room, toilet, gymnasium, school administration or library/media center, facility that meets all the following:

(1) The facility was lost or destroyed as a result of a disaster, including but not limited to fire, flood or earthquake.

(2) The facility is no longer useable for school purposes as recommended by the California Department of Education and approved by the Board.

(3) The district has demonstrated satisfactorily to the Board that the facility was uninsurable or the cost of insurance was prohibitive.

If the district qualifies, the district is eligible for funding as a new construction project. The funding amount provided shall be $78.30 per square foot for library/media center, school administration, gymnasium and multi-purpose facilities, and/or $153.30 per square foot for toilet facilities. Additional grants may be provided for applicable site development costs pursuant to Section 1859.76 and excessive cost grants pursuant to Section 1859.83. The amounts shown will be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71.

Any grants provided pursuant to (b) above, shall be reduced by fifty percent of any insurance proceeds collectable by the district for the displaced facilities and fifty percent of the net proceeds available from the disposition of any displaced facilities.

The square footage provided, after accounting for all useable facilities on the site, shall not exceed the following:

159.107. Amending and Withdrawal of Applications.

A funding application that received an apportionment under Chapter 12 or Chapter 12.5 may not be rescinded and re-approved under the provisions of any amended law or administrative regulation unless specifically authorized by other applicable law.

A funding application, with the exception of funding applications identified in Subsection (a) below, that has received an approval pursuant to Section 1859.95, but has not received an apportionment, may receive an adjustment as allowed under Regulation Sections 1859.71, 1859.71.2(c), 1859.78.4(b) or 1859.78 at the time the apportionment is made. If the adjustment is a result of Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b), the district must submit an amended Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02). The amended application shall retain its OPSC processing date. No other adjustments may be made, including those resulting from changes to the regulations prior to final funding by the SAB. As an alternative, the application may be withdrawn and resubmitted for SAB approval under the provisions of any amended or new regulation that becomes effective prior to the apportionment for the project. The district must first request from the OPSC that the application be withdrawn and removed from the Unfunded List. The district may then resubmit the application to the OPSC under the provisions of the amended or new regulation once it is effective. The resubmitted application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC. School districts that have already received a site apportionment under Section 1859.81.1(a) may withdraw the application and file as an environmental hardship pursuant to Section 1859.75.1 without forfeiting their original site apportionment, provided that the new application does not exceed the amount already apportioned.

A funding application, with the exception of funding applications identified in Subsection (a) below, submitted to the OPSC that has not received an approval will receive funding under the provisions of the regulations that were in effect when the application was submitted to the OPSC and any funding adjustment authorized by Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b). If the funding adjustment is a result of Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b), the district must submit an amended Application for Funding Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02). The amended application shall retain its OPSC processing date. At the option of the district, a funding application submitted to the OPSC that has not received an approval may be withdrawn and resubmitted for SAB approval under the provisions of any amended or new regulation once it is effective. The district must request that the application be withdrawn and removed from the OPSC workload list. The resubmitted application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC.

(a) A district that submitted an Approved Application request for either a Modernization Adjusted Grant or a Separate Design Apportionment for a modernization project pursuant to Section 1859.81.1 that meets the criteria in (1) and (2) below must submit a new Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02), that meets the criteria in Subsections (b) or (c) no later than 60 calendar days after the effective date (September 16, 2002) of this Subsection:

(1) The Approved Application was received by the OPSC after March 15, 2002 but no later than the date this Subsection becomes effective (September 16, 2002).

(2) The Approved Application has not received an approval or has received an approval pursuant to Section 1859.95, but has not received an apportionment.

(b) The new Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02), identifies the same number of pupils assigned to the original project or a lesser amount that is not less than 37.5 percent of the pupils originally assigned to the project (round up). In this case, the district will be required to contribute additional funds to the project to meet the 40 percent district contribution required pursuant to Section 1859.79(b). If the project was approved as a financial hardship project under the provisions of Section 1859.81, the project shall maintain its financial hardship status, however, the district will be subject to a financial review pursuant to Section 1859.81(a) to determine if there are additional district funds available for the project.

(c) The new Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02), identifies a lesser number of pupils assigned to the project that does not exceed an amount determined by multiplying the pupils assigned to the original project by 37.5 percent (round down). In this case, the district will not be required to contribute additional funds to the project to meet the 40 percent district contribution required pursuant to Section 1859.79(b).

(d) If a new Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02), is submitted under the provisions of subsection (b), the Architect of Record or Design Professional certification made on the original Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/01 or 09/01), will be accepted as satisfying the requirements of the new Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02).

(e) Any Approved Application request that meets the requirements of Subsection (a) will be withdrawn 60 calendar days after the date Subsection (a) becomes effective (September 16, 2002), if the district does not submit a new Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02), conforming to either Subsections (b) or (c).

Any application for eligibility determination that has received an approval may be amended to comply with provisions of an amended or new regulation once it is effective. The amended application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC.

Any application for eligibility determination that has not received an approval may be amended at any time to conform to an amended or new regulation. The application shall retain its OPSC processing date.

Any application for new construction eligibility determination that has received an approval must be amended to conform to Regulation Section 1859.51 (l) prior to submittal of an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02).

Any application for new construction eligibility determination that has not received an approval must be amended to conform to the Existing School Building Capacity, Form SAB 50-02 (Revised 07/01) and the Eligibility Determination, Form SAB 50-03 (Revised 07/01) prior to submittal of an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02).

Any application for modernization eligibility determination that has received an approval must be amended to conform to Regulation Section 1859.61 (g) prior to submittal of an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02).

Any application for modernization eligibility determination that has not received an approval must be amended to conform to the Eligibility Determination, Form SAB 50-03 (Revised 07/01) prior to submittal of an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02).

Districts that have received an approval of eligibility on a HSAA or Super HSAA are not required to re-establish eligibility under the provisions of Section 1859.41(a).

Districts that have requested eligibility determination on a HSAA or Super HSAA that have not received an approval must comply with the provisions of Section 1859.41(a) prior to submittal of an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02). The amended eligibility application shall retain its original OPSC processing date.

A district that has received an approval of its eligibility determination on a district-wide, HSAA or Super HSAA basis, but received no New Construction Grants, may re-file on another eligibility determination basis provided it withdraws all previously submitted Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02) requests for New Construction Grants, including those on the Unfunded List.

§ 1859.81. Financial Hardship.

A district is eligible for financial hardship to fund all or a portion of its matching share requirement after demonstrating both of the following:

(a) The district is financially unable to provide all necessary matching funds for an eligible project. To determine this, an analysis shall be made of the district's financial records by the OPSC including data and records maintained by the CDE and the County Office of Education. The analysis shall consist of a review of the district's latest Independent Audit regarding funds available from all capital facility accounts, including, but not limited to, developer fees, funds generated from capital facility certificates of participation, federal grants, redevelopment funds, sale proceeds from surplus property, the appraised value of facilities approved for replacement pursuant to Section 1859.82, bond funds either encumbered, unencumbered or authorized but unsold, and savings from other SFP projects. All funds thus identified that have not been expended or encumbered by a contractual agreement for a specific capital outlay purpose prior to the initial request for financial hardship status shall be deemed available as a matching contribution.

After the initial request for financial hardship status is granted, no further encumbrances will be approved by the OPSC and all prospective revenue made available to the district's capital facility accounts shall be deemed available as matching contribution on the subsequent financial hardship review, with the exception of:

- (1) Approved interim housing expenditures.
- (2) Funding to pay for previously recognized multi-year encumbrances approved at the initial financial hardship approval.
- (3) Funding that is transferred into a Special Reserve Fund and is used for the express purpose of the Federal Renovation Program when the amount expended out of that fund does not exceed the maximum Federal Renovation Grant amount.
- (4) All other capital facility funding for a period of three years when no subsequent financial hardship request is made during this period. The three-year period begins with the date of the most recent financial hardship new construction or modernization adjusted grant funding apportionment.

The financial hardship analysis is subject to approval by the Board.

(b) From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may retain $19,776 per classroom in each enrollment reporting period for the cost to provide interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of classrooms needed for interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (b)(7) as follows:

- (1) Determine the current enrollment of the district by grade level as shown on the latest Enrollment Certification/Projection, Form SAB 50-01 (Revised 07/01).
- (2) Determine the New Construction Grants apportioned by grade level for all SFP projects and LPP funded under the provisions of Sections 1859.12 or 1859.13 where the district has submitted an Expenditure Report, Form SAB 50-06 (Revised 01/00) indicating that the project is 100 percent complete.
- (3) Subtract (b)(2) from (b)(1).
- (4) Determine the number of classrooms by grade level reported in Part I, Line 8 on the latest Existing School Building Capacity, Form SAB 50-02 (Revised 07/01).
- (5) Multiply the classrooms determined in (b)(4) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe.
- (6) Subtract the product determined in (b)(5) from the difference determined in (b)(3) by grade level.
- (7) Divide the difference by grade level determined in (b)(6) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may also retain $19,776 per portable toilet unit in each reporting period for the cost to provide necessary interim toilet facilities for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of toilet facilities needed for interim housing shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (b)(7) divided by eight rounded up to the nearest whole number.

If the district's available funds, as determined by the OPSC analysis less costs for interim housing, is less than its matching share, the district will be deemed to have met the requirements of this Subsection.

(c) The district has made all reasonable efforts to fund its matching share of the project by demonstrating it is levying the developer fee justified under law or an alternative revenue source equal to or greater than the developer fee otherwise justified under law at the time of request for hardship and the district meets at least one of the following:

- (1) The current outstanding bonded indebtedness of the district, at the time of request for financial hardship status, is at least 60 percent of the district's total bonding capacity. Outstanding bonded indebtedness includes that part of general obligation bonds, Mello-Roos Bonds, School Facility Improvement District Bonds and certificates of participation which the district is paying a debt service that was issued for capital outlay school facility purposes.

(2) The district had a successful registered voter bond election for at least the maximum amount allowed under Proposition 39 within the previous two years from the date of request for financial hardship status. The proceeds from the bond election that represent the maximum amount allowed under the provisions of Proposition 39 must be used to fund the district's matching share requirement for SFP project(s).

(3) It is a County Superintendent of Schools.

(4) The district's total bonding capacity at the time of the request for financial hardship status is $3 million or less.

(5) Other evidence of reasonable effort as approved by the SAB.

If the district's request for financial hardship status is denied by the Board, the district may be deemed eligible for rental payments of $2,000 per year per classroom under the Emergency School Classroom Law of 1979 for a two year period when relocatable classroom buildings are available and the district provides financial documentation that it is unable to afford the full rental amount and any other information satisfactory to the Board that the rental reduction is necessary. The number of classrooms eligible for the $2,000 rental payments shall be the sum of the numbers determined in (c)(5)(B) as follows:

- (A) Determine the number of pupils by grade level that the district requested a New Construction Grant on the Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02) that were denied financial hardship status.
- (B) Divide the number by grade level determined in (c)(5)(A) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

If the district meets the financial hardship requirements in this Section, the amount of financial hardship is equal to the district's matching share less funds deemed available in (a).

Once a district has been notified by the OPSC that it meets the requirements of financial hardship in this Section, the district may file an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02) under the provisions of financial hardship anytime within a period of 180 calendar days from the date of the OPSC notification.

If the district does not submit an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02) under the provisions of financial hardship within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship status, the district must re-qualify for financial hardship status under the provisions of this Section by submittal of a new request for financial hardship status.

If the district submits an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02) within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship and the project(s) has been included on an unfunded list for more than 180 calendar days, a review of the district's funds pursuant to (a) will be made to determine if additional district funds are available to fund the district's matching share of the project(s).

Financial hardship approval status by the OPSC for a separate design and/or site apportionment does not apply to any subsequent funding for the project(s).

§ 1859.81.1. Separate Apportionment for Site Acquisition and Design Costs.

A district that meets the financial hardship criteria in Section 1859.81 is eligible for the following:

(a) For a new construction project, a separate apportionment for site acquisition when all of the following requirements are met:

(1) The district has eligibility for grants that equal at least 50 percent of the CDE master plan capacity of the site.

(2) The district has received a contingent site approval letter from the CDE indicating that the proposed site is the best available.

(3) The district has obtained a preliminary appraisal of the property by a qualified appraiser utilizing criteria outlined in Section 1859.74.1. This report may be made without access to the site.

(b) If the conditions in (a) are met, the Board will apportion all of the following less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a):

(1) An amount not to exceed 100 percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site as determined by Section 1859.74.1 or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site including any hazardous material clean-up.

(2) The estimated relocation expenses that will conform to Title 25, California Code of Regulations, Section 6000, et seq. The reasonable and necessary relocation costs for purchasing fixtures and equipment, personal property, new machinery/equipment, and the installation of any improvements at the replacement residence or business location may be included as relocation assistance.

(3) Four percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site acquisition including any hazardous material clean-up but not less than $50,000.

(4) The estimated DTSC costs for review, approval, and oversight of the POESA and the PEA.

(c) For new construction projects, the Board will apportion an amount to exceed 40 percent of the new construction grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a). For modernization projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed the following:

(1) If the Approved Application is received on or before March 15, 2002, 20 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a).

(2) If the Approved Application is received after March 15, 2002, 25 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a).

The amount apportioned is an estimate of the funds needed for design, engineering, and other pre-construction project costs.

Qualifying districts may request a separate apportionment for the design and for site acquisition for the same new construction project.

The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be offset from the New Construction Adjusted Grant or the Modernization Adjusted Grant amount the district would otherwise be eligible for pursuant to Sections 1859.70 and 1859.81 when the district submits an Application For Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02). A district seeking a separate apportionment for site acquisition or design costs shall submit an Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02). If a new construction project received a previous design apportionment, the district may request an additional design apportionment for that project up to the 40 percent maximum design apportionment allowed pursuant to this Section.

The Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02), that is subsequently submitted for the New Construction Adjusted Grant must be for at least 50 percent of the New Construction Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment.

The Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02), that is subsequently submitted for the Modernization Adjusted Grant must be for at least 80 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment that was received on or before March 15, 2002.

The Application for Funding, Form SAB 50-04 (Revised 07/02), that is subsequently submitted for the Modernization Adjusted Grant must be for at least 60 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment that was received after March 15, 2002.

§ 1859.35. Calculation of Existing School Building Capacity.

The district's existing school building capacity shall be determined by totaling the amounts calculated in (a) with the amount determined in (b) or (c), whichever is the greater:

(a) Multiply the number of available classrooms in the district, the HSA or the Super HSA by the following: 25 for each K-6 classroom and 27 for each 7-12 classroom. Available classrooms shall be determined by the reduction of classrooms identified in Section 1859.32 from the gross classroom inventory prepared pursuant to Section 1859.31 and the inclusion of portable classrooms as provided pursuant to Education Code Section 17071.30 (a) or (b).

(b) Multiply the K-6 pupil capacity of the elementary district, the unified district, the HSAA or the Super HSAA in a unified district as determined by the results of the calculations in (a) at the time of the initial determination of eligibility by six percent. When the elementary or unified district meets the Substantial Enrollment Requirement (SER) or qualifies for a waiver of the SER authorized by Education Code Sections 17017.6 and 17017.7 (c), the amount reported in (b) shall be zero. For High School Districts, the amount reported in (b) shall be zero.

(c) A number equal to the number of pupils provided operational grants as indicated in the current report of operational grants made by the CDE pursuant to Education Code Section 42268, less the number of pupils at a school on the MTYRE calendar that has a density of at least 200 or more pupils per acre when the district has at least 40 percent of its enrollment on MTYRE as of the date of determination of the existing school building capacity of the district.

§ 1859.41. High School Attendance Area Reporting.

(a) A district may request that its eligibility determination for a New Construction Grant be based on a HSAA or Super HSAA basis if it meets all the following criteria:

(1) The district demonstrates that the eligibility determination for a New Construction Grant in at least one of the district's HSAA or Super HSAA results in negative eligibility for maximum funding at any grade level within the HSAA or Super HSAA.

(2) The New Construction Grant eligibility determination for the HSAA or Super HSAA is based on the existing boundaries of the HSAA or Super HSAA and the capacity and projected enrollment of the HSAA or Super HSAA as shown in the Form SAB 50-03.

(3) The eligibility determination for the HSAA or Super HSAA includes a currently operated high school that serves any combination of grades nine through twelve and that high school is not a continuation high school or a community school.

(b) If a district meets the criteria in subsection (a) and requests its eligibility determination to be based on a HSAA or Super HSAA, eligibility for a future New Construction Grant, with the exception of community school pupil grants for a county superintendent, in that HSAA or Super HSAA must be filed on the same basis for a period of five years from the date the district received an apportionment that was justified by eligibility under that HSAA or Super HSAA. When only a portion of the enrollment at a feeder school actually contributes to the HSAA or Super HSAA, the district shall report, as a percentage, only that portion of the enrollment. A county superintendent reporting on the basis of one or more HSAA basis may file applications by utilizing HSAA or Super HSAA boundaries of any district within the county. A county superintendent may report enrollment and file eligibility for a future New Construction Grant separately for special education pupils or for community school pupils.

If a district requests to re-file its eligibility determination from HSAA or Super HSAA to district-wide after the five year time period has elapsed, the existing school building capacity in the district will be determined based on classrooms available in the HSAA or Super HSAA at the time of initial request for eligibility determination and the current classrooms in the remaining portion of the district. Once the baseline eligibility has been determined for the district, it will be adjusted for classrooms constructed, funded or acquired in that HSAA or Super HSAA as provided by Section 1859.51.

Existing boundaries of a HSAA or Super HSAA may only be changed as a result of Section 1859.51(f).

§ 1859.42. Projecting Non-Special Day Class Enrollment.

The district enrollment, as reported on the Form SAB 50-01, shall be used to calculate the district's projected enrollment other than Special Day Class enrollment. The OPSC shall use the following methodology to determine the districts projected enrollment:

(a) All projected enrollment with the exception of Special Day Class enrollment shall be calculated pursuant to the cohort survival enrollment projection system which is described as follows:

(1) For all grades, determine the numerical change in enrollment between the current grade and the next lower grade in the previous year; determine the numerical change in enrollment between the previous year grade and the next lower grade in the second previous year; determine the numerical change in enrollment between the second previous year grade and the next lower grade in the third previous year. Determine the numerical change of kindergarten enrollment on the second previous and third previous year respectively.

(2) Compute the annual change in enrollment as explained in (1) for each grade. The annual change shall then be weighted by multiplying the most recent annual change in enrollment by three, the next most recent annual change by two, and the earliest annual change by one, and dividing the sum of the annual weighted changes for each grade by six. The result shall be the average annual change.

(3) Progress the latest reported enrollment through the five-year projection period, modifying the grade progression each year by the average annual change for each grade as computed in (2).

(b) The enrollment projection will be augmented based on the number of pupils as reported by the district on Form SAB 50-01, that will reside in dwelling units included in an approved subdivision map or valid tentative subdivision map that exceed the number of pupils projected as a result of the cohort survival method for that subdivision map. The augmentation shall be as follows:

(1) Progress the current enrollment as reported on Form SAB 50-01, for one year for each grade level. For kindergarten, the progressed current enrollment shall be the same as the reported current enrollment.

(2) Subtract the current enrollment progressed one year for each grade level from the one-year projection of enrollment for each grade level as determined in (a). If the computation results in a negative number, the number shall be deemed zero.

(3) Divide the current enrollment progressed one year for each grade level by the sum of the current enrollment progressed one year in all grade levels.

(4) Multiply the number of housing units in the subdivision by the pupil yield factor provided on the Form SAB 50-01.

(5) Multiply the number of pupils determined in (4) by the percentages determined in (3) for each grade.

(6) Subtract five times the value determined in (2) from the value determined in (5). If the computation results in a negative number, the number shall be deemed zero.

(7) Add the value in (6) to the fifth year of projected enrollment as computed in (a) to establish the augmented projection of enrollment.

(c) The projected enrollment of a HSAA or Super HSAA shall be computed in the same manner as that set forth in this section, except that the enrollment used in such computation shall be that of the HSAA or Super HSAA rather than the entire district. Augmentation as provided in (b) of this Section may include only dwelling units located in the HSAA or Super HSAA.

§ 1859.43. Projecting Special Day Class Enrollment.

The district enrollment, as reported on the Form SAB 50-01, shall be used to calculate the district's projected Special Day Class enrollment. The OPSC shall use the following methodology to determine the district's projected enrollment:

(a) The projected enrollment of each classification of Special Day Class students served by a school district shall be computed by multiplying the reported enrollment of Special Day Class students by the five-year projection of the same grade level of students as determined by Section 1859.42. The resulting value shall be divided by the current enrollment of the same students as provided on Form SAB 50-01.

(b) The projected enrollment of each classification of Special Day Class students served by a county office of education shall be computed as follows:

(1) Determine the percentage change in total Special Day Class enrollment from the current year to the previous year; determine the percentage change in total Special Day Class enrollment in the previous year to the second previous year; determine the percentage change in total Special Day Class enrollment in the second previous year to the third previous year. To determine the average annual increase, add the three percentage changes and divide by three.

(2) The current Special Day Class enrollment provided by the county office of education as reported on Form SAB 50-01, shall be adjusted by the average annual percentage change in (1) for each year until the five-year projected enrollment has been determined.

Article 6. New Construction Eligibility Determination

§ 1859.50. Calculations to Determine New Construction Baseline Eligibility.

The district shall calculate its eligibility determination by completion of the Form SAB 50-03. Eligibility determination for New Construction Grant(s) may be requested on either a district-wide basis, a HSAA or Super HSAA basis.

If a district requests to have its eligibility determination made on a district-wide basis, eligibility for future grants in the district must be filed on the same basis for a period of five years from the date the district received an apportionment that was justified by eligibility determined on a district-wide basis.

If a district requests to re-file its eligibility determination from district-wide to HSAA to Super HSAA after the five year time period has elapsed, the existing school building capacity in the HSAA or Super HSAA will be determined based on the classrooms available in the HSAA or Super HSAA at the time of the initial district-wide request for eligibility determination. Once the baseline eligibility has been determined for the HSAA or Super HSAA, it will be adjusted for classrooms constructed, funded or acquired in that HSAA or Super HSAA as provided by Section 1859.51.

If the district requests to have its eligibility determination made on a district-wide or Super HSAA, it must meet the criteria of Section 1859.41.

The calculated eligibility on the Form SAB 50-03, is the initial eligibility of the district, the HSAA or Super HSAA and shall be referenced as the baseline eligibility for future SFP funding. The baseline eligibility is the basis for filing Form SAB 50-04, for a new construction SFP grant.

A district affected by a reorganization election on or after November 4, 1998 may file an application for a determination of new construction baseline eligibility after a successful reorganization election.

(a) In addition to any other funding authorized by these Regulations, the Board shall provide funding for the amount(s) in (b) below for the replacement cost of one-story buildings that are demolished at a school in order to increase pupil capacity of that school if all the following conditions are met:

(1) The school must be on MTYRE at the time the Approved Application is accepted.

(2) The site size as determined by the CDE for the existing capacity of the school is less than 75 percent of the recommended CDE site size.

(3) The pupil capacity of the school must be increased by at least the greater of (A) or (B) below:

(A) Twenty percent of the existing pupil capacity (before replacement) of the school. Existing pupil capacity shall be determined by multiplying classrooms intended for grades kindergarten through six by 25, classrooms intended for grades seven through 12 by 27, classrooms intended for Non-Severely Disabled Individuals with Exceptional Needs by 13 and classrooms intended for Severely Disabled Individuals with Exceptional Needs by nine. Classrooms shall not include any classrooms reduced from the Gross Classroom Inventory pursuant to Section 1859.32.

(D) Determine the average appraised value of land per acre, including relocation costs, within the attendance boundaries of the school. The appraisal must be consistent with Section 1859.74.1.

(E) Multiply the sums of the products determined in (C) above by the average appraised value of land per acre determined in (D) above.

(5) The CDE has determined that the replacement of the one-story buildings on the existing site with multilevel building(s) would be the best available alternative and will not create a school with an inappropriate number of pupils in relation to the size of the site.

(6) The one-story buildings to be replaced on the existing site may not be leased facilities.

(7) With the exception of portables acquired with Class Size Reduction funds, the one-story buildings to be replaced on the site may not have been funded for either new construction or modernization funds from Proposition 1A funds within the past five years from the date the Approved Application is accepted.

(b) If the criteria in (a) are met, the additional funding is determined by multiplying $173.30 per square foot for Toilet Facilities and by $96.30 per square foot for all other facilities included in the one-story buildings to be replaced adjusted for the following:

§ 1859.81. Financial Hardship.

A district is eligible for financial hardship to fund all or a portion of its matching share requirement after demonstrating both of the following:

(a) The district is financially unable to provide all necessary matching funds for an eligible project. To determine this, an analysis shall be made of the district's financial records by the OPSC including data and records maintained by the CDE and the County Office of Education. The analysis shall consist of a review of the district's latest Independent Audit regarding funds available from all capital facility accounts, including, but not limited to, developer fees, funds generated from capital facility certificates of participation, federal grants, redevelopment funds, sale proceeds from surplus property, the appraised value of facilities approved for replacement pursuant to Section 1859.82, bond funds either encumbered, unencumbered or authorized but unsold, and savings from other SFP projects. All funds thus identified that have not been expended or encumbered by a contractual agreement for a specific capital outlay purpose prior to the initial request for financial hardship status shall be deemed available as a matching contribution.

After the initial request for financial hardship status is granted, no further encumbrances will be approved by the OPSC and all prospective revenue made available to the district's capital facility accounts shall be deemed available as matching contribution on the subsequent financial hardship review, with the exception of:

- (1) Approved interim housing expenditures.
- (2) Funding to pay for previously recognized multi-year encumbrances approved at the initial financial hardship approval.
- (3) Funding that is transferred into a Special Reserve Fund and is used for the express purpose of the Federal Renovation Program when the amount expended out of that fund does not exceed the maximum Federal Renovation Grant amount.

(4) All other capital facility funding for a period of three years when no subsequent financial hardship request is made during this period. The three-year period begins with the date of the most recent financial hardship new construction or modernization adjusted grant funding apportionment.

The financial hardship analysis is subject to approval by the Board.

(b) From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may retain $19,776 per classroom in each enrollment reporting period for the cost to provide interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of classrooms needed for interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (b)(7) as follows:

(1) Determine the current enrollment of the district by grade level as shown on the latest Form SAB 50-01.

(2) Determine the New Construction Grants apportioned by grade level for all SFP projects and LPP funded under the provisions of Sections 1859.12 or 1859.13 where the district has submitted Form SAB 50-06 indicating that the project is 100 percent complete.

(3) Subtract (b)(2) from (b)(1).

(4) Determine the number of classrooms by grade level reported in Part I, Line 8 on Form SAB 50-02.

(5) Multiply the classrooms determined in (b)(4) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe.

(6) Subtract the product determined in (b)(5) from the difference determined in (b)(3) by grade level.

(7) Divide the difference by grade level determined in (b)(6) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may also retain $19,776 per portable toilet unit in each reporting period for the cost to provide necessary interim toilet facilities for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of toilet facilities needed for interim housing shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (b)(7) divided by eight rounded up to the nearest whole number.

If the district's available funds, as determined by the OPSC analysis less costs for interim housing, is less than its matching share, the district will be deemed to have met the requirements of this Subsection.

(c) The district has made all reasonable efforts to fund its matching share of the project by demonstrating it is levying the developer fee justified under law or an alternative revenue source equal to or greater than the developer fee otherwise justified under law at the time of request for hardship and the district meets at least one of the following:

(1) The current outstanding bonded indebtedness of the district, at the time of request for financial hardship status, is at least 60 percent of the district's total bonding capacity. Outstanding bonded indebtedness includes that part of general obligation bonds, Mello-Roos Bonds, School Facility Improvement District Bonds and certificates of participation which the district is paying a debt service that was issued for capital outlay school facility purposes.

(2) The district had a successful registered voter bond election for at least the maximum amount allowed under Proposition 39 within the previous two years from the date of request for financial hardship status. The proceeds from the bond election that represent the maximum amount allowed under the provisions of Proposition 39 must be used to fund the district's matching share requirement for SFP project(s).

(3) It is a County Superintendent of Schools.

(4) The district's total bonding capacity at the time of the request for financial hardship status is $5 million or less.

(5) Other evidence of reasonable effort as approved by the SAB.

If the district's request for financial hardship status is denied by the Board, the district may be deemed eligible for rental payments of $2,000 per year per classroom under the Emergency School Classroom Law of 1979 for a two year period when relocatable classroom buildings are available and the district provides financial documentation that it is unable to afford the full rental amount and any other information satisfactory to the Board that the rental reduction is necessary. The number of classrooms eligible for the $2,000 rental payments shall be the sum of the numbers determined in (c)(5)(B) as follows:

(A) Determine the number of pupils by grade level that the district requested a New Construction Grant on the Form SAB 50-04 that were denied financial hardship status.

(B) Divide the number by grade level determined in (c)(5)(A) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

If the district meets the financial hardship requirements in this Section, the amount of financial hardship is equal to the district's matching share less funds deemed available in (a).

Once a district has been notified by the OPSC that it meets the requirements of financial hardship in this Section, the district may file Form SAB 50-04 under the provisions of financial hardship anytime within a period of 180 calendar days from the date of the OPSC notification.

If the district does not submit Form SAB 50-04 under the provisions of financial hardship within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship status, the district must re-qualify for financial hardship status under the provisions of this Section by submittal of a new request for financial hardship status.

If the district submits Form SAB 50-04 within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship and the project(s) has been included on an unfunded list for more than 180 calendar days, a review of the district's funds pursuant to (a) will be made to determine if additional district funds are available to fund the district's matching share of the project(s).

Financial hardship approval status by the OPSC for a separate design and/or site apportionment does not apply to any subsequent funding for the project(s).

§ 1859.81.1. Separate Apportionment for Site Acquisition and Design Costs.

A district that meets the financial hardship criteria in Section 1859.81 is eligible for the following:

(a) For a new construction project, a separate apportionment for site acquisition when all of the following requirements are met:

(1) The district has eligibility for grants that equal at least 50 percent of the CDE master plan capacity of the site.

(2) The district has received a contingent site approval letter from the CDE indicating that the proposed site is the best available.

(3) The district has obtained a preliminary appraisal of the property by a qualified appraiser utilizing criteria outlined in Section 1859.74.1. This report may be made without access to the site.

(b) If the conditions in (a) are met, the Board will apportion all of the following less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a):

(1) An amount not to exceed 100 percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site as determined by Section 1859.74.1 or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site including any hazardous material clean-up.

(2) The estimated relocation expenses that will conform to Title 25, California Code of Regulations, Section 6000, et seq. The reasonable and necessary relocation costs for purchasing fixtures and equipment, personal property, new machinery/equipment, and the installation of any improvements at the replacement residence or business location may be included as relocation assistance.

(3) Four percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site acquisition including any hazardous material clean-up but not less than $50,000.

(4) The estimated DTSC costs for review, approval, and oversight of the POESA and the PEA.

(c) For new construction projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed 40 percent of the new construction grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a). For modernization projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed the following:

(1) If the Approved Application is received on or before March 15, 2002, 20 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a).

(2) If the Approved Application is received after March 15, 2002, 25 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a).

The amount apportioned is an estimate of the funds needed for design, engineering, and other pre-construction project costs.

Qualifying districts may request a separate apportionment for the design and for site acquisition for the same new construction project.

The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be offset from the New Construction Adjusted Grant or the Modernization Adjusted Grant amount the district would otherwise be eligible for pursuant to Sections 1859.70 and 1859.81 when the district submits Form SAB 50-04. A district seeking a separate apportionment for site acquisition or design costs shall submit Form SAB 50-04. If a new construction project received a previous design apportionment, the district may request an additional design apportionment for that project up to the 40 percent maximum design apportionment allowed pursuant to this Section.

The Form SAB 50-04 that is subsequently submitted for the New Construction Adjusted Grant must be for at least 50 percent of the New Construction Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment.

The Form SAB 50-04 that is subsequently submitted for the Modernization Adjusted Grant must be for at least 80 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment that was received on or before March 15, 2002.

The Form SAB 50-04 that is subsequently submitted for the Modernization Adjusted Grant must be for at least 60 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment that was received after March 15, 2002.

When the Board is accepting applications pursuant to Section 1859.95, the funding of the new construction or modernization grant may be made from funds set aside by the Board for financial hardship. The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be adjusted at a future date to assure that hardship funding for the project does not exceed the amount the district was otherwise eligible to receive.

§ 1859.82. Facility Hardship.

A district is eligible for facility hardship funding to replace or construct new classrooms and related facilities if the district demonstrates there is an unmet need for pupil housing or the condition of the facilities, or the lack of facilities, is a threat to the health and safety of the pupils. A facility hardship is available for:

(a) New classrooms and/or subsidiary facilities (corridors, toilets, kitchens and other non-classroom space) or replacement facilities if either (1) or (2) are met:

(1) The facilities are needed to ensure the health and safety of the pupils if the district can demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Board that the health and safety of the pupils is at risk. Factors to be considered by the Board shall include the close proximity to a major freeway, airport, electrical facility, high power transmission lines, dam, pipeline, industrial facility, adverse air quality emission or other health and safety risks, including structural deficiencies required by the DSA to be repaired, traffic safety or because the pupils reside in remote areas of the district and transportation to existing facilities is not possible or poses a health and safety risk.

If the request is for replacement facilities, a cost/benefit analysis must be prepared by the district and submitted to the OPSC that indicates the total costs to remain in the classroom or related facility and mitigate the problem is at least 50 percent of the Current Replacement Cost of the classroom or related facility. The cost/benefit analysis may include applicable site development costs as outlined in Section 1859.76. If the cost to remain in the classroom or related facility is less than 50 percent of the Current Replacement Cost, the district may qualify for a Modernization Excessive Cost Hardship Grant for rehabilitation costs pursuant to Section 1859.83(e).

If the request is for replacement facilities that included structural deficiencies, the cost/benefit analysis must also include a report from a licensed design professional identifying the minimum work necessary to obtain DSA approval. The report must contain a detailed cost estimate of the repairs. The report and cost estimate shall be subject to review by the OPSC for conformance with the Saylor Current Construction Cost Publication and, at the OPSC's discretion, the DSA.

(2) The classroom or related facility was lost or destroyed as a result of a disaster such as fire, flood or earthquake and the district has demonstrated satisfactorily to the Board that the classroom or related facility was uninsurable or the cost for insurance was prohibitive.

If the district qualifies for a new or replacement school pursuant to either (1) or (2) above, the district is eligible for a New Construction Grant as a new construction project for the lesser of the pupils housed in the facility based on loading standards pursuant to Education Code Section 17071.25(a)(2) or the latest CBEDS enrollment at the site.

If the district qualifies for replacement facilities on the same site pursuant to either (1) or (2) above, the district is eligible for funding as a new construction project. Replacement facilities shall be allowed in accordance with the square footage amounts provided in the chart in Section (b) below. If the facility eligible for replacement is not shown in the chart in Section (b) below, the replacement facility shall be limited to the square footage replaced. The grant amount provided shall be $173.30 per square foot for Toilet Facilities and $96.30 per square foot for all other facilities. Additional funding may be provided for applicable site development costs pursuant to Section 1859.76, New Construction Excessive Cost Hardship Grant(s) pursuant to Section 1859.83(a), (b) or (d), therapy room pursuant to Section 1859.72, multilevel construction pursuant to Section 1859.73 and project assistance pursuant to Section 1859.73.1. The amounts shown will be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71.

§ 1859.91. Implementation of Priority Points Due to Insufficient State Funds.

This Regulation shall only apply to Approved Applications for New Construction Grants funded with the proceeds of state bonds approved by the voters prior to January 1, 2002.

(a) The OPSC shall report to the Board on a monthly basis the amount of funds available for New Construction Grants and Modernization Grants and the estimated amount of Approved Applications for New Construction Grants and Modernization Grants not yet apportioned. The Board shall implement a priority point mechanism described in (b) for New Construction Grants requests when either of the following occur:

(1) The amount of Approved Applications for New Construction Grants and Modernization Grants not yet apportioned exceed the funds available for New Construction Grants and Modernization Grants.

(2) The funds available for New Construction Grants are $300 million or less.

(b) Once either (1) or (2) in (a) occurs, the Board shall approve and apportion the funds available for New Construction Grants requests based on the following priority point mechanism:

(1) From the funds available for New Construction Grants, the Board shall establish a final allotment equal to the lesser of $450 million or the balance of the funds available for New Construction Grants, to be apportioned in accordance with (2) below. After deducting the final allotment, the Board shall divide the remaining funds into seven equal allotments, to be apportioned on a quarterly basis, commencing with the last quarter of calendar year 2000 and ending the second quarter of calendar year 2002. Quarterly apportionments are subject to the following:

(A) The Board shall apportion Approved Applications for New Construction Grants requests received prior to the beginning of the quarter that are Ready for Apportionment, all New Construction Grants requests that were included on an Unfunded List and New Construction Grants requests that meet the criteria of subsection (d), until the funds available for New Construction Grants for that quarter are exhausted. New Construction Grants requests eligible for an apportionment shall be apportioned in the following order:

1. To projects that meet the criteria of subsection (d) where the Approved Application date adjusted back in time would have qualified the project for an apportionment.

2. To projects exempt from priority points pursuant to Section 1859.92(e).

3. To projects having the greatest number of priority points.

(B) If two or more projects have the same number of priority points, those projects shall be first ranked according to the Approved Application date.

(C) No New Construction Grants request will be recommended for apportionment unless the project can be entirely apportioned from the funds available for that quarter.

(D) If the Approved Applications for New Construction Grants received prior to the quarter that are Ready for Apportionment, all New Construction Grants requests that were included on an Unfunded List prior to the quarter and New Construction Grants requests that meet the criteria of subsection (d) are less than the quarterly allotment, plus any funds remaining from the previous quarter(s), the excess funds shall be added to the next quarterly allotment.

(E) If the Approved Applications for New Construction Grants requests received prior to the quarter that are Ready for Apportionment, all New Construction Grants requests that were included on an Unfunded List prior to the quarter and New Construction Grants requests that meet the criteria of subsection (d) are greater than the quarterly allotment, plus any funds remaining from the previous quarter(s), any New Construction Grants requests not apportioned by the Board shall be placed on an Unfunded List.

(F) All New Construction Grants requests, as described in (A) above, that are Ready for Apportionment in a quarter shall not be apportioned before the last regularly scheduled Board meeting for that quarter with the exception of New Construction Grants requests that meet the criteria of subsection (b)(1)(A)(1) or (2). Any New Construction Grants request that is Ready for Apportionment in a quarter that meets the criteria of subsection (b)(1)(A)(1) or (2) may be apportioned at any of the regularly scheduled Board meetings during that quarter.

(2) The final allotment shall be apportioned subject to the following:

(A) The Board shall apportion Approved Applications for New Construction Grants received between April 1, 2002 and June 26, 2002 that are Ready for Apportionment, all New Construction Grants requests that were included on an Unfunded List and New Construction Grants requests that meet the criteria of subsection (e), until the final allotment, plus any funds remaining from the previous quarters are exhausted. New Construction Grants requests eligible for an apportionment shall be apportioned in the following order:

1. To projects that meet the criteria of subsection (e) where the Approved Application date adjusted back in time would have qualified the project for an apportionment.

2. To projects exempt from priority points pursuant to Section 1859.92(e).

3. To projects having the greatest number of priority points.

(B) If two or more projects have the same number of priority points, those projects shall be first ranked according to the Approved Application date.

(C) If the Approved Applications for New Construction Grants received between April 1, 2002 and June 26, 2002 that are Ready for Apportionment, all New Construction Grants requests that were included on an Unfunded List and New Construction Grants requests that meet the criteria of subsection (e) are greater than the final allotment, plus any remaining funds from the previous quarter(s), any New Construction Grants requests not apportioned by the Board shall be placed on an Unfunded List.

(D) All New Construction Grants requests, as described in (A) above, that are Ready for Apportionment shall be apportioned at the regularly scheduled Board meeting in August 2002 with the exception of New Construction Grants requests that meet the criteria of subsection (b)(2)(A)(1) or (2). Any New Construction Grants request that is Ready for Apportionment that meets the criteria of subsection (b)(2)(A)(1) or (2) may be apportioned at either the regularly scheduled Board meeting in July or August 2002.

(E) If the Approved Applications for New Construction Grants received between April 1, 2002 and June 26, 2002 that are Ready for Apportionment, all New Construction Grants requests that were included on vant to Sections 1859.91 and 1859.92, the Board will continue to accept and process applications for eligibility determination. The Board will also accept and process applications for apportionment for purposes of developing an Unfunded List based on the date the application is Ready for Apportionment.

If either the Executive Officer of the Board, the State Architect, the Director of School Facilities Planning Division within the CDE or the Chief of the School Property Evaluation and Cleanup Division within the Department of Toxic Substances Control certify to the OPSC that the district's application was delayed for a specified number of calendar days in relation to other similar applications submitted to that agency at the same time, the application may, at the discretion of the Board, receive a date on the Unfunded List or receive funding pursuant to Section 1859.91 based on the date the application is Ready for Apportionment, adjusted back in time for the number of calendar days the application was delayed.

Applications for New Construction Adjusted Grants for a project where the site was apportioned pursuant to Section 1859.75.1 shall receive a date on the Unfunded List based on the date the environmental hardship site apportionment was made for the project.

With the exception of financial hardship eligibility, a district with an application included on an Unfunded List shall not be required to re-establish eligibility for that application prior to apportionment.

An application for funding included on an Unfunded List is eligible for reimbursement subject to adjustments in the New Construction Grants amount pursuant to Section 1859.77.

(c) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(c), the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made substantial progress in the completion of the project. Sufficient evidence of substantial progress shall be any of the following:

- (1) An Approved New Construction or Modernization Adjusted Grant Application; or
- (2) A school district certification that the final building plans for the project have been submitted to and accepted by the DSA for review and approval; or
- (3) An approved separate site funding application pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(a) or an approved environmental hardship funding application pursuant to Section 1859.75.1; or
- (4) Other evidence satisfactory to the Board detailing the reason(s) that plans have not been completed and accepted by the DSA. If the Board determines that substantial progress has been made pursuant to Education Code Section 17076.10(b), the Board shall condition its finding of substantial progress upon the district's commitment to complete and submit an Approved New Construction or Modernization Adjusted Grant Application within a period not to exceed 18 months from the date of the Board's determination of substantial progress.

After the Board has received the progress report required in Section 1859.104(b) for items (a), (b), and (c) above, a review and analysis of the report by the OPSC will be made for compliance with this Section within 60 days of the submittal of the report by the district. The OPSC must notify the district within 60 days of the submittal of the report if it intends to recommend to the Board that no substantial progress has been made on the project. If the OPSC does not respond to the district within 60 days of submittal of the report, the OPSC concurs with the district that substantial progress has been made.

Should the OPSC respond within 60 days of submittal of the progress report by the district that no substantial progress has been made or the district fails to submit the progress report within the timelines in Section 1859.104 (b) for items (a), (b), and (c) above or the district has not filed an Approved Application for funds received pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(b), the district must report the final expenditures on the project on the Form SAB 50-06, to the OPSC within 60 days of the OPSC notification. After receipt of the expenditure report, the OPSC will recommend to the Board that a finding be made that no substantial progress on the project has been made and that the apportionment be reduced, after accounting for the district's matching share, by any funds not yet committed by a contract for the project and any interest earned on State funds for the project. The recommendation will be made at the next regularly scheduled Board meeting. If the expenditure report is not received within the 60 day period, the OPSC will recommend that the apportionment be rescinded and any interest earned on State funds be returned to the State.

If the apportionment is reduced or rescinded as a result of a finding by the Board that no substantial progress has been made on the project, the pupils assigned to the project will be added to the district's baseline eligibility. If the apportionment was reduced, the adjustment to the baseline eligibility shall reflect any funding retained by the district based on the New Construction or Modernization Adjusted Grant funding provided for the project. The district may refile a new application for the project subject to district eligibility and priority funding at the time of resubmittal.

§ 1859.105.1. Program Accountability Environmental Hardship.

(a) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.75.1, the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made progress towards acquisition of the site pursuant to Education Code Section 2.13(c)(2). The review shall consist of an analysis of the district's progress report in accordance with Section 1859.104(c). Acceptable evidence of substantial progress shall be when the district has completed all of the following:

- (1) Obtained the final appraisal of the site.
- (2) Completed all California Environmental Quality Act requirements.
- (3) Obtained final approval of the site by the CDE.
- (4) Provided final escrow instructions or evidence the district has filed condemnation proceedings and intends to request an order of possession of the site.

After the Board has received the progress report required in Section 1859.104(c) a review and analysis of the report by the OPSC will be made for compliance with this Section within 60 days of the submittal of the report by the district. The OPSC must notify the district within 60 days of the submittal of the report if it intends to recommend to the Board that the district has not made progress towards acquiring the site. If the OPSC does not respond to the district within 60 days of submittal of the report, the OPSC concurs with the district that it has made progress to the site acquisition.

Should the OPSC respond within 60 days of submittal of the progress report by the district that no progress has been made towards site acquisition or the district fails to submit the progress report within the timelines in Section 1859.104(c), the OPSC will recommend at the next available Board meeting that the site apportionment for the project be rescinded and that any interest earned on State funds be returned to the State. If the apportionment is rescinded as a result of a finding by the Board that no progress has been made towards acquiring the site, the pupils assigned to the project will be added to the district's baseline eligibility.

(b) The district may request one-year extensions of the site apportionment as authorized by Education Code Section 17072.13(c)(2). Acceptance criteria for approval of an extension are any of the following:

(1) The district has received letters from the DTSC and the CDE that indicate the agency concurs that the district is making reasonable progress towards acquisition of the site.

(2) Other reasonable evidence of effort the district has made towards acquiring the site as approved by the Board.

HISTORY

1. New section filed 6-26-2000; operative 6-26-2000 pursuant to Government Code section 11343.4(d) (Register 2000, No. 26).

§ 1859.106. Program Accountability Expenditure Audit.

The projects will be audited to assure that the expenditures incurred by the district were made in accordance with the provisions of Education Code Section 17072.35 for new construction projects, Section 1859.131 for Joint-Use Projects and Education Code Section 17074.25 and Section 1859.79.2 for modernization projects. The audit will also assure that the district complied with all site acquisition guidelines as provided in Sections 1859.74, 1859.74.1, 1859.74.2, 1859.74.4, 1859.75 and 1859.75.1.

An adjustment in the SFP grant will be made for the following:

(a) The difference in the value of site and the hazardous waste removal costs that were used to determine the New Construction Additional Grant and the actual amount paid by the district for the site, the relocation cost, the DTSC fee, and the costs for hazardous waste materials removal.

(b) For 50 percent of any insurance proceeds collectable by the district for displaced facilities and 50 percent of the net proceeds available from the disposition of displaced facilities pursuant to Section 1859.82(a) or

(c) The difference in the hazardous waste removal costs that was used to determine the New Construction Additional Grant for Hazardous Waste Removal on an Existing Site and the actual amount paid by the district for the allowable cost for hazardous waste removal.

When the OPSC receives the final expenditure report from the district on Form SAB 50-06, an audit of the expenditures by the OPSC shall commence within two years of the report. If the district is not notified by the OPSC within the two-year period that an audit will be made, there will be no audit of the project by the OPSC and the expenditures reported by the district shall be deemed appropriate. If the district has been notified that an audit of the expenditures will be made by the OPSC, the OPSC shall complete the audit within six months of the notification, unless additional information requested from the district has not been received.

Districts shall be required to maintain all appropriate records that support all district certifications and expenditures for all costs associated with SFP and Joint-Use projects for a period of not less than four years from the date the notice of completion is filed for the project in order to allow other agencies, including, without limitation, the Bureau of State Audits and the State Controller to perform their audit responsibilities.

The district is responsible to substantiate expenditures from the Joint-Use Partner(s) financial contribution pursuant to Section 1859.127 and from other local sources.

Should the OPSC conduct an audit of the district certifications or the expenditures for the project and make a finding that some or all of the expenditures were not made in accordance with the provisions of Education Code Section 17072.35 for new construction projects, Section 1859.131 for Joint-Use Projects and Education Code Section 17074.25 and Section 1859.79.2 for modernization projects, the OPSC shall recommend to the Board that the apportionment be adjusted based on the audit findings. Upon adoption of the audit findings by the Board, the district must submit a warrant for any amount identified as being owed within 60 days of the Board action. If this does not occur, the OPSC shall initiate collection procedures from the School Fund Apportionment as outlined in Education Code Section 17076.10(c).

Should the CDE make a finding that a project did not meet the standards that were adopted by the CDE pursuant to Education Code Section 17251(b) and (c) when the district had self-certified that the project met those standards pursuant to Education Code Section 17070.50(b), the Board may request that the CDE make a recommendation that the apportionment for the project be adjusted based on the CDE finding. Any adjustment in the apportionment shall be based on the percentage of space in the project that the CDE determined did not meet those standards. Upon adoption of the finding by the Board, the district must submit a warrant for any amount identified as being owed within 60 days of the Board action. If this does not occur, the OPSC shall initiate collection procedures from the School Fund Apportionment as outlined in Education Code Section 17076.10(c).

A funding application that received an apportionment under Chapter 12 or Chapter 12.5 may not be rescinded and re-approved under the provisions of any amended law or administrative regulation unless specifically authorized by other applicable law.

A funding application, with the exception of funding applications identified in Subsection (a) below, that has received an approval pursuant to Section 1859.95, but has not received an apportionment, may receive an adjustment as allowed under Sections 1859.71, 1859.71.2(c), 1859.78.4(b) or 1859.78 at the time the apportionment is made. If the adjustment is a result of Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b), the district must submit an amended Form SAB 50-04. The amended application shall retain its OPSC processing date. No other adjustments may be made, including those resulting from changes to the regulations prior to final funding by the SAB. As an alternative, the application may be withdrawn and resubmitted for SAB approval under the provisions of any amended or new regulation that becomes effective prior to the apportionment for the project. The district must first request from the OPSC that the application be withdrawn and removed from the Unfunded List. The district may then resubmit the application to the OPSC under the provisions of the amended or new regulation once it is effective. The resubmitted application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC. School districts that have already received a site apportionment under Section 1859.81.1(a) may withdraw the application and file as an environmental hardship pursuant to Section 1859.75.1 without forfeiting their original site apportionment, provided that the new application does not exceed the amount already apportioned.

A funding application, with the exception of funding applications identified in Subsection (a) below, submitted to the OPSC that has received an approval will receive funding under the provisions of the regulations that were in effect when the application was submitted to the OPSC and any funding adjustment authorized by Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b). If the funding adjustment is a result of Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b), the district must submit an amended Form SAB 50-04. The amended application shall retain its OPSC processing date. At the option of the district, a funding application submitted to the OPSC that has not received an approval may be withdrawn and resubmitted for SAB approval under the provisions of any amended or new regulation once it is effective. The district must request that the application be withdrawn and removed from the OPSC workload list. The resubmitted application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC.

(a) A district that submitted an Approved Application request for either a Modernization Adjusted Grant or a Separate Design Apportionment for a modernization project pursuant to Section 1859.81.1 that meets the criteria in (1) and (2) below must submit a new Form SAB 50-04, that meets the criteria in Subsections (b) or (c) no later than 60 calendar days after the effective date (September 16, 2002) of this Subsection:

(1) The Approved Application was received by the OPSC after March 15, 2002 but no later than the date this Subsection becomes effective (September 16, 2002).

(2) The Approved Application has not received an approval or has received an approval pursuant to Section 1859.95, but has not received an apportionment.

(b) The new Form SAB 50-04 identifies the same number of pupils assigned to the original project or a lesser amount that is not less than 37.5 percent of the pupils originally assigned to the project (round up). In this case, the district will be required to contribute additional funds to the project to meet the 40 percent district contribution required pursuant to Section 1859.79(b). If the project was approved as a financial hardship project under the provisions of Section 1859.81, the project shall maintain its financial hardship status, however, the district will be subject to a financial review pursuant to Section 1859.81(a) to determine if there are additional district funds available for the project.

(c) The new Form SAB 50-04 identifies a lesser number of pupils assigned to the project that does not exceed an amount determined by multiplying the pupils assigned to the original project by 37.5 percent (round down). In this case, the district will not be required to contribute additional funds to the project to meet the 40 percent district contribution required pursuant to Section 1859.79(b).

(d) If a new Form SAB 50-04 is submitted under the provisions of subsection (b), the Architect of Record or Design Professional certification made on the original Form SAB 50-04 will be accepted as satisfying the requirements of the new Form SAB 50-04.

(e) Any Approved Application request that meets the requirements of Subsection (a) will be withdrawn 60 calendar days after the date Subsection (a) becomes effective (September 16, 2002), if the district does not submit a new Form SAB 50-04 conforming to either Subsections (b) or (c).

Any application for eligibility determination that has received an approval may be amended to comply with provisions of an amended or new regulation once it is effective. The amended application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC.

Any application for eligibility determination that has not received an approval may be amended at any time to conform to an amended or new regulation. The application shall retain its OPSC processing date.

Any application for modernization eligibility determination that has received an approval must be amended to conform to Regulation Section 1859.61(g) prior to submittal of an Form SAB 50-04.

Any application for modernization eligibility determination that has not received an approval must be amended to conform to Form SAB 50-03 prior to submittal of an Form SAB 50-04.

Districts that have received an approval of eligibility on a HSAA or Super HSAA are not required to re-establish eligibility under the provisions of Section 1859.41(a).

Districts that have requested eligibility determination on a HSAA or Super HSAA that have not received an approval must comply with the provisions of Section 1859.41(a) prior to submittal of Form SAB 50-04. The amended eligibility application shall retain its original OPSC processing date.

A district that has received an approval of its eligibility determination on a district-wide, HSAA or Super HSAA basis, but received no New Construction Grant(s), may re-file on another eligibility determination basis provided it withdraws all previously submitted Form SAB 50-04 requests for New Construction Grant(s), including those on the Unfunded List.

Article 6. New Construction Eligibility Determination

Section 1859.50. Calculations to Determine New Construction Baseline Eligibility.

The district shall calculate its eligibility determination by completion of the Form SAB 50-03. Eligibility determination for New Construction Grants may be requested on either a district-wide basis, a HSAA or Super HSAA basis.

If a district requests to have its eligibility determination made on a district-wide basis, eligibility for future grants in the district must be filed on the same basis for a period of five years from the date the district received an apportionment that was justified by eligibility determined on a district-wide basis.

If a district requests to re-file its eligibility determination from district-wide to HSAA or Super HSAA after the five year time period has elapsed, the existing school building capacity in the HSAA or Super HSAA will be determined based on the classrooms available in the HSAA or Super HSAA at the time of the initial district-wide request for eligibility determination. Once the baseline eligibility has been determined for the HSAA or Super HSAA, it will be adjusted for classrooms constructed, funded or acquired in that HSAA or Super HSAA as provided by Section 1859.51.

If a district requests to have its eligibility determination made on a HSAA or Super HSAA, it must meet the criteria of Section 1859.41.

The calculated eligibility on the Form SAB 50-03, is the initial eligibility of the district, the HSAA or Super HSAA and shall be referenced as the baseline eligibility for future SFP funding. The baseline eligibility is the basis for filing Form SAB 50-04, for a new construction SFP grant.

A district affected by a reorganization election on or after November 4, 1998 may file an application for a determination of new construction baseline eligibility after a successful reorganization election.

(a) In addition to any other funding authorized by these Regulations, the Board shall provide funding for the amount(s) in (b) below for the replacement cost of one-story buildings that are demolished at a school in order to increase pupil capacity of that school if all the following conditions are met:

(1) The school must be on MTYRE at the time the Approved Application is accepted.

(2) The site size as determined by the CDE for the existing capacity of the school is less than 75 percent of the recommended CDE site size.

(3) The pupil capacity of the school must be increased by at least the greater of (A) or (B) below:

(A) Twenty percent of the existing pupil capacity (before replacement) of the school. Existing pupil capacity shall be determined by multiplying classrooms intended for grades kindergarten through six by 25, classrooms intended for grades seven through 12 by 27, classrooms intended for Non-Severely Disabled Individuals with Exceptional Needs by 13 and classrooms intended for Severely Disabled Individuals with Exceptional Needs by nine. Classrooms shall not include any classrooms reduced from the Gross Classroom Inventory pursuant to Section 1859.32.

(B) 200 pupils.

(4) The sum of (A) and (B) below is less than the amount determined in (E) below:

(A) Determine the estimated cost of demolition of the one-story buildings to be replaced. The cost estimate shall be subject to review by the OPSC for conformance with the Saylor Current Cost Publication.

(B) Multiply the square footage of the buildings to be replaced by the Current Replacement Cost.

(C) Multiply the New Construction Grants requested in box 2a. of the Form SAB 50-04, by .01775 for K-6, .021 for 7-8 and .02472 for 9-12. For purposes of this calculation, assign Severely Disabled Individuals with Exceptional Needs and Non-Severely Disabled Individuals with Exceptional Needs pupil grants requested on Form SAB 50-04 as either K-6, 7-8 or 9-12 based on the type of project selected by the district on Form SAB 50-04.

(D) Determine the average appraised value of land per acre, including relocation costs, within the attendance boundaries of the school. The appraisal must be consistent with Section 1859.74.1.

(E) Multiply the sums of the products determined in (C) above by the average appraised value of land per acre determined in (D) above.

(5) The CDE has determined that the replacement of the one-story buildings on the existing site with multilevel building(s) would be the best available alternative and will not create a school with an inappropriate number of pupils in relation to the size of the site.

(6) The one-story buildings to be replaced on the existing site may not be leased facilities.

(7) With the exception of portables acquired with Class Size Reduction funds, the one-story buildings to be replaced on the site may not have been funded for either new construction or modernization funds from Proposition 1A funds within the past five years from the date the Approved Application is accepted.

(b) If the criteria in (a) are met, the additional funding is determined by multiplying $173.30 per square foot for Toilet Facilities and by $96.30 per square foot for all other facilities included in the one-story buildings to be replaced adjusted for the following:

(1) The amounts shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71.

(2) The amounts shall be increased by the percentage authorized in Section 1859.73 if the replacement area will be multilevel building(s).

§ 1859.81. Financial Hardship.

A district is eligible for financial hardship to fund all or a portion of its matching share requirement after demonstrating both of the following:

(a) The district is financially unable to provide all necessary matching funds for an eligible project. To determine this, an analysis shall be made of the district's financial records by the OPSC including data and records maintained by the CDE and the County Office of Education. The analysis shall consist of a review of the district's latest Independent Audit regarding funds available from all capital facility accounts, including, but not limited to, developer fees, funds generated from capital facility certificates of participation, federal grants, redevelopment funds, sale proceeds from surplus property, the appraised value of facilities approved for replacement pursuant to Section 1859.82, bond funds either encumbered, unencumbered or authorized but unsold, and savings from other SFP projects. All funds thus identified that have not been expended or encumbered by a contractual agreement for a specific capital outlay purpose prior to the initial request for financial hardship status shall be deemed available as a matching contribution.

After the initial request for financial hardship status is granted, no further encumbrances will be approved by the OPSC and all prospective revenue made available to the district's capital facility accounts shall be deemed available as matching contribution on the subsequent financial hardship review, with the exception of:

- (1) Approved interim housing expenditures.
- (2) Funding to pay for previously recognized multi-year encumbrances approved at the initial financial hardship approval.
- (3) Funding that is transferred into a Special Reserve Fund and is used for the express purpose of the Federal Renovation Program when the amount expended out of that fund does not exceed the maximum Federal Renovation Grant amount.
- (4) All other capital facility funding for a period of three years when no subsequent financial hardship request is made during this period. The three-year period begins with the date of the most recent financial hardship new construction or modernization adjusted grant funding apportionment.

The financial hardship analysis is subject to approval by the Board.

(b) From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may retain $19,776 per classroom in each enrollment reporting period for the cost to provide interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of classrooms needed for interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (b)(7) as follows:

- (1) Determine the current enrollment of the district by grade level as shown on the latest Form SAB 50-01.
- (2) Determine the New Construction Grants apportioned by grade level for all SFP projects and LPP funded under the provisions of Sections 1859.12 or 1859.13 where the district has submitted Form SAB 50-06 indicating that the project is 100 percent complete.
- (3) Subtract (b)(2) from (b)(1).
- (4) Determine the number of classrooms by grade level reported in Part I, Line 8 on Form SAB 50-02.
- (5) Multiply the classrooms determined in (b)(4) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe.
- (6) Subtract the product determined in (b)(5) from the difference determined in (b)(3) by grade level.
- (7) Divide the difference by grade level determined in (b)(6) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may also retain $19,776 per portable toilet unit in each reporting period for the cost to provide necessary interim toilet facilities for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of toilet facilities needed for interim housing shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (b)(7) divided by eight rounded up to the nearest whole number.

If the district's available funds, as determined by the OPSC analysis less costs for interim housing, is less than its matching share, the district will be deemed to have met the requirements of this Subsection.

(c) The district has made all reasonable efforts to fund its matching share of the project by demonstrating it is levying the developer fee justified under law or an alternative revenue source equal to or greater than the developer fee otherwise justified under law at the time of request for hardship and the district meets at least one of the following:

(1) The current outstanding bonded indebtedness of the district, at the time of request for financial hardship status, is at least 60 percent of the district's total bonding capacity. Outstanding bonded indebtedness includes that part of general obligation bonds, Mello-Roos Bonds, School Facility Improvement District Bonds and certificates of participation which the district is paying a debt service that was issued for capital outlay school facility purposes.

(2) The district had a successful registered voter bond election for at least the maximum amount allowed under Proposition 39 within the previous two years from the date of request for financial hardship status. The proceeds from the bond election that represent the maximum amount allowed under the provisions of Proposition 39 must be used to fund the district's matching share requirement for SFP project(s).

(3) It is a County Superintendent of Schools.

(4) The district's total bonding capacity at the time of the request for financial hardship status is $5 million or less.

(5) Other evidence of reasonable effort as approved by the SAB.

If the district's request for financial hardship status is denied by the Board, the district may be deemed eligible for rental payments of $2,000 per year per classroom under the Emergency School Classroom Law of 1979 for a two year period when relocatable classroom buildings are available and the district provides financial documentation that it is unable to afford the full rental amount and any other information satisfactory to the Board that the rental reduction is necessary. The number of classrooms eligible for the $2,000 rental payments shall be the sum of the numbers determined in (c)(5)(B) as follows:

(A) Determine the number of pupils by grade level that the district requested a New Construction Grant on the Form SAB 50-04 that were denied financial hardship status.

(B) Divide the number by grade level determined in (c)(5)(A) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

If the district meets the financial hardship requirements in this Section, the amount of financial hardship is equal to the district's matching share less funds deemed available in (a).

Once a district has been notified by the OPSC that it meets the requirements of financial hardship in this Section, the district may file Form SAB 50-04 under the provisions of financial hardship anytime within a period of 180 calendar days from the date of the OPSC notification.

If the district does not submit Form SAB 50-04 under the provisions of financial hardship within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship status, the district must re-qualify for financial hardship status under the provisions of this Section by submittal of a new request for financial hardship status.

If the district submits Form SAB 50-04 within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship and the project(s) has been included on an unfunded list for more than 180 calendar days, a review of the district's funds pursuant to (a) will be made to determine if additional district funds are available to fund the district's matching share of the project(s).

Financial hardship approval status by the OPSC for a separate design and/or site apportionment does not apply to any subsequent funding for the project(s).

§ 1859.81.1. Separate Apportionment for Site Acquisition and Design Costs.

A district that meets the financial hardship criteria in Section 1859.81 is eligible for the following:

(a) For a new construction project, a separate apportionment for site acquisition when all of the following requirements are met:

- (1) The district has eligibility for grants that equal at least 50 percent of the CDE master plan capacity of the site.
- (2) The district has received a contingent site approval letter from the CDE indicating that the proposed site is the best available.
- (3) The district has obtained a preliminary appraisal of the property by a qualified appraiser utilizing criteria outlined in Section 1859.74.1. This report may be made without access to the site.

(b) If the conditions in (a) are met, the Board will apportion all of the following less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a):

(i) An amount not to exceed 100 percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site as determined by Section 1859.74.1 or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site including any hazardous material clean-up.

(2) The estimated relocation expenses that will conform to Title 25, California Code of Regulations, Section 6000, et seq. The reasonable and necessary relocation costs for purchasing fixtures and equipment, personal property, new machinery/equipment, and the installation of any improvements at the replacement residence or business location may be included as relocation assistance.

(3) Four percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site acquisition including any hazardous material clean-up but not less than $50,000.

(4) The estimated DTSC costs for review, approval, and oversight of the POESA and the PEA.

(c) For new construction projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed 40 percent of the new construction grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a). For modernization projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed the following:

(1) If the Approved Application is received on or before March 15, 2002, 20 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a).

(2) If the Approved Application is received after March 15, 2002, 25 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a).

The amount apportioned is an estimate of the funds needed for design, engineering, and other pre-construction project costs.

Qualifying districts may request a separate apportionment for the design and for site acquisition for the same new construction project.

The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be offset from the New Construction Adjusted Grant or the Modernization Adjusted Grant amount the district would otherwise be eligible for pursuant to Sections 1859.70 and 1859.81 when the district submits Form SAB 50-04. A district seeking a separate apportionment for site acquisition or design costs shall submit Form SAB 50-04. If a new construction project received a previous design apportionment, the district may request an additional design apportionment for that project up to the 40 percent maximum design apportionment allowed pursuant to this Section.

The Form SAB 50-04 that is subsequently submitted for the New Construction Adjusted Grant must be for at least 50 percent of the New Construction Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment.

The Form SAB 50-04 that is subsequently submitted for the Modernization Adjusted Grant must be for at least 80 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment that was received on or before March 15, 2002.

The Form SAB 50-04 that is subsequently submitted for the Modernization Adjusted Grant must be for at least 60 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment that was received after March 15, 2002.

When the Board is accepting applications pursuant to Section 1859.95, the funding of the new construction or modernization grant may be made from funds set aside by the Board for financial hardship. The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be adjusted at a future date to assure that hardship funding for the project does not exceed the amount the district was otherwise eligible to receive.

§ 1859.82. Facility Hardship.

A district is eligible for facility hardship funding to replace or construct new classrooms and related facilities if the district demonstrates there is an unmet need for pupil housing or the condition of the facilities, or the lack of facilities, is a threat to the health and safety of the pupils. A facility hardship is available for:

(a) New classrooms and/or subsidiary facilities (corridors, toilets, kitchens and other non-classroom space) or replacement facilities if either (1) or (2) are met:

(1) The facilities are needed to ensure the health and safety of the pupils if the district can demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Board that the health and safety of the pupils is at risk. Factors to be considered by the Board shall include the close proximity to a major freeway, airport, electrical facility, high power transmission lines, dam, pipeline, industrial facility, adverse air quality emission or other health and safety risks, including structural deficiencies required by the DSA to be repaired, traffic safety or because the pupils reside in remote areas of the district and transportation to existing facilities is not possible or poses a health and safety risk.

If the request is for replacement facilities, a cost/benefit analysis must be prepared by the district and submitted to the OPSC that indicates the total costs to remain in the classroom or related facility and mitigate the problem is at least 50 percent of the Current Replacement Cost of the classroom or related facility. The cost/benefit analysis may include applicable site development costs as outlined in Section 1859.76. If the cost to remain in the classroom or related facility is less than 50 percent of the Current Replacement Cost, the district may qualify for a Modernization Excessive Cost Hardship Grant for rehabilitation costs pursuant to Section 1859.83(c).

If the request is for replacement facilities that included structural deficiencies, the cost/benefit analysis must also include a report from a licensed design professional identifying the minimum work necessary to obtain DSA approval. The report must contain a detailed cost estimate of the repairs. The report and cost estimate shall be subject to review by the OPSC for conformance with the Saylor Current Construction Cost Publication and, at the OPSC's discretion, the DSA.

(2) The classroom or related facility was lost or destroyed as a result of a disaster such as fire, flood or earthquake and the district has demonstrated satisfactorily to the Board that the classroom or related facility was uninsurable or the cost for insurance was prohibitive.

If the district qualifies for a new or replacement school pursuant to either (1) or (2) above, the district is eligible for a New Construction Grant as a new construction project for the lesser of the pupils housed in the facility based on loading standards pursuant to Education Code Section 17071.25(a)(2) or the latest CBEDS enrollment at the site.

If the district qualifies for replacement facilities on the same site pursuant to either (1) or (2) above, the district is eligible for funding as a new construction project. Replacement facilities shall be allowed in accordance with the square footage amounts provided in the chart in Section (b) below. If the facility eligible for replacement is not shown in the chart in Section (b) below, the replacement facility shall be limited to the square footage replaced. The grant amount provided shall be $173.30 per square foot for Toilet Facilities and $96.30 per square foot for all other facilities. Additional funding may be provided for applicable site development costs pursuant to Section 1859.76, New Construction Excessive Cost Hardship Grant(s) pursuant to Section 1859.83(a), (b) or (d), therapy room pursuant to Section 1859.72, multilevel construction pursuant to Section 1859.73 and project assistance pursuant to Section 1859.73.1. The amounts shown will be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71.

Any grants provided pursuant to either (1) or (2) above will be reduced for any space deemed available by the Board in the district, the HSAA or Super HSAA that could be used to house some or all of the displaced pupils, fifty percent of any insurance proceeds collectable by the district for the displaced facilities and fifty percent of the net proceeds available from the disposition of any displaced facilities.

(b) A multi-purpose room, toilet, gymnasium, school administration or library/media center, facility that meets all the following:

(1) The facility was lost or destroyed as a result of a disaster, including but not limited to fire, flood or earthquake.

(2) The facility is no longer useable for school purposes as recommended by the California Department of Education and approved by the Board.

(3) The district has demonstrated satisfactorily to the Board that the facility was uninsurable or the cost of insurance was prohibitive.

If the district qualifies, the district is eligible for funding as a new construction project. The funding amount provided shall be $96.30 per square foot for library/media center, school administration, gymnasium and multi-purpose facilities, and/or $173.30 per square foot for Toilet Facilities. A New Construction Additional Grant may be provided for applicable site development costs pursuant to Section 1859.76, New Construction Excessive Cost Hardship Grant(s) pursuant to Section

1859.83(a) and (d), therapy room pursuant to Section 1859.72, multilevel construction pursuant to Section 1859.73 and project assistance pursuant to Section 1859.73.1. The amounts shown will be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. Any grants provided pursuant to (b) above, shall be reduced by fifty percent of any insurance proceeds collectable by the district for the displaced facilities and fifty percent of the net proceeds available from the disposition of any displaced facilities. The square footage provided, after accounting for all useable facilities on the site, shall not exceed the following:

Facility	Elementary School Pupils	Middle School Pupils	High School Pupils

Any facilities eligible for facility hardship not shown in the above chart shall be eligible for replacement square footage equal to the facilities replaced.

A district may request a determination of eligibility for facility hardship funding in advance of project funding.

(c) A district seeking replaced facilities as a result of either (a) or (b) above must submit Form SAB 50-04 for the replaced facilities:

(1) Within 18 months if the replacement facilities will be located on the same site.

§ 1859.105. Program Accountability Progress Audit.

(a) When the district has received funds for a SFP project, the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made substantial progress in the completion of the project pursuant to Education Code Section 17076.10(b). The review shall consist of an analysis of the district's progress report in accordance with Section 1859.104(b). Sufficient evidence of substantial progress shall be any of the following:

- (1) At least 75 percent of all site development work that is necessary prior to building construction activity is complete.
- (2) At least 90 percent of the building construction activities are under contract, unless the building construction activities are delayed as a result of necessary site development work.
- (3) All construction activities are at least 50 percent complete.
- (4) Other evidence satisfactory to the Board of circumstances beyond the control of the district that precludes substantial progress being made.

(b) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(a), the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made substantial progress in the completion of the project. The audit shall consist of a review and analysis of the district's progress report in accordance with Section 1859.104(b). Acceptable evidence of substantial progress shall be when the district has completed all of the following:

- (1) Obtained the final appraisal of the site.
- (2) Completed all California Environmental Quality Act requirements.
- (3) Obtained final approval of the site by the CDE.
- (4) Provided final escrow instructions or evidence the district has filed condemnation proceedings and intends to request an order of possession of the site.

(c) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(c), the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made substantial progress in the completion of the project. Sufficient evidence of substantial progress shall be any of the following:

- (1) An Approved New Construction or Modernization Adjusted Grant Application; or
- (2) A school district certification that the final building plans for the project have been submitted to and accepted by the DSA for review and approval; or
- (3) An approved separate site funding application pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(a) or an approved environmental hardship funding application pursuant to Section 1859.75.1; or
- (4) Other evidence satisfactory to the Board detailing the reason(s) that plans have not been completed and accepted by the DSA. If the Board determines that substantial progress has been made pursuant to Education Code Section 17076.10(b), the Board shall condition its finding of substantial progress upon the district's commitment to complete and submit an Approved New Construction or Modernization Adjusted Grant Application within a period not to exceed 18 months from the date of the Board's determination of substantial progress.

After the Board has received the progress report required in Section 1859.104(b) for items (a), (b), and (c) above, a review and analysis of the report by the OPSC will be made for compliance with this Section within 60 days of the submittal of the report by the district. The OPSC must notify the district within 60 days of the submittal of the report if it intends to recommend to the Board that no substantial progress has been made on the project. If the OPSC does not respond to the district within 60 days of submittal of the report, the OPSC concurs with the district that substantial progress has been made.

Should the OPSC respond within 60 days of submittal of the progress report by the district that no substantial progress has been made or the district fails to submit the progress report within the timelines in Section 1859.104 (b) for items (a), (b), and (c) above or the district has not filed an Approved Application for funds received pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(b), the district must report the final expenditures on the project on the Form SAB 50-06, to the OPSC within 60 days of the OPSC notification. After receipt of the expenditure report, the OPSC will recommend to the Board that a finding be made that no substantial progress on the project has been made and that the apportionment be reduced, after accounting for the district's matching share, by any funds not yet committed by a contract for the project and any interest earned on State funds for the project. The recommendation will be made at the next regularly scheduled Board meeting. If the expenditure report is not received within the 60 day period, the OPSC will recommend that the apportionment be rescinded and any interest earned on State funds be returned to the State.

If the apportionment is reduced or rescinded as a result of a finding by the Board that no substantial progress has been made on the project, the pupils assigned to the project will be added to the district's baseline eligibility. If the apportionment was reduced, the adjustment to the baseline eligibility shall reflect any funding retained by the district based on the New Construction or Modernization Adjusted Grant funding provided for the project. The district may refile a new application for the project subject to district eligibility and priority funding at the time of resubmittal.

1859.103.1. Program Accountability Environmental Hardship.

(a) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.75.1, the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made progress towards acquisition of the site pursuant to Education Code Section 17072.13(c)(2). The review shall consist of an analysis of the district's progress report in accordance with Section 1859.104(c). After the Board has received the progress report required in Section 1859.104(c) a review and analysis of the report by the OPSC will be made for compliance with this Section within 60 days of the submittal of the report by the district. The OPSC must notify the district within 60 days of the submittal of the report if it intends to recommend to the Board that the district has not made progress towards acquiring the site. If the OPSC does not respond to the district within 60 days of submittal of the report, the OPSC concurs with the district that it has made progress to the site acquisition.

Should the OPSC respond within 60 days of submittal of the progress report by the district that no progress has been made towards site acquisition or the district fails to submit the progress report within the timelines in Section 1859.104(c), the OPSC will recommend at the next available Board meeting that the site apportionment for the project be rescinded and that any interest earned on State funds be returned to the State. HISTORY

1. New section filed 6-26-2000; operative 6-26-2000 pursuant to Government Code section 11343.4(d) (Register 2000, No. 26).

§ 1859.106. Program Accountability Expenditure Audit.

The projects will be audited to assure that the expenditures incurred by the district were made in accordance with the provisions of Education Code Section 17072.35 for new construction projects, Section 1859.131 for Joint-Use Projects and Education Code Section 17074.25 and Section 1859.79.2 for modernization projects. The audit will also assure that the district complied with all site acquisition guidelines as provided in Sections 1859.74, 1859.74.1, 1859.74.2, 1859.74.4, 1859.75 and 1859.75.1.

An adjustment in the SFP grant will be made for the following:

- (a) The difference in the value of site and the hazardous waste removal costs that were used to determine the New Construction Additional Grant and the actual amount paid by the district for the site, the relocation cost, the DTSC fee, and the costs for hazardous waste materials removal.
- (b) For 50 percent of any insurance proceeds collectable by the district displaced facilities and 50 percent of the net proceeds available from the disposition of displaced facilities pursuant to Section 1859.82(a) or (b).
- (c) The difference in the hazardous waste removal costs that was used to determine the New Construction Additional Grant for Hazardous Waste Removal on an Existing Site and the actual amount paid by the district for the allowable cost for hazardous waste removal.

When the OPSC receives the final expenditure report from the district on Form SAB 50-06, an audit of the expenditures by the OPSC shall commence within two years of the report. If the district is not notified by the OPSC within the two-year period that an audit will be made, there will be no audit of the project by the OPSC and the expenditures reported by the district shall be deemed appropriate. If the district has been notified that an audit of the expenditures will be made by the OPSC, the OPSC shall complete the audit within six months of the notification, unless additional information requested from the district has not been received.

Districts shall be required to maintain all appropriate records that support all district certifications and expenditures for all costs associated with SFP and Joint-Use projects for a period of not less than four years from the date the notice of completion is filed for the project in order to allow other agencies, including, without limitation, the Bureau of State Audits and the State Controller to perform their audit responsibilities.

The district is responsible to substantiate expenditures from the Joint-Use Partner(s) financial contribution pursuant to Section 1859.127 and from other local sources.

Should the OPSC conduct an audit of the district certifications or the expenditures for the project and make a finding that some or all of the expenditures were not made in accordance with the provisions of Education Code Section 17072.35 for new construction projects, Section 1859.131 for Joint-Use Projects and Education Code Section 17074.25 and Section 1859.79.2 for modernization projects, the OPSC shall recommend to the Board that the apportionment be adjusted based on the audit findings. Upon adoption of the audit findings by the Board, the district must submit a warrant for any amount identified as being owed within 60 days of the Board action. If this does not occur, the OPSC shall initiate collection procedures from the School Fund Apportionment as outlined in Education Code Section 17076.10(c).

Should the CDE make a finding that a project did not meet the standards that were adopted by the CDE pursuant to Education Code Section 17251(b) and (c) when the district had self-certified that the project met those standards pursuant to Education Code Section 17070.50(b), the Board may request that the CDE make a recommendation that the apportionment for the project be adjusted based on the CDE finding. Any adjustment in the apportionment shall be based on the percentage of space in the project that the CDE determined did not meet those standards. Upon adoption of the finding by the Board, the district must submit a warrant for any amount identified as being owed within 60 days of the Board action. If this does not occur, the OPSC shall initiate collection procedures from the School Fund Apportionment as outlined in Education Code Section 17076.10(c).

A funding application that received an apportionment under Chapter 12 or Chapter 12.5 may not be rescinded and re-approved under the provisions of any amended law or administrative regulation unless specifically authorized by other applicable law.

A funding application, with the exception of funding applications identified in Subsection (a) below, that has received an approval pursuant to Section 1859.95, but has not received an apportionment, may receive an adjustment as allowed under Sections 1859.71, 1859.71.2(c), 1859.78.4(b) or 1859.78 at the time the apportionment is made. If the adjustment is a result of Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b), the district must submit an amended Form SAB 50-04. The amended application shall retain its OPSC processing date. No other adjustments may be made, including those resulting from changes to the regulations prior to final funding by the SAB. As an alternative, the application may be withdrawn and resubmitted for SAB approval under the provisions of any amended or new regulation that becomes effective prior to the apportionment for the project. The district must first request from the OPSC that the application be withdrawn and removed from the Unfunded List. The district may then resubmit the application to the OPSC under the provisions of the amended or new regulation once it is effective. The resubmitted application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC. School districts that have already received a site apportionment under Section 1859.81.1(a) may withdraw the application and file as an environmental hardship pursuant to Section 1859.75.1 without forfeiting their original site apportionment, provided that the new application does not exceed the amount already apportioned.

A funding application, with the exception of funding applications identified in Subsection (a) below, submitted to the OPSC that has not received an approval will receive funding under the provisions of the regulations that were in effect when the application was submitted to the OPSC and any funding adjustment authorized by Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b). If the funding adjustment is a result of Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b), the district must submit an amended Form SAB 50-04. The amended application shall retain its OPSC processing date. At the option of the district, a funding application submitted to the OPSC that has not received an approval may be withdrawn and resubmitted for SAB approval under the provisions of any amended or new regulation once it is effective. The district must request that the application be withdrawn and removed from the OPSC workload list. The resubmitted application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC.

(a) A district that submitted an Approved Application request for either a Modernization Adjusted Grant or a Separate Design Apportionment for a modernization project pursuant to Section 1859.81.1 that meets the criteria in (1) and (2) below must submit a new Form SAB 50-04, that meets the criteria in Subsections (b) or (c) no later than 60 calendar days after the effective date (September 16, 2002) of this Subsection:

(1) The Approved Application was received by the OPSC after March 15, 2002 but no later than the date this Subsection becomes effective (September 16, 2002).

(2) The Approved Application has not received an approval or has received an approval pursuant to Section 1859.95, but has not received an apportionment.

(b) The new Form SAB 50-04 identifies the same number of pupils assigned to the original project or a lesser amount that is not less than 37.5 percent of the pupils originally assigned to the project (round up). In this case, the district will be required to contribute additional funds to the project to meet the 40 percent district contribution required pursuant to Section 1859.79(b). If the project was approved as a financial hardship project under the provisions of Section 1859.81, the project shall maintain its financial hardship status, however, the district will be subject to a financial review pursuant to Section 1859.81(a) to determine if there are additional district funds available for the project.

(c) The new Form SAB 50-04 identifies a lesser number of pupils assigned to the project that does not exceed an amount determined by multiplying the pupils assigned to the original project by 37.5 percent (round down). In this case, the district will not be required to contribute additional funds to the project to meet the 40 percent district contribution required pursuant to Section 1859.79(b).

(d) If a new Form SAB 50-04 is submitted under the provisions of subsection (b), the Architect of Record or Design Professional certification made on the original Form SAB 50-04 will be accepted as satisfying the requirements of the new Form SAB 50-04.

(e) Any Approved Application request that meets the requirements of Subsection (a) will be withdrawn 60 calendar days after the date Subsection (a) becomes effective (September 16, 2002), if the district does not submit a new Form SAB 50-04 conforming to either Subsections (b) or (c).

Any application for eligibility determination that has received an approval may be amended to comply with provisions of an amended or new regulation once it is effective. The amended application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC.

Any application for eligibility determination that has not received an approval may be amended at any time to conform to an amended or new regulation. The application shall retain its OPSC processing date.

Any application for new construction eligibility determination that has received an approval must be amended to conform to Regulation Section 1859.51(i) prior to submittal of Form SAB 50-04.

Any application for new construction eligibility determination that has not received an approval must be amended to conform to Form SAB 50-02 and Form SAB 50-03 prior to submittal of Form SAB 50-04.

Any application for modernization eligibility determination that has received an approval must be amended to conform to Regulation Section 1859.61(g) prior to submittal of a Form SAB 50-04.

Any application for modernization eligibility determination that has not received an approval must be amended to conform to Form SAB 50-03 prior to submittal of a Form SAB 50-04.

Districts that have received an approval of eligibility on a HSAA or Super HSAA are not required to re-establish eligibility under the provisions of Section 1859.41(a).

Districts that have requested eligibility determination on a HSAA or Super HSAA that have not received an approval must comply with the provisions of Section 1859.41(a) prior to submittal of Form SAB 50-04. The amended eligibility application shall retain its original OPSC processing date.

A district that has received an approval of its eligibility determination on a district-wide, HSAA or Super HSAA basis, but received no New Construction Grant(s), may re-file on another eligibility determination basis provided it withdraws all previously submitted Form SAB 50-04 requests for New Construction Grant(s), including those on the Unfunded List.

(3) It is a County Superintendent of Schools.

(4) The district's total bonding capacity at the time of the request for financial hardship status is $5 million or less.

§ 1859.81.1. Separate Apportionment for Site Acquisition and Design Costs.

A district that meets the financial hardship criteria in Section 1859.81 is eligible for the following:

(a) For a new construction project, a separate apportionment for site acquisition, with the exception of site acquisition funding authorized by Section 1859.81.2, when all of the following requirements are met:

(1) The district has eligibility for grants that equal at least 50 percent of the CDE master plan capacity of the site.

(2) The district has received a contingent site approval letter from the CDE indicating that the proposed site is the best available.

(3) The district has obtained a preliminary appraisal of the property by a qualified appraiser utilizing criteria outlined in Section 1859.74.1. This report may be made without access to the site.

(b) If the conditions in (a) are met, the Board will apportion all of the following less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a):

(1) An amount not to exceed 100 percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site as determined by Section 1859.74.1 or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site including any hazardous material clean-up.

(2) The estimated relocation expenses that will conform to Title 25, California Code of Regulations, Section 6000, et seq. The reasonable and necessary relocation costs for purchasing fixtures and equipment, personal property, new machinery/equipment, and the installation of any improvements at the replacement residence or business location may be included as relocation assistance.

(3) Four percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site acquisition including any hazardous material clean-up but not less than $50,000.

(4) The estimated DTSC costs for review, approval, and oversight of the POESA and the PEA.

(c) For new construction projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed 40 percent of the new construction grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a). For modernization projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed the following:

(1) If the Approved Application is received on or before March 15, 2002, 20 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a).

(2) If the Approved Application is received after March 15, 2002, 25 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a).

The amount apportioned is an estimate of the funds needed for design, engineering, and other pre-construction project costs.

Qualifying districts may request a separate apportionment for the design and for site acquisition for the same new construction project.

The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be offset from the New Construction Adjusted Grant or the Modernization Adjusted Grant amount the district would otherwise be eligible for pursuant to Sections 1859.70 and 1859.81 when the district submits Form SAB 50-04. A district seeking a separate apportionment for site acquisition or design costs shall submit Form SAB 50-04. If a new construction project received a previous design apportionment, the district may request an additional design apportionment for that project up to the 40 percent maximum design apportionment allowed pursuant to this Section.

The Form SAB 50-04 that is subsequently submitted for the New Construction Adjusted Grant must be for at least 50 percent of the New Construction Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment.

The Form SAB 50-04 that is subsequently submitted for the Modernization Adjusted Grant must be for at least 80 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment that was received on or before March 15, 2002.

§ 1859.81. Financial Hardship.

A district is eligible for financial hardship to fund all or a portion of its matching share requirement after demonstrating both of the following:

(a) The district is financially unable to provide all necessary matching funds for an eligible project. To determine this, an analysis shall be made of the district's financial records by the OPSC including data and records maintained by the CDE and the County Office of Education. The analysis shall consist of a review of the district's latest Independent Audit regarding funds available from all capital facility accounts, including, but not limited to, developer fees, funds generated from capital facility certificates of participation, federal grants, redevelopment funds, sale proceeds from surplus property, the appraised value of facilities approved for replacement pursuant to Section 1859.82, bond funds either encumbered, unencumbered or authorized but unsold, and savings from other SFP projects. All funds thus identified that have not been expended or encumbered by a contractual agreement for a specific capital outlay purpose prior to the initial request for financial hardship status shall be deemed available as a matching contribution.

After the initial request for financial hardship status is granted, no further encumbrances will be approved by the OPSC and all prospective revenue made available to the district's capital facility accounts shall be deemed available as matching contribution on the subsequent financial hardship review, with the exception of:

(1) Approved interim housing expenditures.

(2) Funding to pay for previously recognized multi-year encumbrances approved at the initial financial hardship approval.

(3) Funding that is transferred into a Special Reserve Fund and is used for the express purpose of the Federal Renovation Program when the amount expended out of that fund does not exceed the maximum Federal Renovation Grant amount.

(4) All other capital facility funding for a period of three years when no subsequent financial hardship request is made during this period. The three-year period begins with the date of the most recent financial hardship new construction or modernization adjusted grant funding apportionment.

The financial hardship analysis is subject to approval by the Board.

(b) From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may retain $19,776 per classroom in each enrollment reporting period for the cost to provide interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of classrooms needed for interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (b)(7) as follows:

(1) Determine the current enrollment of the district by grade level as shown on the latest Form SAB 50-01.

(2) Determine the New Construction Grants apportioned by grade level for all SFP projects and LPP funded under the provisions of Sections 1859.12 or 1859.13 where the district has submitted Form SAB 50-06 indicating that the project is 100 percent complete.

(3) Subtract (b)(2) from (b)(1).

(4) Determine the number of classrooms by grade level reported in Part I, Line 8 on Form SAB 50-02.

(5) Multiply the classrooms determined in (b)(4) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe.

(6) Subtract the product determined in (b)(5) from the difference determined in (b)(3) by grade level.

(7) Divide the difference by grade level determined in (b)(6) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may also retain $19,776 per portable toilet unit in each reporting period for the cost to provide necessary interim toilet facilities for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of toilet facilities needed for interim housing shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (b)(7) divided by eight rounded up to the nearest whole number.

If the district's available funds, as determined by the OPSC analysis less costs for interim housing, is less than its matching share, the district will be deemed to have met the requirements of this Subsection.

(c) The district has made all reasonable efforts to fund its matching share of the project by demonstrating it is levying the developer fee justified under law or an alternative revenue source equal to or greater than the developer fee otherwise justified under law at the time of request for hardship and the district meets at least one of the following:

(1) The current outstanding bonded indebtedness of the district, at the time of request for financial hardship status, is at least 60 percent of the district's total bonding capacity. Outstanding bonded indebtedness includes that part of general obligation bonds, Mello-Roos Bonds, School Facility Improvement District Bonds and certificates of participation which the district is paying a debt service that was issued for capital outlay school facility purposes.

(2) The district had a successful registered voter bond election for at least the maximum amount allowed under Proposition 39 within the previous two years from the date of request for financial hardship status. The proceeds from the bond election that represent the maximum amount allowed under the provisions of Proposition 39 must be used to fund the district's matching share requirement for SFP project(s).

(3) It is a County Superintendent of Schools.

(4) The district's total bonding capacity at the time of the request for financial hardship status is $5 million or less.

(5) Other evidence of reasonable effort as approved by the SAB.

If the district's request for financial hardship status is denied by the Board, the district may be deemed eligible for rental payments of $2,000 per year per classroom under the Emergency School Classroom Law of 1979 for a two year period when relocatable classroom buildings are available and the district provides financial documentation that it is unable to afford the full rental amount and any other information satisfactory to the Board that the rental reduction is necessary. The number of classrooms eligible for the $2,000 rental payments shall be the sum of the numbers determined in (c)(5)(B) as follows:

(A) Determine the number of pupils by grade level that the district requested a New Construction Grant on the Form SAB 50-04 that were denied financial hardship status.

(B) Divide the number by grade level determined in (c)(5)(A) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

If the district meets the financial hardship requirements in this Section, the amount of financial hardship is equal to the district's matching share less funds deemed available in (a).

Once a district has been notified by the OPSC that it meets the requirements of financial hardship in this Section, the district may file Form SAB 50-04 under the provisions of financial hardship anytime within a period of 180 calendar days from the date of the OPSC notification.

If the district does not submit Form SAB 50-04 under the provisions of financial hardship within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship status, the district must re-qualify for financial hardship status under the provisions of this Section by submittal of a new request for financial hardship status.

If the district submits Form SAB 50-04 within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship and the project(s) has been included on an unfunded list for more than 180 calendar days, a review of the district's funds pursuant to (a) will be made to determine if additional district funds are available to fund the district's matching share of the project(s).

Financial hardship approval status by the OPSC for a separate design and/or site apportionment does not apply to any subsequent funding for the project(s).

§ 1859.81.1. Separate Apportionment for Site Acquisition and Design Costs.

A district that meets the financial hardship criteria in Section 1859.81 is eligible for the following:

(a) For a new construction project, a separate apportionment for site acquisition, with the exception of site acquisition funding authorized by Section 1859.81.2, when all of the following requirements are met:

(1) The district has eligibility for grants that equal at least 50 percent of the CDE master plan capacity of the site.

(2) The district has received a contingent site approval letter from the CDE indicating that the proposed site is the best available.

(3) The district has obtained a preliminary appraisal of the property by a qualified appraiser utilizing criteria outlined in Section 1859.74.1. This report may be made without access to the site.

(b) If the conditions in (a) are met, the Board will apportion all of the following less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a):

(1) An amount not to exceed 100 percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site as determined by Section 1859.74.1 or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site including any hazardous material clean-up.

(2) The estimated relocation expenses that will conform to Title 25, California Code of Regulations, Section 6000, et seq. The reasonable and necessary relocation costs for purchasing fixtures and equipment, personal property, new machinery/equipment, and the installation of any improvements at the replacement residence or business location may be included as relocation assistance.

(3) Four percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site acquisition including any hazardous material clean-up but not less than $50,000.

(4) The estimated DTSC costs for review, approval, and oversight of the POESA and the PEA.

(c) For new construction projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed 40 percent of the new construction grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a). For modernization projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed the following:

(1) If the Approved Application is received on or before March 15, 2002, 20 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a).

(2) If the Approved Application is received after March 15, 2002, 25 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the object pursuant to Section 1859.81(a).

The amount apportioned is an estimate of the funds needed for design, engineering, and other pre-construction project costs.

Qualifying districts may request a separate apportionment for the design and for site acquisition for the same new construction project.

The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be offset from the New Construction Adjusted Grant or the Modernization Adjusted Grant amount the district would otherwise be eligible for pursuant to Sections 1859.70 and 1859.81 when the district submits Form SAB 50-04. A district seeking a separate apportionment for site acquisition or design costs shall submit Form SAB 50-04. If a new construction project received a previous design apportionment, the district may request an additional design apportionment for that project up to the 40 percent maximum design apportionment allowed pursuant to this Section.

The Form SAB 50-04 that is subsequently submitted for the New Construction Adjusted Grant must be for at least 50 percent of the New Construction Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment.

The Form SAB 50-04 that is subsequently submitted for the Modernization Adjusted Grant must be for at least 80 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment that was received on or before March 15, 2002.

The Form SAB 50-04 that is subsequently submitted for the Modernization Adjusted Grant must be for at least 60 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment that was received after March 15, 2002.

When the Board is accepting applications pursuant to Section 1859.95, the funding of the new construction or modernization grant may be made from funds set aside by the Board for financial hardship. The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be adjusted at a future date to assure that hardship funding for the project does not exceed the amount the district was otherwise eligible to receive.

Projects will be audited to assure that the expenditures incurred for the district were made in accordance with the provisions of Education Code Section 17072.35 for new construction projects, Section 1859.120 for Joint-Use Projects, Section 1859.160 for Charter School projects, and Education Code Section 17074.25 and Section 1859.79.2 for modernization projects. An adjustment in the SFP grant will be made for the following:

When the OPSC receives the final expenditure report from the district on Form SAB 50-06, an audit of the expenditures by the OPSC shall commence within two years of the report. If the district is not notified by the OPSC within the two-year period that an audit will be made, there will be no audit of the project by the OPSC and the expenditures reported by the district shall be deemed appropriate. If the district has been notified that an audit of the expenditures will be made by the OPSC, the OPSC shall complete the audit within six months of the notification, unless additional information requested from the district has not been received.

Districts shall be required to maintain all appropriate records that support all district certifications and expenditures for all costs associated with SFP, Charter School, and Joint-Use projects for a period of not less than four years from the date the notice of completion is filed for the project in order to allow other agencies, including, without limitation, the Bureau of State Audits and the State Controller to perform their audit responsibilities.

The district is responsible to substantiate expenditures from the Joint-Use Partner(s) financial contribution pursuant to Section 1859.127 and from other local sources.

Should the OPSC conduct an audit of the district certifications or the expenditures for the project and make a finding that some or all of the expenditures were not made in accordance with the provisions of Education Code Section 17072.35 for new construction projects, Section 1859.120 for Joint-Use Projects, Section 1859.160 for Charter School projects, and Education Code Section 17074.25 and Section 1859.79.2 for modernization projects, the OPSC shall recommend to the Board that the apportionment be adjusted based on the audit findings. Upon adoption of the audit findings by the Board, the district must submit a warrant for any amount identified as being owed within 60 days of the Board action. If this does not occur, the OPSC shall initiate collection procedures from the School Fund Apportionment as outlined in Education Code Section 17076.10(c).

§ 1859.107. Amending and Withdrawal of Applications.

A funding application that received an apportionment under Chapter 12 or Chapter 12.5 may not be rescinded and re-approved under the provisions of any amended law or administrative regulation unless specifically authorized by other applicable law.

A funding application, with the exception of funding applications identified in Subsection (a) below, that has received an approval pursuant to Section 1859.95, but has not received an apportionment, may receive an adjustment as allowed under Sections 1859.71, 1859.71.2(c), 1859.78.4(b) or 1859.78 at the time the apportionment is made. If the adjustment is a result of Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b), the district must submit an amended Form SAB 50-04. The amended application shall retain its OPSC processing date. No other adjustments may be made, including those resulting from changes to the regulations prior to final funding by the SAB. As an alternative, the application may be withdrawn and resubmitted for SAB approval under the provisions of any amended or new regulation that becomes effective prior to the apportionment for the project. The district must first request from the OPSC that the application be withdrawn and removed from the Unfunded List. The district may then resubmit the application to the OPSC under the provisions of the amended or new regulation once it is effective. The resubmitted application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC. School districts that have already received a site apportionment under Section 1859.81.1(a) may withdraw the application and file as an environmental hardship pursuant to Section 1859.75.1 without forfeiting their original site apportionment, provided that the new application does not exceed the amount already apportioned.

A funding application, with the exception of funding applications identified in Subsection (a) below, submitted to the OPSC that has not received an approval will receive funding under the provisions of the regulations that were in effect when the application was submitted to the OPSC and any funding adjustment authorized by Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b). If the funding adjustment is a result of Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b), the district must submit an amended Form SAB 50-04. The amended application shall retain its OPSC processing date. At the option of the district, a funding application submitted to the OPSC that has not received an approval may be withdrawn and resubmitted for SAB approval under the provisions of any amended or new regulation once it is effective. The district must request that the application be withdrawn and removed from the OPSC workload list. The resubmitted application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC.

(a) A district that submitted an Approved Application request for either a Modernization Adjusted Grant or a Separate Design Apportionment for a modernization project pursuant to Section 1859.81.1 that meets the criteria in (1) and (2) below must submit a new Form SAB 50-04, that meets the criteria in Subsections (b) or (c) no later than 60 calendar days after the effective date (September 16, 2002) of this Subsection:

(1) The Approved Application was received by the OPSC after March 15, 2002 but no later than the date this Subsection becomes effective (September 16, 2002).

(2) The Approved Application has not received an approval or has received an approval pursuant to Section 1859.95, but has not received an apportionment.

(b) The new Form SAB 50-04 identifies the same number of pupils assigned to the original project or a lesser amount that is not less than 37.5 percent of the pupils originally assigned to the project (round up). In this case, the district will be required to contribute additional funds to the project to meet the 40 percent district contribution required pursuant to Section 1859.79(b). If the project was approved as a financial hardship project under the provisions of Section 1859.81, the project shall maintain its financial hardship status, however, the district will be subject to a financial review pursuant to Section 1859.81(a) to determine if there are additional district funds available for the project.

(c) The new Form SAB 50-04 identifies a lesser number of pupils assigned to the project that does not exceed an amount determined by multiplying the pupils assigned to the original project by 37.5 percent (round down). In this case, the district will not be required to contribute additional funds to the project to meet the 40 percent district contribution required pursuant to Section 1859.79(b).

(d) If a new Form SAB 50-04 is submitted under the provisions of subsection (b), the Architect of Record or Design Professional certification made on the original Form SAB 50-04 will be accepted as satisfying the requirements of the new Form SAB 50-04.

(c) Any Approved Application request that meets the requirements of Subsection (a) will be withdrawn 60 calendar days after the date Subsection (a) becomes effective (September 16, 2002), if the district does not submit a new Form SAB 50-04 conforming to either Subsections (b) or (c).

Any application for eligibility determination that has received an approval may be amended to comply with provisions of an amended or new regulation once it is effective. The amended application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC.

Any application for eligibility determination that has not received an approval may be amended at any time to conform to an amended or new regulation. The application shall retain its OPSC processing date.

Any application for new construction eligibility determination that has received an approval must be amended to conform to Regulation Section 1859.51(i) prior to submittal of Form SAB 50-04.

Any application for new construction eligibility determination that has not received an approval must be amended to conform to Form SAB 50-02 and Form SAB 50-03 prior to submittal of Form SAB 50-04.

Any application for modernization eligibility determination that has received an approval must be amended to conform to Regulation Section 1859.61(g) prior to submittal of a Form SAB 50-04.

Any application for modernization eligibility determination that has not received an approval must be amended to conform to Form SAB 50-03 prior to submittal of a Form SAB 50-04.

Districts that have received an approval of eligibility on a HSAA or Super HSAA are not required to re-establish eligibility under the provisions of Section 1859.41(a).

Districts that have requested eligibility determination on a HSAA or Super HSAA that have not received an approval must comply with the provisions of Section 1859.41(a) prior to submittal of Form SAB 50-04. The amended eligibility application shall retain its original OPSC processing date.

A district that has received an approval of its eligibility determination on a district-wide, HSAA or Super HSAA basis, but received no New Construction Grant(s), may re-file on another eligibility determination basis provided it withdraws all previously submitted Form SAB 50-04 requests for New Construction Grant(s), including those on the Unfunded List.

§ 1859.81. Financial Hardship.

A district is eligible for financial hardship to fund all or a portion of its matching share requirement after demonstrating both of the following:

- (a) The district is financially unable to provide all necessary matching funds for an eligible project. To determine this, an analysis shall be made of the district's financial records by the OPSC including data and records maintained by the CDE and the County Office of Education. The analysis shall consist of a review of the district's latest Independent Audit regarding funds available from all capital facility accounts, including, but not limited to, developer fees, funds generated from capital facility certificates of participation, federal grants, redevelopment funds, sale proceeds from surplus property, the appraised value of facilities approved for replacement pursuant to Section 1859.82, bond funds either encumbered, unencumbered or authorized but unsold, and savings from other SFP projects. All funds thus identified that have not been expended or encumbered by a contractual agreement for a specific capital outlay purpose prior to the initial request for financial hardship status shall be deemed available as a matching contribution.

After the initial request for financial hardship status is granted, no further encumbrances will be approved by the OPSC and all prospective revenue made available to the district's capital facility accounts shall be deemed available as matching contribution on the subsequent financial hardship review, with the exception of:

- (1) Approved interim housing expenditures.
- (2) Funding to pay for previously recognized multi-year encumbrances approved at the initial financial hardship approval.
- (3) Funding that is transferred into a Special Reserve Fund and is used for the express purpose of the Federal Renovation Program when the amount expended out of that fund does not exceed the maximum Federal Renovation Grant amount.
- (4) All other capital facility funding for a period of three years when no subsequent financial hardship request is made during this period. The three-year period begins with the date of the most recent financial hardship new construction or modernization adjusted grant funding apportionment.

The financial hardship analysis is subject to approval by the Board.

(b) From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may retain $19,776 per classroom in each enrollment reporting period for the cost to provide interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of classrooms needed for interim housing for the currently unhoused pupils shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (b)(7) as follows:

- (1) Determine the current enrollment of the district by grade level as shown on the latest Form SAB 50-01.
- (2) Determine the New Construction Grants apportioned by grade level for all SFP projects and LPP funded under the provisions of Sections 1859.12 or 1859.13 where the district has submitted Form SAB 50-06 indicating that the project is 100 percent complete.
- (3) Subtract (b)(2) from (b)(1).
- (4) Determine the number of classrooms by grade level reported in Part I, Line 8 on Form SAB 50-02.
- (5) Multiply the classrooms determined in (b)(4) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe.
- (6) Subtract the product determined in (b)(5) from the difference determined in (b)(3) by grade level.
- (7) Divide the difference by grade level determined in (b)(6) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

From the funds deemed available as a matching contribution, the district may also retain $19,776 per portable toilet unit in each reporting period for the cost to provide necessary interim toilet facilities for the currently unhoused pupils of the district. The amount shown shall be adjusted annually in the manner prescribed in Section 1859.71. The number of toilet facilities needed for interim housing shall be the sum of the positive numbers determined in (b)(7) divided by eight rounded up to the nearest whole number.

If the district's available funds, as determined by the OPSC analysis less costs for interim housing, is less than its matching share, the district will be deemed to have met the requirements of this Subsection.

(c) The district has made all reasonable efforts to fund its matching share of the project by demonstrating it is levying the developer fee justified under law or an alternative revenue source equal to or greater than the developer fee otherwise justified under law at the time of request for hardship and the district meets at least one of the following:

- (1) The current outstanding bonded indebtedness of the district, at the time of request for financial hardship status, is at least 60 percent of the district's total bonding capacity. Outstanding bonded indebtedness includes that part of general obligation bonds, Mello-Roos Bonds, School Facility Improvement District Bonds and certificates of participation which the district is paying a debt service that was issued for capital outlay school facility purposes.
- (2) The district had a successful registered voter bond election for at least the maximum amount allowed under Proposition 39 within the previous two years from the date of request for financial hardship status. The proceeds from the bond election that represent the maximum amount allowed under the provisions of Proposition 39 must be used to fund the district's matching share requirement for SFP project(s).
- (3) It is a County Superintendent of Schools.
- (4) The district's total bonding capacity at the time of the request for financial hardship status is $5 million or less.
- (5) Other evidence of reasonable effort as approved by the SAB.

If the district's request for financial hardship status is denied by the Board, the district may be deemed eligible for rental payments of $2,000 per year per classroom under the Emergency School Classroom Law of 1979 for a two year period when relocatable classroom buildings are available and the district provides financial documentation that it is unable to afford the full rental amount and any other information satisfactory to the Board that the rental reduction is necessary. The number of classrooms eligible for the $2,000 rental payments shall be the sum of the numbers determined in (c)(5)(B) as follows:

- (A) Determine the number of pupils by grade level that the district requested a New Construction Grant on the Form SAB 50-04 that were denied financial hardship status.
- (B) Divide the number by grade level determined in (c)(5)(A) by 25 for K-6, 27 for 7-12, 13 for Non-Severe and 9 for Severe and round up to the nearest whole number.

If the district meets the financial hardship requirements in this Section, the amount of financial hardship is equal to the district's matching share less funds deemed available in (a).

Once a district has been notified by the OPSC that it meets the requirements of financial hardship in this Section, the district may file Form SAB 50-04 under the provisions of financial hardship anytime within a period of 180 calendar days from the date of the OPSC notification.

If the district does not submit Form SAB 50-04 under the provisions of financial hardship within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship status, the district must re-qualify for financial hardship status under the provisions of this Section by submittal of a new request for financial hardship status.

If the district submits Form SAB 50-04 within 180 calendar days of the OPSC notification of approval of financial hardship and the project(s) has been included on an unfunded list for more than 180 calendar days, a review of the district's funds pursuant to (a) will be made to determine if additional district funds are available to fund the district's matching share of the project(s).

Financial hardship approval status by the OPSC for a separate design and/or site apportionment does not apply to any subsequent funding for the project(s).

A district that meets the financial hardship criteria in Section 1859.81 is eligible for the following:

- (a) For a new construction project, a separate apportionment for site acquisition, with the exception of site acquisition funding authorized by Section 1859.81.2, when all of the following requirements are met:

 - (2) The district has received a contingent site approval letter from the CDE indicating that the proposed site is the best available.
 - (3) The district has obtained a preliminary appraisal of the property by a qualified appraiser utilizing criteria outlined in Section 1859.74.1. This report may be made without access to the site.
- (b) If the conditions in (a) are met on a site that does not require a RA, the Board will apportion all of the following less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a):
 - (1) An amount not to exceed 100 percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site as determined by Section 1859.74.1 or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site including any hazardous material clean-up.
 - (2) The estimated relocation expenses that will conform to Title 25, California Code of Regulations, Section 6000, et seq. The reasonable and necessary relocation costs for purchasing fixtures and equipment, personal property, new machinery/equipment, and the installation of any improvements at the replacement residence or business location may be included as relocation assistance.

(3) Four percent of the lesser of the preliminary appraised value of the site or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site acquisition including any hazardous material clean-up but not less than $50,000.

(4) The estimated DTSC costs for review, approval, and oversight of the POESA and the PEA.

(c) If the conditions in (a) are met on a site that will require a RA, the district is eligible for a separate site apportionment not to exceed 50 percent of one and one half times the value of an appraisal that conforms to Section 1859.74.1 for the costs included in (c)(1) and (c)(4) plus the additional costs included in (c)(2) and (c)(3). The costs included in (c)(2) and (c)(3) are in addition to 50 percent of one and one half times the appraisal value cap.

(2) Fifty percent of the estimated relocation expenses that will conform to Title 25, California Code of Regulations, Section 6000, et seq. The reasonable and necessary relocation costs for purchasing fixtures and equipment, personal property, new machinery/equipment, and the installation of any improvements at the replacement residence or business location may be included as relocation assistance.

(3) Fifty percent of four percent of the lesser of the appraised value of the site or the amount the district reasonably expects to pay for the site acquisition including any hazardous materials/waste removal and/or remediation costs for the site, but not less than 50 percent of $50,000.

(4) The estimated DTSC costs for review, approval and oversight of the POESA and the PEA.

(d) The limitation of 50 percent of one and one half times the value of an appraisal for costs in subsections (c), (c)(1) and (c)(4) may be exceeded when the Board finds that unforeseen circumstances exist, and when both of the following exist:

(1) CDE determines that the site is the best available site for meeting the educational and safety needs of the School District.

(2) Substantiation that the costs are limited to the minimum required to complete the evaluation and RA approved by the DTSC.

(e) For new construction projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed 40 percent of the new construction grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a). For modernization projects, the Board will apportion an amount not to exceed the following:

(1) If the Approved Application is received on or before April 29, 2002, 20 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a).

(2) If the Approved Application is received after April 29, 2002, 25 percent of the modernization grant less any district funds available for the project pursuant to Section 1859.81(a).

The amount apportioned is an estimate of the funds needed for design, engineering, and other pre-construction project costs.

Qualifying districts may request a separate apportionment for the design and for site acquisition for the same new construction project.

The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be offset from the New Construction Adjusted Grant or the Modernization Adjusted Grant amount the district would otherwise be eligible for pursuant to Sections 1859.70 and 1859.81 when the district submits Form SAB 50-04. A district seeking a separate apportionment for site acquisition or design costs shall submit Form SAB 50-04. If a new construction project received a previous design apportionment, the district may request an additional design apportionment for that project up to the 40 percent maximum design apportionment allowed pursuant to this Section.

The Form SAB 50-04 that is subsequently submitted for the New Construction Adjusted Grant must be for at least 50 percent of the New Construction Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment.

The Form SAB 50-04 that is subsequently submitted for the Modernization Adjusted Grant must be for at least 80 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment that was received on or before April 29, 2002.

The Form SAB 50-04 that is subsequently submitted for the Modernization Adjusted Grant must be for at least 60 percent of the Modernization Grant the district requested as a separate design apportionment that was received after April 29, 2002.

When the Board is accepting applications pursuant to Section 1859.95, the funding of the new construction or modernization grant may be made from funds set aside by the Board for financial hardship. The amount provided as a separate apportionment shall be adjusted at a future date to assure that hardship funding for the project does not exceed the amount the district was otherwise eligible to receive.

(a) New classrooms and/or subsidiary facilities (corridors, toilets, kitchens and other non-classroom space) or replacement facilities if either (1) or (2) are met:

(1) The facilities are needed to ensure the health and safety of the pupils if the district can demonstrate to the satisfaction of the Board that the health and safety of the pupils is at risk. Factors to be considered by the Board shall include the close proximity to a major freeway, airport, electrical facility, high power transmission lines, dam, pipeline, industrial facility, adverse air quality emission or other health and safety risks, including structural deficiencies required by the DSA to be repaired, traffic safety or because the pupils reside in remote areas of the district and transportation to existing facilities is not possible or poses a health and safety risk.

§ 1859.107. Amending and Withdrawal of Applications.

A funding application that received an apportionment under Chapter 12 or Chapter 12.5 may not be rescinded and re-approved under the provisions of any amended law or administrative regulation unless specifically authorized by other applicable law.

A funding application, with the exception of funding applications identified in Subsection (a) below, that has received an approval pursuant to Section 1859.95, but has not received an apportionment, may receive an adjustment as allowed under Sections 1859.71, 1859.71.2(c), 1859.78.4(b) or 1859.78 at the time the apportionment is made. If the adjustment is a result of Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b), the district must submit an amended Form SAB 50-04. The amended application shall retain its OPSC processing date. No other adjustments may be made, including those resulting from changes to the regulations prior to final funding by the SAB. As an alternative, the application may be withdrawn and resubmitted for SAB approval under the provisions of any amended or new regulation that becomes effective prior to the apportionment for the project. The district must first request from the OPSC that the application be withdrawn and removed from the Unfunded List. The district may then resubmit the application to the OPSC under the provisions of the amended or new regulation once it is effective. The resubmitted application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC. School districts that have already received a site apportionment under Section 1859.81.1(a) may withdraw the application and file as an environmental hardship pursuant to Section 1859.75.1 without forfeiting their original site apportionment, provided that the new application does not exceed the amount already apportioned.

A funding application, with the exception of funding applications identified in Subsection (a) below, submitted to the OPSC that has not received an approval will receive funding under the provisions of the regulations that were in effect when the application was submitted to the OPSC and any funding adjustment authorized by Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b). If the funding adjustment is a result of Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b), the district must submit an amended Form SAB 50-04. The amended application shall retain its OPSC processing date. At the option of the district, a funding application submitted to the OPSC that has not received an approval may be withdrawn and resubmitted for SAB approval under the provisions of any amended or new regulation once it is effective. The district must request that the application be withdrawn and removed from the OPSC workload list. The resubmitted application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC.

(a) A district that submitted an Approved Application request for either a Modernization Adjusted Grant or a Separate Design Apportionment for a modernization project pursuant to Section 1859.81.1 that meets the criteria in (1) and (2) below must submit a new Form SAB 50-04, that meets the criteria in Subsections (b) or (c) no later than 60 calendar days after the effective date (September 16, 2002) of this Subsection:

(1) The Approved Application was received by the OPSC after April 29, 2002 but no later than the date this Subsection becomes effective (September 16, 2002).

(2) The Approved Application has not received an approval or has received an approval pursuant to Section 1859.95, but has not received an apportionment.

(b) The new Form SAB 50-04 identifies the same number of pupils assigned to the original project or a lesser amount that is not less than 37.5 percent of the pupils originally assigned to the project (round up). In this case, the district will be required to contribute additional funds to the project to meet the 40 percent district contribution required pursuant to Section 1859.79(b). If the project was approved as a financial hardship project under the provisions of Section 1859.81, the project shall maintain its financial hardship status, however, the district will be subject to a financial review pursuant to Section 1859.81(a) to determine if there are additional district funds available for the project.

(c) The new Form SAB 50-04 identifies a lesser number of pupils assigned to the project that does not exceed an amount determined by multiplying the pupils assigned to the original project by 37.5 percent (round down). In this case, the district will not be required to contribute additional funds to the project to meet the 40 percent district contribution required pursuant to Section 1859.79(b).

(d) If a new Form SAB 50-04 is submitted under the provisions of subsection (b), the Architect of Record or Design Professional certification made on the original Form SAB 50-04 will be accepted as satisfying the requirements of the new Form SAB 50-04.

(e) Any Approved Application request that meets the requirements of Subsection (a) will be withdrawn 60 calendar days after the date Subsection (a) becomes effective (September 16, 2002), if the district does not submit a new Form SAB 50-04 conforming to either Subsections (b) or (c).

Any application for eligibility determination that has received an approval may be amended to comply with provisions of an amended or new regulation once it is effective. The amended application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC.

Any application for eligibility determination that has not received an approval may be amended at any time to conform to an amended or new regulation. The application shall retain its OPSC processing date.

Any application for new construction eligibility determination that has received an approval must be amended to conform to Regulation Section 1859.51(f) prior to submittal of Form SAB 50-04.

Any application for new construction eligibility determination that has not received an approval must be amended to conform to Form SAB 50-02 and Form SAB 50-03 prior to submittal of Form SAB 50-04.

Any application for modernization eligibility determination that has received an approval must be amended to conform to Regulation Section 1859.61(g) prior to submittal of an Form SAB 50-04.

Any application for modernization eligibility determination that has not received an approval must be amended to conform to Form SAB 50-03 prior to submittal of an Form SAB 50-04.

Districts that have received an approval of eligibility on a HSAA or Super HSAA are not required to re-establish eligibility under the provisions of Section 1859.41(a).

Districts that have requested eligibility determination on a HSAA or Super HSAA that have not received an approval must comply with the provisions of Section 1859.41(a) prior to submittal of Form SAB 50-04.

The amended eligibility application shall retain its original OPSC processing date.

A district that has received an approval of its eligibility determination on a district-wide, HSAA or Super HSAA basis, but received no New Construction Grant(s), may re-file on another eligibility determination basis provided it withdraws all previously submitted Form SAB 50-04 requests for New Construction Grant(s), including those on the Unfunded List.

§ 1859.105. Program Accountability Progress Audit.

(a) When the district has received funds for a SFP project, the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made substantial progress in the completion of the project pursuant to Education Code Section 17076.10(b). The review shall consist of an analysis of the district's progress report in accordance with Section 1859.104(b). Sufficient evidence of substantial progress shall be any of the following:

- (1) At least 75 percent of all site development work that is necessary prior to building construction activity is complete.
- (2) At least 90 percent of the building construction activities are under contract, unless the building construction activities are delayed as a result of necessary site development work.
- (3) All construction activities are at least 50 percent complete.
- (4) Other evidence satisfactory to the Board of circumstances beyond the control of the district that precludes substantial progress being made.

(b) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(a), the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made substantial progress in the completion of the project. The audit shall consist of a review and analysis of the district's progress report in accordance with Section 1859.104(b). Acceptable evidence of substantial progress shall be when the district has completed all of the following:

- (1) Obtained the final appraisal of the site.
 - (2) Completed all California Environmental Quality Act requirements.
 - (3) Obtained final approval of the site by the CDE.
 - (4) Provided final escrow instructions or evidence the district has filed condemnation proceedings and intends to request an order of possession of the site.
- (c) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(c), the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made substantial progress in the completion of the project. Sufficient evidence of substantial progress shall be any of the following:

(1) An Approved New Construction or Modernization Adjusted Grant Application; or

(2) A school district certification that the final building plans for the project have been submitted to and accepted by the DSA for review and approval; or

(3) An approved separate site funding application pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(a) or an approved environmental hardship funding application pursuant to Section 1859.75.1 or an approved Preliminary Apportionment pursuant to Section 1859.140, that met the criteria of Section 1859.142(b); or

- (4) Other evidence satisfactory to the Board detailing the reason(s) that plans have not been completed and accepted by the DSA. If the Board determines that substantial progress has been made pursuant to Education Code Section 17076.10(b), the Board shall condition its finding of substantial progress upon the district's commitment to complete and submit an Approved New Construction or Modernization Adjusted Grant Application within a period not to exceed 18 months from the date of the Board's determination of substantial progress.

After the Board has received the progress report required in Section 1859.104(b) for items (a), (b), and (c) above, a review and analysis of the report by the OPSC will be made for compliance with this Section within 60 days of the submittal of the report by the district. The OPSC must notify the district within 60 days of the submittal of the report if it intends to recommend to the Board that no substantial progress has been made on the project. If the OPSC does not respond to the district within 60 days of submittal of the report, the OPSC concurs with the district that substantial progress has been made.

Should the OPSC respond within 60 days of submittal of the progress report by the district that no substantial progress has been made or the district fails to submit the progress report within the timelines in Section 1859.104 (b) for items (a), (b), and (c) above or the district has not filed an Approved Application for funds received pursuant to Section 1859.81.1(b), the district must report the final expenditures on the project on the Form SAB 50-06, to the OPSC within 60 days of the OPSC notification. After receipt of the expenditure report, the OPSC will recommend to the Board that a finding be made that no substantial progress on the project has been made and that the apportionment be reduced, after accounting for the district's matching share, by any funds not yet committed by a contract for the project and any interest earned on State funds for the project. The recommendation will be made at the next regularly scheduled Board meeting. If the expenditure report is not received within the 60 day period, the OPSC will recommend that the apportionment be rescinded and any interest earned on State funds be returned to the State.

If the apportionment is reduced or rescinded as a result of a finding by the Board that no substantial progress has been made on the project, the pupils assigned to the project will be added to the district's baseline eligibility. If the apportionment was reduced, the adjustment to the baseline eligibility shall reflect any funding retained by the district based on the New Construction or Modernization Adjusted Grant funding provided for the project. The district may refile a new application for the project subject to district eligibility and priority funding at the time of resubmittal.

§ 1859.105.1. Program Accountability Environmental Hardship.

(a) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.75.1, the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made progress towards acquisition of the site pursuant to Education Code Section 17072.13(c)(2). The review shall consist of an analysis of the district's progress report in accordance with Section 1859.104(c). Acceptable evidence of substantial progress shall be when the district has completed all of the following:

- (1) Obtained the final appraisal of the site.
- (2) Completed all California Environmental Quality Act requirements.
- (3) Obtained final approval of the site by the CDE.
- (4) Provided final escrow instructions or evidence the district has filed condemnation proceedings and intends to request an order of possession of the site.

After the Board has received the progress report required in Section 1859.104(c) a review and analysis of the report by the OPSC will be made for compliance with this Section within 60 days of the submittal of the report by the district. The OPSC must notify the district within 60 days of the submittal of the report if it intends to recommend to the Board that the district has not made progress towards acquiring the site. If the OPSC does not respond to the district within 60 days of submittal of the report, the OPSC concurs with the district that it has made progress to the site acquisition.

Should the OPSC respond within 60 days of submittal of the progress report by the district that no progress has been made towards site acquisition or the district fails to submit the progress report within the timelines in Section 1859.104(c), the OPSC will recommend at the next available Board meeting that the site apportionment for the project be rescinded and that any interest earned on State funds be returned to the State. If the apportionment is rescinded as a result of a finding by the Board that no progress has been made towards acquiring the site, the pupils assigned to the project will be added to the district's baseline eligibility.

(b) The district may request one-year extensions of the site apportionment as authorized by Education Code Section 17072.13(c)(2). Acceptable criteria for approval of an extension are any of the following:

(1) The district has received letters from the DTSC and the CDE that indicate the agency concurs that the district is making reasonable progress towards acquisition of the site.

(2) Other reasonable evidence of effort the district has made towards acquiring the site as approved by the Board.

§ 1859.105.2. Program Accountability for District-Owned Site Acquisition Cost.

When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.74.5 for a district-owned site and has not submitted the certification required pursuant to Section 1859.104(d), the site apportionment is subject to the provisions of material inaccuracy as prescribed in Education Code Section 17070.51.

NOTE: Authority cited: Section 17070.35, Education Code. Reference: Sections 17070.51 and 17072.12, Education Code.

HISTORY

1. New section filed 2-6-2003; operative 2-6-2003 pursuant to Government Code section 11343.4 (Register 2003, No. 6).

§ 1859.106. Program Accountability Expenditure Audit.

The projects will be audited to assure that the expenditures incurred by the district were made in accordance with the provisions of Education Code Section 17072.35 for new construction projects, Section 1859.120 for Joint-Use Projects, Section 1859.140 for Critically Overcrowded School projects, Section 1859.160 for Charter School projects, and Education Code Section 17074.25 and Section 1859.79.2 for modernization projects. The audit will also assure that the district complied with all site acquisition guidelines as provided in Sections 1859.74, 1859.74.1, 1859.74.2, 1859.74.4, 1859.75 and 1859.75.1.

An adjustment in the SFP grant will be made for the following:

(a) The difference in the value of site and the hazardous waste removal costs that were used to determine the New Construction Additional Grant and the actual amount paid by the district for the site, the relocation cost, the DTSC fee, and the costs for hazardous waste materials removal.

(b) For 50 percent of any insurance proceeds collectable by the district for displaced facilities and 50 percent of the net proceeds available from the disposition of displaced facilities pursuant to Section 1859.82(a) or (b).

(c) The difference in the hazardous waste removal costs that was used to determine the New Construction Additional Grant for Hazardous Waste Removal on an Existing Site and the actual amount paid by the district for the allowable cost for hazardous waste removal.

When the OPSC receives the final expenditure report from the district on Form SAB 50-06, an audit of the expenditures by the OPSC shall commence within two years of the report. If the district is not notified by the OPSC within the two-year period that an audit will be made, there will be no audit of the project by the OPSC and the expenditures reported by the district shall be deemed appropriate. If the district has been notified that an audit of the expenditures will be made by the OPSC, the OPSC shall complete the audit within six months of the notification, unless additional information requested from the district has not been received.

Districts shall be required to maintain all appropriate records that support all district certifications and expenditures for all costs associated with SFP, Charter School, and Joint-Use projects for a period of not less than four years from the date the notice of completion is filed for the project in order to allow other agencies, including, without limitation, the Bureau of State Audits and the State Controller to perform their audit responsibilities.

The district is responsible to substantiate expenditures from the Joint-Use Partner(s) financial contribution pursuant to Section 1859.127 and from other local sources.

Should the OPSC conduct an audit of the district certifications or the expenditures for the project and make a finding that some or all of the expenditures were not made in accordance with the provisions of Education Code Section 17072.35 for new construction projects, Section 1859.120 for Joint-Use Projects, Section 1859.140 for Critically Overcrowded School projects, Section 1859.160 for Charter School projects, and Education Code Section 17074.25 and Section 1859.79.2 for modernization projects, the OPSC shall recommend to the Board that the apportionment be adjusted based on the audit findings. Upon adoption of the audit findings by the Board, the district must submit a warrant for any amount identified as being owed within 60 days of the Board action. If this does not occur, the OPSC shall initiate collection procedures from the School Fund Apportionment as outlined in Education Code Section 17076.10(c).

Should the CDE make a finding that a project did not meet the standards that were adopted by the CDE pursuant to Education Code Section 17251(b) and (c) when the district had self-certified that the project met those standards pursuant to Education Code Section 17070.50(b), the Board may request that the CDE make a recommendation that the apportionment for the project be adjusted based on the CDE finding. Any adjustment in the apportionment shall be based on the percentage of space in the project that the CDE determined did not meet those standards. Upon adoption of the finding by the Board, the district must submit a warrant for any amount identified as being owed within 60 days of the Board action. If this does not occur, the OPSC shall initiate collection procedures from the School Fund Apportionment as outlined in Education Code Section 17076.10(c).

A funding application that received an apportionment under Chapter 12 or Chapter 12.5 may not be rescinded and re-approved under the provisions of any amended law or administrative regulation unless specifically authorized by other applicable law.

A funding application, with the exception of funding applications identified in Subsection (a) below, that has received an approval pursuant to Section 1859.95, but has not received an apportionment, may receive an adjustment as allowed under Sections 1859.71, 1859.71.2(c), 1859.78.4(b) or 1859.78 at the time the apportionment is made. If the adjustment is a result of Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b), the district must submit an amended Form SAB 50-04. The amended application shall retain its OPSC processing date. No other adjustments may be made, including those resulting from changes to the regulations prior to final funding by the SAB. As an alternative, the application may be withdrawn and resubmitted for SAB approval under the provisions of any amended or new regulation that becomes effective prior to the apportionment for the project. The district must first request from the OPSC that the application be withdrawn and removed from the Unfunded List. The district may then resubmit the application to the OPSC under the provisions of the amended or new regulation once it is effective. The resubmitted application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC. School districts that have already received a site apportionment under Section 1859.81.1(a) may withdraw the application and file as an environmental hardship pursuant to Section 1859.75.1 without forfeiting their original site apportionment, provided that the new application does not exceed the amount already apportioned.

A funding application, with the exception of funding applications identified in Subsection (a) below, submitted to the OPSC that has not received an approval will receive funding under the provisions of the regulations that were in effect when the application was submitted to the OPSC and any funding adjustment authorized by Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b). If the funding adjustment is a result of Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b), the district must submit an amended Form SAB 50-04. The amended application shall retain its OPSC processing date. At the option of the district, a funding application submitted to the OPSC that has not received an approval may be withdrawn and resubmitted for SAB approval under the provisions of any amended or new regulation once it is effective. The district must request that the application be withdrawn and removed from the OPSC workload list. The resubmitted application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC.

(a) A district that submitted an Approved Application request for either a Modernization Adjusted Grant or a Separate Design Apportionment for a modernization project pursuant to Section 1859.81.1 that meets the criteria in (1) and (2) below must submit a new Form SAB 50-04, that meets the criteria in Subsections (b) or (c) no later than 60 calendar days after the effective date (September 16, 2002) of this Subsection:

(1) The Approved Application was received by the OPSC after April 29, 2002 but no later than the date this Subsection becomes effective (September 16, 2002).

(2) The Approved Application has not received an approval or has received an approval pursuant to Section 1859.95, but has not received an apportionment.

(b) The new Form SAB 50-04 identifies the same number of pupils assigned to the original project or a lesser amount that is not less than 37.5 percent of the pupils originally assigned to the project (round up). In this case, the district will be required to contribute additional funds to the project to meet the 40 percent district contribution required pursuant to Section 1859.79(b). If the project was approved as a financial hardship project under the provisions of Section 1859.81, the project shall maintain its financial hardship status, however, the district will be subject to a financial review pursuant to Section 1859.81(a) to determine if there are additional district funds available for the project.

(c) The new Form SAB 50-04 identifies a lesser number of pupils assigned to the project that does not exceed an amount determined by multiplying the pupils assigned to the original project by 37.5 percent (round down). In this case, the district will not be required to contribute additional funds to the project to meet the 40 percent district contribution required pursuant to Section 1859.79(b).

(d) If a new Form SAB 50-04 is submitted under the provisions of subsection (b), the Architect of Record or Design Professional certification made on the original Form SAB 50-04 will be accepted as satisfying the requirements of the new Form SAB 50-04.

(e) Any Approved Application request that meets the requirements of Subsection (a) will be withdrawn 60 calendar days after the date Subsection (a) becomes effective (September 16, 2002), if the district does not submit a new Form SAB 50-04 conforming to either Subsections (b) or (c).

Any application for eligibility determination that has received an approval may be amended to comply with provisions of an amended or new regulation once it is effective. The amended application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC.

Any application for eligibility determination that has not received an approval may be amended at any time to conform to an amended or new regulation. The application shall retain its OPSC processing date.

Any application for new construction eligibility determination that has received an approval must be amended to conform to Regulation Section 1859.51(f) prior to submittal of Form SAB 50-04.

13. Amendment of subsections (c) and (c)(4) filed 5-1-2003 as an emergency; operative 5-1-2003 (Register 2003, No. 18). A Certificate of Compliance must be transmitted to OAL by 8-29-2003 or emergency language will be repealed by operation of law on the following day.

§ 1859.105.1. Program Accountability Environmental Hardship.

(a) When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.75.1, the Board shall conduct a review to assure the district has made progress towards acquisition of the site pursuant to Education Code Section 17072.13(c)(2). The review shall consist of an analysis of the district's progress report in accordance with Section 1859.104(c). Acceptable evidence of substantial progress shall be when the district has completed all of the following:

- (1) Obtained the final appraisal of the site.
- (2) Completed all California Environmental Quality Act requirements.
- (3) Obtained final approval of the site by the CDE.
- (4) Provided final escrow instructions or evidence the district has filed condemnation proceedings and intends to request an order of possession of the site.

After the Board has received the progress report required in Section 1859.104(c) a review and analysis of the report by the OPSC will be made for compliance with this Section within 60 days of the submittal of the report by the district. The OPSC must notify the district within 60 days of the submittal of the report if it intends to recommend to the Board that the district has not made progress towards acquiring the site. If the OPSC does not respond to the district within 60 days of submittal of the report, the OPSC concurs with the district that it has made progress to the site acquisition.

Should the OPSC respond within 60 days of submittal of the progress report by the district that no progress has been made towards site acquisition or the district fails to submit the progress report within the timelines in Section 1859.104(c), the OPSC will recommend at the next available Board meeting that the site apportionment for the project be rescinded and that any interest earned on State funds be returned to the State. If the apportionment is rescinded as a result of a finding by the Board that no progress has been made towards acquiring the site, the pupils assigned to the project will be added to the district's baseline eligibility.

(b) The district may request one-year extensions of the site apportionment as authorized by Education Code Section 17072.13(c)(2). Acceptable criteria for approval of an extension are any of the following:

- (1) The district has received letters from the DTSC and the CDE that indicate the agency concurs that the district is making reasonable progress towards acquisition of the site.
- (2) Other reasonable evidence of effort the district has made towards acquiring the site as approved by the Board.

§ 1859.105.2. Program Accountability for District-Owned Site Acquisition Cost.

When the district has received funds pursuant to Section 1859.74.5 for a district-owned site and has not submitted the certification required pursuant to Section 1859.104(d), the site apportionment is subject to the provisions of material inaccuracy as prescribed in Education Code Section 17070.51.

NOTE: Authority cited: Section 17070.35, Education Code. Reference: Sections 17070.51 and 17072.12, Education Code.

HISTORY

1. New section filed 2-6-2003; operative 2-6-2003 pursuant to Government Code section 11343.4 (Register 2003, No. 6).

§ 1859.106. Program Accountability Expenditure Audit.

The projects will be audited to assure that the expenditures incurred by the district were made in accordance with the provisions of Education Code Section 17072.35 for new construction projects, Section 1859.120 for Joint-Use Projects, Section 1859.140 for Critically Overcrowded School projects, Section 1859.160 for Charter School projects, and Education Code Section 17074.25 and Section 1859.79.2 for modernization projects. The audit will also assure that the district complied with all site acquisition guidelines as provided in Sections 1859.74, 1859.74.1, 1859.74.2, 1859.74.4, 1859.75 and 1859.75.1.

An adjustment in the SFP grant will be made for the following:

(a) The difference in the value of site and the hazardous waste removal costs that were used to determine the New Construction Additional Grant and the actual amount paid by the district for the site, the relocation cost, the DTSC fee, and the costs for hazardous waste materials removal.

(b) For 50 percent of any insurance proceeds collectable by the district for displaced facilities and 50 percent of the net proceeds available from the disposition of displaced facilities pursuant to Section 1859.82(a) or (b).

(c) The difference in the hazardous waste removal costs that was used to determine the New Construction Additional Grant for Hazardous Waste Removal on an Existing Site and the actual amount paid by the district for the allowable cost for hazardous waste removal.

When the OPSC receives the final expenditure report from the district on Form SAB 50-06, an audit of the expenditures by the OPSC shall commence within two years of the report. If the district is not notified by the OPSC within the two-year period that an audit will be made, there will be no audit of the project by the OPSC and the expenditures reported by the district shall be deemed appropriate. If the district has been notified that an audit of the expenditures will be made by the OPSC, the OPSC shall complete the audit within six months of the notification, unless additional information requested from the district has not been received.

Districts shall be required to maintain all appropriate records that support all district certifications and expenditures for all costs associated with SFP, Charter School, and Joint-Use projects for a period of not less than four years from the date the notice of completion is filed for the project in order to allow other agencies, including, without limitation, the Bureau of State Audits and the State Controller to perform their audit responsibilities.

The district is responsible to substantiate expenditures from the Joint-Use Partner(s) financial contribution pursuant to Section 1859.127 and from other local sources.

Should the OPSC conduct an audit of the district certifications or the expenditures for the project and make a finding that some or all of the expenditures were not made in accordance with the provisions of Education Code Section 17072.35 for new construction projects, Section 1859.120 for Joint-Use Projects, Section 1859.140 for Critically Overcrowded School projects, Section 1859.160 for Charter School projects, and Education Code Section 17074.25 and Section 1859.79.2 for modernization projects, the OPSC shall recommend to the Board that the apportionment be adjusted based on the audit findings. Upon adoption of the audit findings by the Board, the district must submit a warrant for any amount identified as being owed within 60 days of the Board action. If this does not occur, the OPSC shall initiate collection procedures from the School Fund Apportionment as outlined in Education Code Section 17076.10(c).

Should the CDE make a finding that a project did not meet the standards that were adopted by the CDE pursuant to Education Code Section 17075.1(b) and (c) when the district had self-certified that the project met those standards pursuant to Education Code Section 17070.50(b), the Board may request that the CDE make a recommendation that the apportionment for the project be adjusted based on the CDE finding. Any adjustment in the apportionment shall be based on the percentage of space in the project that the CDE determined did not meet those standards. Upon adoption of the finding by the Board, the district must submit a warrant for any amount identified as being owed within 60 days of the Board action. If this does not occur, the OPSC shall initiate collection procedures from the School Fund Apportionment as outlined in Education Code Section 17076.10(c).

A funding application that received an apportionment under Chapter 12 or Chapter 12.5 may not be rescinded and re-approved under the provisions of any amended law or administrative regulation unless specifically authorized by other applicable law.

A funding application, with the exception of funding applications identified in Subsection (a) below, that has received an approval pursuant to Section 1859.95, but has not received an apportionment, may receive an adjustment as allowed under Sections 1859.71, 1859.71.2(c), 1859.78.4(b) or 1859.78 at the time the apportionment is made. If the adjustment is a result of Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b), the district must submit an amended Form SAB 50-04. The amended application shall retain its OPSC processing date. No other adjustments may be made, including those resulting from changes to the regulations prior to final funding by the SAB. As an alternative, the application may be withdrawn and resubmitted for SAB approval under the provisions of any amended or new regulation that becomes effective prior to the apportionment for the project. The district must first request from the OPSC that the application be withdrawn and removed from the Unfunded List. The district may then resubmit the application to the OPSC under the provisions of the amended or new regulation once it is effective. The resubmitted application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC. School districts that have already received a site apportionment under Section 1859.81.1(a) may withdraw the application and file as an environmental hardship pursuant to Section 1859.75.1 without forfeiting their original site apportionment, provided that the new application does not exceed the amount already apportioned.

A funding application, with the exception of funding applications identified in Subsection (a) below, submitted to the OPSC that has not received an approval will receive funding under the provisions of the regulations that were in effect when the application was submitted to the OPSC and any funding adjustment authorized by Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b). If the funding adjustment is a result of Sections 1859.71.2(c) or 1859.78.4(b), the district must submit an amended Form SAB 50-04. The amended application shall retain its OPSC processing date. At the option of the district, a funding application submitted to the OPSC that has not received an approval may be withdrawn and resubmitted for SAB approval under the provisions of any amended or new regulation once it is effective. The district must request that the application be withdrawn and removed from the OPSC workload list. The resubmitted application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC.

(a) A district that submitted an Approved Application request for either a Modernization Adjusted Grant or a Separate Design Apportionment for a modernization project pursuant to Section 1859.81.1 that meets the criteria in (1) and (2) below must submit a new Form SAB 50-04, that meets the criteria in Subsections (b) or (c) no later than 60 calendar days after the effective date (September 16, 2002) of this Subsection:

(1) The Approved Application was received by the OPSC after April 29, 2002 but no later than the date this Subsection becomes effective (September 16, 2002).

(2) The Approved Application has not received an approval or has received an approval pursuant to Section 1859.95, but has not received an apportionment.

(b) The new Form SAB 50-04 identifies the same number of pupils assigned to the original project or a lesser amount that is not less than 37.5 percent of the pupils originally assigned to the project (round up). In this case, the district will be required to contribute additional funds to the project to meet the 40 percent district contribution required pursuant to Section 1859.79(b). If the project was approved as a financial hardship project under the provisions of Section 1859.81, the project shall maintain its financial hardship status, however, the district will be subject to a financial review pursuant to Section 1859.81(a) to determine if there are additional district funds available for the project.

(c) The new Form SAB 50-04 identifies a lesser number of pupils assigned to the project that does not exceed an amount determined by multiplying the pupils assigned to the original project by 37.5 percent (round down). In this case, the district will not be required to contribute additional funds to the project to meet the 40 percent district contribution required pursuant to Section 1859.79(b).

(d) If a new Form SAB 50-04 is submitted under the provisions of subsection (b), the Architect of Record or Design Professional certification made on the original Form SAB 50-04 will be accepted as satisfying the requirements of the new Form SAB 50-04.

(e) Any Approved Application request that meets the requirements of Subsection (a) will be withdrawn 60 calendar days after the date Subsection (a) becomes effective (September 16, 2002), if the district does not submit a new Form SAB 50-04 conforming to either Subsections (b) or (c).

Any application for eligibility determination that has received an approval may be amended to comply with provisions of an amended or new regulation once it is effective. The amended application will receive a new processing date by the OPSC.

Any application for eligibility determination that has not received an approval may be amended at any time to conform to an amended or new regulation. The application shall retain its OPSC processing date.

Any application for new construction eligibility determination that has received an approval must be amended to conform to Regulation Section 1859.51(f) prior to submittal of Form SAB 50-04.

Ms. Paula Higashi, Executive Director

Sacramento, CA 95814

Dear Ms. Higashi:

Correspondence from the Commission on State Mandates (CSM) requests comments from interested parties on a number of test claims submitted by the Clovis Unified School District. The test claims are: School Facilities Funding Requirements (02-TC-30), Design Build Contracts (02-TC-45), Developer Fees (02-TC-42), and Deferred Maintenance Programs (02-TC-44). Due to the fact that the comments for these test claims are generally due at the same time and the test claims generally deal with facilities or related issues, we have consolidated our comments into one piece of correspondence. Our comments for each test claim are as follows.

School Facilities Funding Requirements (02-TC-30)

This is not a mandated program. It is one of various capital funding mechanisms available to school districts for the funding of facilities. School districts elect to participate in this program and any requirements regarding this program are applicable only after districts elect to participate in this program.

Design Build Contracts (02-TC-45)

This is not a mandated program. It is one of several delivery options that school districts can choose to pursue, if school districts elect to enter into design build contracts. Other factual inaccuracies in this claim include:

Page 13, line 10 of the claim states: Education Code Section 17250.35, subdivision (a), requires the school district governing board to retain the services of an architect or structural engineer to monitor compliance with the established performance criteria and design standards.

This is incorrect. The Education Code states that the governing board may, and is strongly encouraged to, retain the services of an architect or structural engineer throughout the course of the project.

Page 14, line 6 of the claim states: Subdivision (d) assigns all liability for the facility to the design-build entity.

This is incorrect. The Education Code states that the design-build entity shall be liable for building the facility to specifications set forth in the design-build contract in the absence of contractual language to the contrary.

Page 15, line 5 of the claim states: To the extent that these guidelines are adopted, districts would be required to comply.

This is incorrect. The Education Code only states that the governing board shall review the guidelines. The Education Code does not require compliance with the guidelines. It should be noted that the claimant correctly interpreted this provision on page 5, line 4 of the test claim.

Developer Fees (02-TC-42)

This is not a mandated program. This is a funding option available to local school boards, whereby they can elect to establish developer fees to pay for the construction or re-construction of facilities. Any requirements that apply to the establishment and collection of developer fees are applicable only after districts elect to levy development fees, charges, and/or dedications.

Deferred Maintenance Programs (02-TC-44)

This is not a mandated program. School district elect to participate in this program in order to receive funding for deferred maintenance and for the removal and containment of asbestos or lead. Any requirements regarding this program are applicable only after districts elect to participate in the program.

As required by CSM regulations, we are including a "Proof of Service" indicating that the parties included on the mailing list that accompanied your letter have been provided copies of this letter via either the United States Mail or, in the case of State agencies, Interagency Mail Service.

COMMISSION ON STATE MANDATES

Dear Ms. Higashi:

The Department of Finance has reviewed the Commission on State Mandates' Test Claim No. 02-TC-30, School Facilities Funding Requirements, submitted by the Clovis Unified School District (CUSD). The Claimant cites more than 150 statutes in nine chapters of the Education Code and certain sections in Title 2 of the California Code of Regulations as the basis of the test claim. The test claim alleges State-mandated reimbursable costs for programs, policies, and procedures that school districts and community college districts must comply with in order to receive state funded bond money for new construction, renovation, and modernization projects through the Leroy F. Green State School Building Lease-Purchase Law of 1976, the Leroy F. Green School Facilities Act of 1988, and other cited funding sources. As explained below, we find nothing in the statutes or regulations cited by the Claimant that makes a school district's participation in the funding programs a compulsory activity. Instead, we conclude that a district's participation in any of the cited programs is voluntary and the result of the district's discretionary choice. We also note that 25 to 30 percent of California's nearly 1,100 K-12 school districts do not participate in the state-funded school facility programs, which demonstrates that the programs are not compulsory. Consequently, we believe that a school district's compliance with school facilities funding requirements does not create a State-mandated reimbursable activity. In addition, we cite two other issues—misstatements of the Education Code and existing fee authority—as reasons for denying this claim.

Strict Accountability in Local School Construction Bonds Act of 2000 (Part 10, Chapter 1.5 of the Education Code)—The Claimant cites Education Code Sections 15271 et seq. as a partial basis for the test claim. However, Education Code Section 15100, Chapter 1.0, Part 10 states "Except as otherwise provided by law, the governing board of any school district or community college district may, when in its judgment it is advisable, and shall, upon a petition of the majority of the qualified electors residing in the school district or community college district, order an election and submit to the electors of the district the question whether the bonds of the district shall be issued and sold for the purpose of raising money for the following purposes: (a) The purchase of school lots. (b) The building or purchasing of school buildings..." (Underlining added.) Further, Education Code Section 15266 states, in part, "(a) As an alternative to authorizing and issuing bonds pursuant to Chapter 1 (commencing with Section 15100) or Chapter 2 (commencing with Section 15300), the governing board of a school district or community college district may decide, pursuant to a two-thirds vote and subject to Section 15100 or 15302 as appropriate, to pursue the authorization and issuance of bonds..." (Underlining added.)

As such, notwithstanding the requirements of other provisions of this chapter, we note that when a school district elects to participate in a voluntary program, the "downstream" activities of the district do not constitute a State-mandated reimbursable program. In Department of Finance v. Commission On State Mandates (2003) 30 Cal. 4th 727, the California Supreme Court confirmed the merits of the argument that where a local government entity voluntarily participates in a statutory program, the State may require the entity to comply with reasonable conditions without providing additional funds to reimburse the entity for increased level of activity.

Bonds of School Facilities Improvement Districts (Part 10, Chapter 2 of the Education Code)—The Claimant cites Education Code Sections 15301 et seq. as a partial basis for the test claim. However, we note that Education Code Section 15301(a) states that "Any school district or community college district that has a community facilities district formed pursuant to ... that has as one of its purposes the construction of school facilities ... may proceed under this chapter." (Underlining added.) Further, Education Code Section 15301(c) states that " A school district or community college district may proceed under this chapter without meeting the requirements of subdivision (a) and (b) if the governing board of the school district or community college district determines that it is necessary and in the best interest of the school district or community college district, respectively, to form a school facilities improvement district pursuant to this chapter to finance any or all of the improvements set forth in Section 15302." (Underlining added.) As noted and consistent with the Department of Finance v. Commission On State Mandates (2003) 30 Cal. 4th 727, when a school district elects to participate in a voluntary program, the "downstream" activities of the district do not constitute a State-mandated reimbursable program.

State School Building Lease-Purchase Law of 1976 (Part 10, Chapter 12 of the Education Code)—The Claimant cites Education Code Section 17006 et seq. and Title 2, California Code of Regulation, commencing with Section 1865.1 as a partial basis for the test claim. On page 20 of the Claimant's Declaration, the Claimant describes the "application process" for this chapter as "enter into an agreement with the State to receive funds for the construction, reconstruction, or replacement of school facilities from the State Allocation Board, pursuant to Title 2, California Code of Regulations Section 1865.3." (Underlining added.) Education Code Section 17002(d) states that a "Project means the facility being constructed or acquired by the state for rental to the applicant school district and may include the reconstruction ... " (Underlining added.) Further, California Code of Regulations Section 1865.1(d) defines "Application. A request pursuant to the act to lease a project..." (Underlining added.) We noted that the terms "enter into an agreement" and "applicant school district" indicated that a school district's participation in the Lease-Purchase is voluntary. Consequently, consistent with the Department of Finance v. Commission On State Mandates (2003) 30 Cal. 4th 727, when a school district elects to participate in a voluntary program, the "downstream" activities of the district do not constitute a State-mandated reimbursable program.

Leroy F. Greene School Facilities Act of 1998 (Part 10, Chapter 12.5 of the Education Code)—The Claimant cites Education Code Section 17070.33 et seq. as a partial basis for the test claim. Similar to a school district's participation in the State School Building Lease Purchase program, the School Facilities Act is based on a voluntarily submitted application by a district. California Code of Regulations Section 1859.2 states "'Application" means a request pursuant to the Act to receive an eligibility determination and/or funding for a school district." Therefore, as previously mentioned, when a school district elects to participate in a voluntary program, the "downstream" activities of the district do not constitute a State-mandated reimbursable program.

Emergency School (State Relocatable) Classroom Law of 1979 (Part 10, Chapter 14 of the Education Code)—The Claimant cites Education Code Section 17088.3 et seq. as a partial basis for the test claim. Chapter 14 authorizes the State Allocation Board (SAB) to own, have maintained, and lease portable, relocatable classrooms to qualifying school districts or county superintendents of school. Education Code Section 17087(c) states, "'Lessee' means a school district or county superintendent of schools to whom the board has leased a portable classroom." Further, we note that, in part, Section 1862.52(a) of Title 2, California Code of Regulation states, "Applications for lease of portable classrooms pursuant to Chapter 25, shall contain the following: A resolution on forms provided by the Board, by the governing board of the eligible district authorizing the filing of an application and the signing of a lease agreement or agreements for such numbers of portable classrooms as the Board may approve...." (Note that Chapter 277, Statutes of 1996 repealed and renumbered Chapter 25 of Part 10 of the Education Code to Chapter 14 of Part 10 of the Education Code.)

We find no provision in this chapter that requires a school district to enter into a lease agreement with the SAB. Moreover, by authorizing this lease program—a voluntary agreement between two parties—the statutes have created a voluntary program for participating school districts. As such, notwithstanding the requirements of other provisions of this chapter, we note that when a school district elects to participate in a voluntary program, the "downstream" activities of the district do not constitute a State-mandated reimbursable program.

School District Revenue Bond (Part 10, Chapter 15 of the Education Code)—The Claimant cites Education Code Section 17110 et seq. as a partial basis for the test claim. However, Education Code Section 17110 states that "The governing board of a school district may issue for sale revenue bonds to finance the construction of joint occupancy facilities as prescribed ... which facilities are necessary to relieve overcrowded schools..." (Underlining added.) Because of the permissive nature of this section, the "downstream" activities of the district do not constitute a State-mandated reimbursable program.

Public Disclosure of Non-Voter-Approved Debt (Part 10, Chapter 16 of the Education Code)—The Claimant cites Education Code Section 17150 as a partial basis for the test claim. However, Education Code Section 17150 states that "Upon the approval by the governing board of the school district to proceed with the issuance of certificates of participation or revenue bonds or to enter into any agreement for financing school construction..." (Underlining added.) Nothing in this chapter requires the governing board of a school district to enter into non-voter-approved debt. Instead, the Education Code places this choice with the governing board, making it a discretionary action. Again, the "downstream" activities of the district do not constitute a State-mandated reimbursable program.

California School Finance Authority (Part 10, Chapter 18 of the Education Code)—The Claimant cites Education Code Section 17180 et seq. as a partial basis for the test claim. Chapter 18 describes the actions of a "participating district," including when the district acts as an agent of the California School Finance Authority (CSFA) to carry out the mission of the CSFA. Education Code Section 17173(g) states that "'Participating district' means a school district or community college district which undertakes, itself, or through an agent, the financing or refinancing of a project or of working capital pursuant to this chapter..." Nothing in this chapter requires a school district to become a "participating district." Rather, a district becomes a "participating district" based on its own discretion. Consequently, these voluntary activities of the district do not constitute a State-mandated reimbursable program.

Misstatements of Education Code—We noted numerous occasions in the Claimant's test claim where the Claimant's description of Education Code provisions inaccurately represents the wording of the statute. For example, on page 7 of the test claim, the Claimant states "Chapter 132, Statutes of 2001, Section amended Education Code Section 15266³. Subdivision (a) provides that the governing board of a school or community college district, shall, as may be necessary, pursue the authorization and issuance of bonds in accordance ..." (Underlining added.) However, Education Code Section 15266 (a) states that "As an alternative to authorizing and issuing bonds pursuant to Chapter 1 ..., the governing board of a school district or community college district may decide, pursuant ..." (Underlining added.) By making this change, the Claimant is changing an otherwise permissive action of the board to an action that appears compulsory. We find no provision in the Education Code that allows for the substitution between the words "may" and "shall." Consequently, throughout its test claim, the Claimant is intentionally changing the context and meaning of many provisions of the Education Code to make them appear compulsory when in actuality, the cited codes are permissive. In the first 200 pages of the test claim, we found more than three-dozen misstatements of this type.

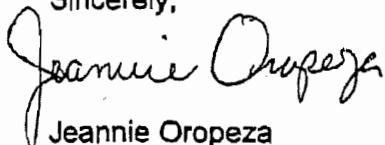

Fee Authority—Education Code Section 17620(a)(1) states: "The governing board of any school district is authorized to levy a fee, charge, dedication, or other requirement against any construction within the boundaries of the district, for the purpose of funding the construction or reconstruction of school facilities..." Government Code Section 17556(d) provides that the Commission shall not find a reimbursable mandate if the local agency has "authority to levy service charges, fees, or assessments sufficient to pay for the mandated program or increased level of service." Further, in Kathleen Connell v. Superior Court of Sacramento County (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 382, the court found that the fee authority can exist even if it is not economically feasible or practical to implement the fee.

Based on the aforementioned reasons, we conclude that the cited State law does not create a State-mandated reimbursable activity; therefore the test claim should be denied.

As required by the Commission's regulations, we are including a "Proof of Service" indicating that the parties included on the mailing list which accompanied your July 11, 2003, letter have been provided with copies of this letter via either United States Mail or, in the case of other State agencies, Interagency Mail Service.

Re: Test Claim 02-TC-30
Clovis Unified School District
School Facilities Funding Requirements

Dear Ms. Higashi:

I have received the comments of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction ("SPI") dated August 11, 2003, to which I now respond on behalf of the test claimant.

Although none of the objections generated by SPI are included in the statutory exceptions set forth in Government Code Section 17556, the objections stated additionally fail for the following reasons:

1. The Comments of the SPI are Incompetent and Should be Excluded

Test claimant objects to the Comments of the SPI, in total, as being legally incompetent and move that they be excluded from the record. Title 2, California Code of Regulations, Section 1183.02(d) requires that any:

"...written response, opposition, or recommendations and supporting documentation shall be signed at the end of the document, under penalty of perjury by an authorized representative of the state agency, with the declaration that it is true and complete to the best of the representative's personal knowledge or information and belief."

The SPI comments do not comply with this essential requirement.

2. The Comments of the SPI do not Merit a Response

SPI comments that the test claim legislation is but one of various capital funding mechanisms available for the funding of facilities and that school districts elect to participate in this program. SPI then merely concludes that the program is discretionary and, therefore, not a mandated program.

The Commission letter date July 11, 2003 requested that the SPI provide a response as to whether the alleged statutes and code section constitute mandates subject to state reimbursement. This requires an analysis to determine whether the alleged mandates meet the requirements of Government Code section 17514 and specific court decisions. The SPI's response does not provide that analysis, so it is incomplete.

The response of the SPI should be ignored as legally incompetent for his failure to comply with Section 1183.02 of Title 5, California Code of Regulations and is incomplete.

CERTIFICATION

I certify by my signature below, under penalty of perjury under the laws of the State of California, that the statements made in this document are true and complete to the best of my own personal knowledge or information and belief.

Sincerely,

Keith B. Petersen

Re: Test Claim 02-TC-30
Clovis Unified School District
School Facilities Funding Requirements

Dear Ms. Higashi:

I have received the comments of the Department of Finance ("DOF") dated February 9, 2004, to which I now respond on behalf of the test claimant.

A. The Opposition and Comments of the DOF are Incompetent and Should be Excluded

Test claimant objects to the comments of the DOF, in total, as being legally incompetent and move that they be excluded from the record. Title 2, California Code of Regulations, Section 1183.02(d) requires that any:

"...written response, opposition, or recommendations and supporting documentation shall be signed at the end of the document, under penalty of perjury by an authorized representative of the state agency, with the declaration that it is true and complete to the best of the representative's personal knowledge or information or belief."

Furthermore, the test claimant objects to any and all assertions or representations of fact made in the response [such as, "We also note that 25 to 30 percent of California's nearly 1,100 K-12 school districts do not participate in the state-funded school facility programs...”¹ since DOF has failed to comply with Title 2, California Code of Regulations, Section 1183.02(c)(1) which requires:

“If assertions or representations of fact are made (in a response), they must be supported by documentary evidence which shall be submitted with the state agency’s response, opposition, or recommendations. All documentary evidence shall be authenticated by declarations under penalty of perjury signed by persons who are authorized and competent to do so and must be based on the declarant’s personal knowledge or information or belief.”

The DOF’s comments do not comply with these essential requirements. Since the Commission cannot use unsworn comments or comments unsupported by declarations, but must make conclusions based upon an analysis of the statutes and facts supported in the record, test claimant requests that the comments and assertions of the DOF not be included in the Staff’s Analysis.

B. Obtaining School Facilities Funding is not Optional

The test claim presents a comprehensive analysis of the several statutory mechanisms available to school districts to obtain state money for the financing of new schools and modernization projects. DOF does not deny that any of the alleged mandated activities do, in fact, exist. Instead and as answered below, DOF excises language out of the several statutes to come to the conclusion that each and every one of the programs is optional and, therefore, all “downstream activities” are also optional.

School districts that need new facilities or modernization projects have, basically, three sources of funds for new facilities and modernization projects: the proceeds of their own district bonds, state funds, and developer fees. Each of the three are needed to do the job.

(1) A District’s Ability to Borrow for Needed School Facilities is Strictly Limited

The authority to issue local school bonds is found in Chapter 1 of Part 10 in Division 1 of Title 1 of the Education Code, commencing at Section 15100. This authority is strictly limited.

¹ Such spurious remarks could as likely mean that 25 to 30 percent of California’s schools are not currently building new facilities.

Education Code Section 15100 allows a district, when in its judgment it is advisable, and requires it, upon a petition of the majority of its qualified electors, to order an election and submit to the electors of the district the question whether the bonds of the district shall be issued and sold for the purpose of raising money for the purchase of school lots, the building or purchasing of school buildings and the making of alterations or additions to school buildings. Section 15102 provides that such bonded indebtedness shall not exceed 1.25 percent of the taxable property of the district. Section 15106 provides that unified school districts or community college districts may not exceed 2.5 percent of the taxable property of the district.

Chapter 1.5 of Part 10 sets forth the Strict Accountability in Local School Construction Bonds Act of 2000, commencing with Section 15264. ("Proposition 39 bonds") Here again, bonded indebtedness is strictly limited.

Section 15266 provides that the Act is an alternative to authorizing and issuing bonds pursuant to Chapter 1 or Chapter 2 (commencing with Section 15300) when the governing board of a school district or community college district decides, pursuant to a two-thirds vote, to pursue the authorization and issuance of bonds for school facilities. Section 15268 provides that such bonded indebtedness shall not exceed 1.25 percent of the taxable property of the district and may only be issued if the tax rate levied would not exceed thirty dollars ($30) per year per one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) of taxable property when assessed valuation is projected by the district to increase in accordance with Article XIII A of the California Constitution. Section 15270 provides that a unified school district may not authorize or issue bonds that exceed 2.5 percent of the taxable property of the district and may only be issued if the tax rate levied to meet the requirements of Section 18 of Article XVI of the California Constitution in the case of indebtedness incurred pursuant to this chapter at a single election, by a unified school district, would not exceed sixty dollars ($60) per year per one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000) of taxable property when assessed valuation is projected by the district to increase in accordance with Article XIII A of the California Constitution.

Chapter 2 of Part 10 sets forth the Bonds of School Facilities Improvement Districts Act, commencing with Education Code Section 15300. Here again, bonded indebtedness is strictly limited.

Section 15300 provides that the chapter provides a method for the formation of school facilities improvement districts consisting of a portion of the territory within a school district or community college district and for the issuance of general obligation bonds by the school facilities improvement district. Section 15330 provides that the total amount of bonds issued shall not exceed 1.25 percent of the taxable property of the school facilities improvement district. Section 15334.5 further provides that no bonded indebtedness may be incurred pursuant to this chapter in an amount that would cause the bonded indebtedness of the territory of the school district or community college district of which the school facilities improvement district is a part, to exceed the limitation of indebtedness specified in Sections 15102 and 15106.

(2) The State's Ability to Fully Fund Needed School Facilities is Limited

The California Research Bureau has published a study entitled "School Facility Financing - A History of the Role of the State Allocation Board and Options for the Distribution of Proposition 1A Funds." (Cohen, Joel, February 1999)² In the study, the plight of school districts is described therein as follows:

"As California enters the 21st Century, its public schools face many challenges. One significant challenge is the serious disrepair of an aging school facility infrastructure. Another challenge is the anticipated growth of nearly 2 million K-12 student during the next decade that will require many districts to build new schools to meet burgeoning student demand." (Cohen, op.cit., at page 1)

This independent study does not say school districts will have the discretion to build new schools, it concludes that districts will be required to build them. The report goes on to say:

"It is clear that throughout this history there was never enough State money available to school districts for facility construction or repair. In fact, in spite of the $6.7 billion approved by Proposition 1A, experts estimate that an additional $10 billion will be required during the next decade. This paper discusses how the constant shortage of funds caused districts to use 'whatever' means available to them to secure funding. (Cohen, op.cit., at page 2)

Developer fees are the major "whatever" available to school districts to secure necessary funding. The historical path to this situation was explained:

² A true and exact copy of the report as it appears on the current website of the California Research Bureau is attached hereto as Exhibit "A" and is incorporated herein by reference.

"With the passage of Proposition 13 in 1978, the State Allocation Board's loan orientation was significantly altered. Under Proposition 13, the amount of tax that property owners paid was limited to no more than one percent of the assessed value of their property. Local property tax revenues diminished, and the burden to fund many local government programs was shifted to the State, including public school construction. Further, local governments lost much of their property taxing authority..." (Cohen, op.cit., at page 7)

Therefore, in the post-Proposition 13 era, school financing became a collective effort:

"In 1986, the Legislature recognized that resources were scarce and that no one governmental or private entity could finance school construction. It attempted to equalize the burden of school facilities financing between state government, local government and the private sector. This concept was known as the 'three legged stool.' The idea was that the state would provide funds through bonds. Local government would provide its share through special taxes, general obligation, Mello-Roos and other bond proceeds. The private sector would provide funds through developer fees." (Cohen, op.cit., at page 15)

Even with Proposition 1A money, the report still projected a shortfall of available funds for school construction:

"...by 1998, the backlog of school construction projects that were approved by the State Allocation Board, but unfunded, totaled more than $1.3 billion...there were times during the past five decades when bond money was not available for periods of four or six years. (¶) The Department of Finance has estimated that $16 billion is needed over the next decade for public school construction and rehabilitation....in the end, Proposition 1A was passed....However, while the amount appears to be generous, it will not be enough to meet the entire anticipated need of the state. Based on the Department of Finance projections, the six years following the bond issue will require roughly an additional $10 billion in State money." (Cohen, op.cit., at page 19)

In fact, the worm is growing so large that it will soon swallow the fish:

"The State's bond capacity may not be able to fund every State infrastructure need, including schools, transportation, prisons and water during the next decade. School facility needs are estimated conservatively at roughly $10 billion, while some estimates have put the figure at $40 billion for the next decade alone. According to the Department of Finance, the State can afford to service approximately $25 billion in additional debt. Thus, school facility financing alone could incur the entire debt capacity of the State.” (Cohen, op.cit., at page 36)

(3) Subsequent Events Have Not Abated the Need

On November 5, 2002, California passed Proposition 47, the Kindergarten-University Public Education Facilities Bond Act of 2002. (Education Code Sections 100600, et seq.) This bond act provided 13.05 billion dollars for school facilities construction. Of this amount, 11.4 billion dollars was allocated to K-12 school district new construction and modernization. (See: Education Code Section 100620)

Proposition 55 appeared on the March 2, 2004 ballot which enacted the Kindergarten-University Public Education Facilities Bond Act of 2004. According to the official ballot information pamphlet³ prepared by the California Attorney General and published by the California Secretary of State, through September 2004, school districts identified a need to construct new schools to house nearly 1 million pupils and modernize schools for an additional 1.1 million pupils. The state cost to address these needs was estimated to be roughly $16 billion, yet only $10 billion was earmarked for K-12 school districts.

So it can be seen that there still is not enough state money to full satisfy the need for school facilities construction.

For the DOF to argue that school districts need not use school facilities funding mechanisms (along with the two other legs of the stool) to build new, and modernize old, schools is so far beyond the realm of practical reality so as not to be seriously considered.

C. Legal Compulsion is not Necessarily Required For a Finding of a Mandate

A finding of legal compulsion is not an absolute prerequisite to a finding of a reimbursable mandate. The controlling case law on the subject of non-legal compulsion is still City of Sacramento v. State of California (1990) 50 Cal.3rd 51 (hereinafter referred to as Sacramento II).

(1) Sacramento II Facts:

The adoption of the Social Security Act of 1935 provided for a Federal Unemployment Tax ("FUTA"). FUTA assesses an annual tax on the gross wages paid by covered private employers nationwide. However, employers in a state with a federally "certified" unemployment insurance program receive a "credit" against the federal tax in an amount determined as 90 percent of contributions made to the state system. A "certified" state program also qualifies for federal administrative funds.

California enacted its unemployment insurance system in 1935 and has sought to maintain federal compliance ever since.

In 1976, Congress enacted Public Law number 94-566 which amended FUTA to require, for the first time, that a "certified" state plan include coverage of public employees. States that did not alter their unemployment compensation laws accordingly faced a loss of both the federal tax credit and the administrative subsidy.

In response, the California Legislature adopted Chapter 2, Statutes of 1978 (hereinafter chapter 2/78), to conform to Public Law 94-566, and required the state and all local governments to participate in the state unemployment insurance system on behalf of their employees.

(2) Sacramento I Litigation

The City of Sacramento and the County of Los Angeles filed claims with the State Board of Control seeking state subvention of the costs imposed on them by chapter 2/78. The State Board denied the claim. On mandamus, the Sacramento Superior Court overruled the Board and found the costs to be reimbursable. In City of Sacramento v. State of California (1984) 156 Cal.App.3d 182 (hereinafter Sacramento I) the Court of Appeal affirmed concluding, inter alia, that chapter 2/78 imposed state-mandated costs reimbursable under section 6 of article XIII B. It also held, however, that the potential loss of federal funds and tax credits did not render Public Law 94-566 so coercive as to constitute a "mandate of the federal government" under Section 9(b).⁴

⁴ Section 1 of article XIII B limits annual "appropriations". Section 9(b) provides that "appropriations subject to limitation" do not include "appropriations required to comply with mandates of the courts or the federal government which, without discretion,

In other words, Sacramento I concluded, inter alia, that the loss of federal funds and tax credits did not amount to “compulsion”.

(3) Sacramento II Litigation

After remand, the case proceeded through the courts again. In Sacramento II, the Supreme Court held that the obligations imposed by chapter 2/78 failed to meet the “program” and “service” standards for mandatory subvention because it imposed no “unique” obligation on local governments, nor did it require them to provide new or increased governmental services to the public. The Court of Appeal decision, finding the expenses reimbursable, was overruled.

However, the court also overruled that portion of Sacramento I which held that the loss of federal funds and tax credits did not amount to “compulsion”.

(4) Sacramento II “Compulsion” Reasoning

Plaintiffs argued that the test claim legislation required a clear legal compulsion not present in Public Law 94-566. Defendants responded that the consequences of California’s failure to comply with the federal “carrot and stick” scheme were so substantial that the state had no realistic “discretion” to refuse.

In disapproving Sacramento I, the court explained:

“If California failed to conform its plan to new federal requirements as they arose, its businesses faced a new and serious penalty - full, double unemployment taxation by both state and federal governments.” (Opinion, at page 74)

Plaintiffs argued that California was not compelled to comply because it could have chosen to terminate its own unemployment insurance system, leaving the state’s employers faced only with the federal tax. The court replied to this suggestion:

“However, we cannot imagine the drafters and adopters of article XIII B intended to force the state to such draconian ends. (¶) ...The alternatives were so far beyond the realm of practical reality that they left the state ‘without discretion’ to depart from federal standards.” (Opinion, at page 74, emphasis supplied)

In other words, terminating its own system was not an acceptable option because it was require an expenditure for additional services or which unavoidably make the provision of existing services more costly.”

so far beyond the realm of practical reality so as to be a draconian response, leaving the state without discretion. The only reasonable alternative was to comply with the new legislation, since the state was practically “without discretion” to do otherwise.

The Supreme Court in Sacramento II concluded by stating that there is no final test for a determination of “mandatory” versus “optional”:

“Given the variety of cooperative federal-state-local programs, we here attempt no final test for ‘mandatory’ versus ‘optional’ compliance with federal law. A determination in each case must depend on such factors as the nature and purpose of the federal program; whether its design suggests an intent to coerce; when state and/or local participation began; the penalties, if any, assessed for withdrawal or refusal to participate or comply; and any other legal and practical consequences of nonparticipation, noncompliance, or withdrawal.” (Opinion, at page 76)

(5) The “Kern” Case Did Not Change the Standard

In Department of Finance v. Commission on State Mandates (2003) 30 Cal.4th 727, 736, (“Kern”) the supreme court first made it clear that the decision did not hold that legal compulsion was necessary in order to find a reimbursable mandate:

“For the reasons explained below, although we shall analyze the legal compulsion issue, we find it unnecessary in this case to decide whether a finding of legal compulsion is necessary in order to establish a right to reimbursement under article XIII B, section 6, because we conclude that even if there are some circumstances in which a state mandate may be found in the absence of legal compulsion, the circumstances presented in this case do not constitute such a mandate.” (Emphasis in the original, underlining added)

After concluding that the facts in Kern did not rise to the standard of non-legal compulsion, the court reaffirmed that either double taxation or other draconian consequences could result in non-legal compulsion:

“In sum, the circumstances presented in the case before us do not constitute the type of non-legal compulsion that reasonably could constitute, in claimants’ phrasing, a ‘de facto’ reimbursable state mandate. Contrary to the situation that we described in (Sacramento II), a claimant that elects to discontinue participation in one of the programs here at issue does not face ‘certain and severe...penalties’ such as

'double...taxation' or other 'draconian' consequences (citation), but simply must adjust to the withdrawal of grant money along with the lifting of program obligations." (Opinion, at page 754, emphasis supplied to illustrate holding is limited to facts presented)

The test for determining whether there is a mandate is whether compliance with the test claim legislation is a matter of true choice, that is whether participation is truly voluntary. Hayes v. Commission on State Mandates (1992) 11 Cal.App.4th 1564, 1582 In light of the history of funding new school facilities and modernization projects (supra), the only real "choice" school districts have is to either (1) build and modernize or (2) not educate their children. This is not a true choice, school districts are compelled to use state funds to provide suitable housing for their students. Not educating their children is so far beyond the realm of practical reality, that it leaves school districts without any rational discretion.

D. DOF's Arguments Deny Students Equal Protection of the Laws

Test claimant requests the Commission to take notice of the Comments of the DOF dated February 9, 2004 filed in the test claim for Developer Fees. (Test Claim 02-TC-42) Those comments argue that applying for developer fees is an "optional" decision and all "downstream activities" are therefore discretionary.

Here, DOF argues that applying for state school facilities funding is also an "optional" decision and all downstream activities are therefore discretionary.

Read individually or collectively, the argument of the DOF is that all state programs are "optional" and school districts should build necessary schools and repair dilapidated facilities "on their own" using their own funds.

Since its admission to the Union, California has assumed specific responsibility for a statewide public education system open on equal terms to all. The Constitution in 1849 directed the Legislature to "provide for a system of common schools, by which a school shall be kept up and supported in each district." That constitutional command, with the additional proviso that the school maintained by each district be "free" has persisted to the present day. Butt v. State of California (1992) 4 Cal.4th 668, 680⁵ In Butt the court explained:

⁵ Pursuant to Title 2, California Code of Regulations, Section 1183.03(2), a copy of Butt v. State of California is attached hereto as Exhibit "C".

“Accordingly, California courts have adhered to the following principles: Public education is an obligation which the State assumed by the adoption of the Constitution. (Citations) The system of public schools, although administered through local districts created by the Legislature, is ‘one system...applicable to all the common schools...’ (Citation) In view of the importance of education to society and to the individual child, the opportunity to receive the schooling furnished by the state must be made available to all on an equal basis. (Citation) ‘Management and control of the public schools [is] a matter of state[, not local,] care and supervision...’ (citations) The Legislature’s ‘plenary’ power over public education is subject only to constitutional restrictions. (Citations) Local districts are the State’s agents for local operation of the common school system (Citations), and the State’s ultimate responsibility for public education cannot be delegated to any other entity. (citation)” (Opinion, at pages 680-681)

Then after the court reminded us that, in Serrano I⁶, the court had struck down the then existing State public school financing scheme, which caused the amount of basic revenues per pupil to vary substantially among the respective districts depending on their taxable property values (Opinion, at page 683), the Supreme Court concluded:

“It therefore appears well settled that the California Constitution makes public education uniquely a fundamental concern of the State and prohibits maintenance and operation of the common public school system in a way which denies basic educational equality to the students of particular districts. The State itself bears the ultimate authority and responsibility to ensure that its district-based system of common schools provides basic equality of educational opportunity. (¶)...Whatever the requirements of the free school guaranty, the equal protection clause precludes the State from maintaining its common school system in a manner that denies the students of one district an education basically equivalent to that provided elsewhere throughout the State.” (Opinion, at page 685)

DOF’s argument that school districts need not participate in the various school facilities funding programs set forth in this and other test claim legislation is tantamount to saying that each school district is “on its own” when it comes to needed school construction. Since the quality of school facilities would then depend on the wealth of each individual district, the result would be a violation of the equal protection laws of the State constitution. (Article I, §7, subdivisions (a),(b); Article IV, §16, subdivision (a))

E. Districts do not have Authority to Levy Fees, Assessments and Taxes to Fund the Costs of New Construction or Modernization

DOF offers Government Code Section 17556, subdivision (d) for the proposition that districts are precluded from recovery since districts have the authority to levy fees, assessments and taxes under Education Code section 17620. Developer fees are not service charges, fees or assessments to the consumer of public services. Government Code section 17556(d) refers to “service charges, fees or assessments”. Education Code section 17620 refers to a “fee, charge, dedication or other requirement”. They are not the same.

In addition, Section 17556 presupposes the existence of a mandate which is contrary to DOF’s position. Also, subdivision (d) refers to the levy of service charges, fees and assessments against students. The levy of service charges, fees and assessments against students for any aspect of public education would be constitutionally prohibited by Article 9, Section 5, of the California constitution which requires the state to provide free schools.

In addition, the California Department of Education has issued Fiscal Management Advisory 97-02⁷ which makes it quite clear that tuition, fees, deposits and other charges may only be made when specifically authorized by law. The examples set forth in the advisory clearly demonstrate that the tuition, fees, deposits and other charges referred to in Government Code Section 17556, subdivision (d), clearly do not encompass sources for the construction of school facilities.

The facts of this test claim are clearly distinguishable from those which faced the court in Connell v. Superior Court (1997) 59 Cal.App.4th 382, relied upon by DOF. In Connell, the amount or availability of the fees⁸ were not restricted, the water district could charge fees in any amount it chose to levy. Here, there is no statute that allows school districts to charge fees (other than developer fees) to pay for school facilities construction. As to developer fees, school districts are limited as to what properties are subject to fees, they are limited as to the amount of the fees they can charge, and they may not charge any fees whatsoever if no developer projects are undertaken. The reason Government Code Section 17556(d) does not bar a finding of costs here is that DOF has made no legal or factual showing that the authorized service charges, fees, or assessments are "sufficient to pay for" the mandated program or increased cost of service. Also, the fees are not part of the same legislation. This issue is a question of fact for each district.

⁸ Note: In Connell, the court limited its opinion to the authority to levy “fees” and did not discuss “service charges, fees or assessments”, the language of the statute. (Id., at page 398, fn. 15)

F. Test Claimant Has Not Misstated the Education Code

DOF cites one example of where it believes that test claimant has misstated the education code. The challenged sentence of the test claim⁹ states: "Subdivision (a) provides that the governing body of a school or community college district shall, as may be necessary, pursue the authorization and issuance of bonds in accordance with paragraph (3) of subdivision (b) of Section 1 of Article XIII A of the California Constitution..." The statute¹⁰ states "As an alternative...the governing board of a school district or community college district may decide, pursuant to a two-thirds vote..."

The statute provides that districts may undertake a certain course of action. The test claim states that they shall do so "when necessary". There is no conflict.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

As California enters the 21st Century, its public schools face many challenges. One significant challenge is the serious disrepair of an aging school facility infrastructure. Another challenge is the anticipated growth of nearly 2 million K-12 students during the next decade that will require many districts to build new schools to meet burgeoning student demand. Recognizing the substantial need for infrastructure, in November 1998, California voters passed Proposition 1A, a bond measure that provides $6.7 billion for public K-12 school construction and repair.

This measure establishes two new programs for the disbursement of bond funds and simplifies the application process by which schools apply for school construction resources. This change in programs, and in the methods by which funds are allocated, is important to the people of the State, as school districts, many of which have facilities in serious disrepair or require new construction, vie for their portion of the $6.7 billion pie.

Historically, the process by which schools applied for and received construction funds was cumbersome and complex. Furthermore, the research suggests that school districts that were sophisticated and knowledgeable about the complicated school facilities construction process were the most successful in securing funding – often at the expense of less sophisticated and uninformed school districts. Proposition 1A corrects much of this dynamic by simplifying the application and administrative processes, thereby creating a more level playing field for all school districts.

~~In order to understand the significance and relevance of this new process and its concomitant programs, however, it is useful to review the history of school construction financing in California and to understand the various pitfalls that existed under previous programs so as to avoid similar pitfalls in the future. This paper discusses that history and highlights the problems with preexisting programs.~~

It begins with an examination of the State Allocation Board and its staff (the Office of Public School Construction). Specifically, it reviews the role of the Board which is responsible for establishing policies for the distribution of school facility financing funds. It discusses how the Board, which was established in 1947, has evolved during the past five decades from one that set policy for various loan programs to one that today sets policy for grant programs.

The paper also discusses how various externalities—legislative or voter imposed initiatives, such as Proposition 13—have affected the Board's policies and procedures. The paper notes that the Board changed its policies often, and its policy shifts created an untenable dynamic for school districts as they attempted to secure funding. In particular, the paper highlights how districts were forced to weave their way through a complex, bureaucratic maze of applications, forms, and plans; and how this dynamic forced school districts to employ sophisticated personnel, or to contract with savvy consultants, in order to secure state financing for their construction projects.

This paper also presents a history of bond initiatives during the past five decades. It is clear that throughout this history there was never enough State money available to school districts for facility construction or repair. In fact, in spite of the $6.7 billion approved by Proposition 1A, experts estimate that an additional $10 billion will be required during the next decade. This paper discusses how the constant shortage of funds caused districts to use "whatever" means available to them to secure funding.

Voters have consistently been generous in approving the vast majority of statewide bond initiatives. Only three bond proposals out of 24 have failed in the past 50 years, and those that failed did so during times of recession. However, it is not clear how much additional debt voters will be willing to incur. This has especially been true since the passage of Proposition 13 in 1978, when the State began taking on a larger role in supporting school construction than it had before. To that end, this paper discusses how Proposition 1A creates a mechanism for school districts to tap state resources, and how school districts may need to tap other sources of facility funding.

Proposition 1A forges a partnership between the State and school districts for financing the construction and repair of their schools. Under its new programs, the State will provide 50 percent of the cost associated with building new schools, and provide 80 percent of the cost associated with modernizing existing facilities. It requires school districts to match state resources. However, school districts that are unable to offer this match can receive hardship funds based on prescriptive criteria. This paper provides details regarding these new programs and compares them to programs previously administered by the State Allocation Board. It also discusses how the Board is required to respond to district requests.

Proposition 1A is not the only impetus behind simplifying the school facility financing process. Concurrently, the Office of Public School Construction has rewritten the application process for funds to make it more user-friendly to school districts and has even offered applications and program information via the Internet. This paper discusses these changes.

The paper concludes with options that the Governor and the Legislature may wish to consider, including: offering protection to small and rural school districts when bond funds are exhausted; requiring annual financial reporting by the State Allocation Board; providing an on-line technical support for program applicants; and redeveloping the State funding source for school facility construction and rehabilitation.

REQUEST FOR RESEARCH

Programs and administrative procedures in Proposition 1A may produce significant changes to the previous programs and the manner by which the State Allocation Board distributes resources for school facility construction. In light of these changes, Senator Quentin Kopp requested that the California Research Bureau provide research on the following topics:

- A history of the State Allocation Board. How was the board's funding program intended to work and how has it evolved?
- An explanation of the State Allocation Board process. How does the State Allocation Board work? What are the procedures and criteria for receiving allocations? How are priorities set?

INTRODUCTION—THE PASSAGE OF PROPOSITION 1A

On November 3, 1998, California voters passed Proposition 1A - a $9.2 billion school bond initiative, and the largest of its kind passed in our nation's history. Over the next four years, revenues from Proposition 1A's general obligation bonds will provide $6.7 billion to public K-12 schools and $2.5 billion to public colleges and universities for the purposes of constructing new facilities and repairing existing ones.

The State Allocation Board will have the responsibility for determining a fair means of distributing the $6.7 billion available to K-12 schools. Many experts feel that developing such a system will be a daunting task, in spite of the fact that Proposition 1A/Senate Bill 50 is very prescriptive regarding the allocation of its bond funds.

This paper begins with a history and a discussion of the role of the State Allocation Board. Next, it examines the 24 state bond initiatives since 1947 and discusses how the Board has evolved its policies for distributing resources generated by these bond efforts. It then presents an overview of Proposition 1A and how this initiative creates a new allocation program that differs from previous ones. The paper also discusses the various problems that existed within the State Allocation Board's previous resource allocation systems and how Proposition 1A addresses these problems. It concludes with a section that offers options that the Legislature may wish to consider regarding the policies that the State Allocation Board should use for the equitable distribution of bond funds.

HISTORY OF THE STATE ALLOCATION BOARD AND ITS ROLE IN SCHOOL FACILITY FINANCING

There is a long and complex history regarding public school construction in California. This paper begins a review of the history in 1947¹ when the state legislature created the State Allocation Board.² Chapter 243, Statutes of 1947, established the State Allocation Board³ as a successor to the Post War Public Works Review Board. That statute specifically authorized the board to allocate funds for building and repairing schools. In addition, it designated the State Allocation Board to make allocations for public works projects when no other state officer or agency had authority to appropriate state or federal funds.⁴ Although it had many other fund allocation requirements during its five-decade history, the State Allocation Board today allocates funds only for school construction and renovation.

Composition of the Board

The State Allocation Board is comprised of seven members: two Senate members appointed by the Senate Rules Committee; two Assembly members appointed by the Speaker of the Assembly; the Director of the Department of General Services or his/her designee; the Director of the Department of Finance or his/her designee; and the Superintendent of Public Instruction or his/her designee. This appointment structure has existed since the Board's inception in 1947.⁵

Although its basic appointment structure is set in statute, its actual membership changes over time. ~~One member, Senator Leroy Greene, served on the Board for over 20 years.~~ Some Board members have served for only one meeting, while others have served an entire legislative session.

The four legislatively appointed State Allocation Board members provide a strong policy influence to the State Allocation Board. Through them, other members of the Legislature have input into the Board's policy and decision-making processes.

Policy Requirements

Members of the State Allocation Board are charged to formulate fair systems for determining priorities among project proposals. Prior to the passage of Proposition 1A/SB 50 in 1998, the Board was responsible for developing a fair and equitable appeals process that addressed the "special needs" of school districts. Such "special needs" included disaster relief, inability to secure matching funds, or inability to locate affordable property.

Board members also had extraordinary power to set school facility financing policy. Although the Board falls under the auspices of the State Administrative Procedures Act, it has often ignored the Act's provisions. It was common that board policies were changed from meeting to meeting, and that these new policies were not readily made public.⁶ Therefore, school districts that were uninformed of existing policy operated at a distinct disadvantage. They may not have known the appropriate procedures for receiving financing approval. Conversely, school districts that utilized hired consultants or had staff that regularly monitored the Board's actions knew exactly what mechanisms and procedures would be necessary for them to secure funding.

State Allocation Board Staff

The Office of Public School Construction (formerly the Office of Local Assistance), within the Department of General Services, was and continues to be responsible for providing staff work that is necessary to carry out the policies and implement the various programs of the State Allocation Board. The State Allocation Board is responsible for policies regarding the allocation of funds for building new schools and for repairing, upgrading, and rehabilitating old ones.

The Office of Public School Construction staff is also responsible for disseminating to school districts information regarding board policy and programs. Under its previous programs, the staff was responsible for making recommendations to the State Allocation Board regarding various appeals made by school districts that may have been denied funding, or that may have required special funding consideration. To that end, the Office of Public School Construction staff influenced where school districts fell on the long queue of project proposals considered and passed by the State Allocation Board. Staff also could have influenced Board decisions by advocating for specific school district projects.

Outside Influence

~~The State Allocation Board and the Office of Public School Construction staff have also~~ been influenced by a variety of external interest groups. These include, but are not limited to, private school facility financing consultants, school board members, school administrators, teachers, parents, developers, California Building Industry Association, financial institutions, and other members of the Legislature. In addition, various state agencies with influence included the Division of State Architect, Department of Finance, and the Department of Education. These interests groups played and are likely to play a significant role in determining funding for projects that may have been denied or required special consideration. Consultants in particular, whether employed by or on contract with school districts, played an active role in the process. Many of these consultants, whose offices are in the same building as that of the Office of Public School Construction, influenced decisions of both the Office of Public School Construction staff and the State Allocation Board. Consultants were current on Board policies and procedures, and were highly sophisticated about the complicated processes that school districts must follow in order to obtain funding. They have been instrumental in shepherding proposals through the complex maze of funding phases - application to construction. School districts that did not contract with such advocates were often at a competitive disadvantage.

Evolution of State Allocation Board Programs—From Loans to Grants

The State Allocation Board has evolved markedly during the past five decades. Initially, its school programs provided resources to school districts via loan programs in which districts were required to repay their assistance with property tax revenues. In addition, school districts used local school bonds to finance their various construction projects. In both cases, a two-thirds popular vote was required.

Proposition 13

With the passage of Proposition 13 in 1978, the State Allocation Board's loan orientation was significantly altered. Under Proposition 13, the amount of tax that property owners paid was limited to no more than one percent of the assessed value of their property. Local property tax revenues diminished, and the burden to fund many local government programs was shifted to the State, including public school construction. Further, local governments lost much of their property taxing authority; and the Legislature and Governor were forced to rethink how school districts could repay their existing loans to the State Allocation Board.

Recognizing that many school districts faced bankruptcy by being unable to service their loans, the Legislature in 1979 directed the State Allocation Board to allow school districts four options: (1) withhold payments on their loans; (2) temporarily delay their payments; (3) pay only a portion of their loan obligations; (4) or not pay back their loans at all. Further, with the implementation of these options, the Legislature required that the State Allocation Board shift its policy focus from a loan-based program to a grant-based program. This shift to grant-based programs remains today.

HISTORY OF SCHOOL BOND INITIATIVES—A CYCLE OF UNDER-FUNDING

The electorate of the state has been ultimately responsible for determining the availability of resources for school construction. The electorate must have confidence in the state's economy, and perceive a need for new and upgraded schools. Without such assurances, the electorate can and has rejected various bond efforts. Since 1949, voters have been asked to approve 24 bond measures related to school construction and renovation, and have passed 21 of these proposals. However, an interesting history follows regarding the content of these initiatives.

State as a Bank—The Loan Program 1949-1978

Legislation enacted in 1949⁷ and 1952⁸ established a loan-grant program "to aid school districts of the State in providing necessary and adequate school sites and buildings for the pupils of the public school system."⁹ During this time period, the first baby boomers entered school, and for the next two decades, California public school enrollment increased by roughly 300 percent.¹⁰ The Legislature recognized that many school districts faced substantial enrollment growth, while lacking the bond debt capacity that was necessary to finance large building programs. In fact, many school districts had reached their financial capacity to service the bonds that they previously incurred.

As a result, the Legislature developed a program to provide loans to school districts that were approaching or were likely to exceed their legal level of bonded indebtedness.¹¹ This new program was financed through State general obligation bonds. This program also required building construction standards and placed fiscal controls on the districts, including maximum cost standards and square feet per pupil limitations.¹² School districts, however, retained control over the design and construction of their facilities. Districts that wanted to participate in the state loan program were required to receive approval from two-thirds of their district's electorate in order to incur the debt. A surcharge on the local property tax provided revenues to service the loan debt.

The State formula provided that the total amount due on some loans would be less than the total amount of the actual loan. Some experts believe that the state's willingness to forgive part of school district loans through this formula was a precursor to the state grant program discussed below.

The First Loan Program Bond Initiatives

In 1949, the state issued its first bond proposal for education facilities financing¹³ in the amount of $250 million.¹⁴ This first initiative also began a cycle of inadequate funding. In that year, the Legislature thought that $400 million was necessary (over what school districts could afford above their debt limits) to meet the need of school districts that were facing enrollment growth from the new generation of baby boomers. However, after substantial debate, the bond proposal was reduced to $250 million, because the sponsors thought, "the people would not vote for such a large sum at one time."¹⁵ In arguments against the bond, opponents argued that $250 million was insufficient. Therefore, absent full funding, voters should reject the initiative. The measure passed.

In 1952, another school construction bond of $185 million was put before the voters. Proponents of this initiative stated that the amount was "extremely" conservative. A comprehensive study by the State Department of Education at that time revealed that $198 million was needed, while the Department of Finance estimated the need at $250 million. Again, the amount of needed resources surpassed the amount proposed, and the cycle of chronically under-funded facility financing for schools continued.

To further exacerbate the shortfall, the 1952 proposition, along with subsequent propositions offered in 1956, 1958, and 1960, included "poison pill" language that limited the Legislature's ability to appropriate any additional funds for school construction beyond that in the various propositions.¹⁶ If the Legislature approved any additional resources for school construction, the amount of bonds that were sold would be reduced by an amount equal to the additional appropriation. After 1960, however, bond proposals excluded the language that precluded the Legislature from raising additional capital outlay funds.

During a two-decade period, the State Allocation Board administered this program as a bank. Resources from the state were limited, and many school districts were uncomfortable with the concept of borrowing money from the state, rather than from their local constituents. Further, since school districts were obligated to reach full bond indebtedness before applying for state loans, many did not participate. For these reasons, many school districts chose not to build facilities until their bonding capacity grew. Hence, many school districts found themselves chasing dollars after their schools were overcrowded—a situation not unlike today.

The Early 1970s

As a result of a major earthquake in the San Fernando Valley (Sylmar) in 1971, the state authorized $30 million¹⁷ for a new program to finance the rehabilitation and construction of earthquake safe schools,¹⁸ and for the renovation of buildings that the earthquake damaged.¹⁹ This program was known as the School Buildings Safety Fund. Like its predecessor programs, the 1971 Act created a state loan program for eligible school districts. The Act also included provisions to forgive loans for school districts that had reached their bonding capacity. The 1971 program was augmented by a 1972 state bond initiative of $350 million of which $250 million was set aside for structural repairs due to earthquakes.²⁰ This latter bond initiative also provided a method for financing buildings in districts that did not meet the criteria of the program that was initiated in 1971,²¹ and it required the State Allocation Board to first approve those applications from school districts for earthquake repairs. The State Allocation Board gave second consideration to funding projects for other types of repairs or upgrades. Hence, the Board began a new system for not only new construction but also repairs, as well as a system that set priorities.

A Changing Paradigm

From 1970 to 1980, public school enrollment statewide decreased by roughly one percent per year.²² Reductions in both immigration and domestic in-migration to the state, as well as a decrease in the state's birth rate caused this decline. During this decade, there were sufficient resources available from local property tax revenues and from the state's loan program to meet the various rehabilitation needs especially of those school districts that were experiencing enrollment declines. The State Allocation Board thus shifted its loan program emphasis from new construction to rehabilitation, and to upgrading unsafe facilities that were damaged due to the 1971 earthquake.²³

Nevertheless, some school districts continued to experience enrollment growth in response to suburban housing development.²⁴ In spite of such growth patterns, the State Allocation Board set its priorities to favor rehabilitation projects over new construction. The Board's orientation accentuated the differences between growing school districts and those that required rehabilitation, and caused an unequal state spending system that favored property rich urban districts over fiscally poor and growing suburban districts.²⁵

To counter the State Allocation Board's orientation toward urban rehabilitation, growing suburban school districts recognized that in order to fund new school construction, they would have to depend almost entirely on their local property tax base. As more people demanded affordable housing in suburban neighborhoods, developers accommodated them by building numerous suburban housing units. The sheer increase in the number of suburban homes added significant resources to the property tax base, thereby benefiting the school districts that served those communities. Furthermore, the ongoing demand for suburban housing caused the prices of homes in these areas to increase precipitously, adding even more resources to the property tax base. Although school districts could have requested to reduce those tax rates that supported them to a minimum amount, they did not. Most districts kept their rates steady, and some even increased them. Homeowners, unhappy about menacing property taxes, sought relief. In 1972, the Legislature enacted a multi-year package, funded by the state's general fund, of $1.2 billion for school operation to be allocated over a three-year period and to serve as property tax relief.²⁶ In spite of this legislation, property taxes remained relatively high to cover local bond debt, and continued to be the primary source for school construction for growing school districts. Concurrently, the state continued to loan money to enrollment-static school districts for the purpose of rehabilitation.

Leroy Greene State School Building Lease Purchase Law

In 1976, the Leroy Greene State School Building Lease Purchase Law was signed into legislation.²⁷ This law established a state fund to provide loans to school districts for reconstruction, modernization, and replacement of school facilities that were more than 30 years old. The Act significantly altered the state's role in how school facilities construction was financed. Specifically, the state would no longer loan money; but it would finance school construction based on a leasing model.²⁸ Although the legislation was passed, the voters of the State remained unconvinced that more money was needed to improve schools. Consequently, they did not pass the bond initiative that was necessary to fund the Lease Purchase Program.

The 1976 Act had specific language that created "priority points" for school districts that would apply for state funding. This was the first time that the State Allocation Board used a point system for creating a queue of approved projects. Priority points were given based on the number of unhoused students in the district, the rate of student enrollment growth, and how much rehabilitation a facility needed. Further, the Board instituted a first-come, first-served policy in which each accepted school district's application was stamped with a time and date.

Under the previous program, the state loaned money to school districts to build their facilities, and the school districts owned their property. Under the Greene legislation, however, the State maintained a lien on the property for the duration of the loan via a lease purchase agreement.²⁹ The State wanted to preclude school districts from purchasing land on a speculative basis using State money, only to sell the State funded property at a profit at a later date. This meant that the state would control the disposition of any school facility that it financed until the school district repaid its obligation on the lease.

The Proposition 13 Epoch 1978-1986

Proposition 13—Local Governments and School Districts Fiscally Stymied

With its passage, Proposition 13 eliminated the ability of local school districts to levy additional special property taxes to pay off their facility indebtedness. Proposition 13 capped the ad valorem tax rate on real property at one percent of its value, thereby reducing the income from property taxes to such an extent that it virtually eliminated this source as a means for lease payments. Proposition 13 also prohibited the electorate of a school district from authorizing a tax over-ride to pay debt service on bonds for the purpose of constructing needed school facilities.

To exacerbate this problem, the voters soundly defeated school construction bonds in both 1976 and 1978. They were two of only three³⁰ state general obligation bonds rejected by voters since 1947. The non-passage of these two successive bond initiatives, coupled with suburban enrollment growth, caused a statewide shortfall of $550 million³¹ that was needed for school construction projects throughout the state in 1978.

Post Proposition 13

The limitations set by Proposition 13 caused school districts, counties and cities to turn to the state, which had a $3.8 billion surplus, to fill the gap.³² In 1979, lawmakers approved a $2.7 billion (in 1978 dollars) "bailout" plan to assist schools and local governments.³³ Within a year, the state surplus was reduced to roughly $1 billion. Furthermore, the state had taken on a larger role as a funding source for school operations and capital improvement. To that end, it expected school districts to conform to its programs and projects.³⁴

Effects of Proposition 13 on the Lease Purchase Program

In 1979, legislation implementing Proposition 13 included provisions for restructuring the State's Lease Purchase Program.³⁵ School districts that received funds from the state were required to pay rent to the State as low as $1 per year, creating an "unofficial" grant program.³⁶ In addition, school districts were to contribute up to 10% of the project's cost from local funds.³⁷ However, many school districts could not raise these matching funds through local bonds. They requested that the State fund their entire projects. The State Allocation Board created a waiting list of projects.

A Recession Further Complicates School Facility Financing

Beginning in 1982, California was in a recession that lasted until 1984. During this time period, the State's budget surplus was expended. School districts' recession experiences were complicated by the fact that student enrollments again began to increase again.³⁸ Approximately 60 percent of California's 1,034 districts at the time projected annual growth rates of over two percent between 1980-81 and 1983-84, with some districts projecting a doubling in their enrollment.³⁹ At the same time, estimates indicated that over one-third of the State's school buildings were over 30 years old and many needed substantial rehabilitation.⁴⁰ The Coalition for Adequate School Housing (CASH) estimated that the one-time cost of rehabilitating these older facilities would be $1.9 billion.⁴¹ Further, CASH estimated that school districts would need an additional $400 million annually for the next five years for building and repairing school buildings. Since the State was in recession, such funds were not available. Thus the State had to rethink how it would prioritize its school facilities projects.

A New System for Funding School Construction

In light of the backlog of applications for state funds, the Office of Local Assistance (now known as the Office of Public School Construction) designed a numerical ranking system that used "priority points" to determine a school district's eligibility for funds. This system gave priority to school districts who had students who were "unhoused," and special consideration was given to how districts used certain facilities.⁴² The more points a project application received, the higher on the list it was placed. Recognizing that school districts were facing enrollment growth and required further rehabilitation, the Legislature in 1982 authorized a general fund appropriation of $200 million for school construction projects. This amount was later reduced to $100 million.⁴³

Further, in order to ease the burden that many school districts felt because of the recession, the State loosened the repayment schedule for its lease-purchase program. School districts were allowed, for 10 years, to pay one percent of the cost of state funded lease-purchase projects, rather than the 10 percent they initially were required to pay.⁴⁴ Again, the State Legislature and the State Allocation Board moved away from a loan program and more toward a grant program.

Multi-Track Year-Round Education

Recognizing that the State had very limited bond resources, the Legislature wanted a more cost-effective facilities financing incentive system for school districts. That system would force districts to use their space more efficiently. In response to the shift in policy, the Legislature passed Chapter 498, Statute of 1983. This statute encouraged school districts that were experiencing growth pressure to adopt multi-track year-round education (MTYRE) programs. MTYRE programs enroll students in several tracks throughout the entire calendar year. At any given time, one track is on vacation, but vacation periods are short in duration.⁴⁵ The MTYRE program allows a more intensive use of existing facilities, thereby reducing the need for new facilities in growing districts.

School districts received an immediate financial return if they participated in the MTYRE program. A school district that redirected its students into a MTYRE program received a grant of up to 10 percent⁴⁶ of the cost that would be necessary to build a new facility not to exceed $125 per student.⁴⁷ School districts that participated in MTYRE were eligible for air conditioning and insulation in their buildings.

In 1988, as pressure for state financing continued, the Legislature required that top priority for financing new construction projects be given to districts that used multi-track year-round education programs. School districts that offered MTYRE and were willing to match 50 percent of their construction costs received a funding priority from the State Allocation Board.⁴⁸ This put other school districts that could not meet these MTYRE and funding criteria at a distinct disadvantage. These latter school districts sought relief from the voters in 1986. Small school districts were one exception to the MTYRE requirement.

1986 Lease Purchase Program

In 1986, the voters approved Proposition 46. Proposition 46 amended Proposition 13⁴⁹ by restoring to local governments, including school districts, the ability to issue general obligation bonds and to levy a property tax increase to pay the debt service subject to a two-thirds vote of the local electorate.⁵⁰ This amendment allowed school districts to augment the one-percent cap on property taxes and to secure additional bond indebtedness to build and improve their schools.⁵¹

Passage of Proposition 46 helped, but did not solve school districts' financing problems. Many school districts were unable to secure the necessary two-thirds vote to authorize local funding, and still relied on state funding to assist them. Further, the federal government in 1986 passed legislation that required each state to remove friable asbestos from their educational facilities -- another charge that the school districts could ill afford.

California adopted similar asbestos standards to those established by the federal government in 1986; however, few school districts reported their estimated costs for removing the substance. In light of the need to remove the asbestos, and in order to address the growing backlog of proposed school construction projects, voters passed Proposition 79 in 1988 - an $800 million bond initiative. It specifically set aside $100 million to cover asbestos removal.⁵²

A Growing Shortfall and Greater Scrutiny

There is no doubt that from 1982 to 1988 state support for public school construction was limited and difficult to secure. The demand for new school facilities, for modernization, and for asbestos removal was great.⁵³ As of June 1, 1986, applications that were submitted by school districts to the State Allocation Board for state funding of new school construction projects alone totaled roughly $1.3 billion. In addition, applications for state funding for reconstruction or rehabilitation of school facilities totaled over $991 million.⁵⁴ Total demand for school facility improvement in 1986 was nearly $2.3 billion - an amount that significantly outweighed the $800 million voters approved in that year's bond initiative.⁵⁵ Even with a boost of funding of $150 million per year from Tidelands revenues in fiscal years 1984 and 1985, the Lease Purchase Program fell short.⁵⁶ By 1988, the shortfall had grown to $4 billion, in spite of the fact that voters had approved $2.5 billion in bond money from 1982-1988.

The State Allocation Board was forced to scrutinize every request for school construction funding, recognizing that absent a major infusion of State bond money, most districts would not receive funding for their projects. This scrutiny created an extremely competitive environment for the limited resources that were available to the schools. Many participants believe that school districts that contracted with knowledgeable consultants, or had district staff who were familiar with the State Allocation Board's policies and criteria, were the most successful in securing a high ranking place in the queue for resources, once those funds become available.

There is no definitive research or data that support this belief. Consultants are not required to report their involvement in the application process. However, there is substantial anecdotal evidence to support the assertion.

School Financing as a Collective Effort—The Three Legged Stool

In 1986, the Legislature recognized that resources were scarce and that no one governmental or private entity could finance school construction. It attempted to equalize the burden of school facilities financing between state government, local government and the private sector.⁵⁷ This concept was known as the "three legged stool." The idea was that the state would provide funds through bonds. Local government would provide its share through special taxes, general obligation, Mello-Roos and other bond proceeds. The private sector would provide funds through developer fees. Appendix A describes funding alternatives for these latter two legs of the stool.

The "three legged stool," however, never quite worked. For example, to assure that developers would not fund a disproportionate share of the cost to build schools, the Legislature, in 1986, capped the amount new homebuyers would pay for developer fees at $1.50 per square foot, and empowered the State Allocation Board to raise the cap by a certain amount each year. However, school districts found a loophole around the cap by requesting that cities impose a fee on their behalf, and cities imposed rates on some developers that exceeded those allowed.⁵⁸ California courts upheld these fees in the Mira, Hart, Murrieta court cases.

Until the recent passage of Proposition 1A, many local governments have imposed developer fees that exceed those allowed by the Board. For example, in 1987, fees in San Diego and Orange counties reached a high of $8700 per house.⁵⁹ By 1990, total development fees for some homes reached $30,000.⁶⁰ Statewide, developer fees have increased from $31 million in 1978 to $200 million in 1997.

In 1998, the State Allocation Board increased the fee to $1.93 per square foot.⁶¹ With the passage of Proposition 1A in November 1998, however, local governments have apparently lost their ability to increase their fees beyond those determined by the State Allocation Board. Further conflict is likely.

The 1990s—Complicated Funding Programs

In the fall of 1990, the Legislature passed legislation that created two programs that provided additional financial incentives for schools to offer year-round education.⁶² The first of these programs provided a one-time grant to school districts to ease the expense of changing from traditional nine-month programs to year-round tracks. The second program provided an "operating grant" of between 50 percent and 90 percent of the amount districts saved the state by not having to build new schools. At the recommendation of the Office of the Legislative Analyst, the Legislature repealed the 1982 and 1986 incentive programs discussed above.⁶³

In response to the 1990 legislation, the State Allocation Board developed a new priority system for allocating lease purchase money. Under this new system, the Board apportioned funds based on a combination of when an application was received and how many priority points it garnered. Through a complex formula, priority points were given to schools that had a significant number of "unhoused students," or had substantial rehabilitation needs. This procedure might have worked well if the state could have financed all applications in a timely manner. However, the demand for state money increased to the point where districts without special priorities could expect to wait years for the state to finance their projects.

The program was in effect for only one year when the Legislature repealed the program and created yet another system for allocating state money.⁶⁴ In 1991, the Legislature defined six priorities for funding. First priority was given to districts that had a "substantial"⁶⁵ enrollment in multi-track schedules, and that were paying at least 50 percent of the construction costs for their new schools. Second priority went to districts with a "substantial" year-round enrollment and that wanted the state to pay the entire cost of any new construction for their year-round schools. The remaining four priority levels took into consideration factors for those schools who did not meet the "substantial enrollment" criteria outlined above, or were unable to match state resources.

The complex set of formulas made it difficult for school districts to completely understand what criteria would best serve them. Further, throughout this period, the Board was required to implement new programs and redefine its priorities. For example, in 1990 the Legislature created a program that was adopted by State Allocation Board for school districts that could not find adequate land on which to build a school. Known as the Space Saver Program, it was designed to assist urban school districts that could not obtain adequate acreage for a school campus. The first space saver school, developed in 1993, is scheduled to be completed in Spring 2000 in the Santa Ana Unified School District, in a former shopping mall.⁶⁶

Another example of shifting priorities took place in 1996 when the Legislature mandated the Board to redirect its third highest priority to class size reduction from a previous focus on child-care facilities.⁶⁷ A third took place at the end of 1997 when the priority points system was replaced by a first-come, first served system. While there were exceptions to this rule, money was offered first to school districts willing to cover some of the costs associated with constructing or repairing facilities. Schools that could not afford to cover the remaining 50 percent were placed on a separate list.

Such shifts in policy, coupled with the significant complexity of formulas that drove the priority point system, along with the sporadic creation of new programs, caused many school districts to depend on outside consultants. These consultants understood the many policy changes that the Board enacted – sometimes on a monthly basis. They were also knowledgeable of new programs, and clearly understood the workings of the staff who carried forth the Board's policies. Without the assistance of consultants, school districts were unable to keep track of policy changes and special considerations enacted by the Board. Further, while the Board and its staff advised school districts regarding changes in their policies in a regularly published document, it did not provide a centralized source of materials, such as an up-to-date handbook. Consequently, school district personnel were often uninformed about the various nuances of the programs administered by the Board.

State Bond Efforts of the Nineties

As the State Allocation Board shifted its focus and policies throughout the early 1990s, Californians approved state school bond initiatives in 1990 for $1.6 billion and in 1992 for $2.8 billion. In one of its 1992 reports, the Department of Finance reported that statewide K-12 enrollment was estimated to grow by 200,000 new students per year for at least five years,⁶⁸ and that an estimated $3 billion would be needed annually for new school construction.⁶⁹ However, in spite of growing enrollments and a significant demand for facility rehabilitation, in 1994, the electorate rejected a $1 billion bond initiative. The State was in a recession.

A lack of State bond funds was not the only problem associated with the allocation of school construction funds. The Auditor General reported in 1991 that the Office of Local Assistance mismanaged state funds. It detailed that construction funds loaned to school districts were not recovered; that districts overpaid on some projects and failed to collect the overage; that it dispersed funds without proper documentation; and that it failed to conduct required close-out audits on construction projects.⁷⁰

As a result of this audit, the Office of Public School Construction in concert with the State Allocation Board developed stringent internal and external audits and fiscal controls. These control mechanisms included increasing the detail of financial review of projects, prohibiting school districts from participating in the program unless a balance was not due, and no longer receiving rent checks for portable classrooms.⁷¹

Attempts to Ease Passage for Local Bonds

Recognizing that the State would be unable to fund the entire backlog of school construction proposals, Governor Pete Wilson in 1992 proposed a constitutional amendment to reduce the requirement for the passage of local bonds from two-thirds to a simple majority.⁷² The idea was that local governments should have to meet the same 50 percent requirement as the State for passing bonds. Further, there was strong sentiment in the Wilson administration that local governments should pay an increased share of school construction costs. However, the Legislature rejected his plan.⁷³ Other attempts in recent years to reduce the vote for passage of local bonds from two-thirds to something less have also failed.⁷⁴

1996 School Bond Issuance - Finally More Money

Proposition 203, passed by the voters in March 1996, provided $2.065 billion for school facility construction. However, the Legislature at the time estimated that school districts would need $7 billion in construction funds to meet enrollment growth that was anticipated during the next five years.⁷⁵ This $7 billion did not include the needs of Los Angeles Unified School District (LAUSD), which had 20 percent of the state's student population. At the time, LAUSD alone needed $3 billion to upgrade and modernize its schools.⁷⁶ Clearly, anticipated demand for State funds substantially exceeded available resources.

To respond to the many school district proposals, the State Allocation Board followed its general priority points policy. However, many school districts, recognizing that they would not receive funding for years because of their position in the funding queue, and because of the limited amount of resources that were available, resorted to creative means to try to secure funding for their projects. For example, some schools districts sought special consideration for funds by requesting emergency allocations. Such a tactic would allow a school district to receive funds immediately.⁷⁷ Other school districts used the appeals process to argue that their projects were needed more than those of other school districts that were higher in the queue.⁷⁸

This cannibalistic dynamic caused a fair amount of resentment among those school districts that were bumped from a relatively high position in the queue by those districts that sought emergency relief or special consideration. Further, it was clear that the most sophisticated school districts found a variety of tactics that would secure the funding of their projects. These tactics are described in greater detail later in this paper under the section that describes how the Board processed its applications.

Class Size Reduction Causes Greater Housing Needs

The distribution of funds from Proposition 203 was further complicated by the Governor's Class Size Reduction Initiative. In particular, the State Allocation Board earmarked $95 million for the purpose of purchasing 2,500 portable classrooms for schools that were facing severe classroom shortages. This was in addition to $200 million that the Department of Education had available for assisting schools in purchasing such facilities. The Office of Public School Construction determined that a total of 17,500 classrooms were needed to accommodate class size reduction, and that there was only enough money to fund less than half of the estimated need.⁷⁹ The State Allocation Board reinterpreted Proposition 203 by creating a new Portables Purchase Program at the expense of their other programs. This caused some school districts to again get bumped in the queue for funding.

Never Enough Money—Still a Shortfall

Since 1947, the electorate has approved all but three State bond initiatives. In spite of the voters' tendency to support various bond initiatives, by 1998, the backlog of school construction projects that were approved by the State Allocation Board, but unfunded, totaled more than $1.3 billion. Although the voters have been generous by approving bond initiatives roughly every two years,⁸⁰ there were times during the past five decades when bond money was not available for periods of four or six years.⁸¹

The Department of Finance has estimated that $16 billion is needed over the next decade for public school construction and rehabilitation.⁸² Various bond proposals in 1997 and 1998 were circulated that considered multiple-year bond issuances. The California Teachers Association and the California Building Industry Association presented a plan to issue $2 billion a year for 10 years.⁸³ Governor Wilson proposed $2 billion a year for four consecutive years. In the end, Proposition 1A was passed. It provides $6.7 billion over a four-year period. However, while the amount appears generous, it will not be enough to meet the entire anticipated need of the state. Based on the Department of Finance projections, the six years following this bond issue will require roughly an additional $10 billion in State money.

Table 1 on page 18 shows the history of state school bond initiatives from 1949 to 1998. In the next sections of this report, we discuss the various programs, the complicated application process used by the State Allocation Board that school districts had to endure to secure funding, and how Proposition 1A attempts to simplify this process.

THE PROGRAMS

Prior to the approval of Proposition 1A, the State Allocation Board oversaw six active programs associated with school facility construction, repair, and remodeling. These six programs made up the Lease-Purchase Program that was discussed earlier in this paper. This section briefly describes these programs, discusses how the State Allocation Board set priorities for school district projects, explains how the Office of Public School Construction staff reviewed and acted upon district proposals, and how the State Allocation Board considered district appeals. The purpose is to advise the reader of not only the process and administration of allocation, but also some of the pitfalls that existed under the old system. Perhaps these pitfalls of the old system can be avoided when allocating Proposition 1A resources.

The Growth and Modernization Programs

The Growth and Modernization Programs allocated funds to school districts for building new schools (Growth Program) and for repairing existing facilities (Modernization Program). School districts qualified for the Growth Program based on an "allowable building standards" formula.

For its Growth Program, the State Allocation Board developed standards for the amount of space that was necessary to house students based on a district's number of ADA (Average Daily Attendance).⁸⁴ The Modernization Program provided funds to school districts for nonstructural improvements to permanent school facilities that were more than 30 years old, and for portable buildings that were more than 20 years old. Such nonstructural improvements included interior partitions, air conditioning, plumbing, lighting and electrical systems.

The Modernization Program provided funding for up to 25 percent of the replacement value of the building. Under some circumstances, districts could use additional funds beyond the 25 percent for handicap access compliance, including elevators when appropriate, and for alternate energy systems.

School districts could apply to this program by offering to match state funds and be listed as "Priority One," or they could ask the State to fund their entire project and be listed as "Priority Two."

Process for Receiving Growth and Modernization Funds

School districts that applied for growth and/or modernization funds were required to follow nine steps in three critical areas - planning, site selection and construction. Each of these three critical areas provided a separate and gradual funding stream for the school's project.

Planning Phase

During the planning phase, a district was required to complete four forms that demonstrated that it was eligible for either the growth or modernization program.

Eligibility to participate in the programs was based on enrollment patterns or the age and condition of those schools that required modernization. If a district met these standards, it moved on to the "site development phase."

Site Development Phase

Selecting a school site was critical. If a school district was participating in the modernization program, it would move to the next phase. The site would have to be safe and able to support the school's curriculum. An adequate site would have to meet certain standards with respect to size and location. Site review could take a school district months (if not years) to investigate. Under the growth program, a school district arranged a search committee to locate available properties and narrowed its search to three sites. In addition, the school district held public hearings regarding the impact of the lands to be used for educational purposes, and notified neighbors about possible site use. A representative from the Department of Education visited three selected sites to review and determine which was the most suitable site based on criteria including, but not limited to: street traffic safety; traffic congestion; geological hazards; and other environmental issues. All school districts followed a similar process for site selection whether they financed the project themselves, or requested State funding.⁸⁵

Some school districts were unable to build new schools because they could not secure appropriate properties. This was especially true in urban and industrial areas where vacant land was not readily available or was extremely expensive.⁸⁶

Once a district found an appropriate property, it was required to prepare a site development plan that included architectural and engineering drawings, along with building contract agreements. Districts were required to follow strict site development, plan development, and construction cost guidelines in order to be eligible for state funds.⁸⁷ Once these guidelines were met, the district proceeded to the construction phase.

Construction Phase

Every construction project received an allowance for site development and to erect a building. The eligible costs associated with construction for these programs were classified into several broad categories: building construction; site development; energy conservation; and supplemental funding for multi-story construction. In addition, facility funding included adjustment costs associated with geographic and regional differences, or the demolition of an existing structure.

A project architect for each contract developed final plans and documents as part of the project's final stage. These documents were used to establish a construction budget. The Division of the State Architect approved and monitored the district's final plans. After review, a construction apportionment was recommended to the State Allocation Board, which in turn authorized the distribution of funds. Upon completion of all regulatory oversight, the district was allowed to break ground.

The Deferred Maintenance Program

The Deferred Maintenance Program provided a 50 percent State match to assist school districts with expenditures for major repair or replacement of school buildings. Such repairs or replacements were for plumbing, heating, air conditioning, electrical systems, roofing, interior and exterior painting, and floor systems. School districts were required to place one and one-half percent of their general funds into an escrow account in order to receive a State match. For school districts that could not fit the parameters of the modernization program, the deferred maintenance program was the only alternative to receive State assistance.

The State also provided critical hardship funds to repair buildings that might seriously affect the health and/or safety of pupils. When available funding was insufficient to fully fund all hardship requests in any given year, the State Allocation Board created a priority list. However, the State Allocation Board often made exceptions to its list.

The Deferred Maintenance Program differed from the modernization program in that school districts were required to submit a five-year plan as to how their projects would be implemented. The plan displayed a rank for each project, and identified those projects that the school district would likely fund.

Deferred Maintenance Application Process

Based on the most recent available material, the deferred maintenance program had 13 steps, and a school district needed to complete several forms and documents. The 13 steps were divided into categories including a letter of interest, application process, critical hardship project documentation, and fund release.

A school district notified the Office of Public School Construction each year if it wanted to participate. Upon receipt of the initial letter, the Office of Public School Construction would send the district a request for its five-year plan of maintenance needs and an "Annual Application for Funds."

The school district would then provide the OPSC with a list of items scheduled for major repair or replacement,⁸⁸ along with its five-year implementation plan. When the district received state funds, it could only expend those resources for those items on the list. It could not redirect any resources toward administrative overhead, repair and maintenance of furniture, ongoing preventative maintenance, energy conservation, landscaping and irrigation, athletic stadium equipment, drapery or blackout curtains, testing underground storage tanks for leaks, or chalkboards.

Once the Office of Public School Construction approved a school district's list of projects it allocated funds accordingly. In cases of hardship, OPSC would visit the school prior to allocating funds. The district's governing board controlled and was responsible for all deferred maintenance funds. These funds were placed in a special escrow account.

The Year-Round Air Conditioning/Insulation Program

The Year-Round Air Conditioning/Insulation Program (ACI) began in 1986, as an incentive program for schools to operate during the summer.⁸⁹ In order to participate in the program, a school district was required to have a plan for Multi-Track Year-Round Education, or have 10 percent of its students enrolled in a Multi-Track Year-Round Education program. The ACI program assisted school districts by providing resources for air conditioning and insulation.

Year-Round Schools Air Conditioning/Insulation Application Process

The application process for the ACI program differed slightly for those school districts that had a year-round program from those that were planning a year-round program. However, regardless of their status, school districts were required to complete eleven stages in two phases to receive funding. If a school district had an air conditioning system that needed repair, it could not apply to this program, but could apply for funds under the deferred maintenance program.

A school district completed forms that included information on the buildings and spaces that would be affected, along with a report regarding the project's anticipated start-date. In addition, another application was required that provided information on whether the school site was experiencing enrollment growth, and whether some level of modernization was already in progress. Further, a school district that was not on a year-round schedule was required to show how its year-round calendar would be used. If the district was approved for funding, various allowances were provided to the district.⁹⁰ In addition to these allowances, the state would provide funds for gas and electric service, general site development, and air conditioning/insulation construction.

Items that were not covered by this program included costs for heating, window solar film, classroom doors and hardware, re-roofing, lighting, security, interior housing, fire alarm systems, unrelated repairs, installations, and painting.

The State Relocatable Classroom Program

The Relocatable Classroom program was designed to meet the needs of school districts that were impacted by excessive growth or unforeseen classroom emergencies. The State Allocation Board allocated funds for the acquisition, installation, and relocation of safe portable classroom facilities. The State maintained a fleet of 5,000 furnished classrooms that could be leased to school districts for $4,000 per year. Hardship cases could lease portables for $2,000 per year. These portable units were available on a first-come, first-served basis. However, there was no maximum amount of time a school district could keep the portables, and districts were not required to return them. Thus, some school districts have kept the portables indefinitely.

Relocatable Classroom Application Process

In order to participate in either relocatable classroom program, a school district was responsible for site preparation costs including electrical hookup, plumbing connection, a State Architect approved plan, insurance and maintenance. After approval by the Board, the district would be reimbursed for the cost of architect fees, electrical hookup, furniture and equipment, and plumbing installation. However, reimbursements were capped at $9,450 per classroom.

The Unused Site Program

The Unused Site Program was established in 1974 as part of the General Lease-Purchase umbrella. It required school districts and county superintendents of schools to pay a fee for district properties that were not used for "official" school purposes. "Official" school purpose was defined as being used for K-12 education, continuing or adult education, special education, childcare, or administration of any educational units.

This program did not provide funds directly to schools. However, resources generated from the fees that districts paid for unused facilities were used to cover deferred maintenance costs and to service the debt on the state's various school construction bonds. Since the Board simply administered the return of funds to the state, the funds could not be redirected to other programs administered by the Board. Proposition 1A eliminates their fee requirements.

The Office of Public School Construction Staff Review and The State Allocation Board's Appeals Process

The State Allocation Board meets roughly 11 times a year. At each meeting the Board reviews and approves about 200 applications for funding. Prior to the State Allocation Board's review, the Office of Public School Construction staff processes all applications. Before Proposition 1A, the approval processes for the programs, except for the growth and modernization programs, were straightforward. Either a school district's application fit a program's description for reimbursement, or it did not. Due to the complicated nature of the Growth and Modernization programs, "special considerations," or project applications that did not fit in the parameters of the program were placed in a different category. The State Allocation Board approved roughly 90 percent of all growth and modernization projects without special consideration. Issues requiring special consideration could include peculiarities of the proposed site, or the costs associated with a project. The applications were divided into special consents or "specials," and appeals. Both types permitted the Office of Public School Construction staff great latitude in the decision-making process, as they investigated and evaluated school district applications on a case-by-case basis.

A "special" occurred when OPSC staff reviewed a school district's application that did not meet the standards of the program, and determined that an exception should be made. This agreement may have required several meetings between the school district's administration and the OPSC staff. With OPSC staff recommendation, which may have been inconsistent with State Allocation Board policy, this application would be brought before the State Allocation Board for review. This category was normally granted approval in one action.

An appeal occurred when OPSC staff reviewed a school district's application that did not meet the standards of the program, and determined an exception should not be made. If after several meetings an agreement could not be reached, the school district would bring its case before the State Allocation Board. An appeal was granted only on a case-by-case basis. At times, legislators have spoken on behalf of school districts at Board meetings.⁹¹ The difference in the two types of special considerations was that a school district or its representative would have to defend its actions in an appeal. However, as already noted, only those people who kept up with the process and policy changes were adept enough to tackle an appeal. Therefore, a school district seeking an appeal before the State Allocation Board might seek help from legislators that represented them, or hire consultants. For instance, in the May 1998 State Allocation Board meeting, a well-versed school finance consultant appeared on behalf of the Apple Valley Unified School District. Apple Valley hired both a construction manager and a general contractor to erect its new school, in the face of board policies allowing a school district to hire only one such position. On behalf of the school district, the consultant addressed the State Allocation Board, and pointed out that in five other cases the State Allocation Board had voted in favor of a school district that hired both a general contractor and a construction manager.⁹²

Less seasoned district representatives would not have known that the State Allocation Board had already set a precedent for funding projects that include both a construction manager and a general contractor.⁹³ The OPSC staff was not knowledgeable on this issue and therefore could not be a source of information.

PROPOSITION 1A—A POSSIBLE FIX TO SAB PROCESS PROBLEMS

Proposition 1A not only authorizes an additional $6.7 billion to K-12 schools, but it also offers a fix to several of the process problems discussed above. It replaces the provisions of the previous Lease-Purchase Program. This section discusses (1) the resource allocation provisions of the legislation; (2) the programmatic components of the legislation; and (3) how the legislation improves the resource allocation process over that which existed under previous bond programs.

Total Resource Allocation Provisions of Proposition 1A

The resource allocation system in Proposition 1A is specific and detailed. Bond proceeds are to be allocated in 2 two-year cycles: $3.35 billion available immediately; and $3.35 billion available after July 2, 2000. Of the $3.35 billion that is immediately available, $1.35 billion is earmarked for new construction, $800 million for modernization, $500 million for hardship cases, and $700 million for class-size reduction.

For the second $3.35 billion distribution, $1.55 billion will be available for new construction, $1.3 billion for modernization, and $500 million for hardship cases. There are no resources in the second allocation for class-size reduction.

School districts receive funding for their projects based on a per pupil formula. The formula is based on a statewide average cost for construction, adjusted each January for inflation. The figures are based on unhoused⁹⁴ average daily attendance (ADA). The per pupil ADA formula is as follows:

	Growth	Modernization
Elementary	$5,200	$2,496
Middle School	$5,500	$2,640
High School	$7,200	$3,456

It is anticipated that the initial $1.35 billion available for new construction during the first round of allocations will be insufficient to meet the needs of those school districts that are facing substantial enrollment growth. Proposition 1A establishes a priority point system for new construction projects when State bond resources are exhausted.⁹⁵ The Office of Public School Construction will process applications on a first-come, first-served basis from subsequent bond offerings.

In addition to the provisions outlined above, school districts that receive bond proceeds are required to set aside three percent of their general funds each year for 20 years for the purpose of deferred maintenance.

Components of Proposition 1A

Proposition 1A establishes three categories for funding. The first is the Growth Program, in which the State finances half the cost of new construction and the school district the other half. The second is the Modernization Program, in which 80 percent of the cost of rehabilitation is provided by the state and 20 percent by the school district. The third category is "hardship," in which the State funds up to 100 percent of the cost for emergency needs, or an increased proportion of its share for new construction or modernization.⁹⁶

Proposition 1A holds harmless those school districts that received State Allocation Board approval for the construction phase of their projects (under the previous Priority 1 - able to provide a 50 percent match). They will receive growth and modernization funds, but under the rubric of the previous "Lease Purchase Program." This grant is supplemented by land costs, site development, and other adjustments.

Another new provision of the Proposition is that school districts can seek modernization resources after a facility is 25 years old, rather than 30 years under the previous program.

Schools districts that had received prior Board approval for Priority 2 projects (100 percent state funding) will have to either indicate their ability to finance 50 percent of their proposed projects or reapply under one of the new programs. If the school district cannot meet the provisions of the new programs, it can apply as a "hardship" case.

The California Supreme Court ruled in 1991 that cities and counties could limit housing development on the basis of the supply of classrooms.⁹⁷ Proposition 1A suspends, until 2006, the Court's ruling.⁹⁸ With the passage of Proposition 1A, school districts will not be able to limit new housing construction based on a rationale that school facilities do not exist. However, in 2006, if adequate bond funds for new construction are not available, cities and counties can once again deny development. Further, as discussed earlier, the Proposition permits the school board to increase developer fees to up to $1.93 per square foot.⁹⁹ Proposition 1A sets up a system where fees can be levied of up to 50 percent and 100 percent of the costs associated with building a school by developers under certain circumstances.

Proposition 1A Improves the Resource Allocation System of the State Allocation Board

Proposition 1A makes several changes to the programs administered by the State Allocation Board. It attempts to simplify the process of applying for funds, consolidates the Board's previous six programs into two, and attempts to create a more equitable funding system. It also makes the State Allocation Board and the Office of Public School Construction staff more accountable for their actions. Table 2 presents the differences between the Board's previous Lease Purchase Program, and the new programs that are initiated by Proposition 1A.

Table 2 - Comparison of Lease Purchase Program to Proposition 1A Programs

	LEASE PURCHASE PROGRAM	SCHOOL FACILITIES PROGRAM PROP 1A
FUNDING FACILITIES	Priority 1 projects-growth and modernization-received 50 percent funding based on actual costs from the state. Priority 2 projects-growth and modernization-received 100 percent funding form the state.	Growth projects receive 50 percent funding based on a per pupil formula from the state. Modernization projects receive 80% funding from the state. Hardship projects can receive up to 100 percent of funding from the state based on three broad categories financial, physical and excessive costs.
CONSTRUCTION EXCESSIVE COSTS & COST SAVINGS	Some excessive costs (i.e., change orders) were reimbursed by the state. Cost savings were returned to the state.	Excessive costs are not reimbursed by the state and school districts keep costs savings.
MODERNIZATION PROJECTS	Buildings must be at least 30 years old.	Buildings must be at least 25 years old.
PROJECT APPROVAL	Projects were approved three times in conjunction with the planning, site acquisition and construction phases.	Projects receive one approval (except hardships that receive two approvals).
FUND ALLOCATION	Funds were allotted after each phase.	Funds are allotted only after DSA approves plans, unless there is a hardship.
MAINTENANCE OF FACILITIES	Required school districts to set aside two percent of their general fund for ongoing maintenance.	Requires school districts to set aside three percent of their general funds for 20 years for ongoing maintenance.
PROPERTY LIENS	State maintains a lien to properties it funds.	State does not hold liens, and existing liens are released.
ARCHITECTURAL APPROVAL	Division of State Architect approved all plans.	The Division of State Architect or a state approved private engineering firm may approve plans.

	LEASE PURCHASE PROGRAM	SCHOOL FACILITIES PROGRAM PROP 1A
DEVELOPER FEES	The cap on fees was $1.93 per square foot; however, cities or counties could levy a higher fee and pass it to schools districts.	The cap on fees is $1.93 per square foot, adjusted biannually. Fees may be assessed up to 50 percent of the costs of a project if a school district has accessed other forms of financing including Mello-Roos, G. O. bonds, and parcel taxes. In order to increase fees, school districts must meet two of four criteria, including MTYRE, local school bond positive votes of 50 + 1 percent, 20 percent of students are housed in portables, 15 percent of bond debt used.
WHEN STATE FUNDS RUN DRY	Projects were placed on a pending state-funding list or charged a city-based developer fee.	Modernization projects may be placed on a pending state-funding list. Growth projects may be placed on a priority points list, or the school district may collect 100 percent of financing from a developer.
CONTAINING DEVELOPMENT (MIRA, HART MURRIETA COURT CASES)	Cities and counties on behalf of school districts were able to contain residential development by suspending the building of new facilities.	School districts can not request cities or counties to prohibit residential development based on a lack of funds or school facilities until 2006.
ARCHITECT & CONSTRUCTION MANAGEMENT FEES	Percentage caps on fees based on size of projects	No caps.
MODERNIZATION PROGRAM	Provides funding to building over 30 years old, and portables over 25 years old. Calculations done on a district basis.	Provides funding for buildings over 25 years old and portables over 20 years old. Provides funding on a site-specific basis.
AIRCONDITIONING-ASBESTOS PROGRAM	Allotted funds specifically to install AC and remove asbestos.	These are now incorporated in the modernization program.

Simplification

To further simplify the process, the Proposition reduced the number of school facility financing phases from three to one.¹⁰⁰ This is now possible because school districts receive a flat grant from the State based on the number of students they enroll, rather than on the estimated cost of a project. Under the previous program, each phase of a project was evaluated independently; thus the cost to the State for any given project could change. Under the new program, a school district receives a single grant for a single project, and cannot request that the state fund additional need beyond the original request.¹⁰¹

The Proposition also explicitly requires that the State Allocation Board initiate a public hearing process that notices any policy changes considered by the Board. It requires that the Board make available to school districts written up-to-date documentation that clearly explains its policies, and specifically describes how its new programs work.

Consolidation

Until Proposition 1A, the State Allocation Board administered as many as 13 programs. The most current six are discussed above. With the enactment of Proposition 1A, the number of programs has been reduced to two, along with a special category for hardship cases. This consolidation of programs makes it easier for school districts to choose a program that best suits their needs. It precludes the type of creative tactics that school districts were forced to pursue to match their projects to the right program in order for them to receive funding.

A More Open Process

The Proposition causes a major shift in policy direction for the State Allocation Board. Under its previous programs, the Board funded both new construction and modernization on a 50/50 matching basis. Under Proposition 1A, the Board is required to fund modernization projects more generously than new construction projects, in that the State will fund 80 percent of the cost for modernization compared to 50 percent for new construction.

Another major outcome of Proposition 1A is that the State Allocation Board no longer has the authority to offer grants to school districts that may seek funds for special projects without any real statutory framework. Now school districts must demonstrate that they meet specific hardship criteria set out in the new law. The practical effect of this change will depend on how the Board interprets this provision.

Previous legislation implicitly required that the State Allocation Board follow guidelines set forth in the Administrative Procedures Act (APA); however, the Board did not do so. Proposition 1A explicitly requires the Board to follow APA guidelines. This means that any change in policy or regulation considered by the Board must be properly noticed to the public before the Board can act. This requirement, if the Board follows the full spirit, will allow school districts to be fully informed of Board policies and procedures, as well as its rules and regulations.

PITFALLS IN THE PROCESS PRIOR TO PROPOSITION 1A

This section discusses the State Allocation Board's attempts to improve its system and the pitfalls that existed under the previous programs.

Until recently, rules governing the application process were labor-intensive, both for school districts and the state agency personnel (including the Office of Public School Construction and the Division of the State Architect). In 1989, the Legislature received a report outlining the complex application.¹⁰² The report identified 54 steps school districts had to perform in order to receive application approval and eventual financing. In addition, the process required 24 separate forms.

Process Streamlined Recently

Since 1992, the OPSC has tried to be more efficient. Changes implemented by OPSC included: simplified and streamlined applications; improved response time for application review; improved policy information dissemination; and school districts were empowered to complete their own applications.

The most concrete indication that the Office of Public School Construction was becoming more efficient was in the application process. The application process for the Growth Program was reduced from 54 steps to nine. In addition, the number of forms that were needed to apply for funding was reduced from 24 to four.

School districts complained and begged for applications to be checked and approved for a State Allocation Board meeting agenda in an expeditious fashion. As part of the efficiency movement, the Office of Public School Construction set a goal to reduce the time from when a school district filed a completed application until it was placed on a State Allocation Board meeting agenda from over 400 days to 60 days.¹⁰³ Prior to Proposition 1A, applications on average still took longer than the 60 days to be reviewed. However, the office's efficiency achievement by reducing application review days is noteworthy.

In addition, the Office of Public School Construction worked more closely with school districts in the decision making process and provided greater leeway. In particular, school district personnel could self-certify certain information pertaining to a project rather than rely on state agency personnel. The self-certification process removed the time a school district would wait for a response from the Office of Public School Construction. It thereby shortened the application process.

Under its previous programs, it was difficult for school districts to get information pertaining to the funding process from the Office of Local Assistance (OLA) staff or from written materials. The Office of Public School Construction is now more service-oriented.¹⁰⁴ One can obtain information in person or from the office's Internet site.¹⁰⁵ In fact, the staff of the Office of Public School Construction is continually placing more information on the Internet. This information includes an automated project tracking system, Senate Bill 50 regulations, office contacts, and old board policy changes.

School Districts in Line Stand on Shifting Sands

Under the previous allocation system, school districts that completed their applications and were placed in queue were never guaranteed funding in the order their applications were received. The State Allocation Board dictated that school district applications were placed in an unfunded application list on a first-come/first-served basis. However, there were four general ways that school district applications could be "bumped" up or down in the queue.

Broad Classification Decisions

The first way a school district could get bumped was if the State Allocation Board decided to redirect its emphasis and fund a broad category of projects. For instance, the SAB could decide to fund all application projects from small school districts (no matter where they were in queue). If a school district was large, hundreds of proposed school projects could jump ahead in the funding queue.

The second way a school district could get bumped was if the State Allocation Board shifted the specific funding program allocations. Thus, for example, the State Allocation Board could decide to shift funds earmarked for the Growth Program to the State Portable Classroom Program.

Specific School District Decisions

The third way a school district could get bumped was if another school district application in queue with a later application filing date appealed to the State Allocation Board to change its application filing date to be ahead of other school districts. That school district application would be funded first.

The fourth way a school district could get bumped was if an emergency situation occurred and a school district requested critical hardship money from the State Allocation Board. The Board could provide these funds when available.

The application process requires equity and balance in order to ensure fair competition by school districts for State funds. The process needs to be flexible enough to handle emergency situations, yet firm enough to prohibit jockeying among school districts for better placement in the queue.

Proposition 1A halts the movement of funds from one program to another. However, the other examples are still feasible. Jockeying of school districts by consultants for better placement in line may continue to occur. This is especially true as Proposition 1A cannot handle the pent up demand for State funds. The next section discusses options that the Legislature may consider in order to improve this system.

OPTIONS FOR IMPROVING THE SCHOOL FACILITY FINANCING SYSTEM

A Separate List for Small and Rural School Districts

When the Proposition 1A funds are exhausted, new construction project applications will receive priority points for future funding. Small and rural school districts may require separate lists to ensure that they are placed near the front of a funding queue. This is necessary because there is no guarantee that the entire queue would receive future funding. Small and rural school districts, based on the current priority points system, may not receive enough priority points to approach the front of the queue. Larger school district applications, with greater per pupil need, may be able to position themselves high enough in the queue for funding by receiving favorable OPSC evaluations. Proposition 1A allows schools to skip to higher positions in the funding queue if they score higher priority points based on their number of unhoused students or if they can demonstrate a special hardship. The Legislature may wish to create a separate list for small and rural school districts to create a more equitable system.

Annual Report and Independent Accounting

In the early 1990s, many state agencies, boards, and commissions, because of budget cuts, postponed writing annual reports to the Legislature. These reports provided financial and policy information to the public. The State Allocation Board was one government entity that has not prepared regular audited reports of its programs' operations and expenditures for public review. The State Allocation Board will receive $6.7 billion over the next four years to fund school construction projects. The Legislature may wish to require the Board to prepare for the Governor and Legislature an annual report that details how and to whom bond funds were distributed. The Legislature may wish to require that an independent accounting firm or the State Auditor General prepare the Board's report.

On-Line Technical Assistance

Although the application and funding process administered by the Office of Public School Construction has been streamlined and simplified in recent years, certain components of the process are still cumbersome. The process should be simple enough that school districts do not need to hire consultants or lobbyists to advise them or to shepherd their proposals. The Legislature may wish to pass legislation that would require the OPSC to develop a technical assistance program to provide school districts with the necessary information and advice they need in order to qualify for and receive bond funds. Such a system could include an automated Internet help-line.

A Special General Fund Appropriation for School Construction

The State's bond capacity may not be able to fund every State infrastructure need, including schools, transportation, prisons, and water during the next decade. School facility needs are estimated conservatively at roughly $10 billion, while some estimates have put the figure at $40 billion for the next decade alone. According to the Department of Finance, the State can afford to service approximately $25 billion in additional debt. Thus, school facility financing alone could incur the entire debt capacity of the State. The Legislature may wish to create a special appropriation fund for public school capital outlay as part of the State General Fund to augment the State's bond programs. In addition, the State may wish to design a school construction reserve fund, which is funded from budget surplus revenues.

APPENDIX A

School District Financing Mechanisms

In addition to state bond funds, school districts have a variety of other alternatives for funding school construction. These include developer fees, certificate of participation, general obligation bonds, and Mello-Roos taxes. Also, a developer may simply build a school rather than consider other financing alternatives.

Local General Obligation Bonds

In 1986, after an eight-year hiatus, school districts could once again use general obligation bonds to finance school facilities. Bonds are a favorable method of financing, even though they require a two-thirds vote and proceeds cannot be used for items such as buses and furnishings. In 1986, 14 school districts offered bond initiatives. In 1987 and 1988, this number grew to 51 and 54 school districts, respectively. In November 1998, 36 school districts held bond elections.¹⁰⁶

Developer Fees

In 1978, the Wilsona School District was the first to use developer fees. These fees added about $2,000 to the cost of a typical home in the Lancaster area. While school districts were exacting developer fees, there was no statute that explicitly permitted this activity. The Legislature standardized the authority by giving school districts direct authority to charge developer fees. School districts welcomed developer fees especially because they did not require an election, and the funds associated with the fees could be used for a wide variety of facilities that were associated with enrollment growth. In response to a growing number of complaints from developers, the Legislature capped the amount that could be collected in 1986. Proposition 1A prohibited local agencies from using the inadequacy of school facilities as a reason for not approving housing development projects. The authority to raise developer fees was placed with the State Allocation Board. However, developer fees generally are not enough to cover the full costs of constructing a school.

Certificates of Participation

Certificates of Participation (COPs) are another, though complicated, tool for districts to raise money without voter consent. The most common arrangement is that the district leases a new school owned by another government agency or a nonprofit agency, which in turn raises the capital to build the school by selling shares (certificates of participation). In the long run, lien revenues COPs are remarkably like bonds. One disadvantage of the COP arrangement is that it does not provide a new revenue source for the lease payments. Funds usually come from the school district's general fund.

Mello-Roos

The Mello-Roos Community Facilities Act, established in 1982, authorized school districts and local governments to form "community facilities districts." Subject to the approval of two-thirds of the voters, these special districts could sell bonds to raise revenues for the purpose of financing new buildings, or to rehabilitate existing school facilities. A majority of Mello-Roos districts are created in inhabitable areas that are proposed for development where voting is by the landowners. The district sets a specific tax per house.

² If a school district wants state funding for construction or repair of a school, it must apply to the State Allocation Board for the money. There are school districts that repair and construct school buildings without the assistance of the State Allocation Board (i.e., San Diego Unified School District, San Luis Unified School District). However, this report will focus on a school district that requires state support.

¹² Known as the State School Building Aid Program. The Legislature determined qualifications in order for school districts to participate in this program. They include the following provisions:

1. To qualify for a loan from the State a school district must have voted local bonds to 95 percent of its bonding ability.
2. Borrowing districts financially able to do so must repay the money to the State. Terms of 30 or 40 years of repayments are provided.
3. No money can be borrowed by a school district unless the proposed loan is approved by two-thirds vote of the electors of the district.
4. School construction, financed in any part by State loans will be subject to cost controls to be established by State Allocation Board (includes restrictions on the number of square feet of construction allowed per pupil).

²⁵ Property rich communities often have more poor people than property poor communities. The presence of commercial and industrial development can make an otherwise poor district "rich" in its tax base. Conversely, affluent communities often discourage industrial development that would make them property rich, but environmentally poorer. The lack of correlation between poor people and property poor districts is often overlooked in discussions of school finance issues. Even though the distinction has been known for a long time. In 1983, the San Jose Unified School District filed for bankruptcy. The National School Boards Association stated that it was the first insolvency of a large school district since the depression. The San Jose Unified School District, at the time, held a reputation for excellence in education. It ranked 14th in the state in the ratio of students to teachers, and its teachers' salaries ranked second highest in Santa Clara County. However, since Proposition 13, the school district set aside maintenance and construction projects, laid off teachers and non-teaching administration, until it could not make further reductions and still continue to pay its staff.

⁴² This evaluation was amended annually. The State developed a formula that was based on standards that considered how a facility was used and how many pupils were unhoused. In some years, the State gave preference to unhoused pupils, while in other years, the state gave first consideration to how a facility was used. Facility use included childcare, before and after school programs, adult education, and traditional K-12 programming.

- ⁴⁷ Chapter 886, Statutes of 1986, added provisions that capped the grant at $125 per student.
- ⁴⁸ School districts that could not offer to cover any expenses (now referred to as a Priority 2) could conceivably wait years. MTYRE continues today, and has been a successful program. In 1997, more than 1.19 million or about 22 percent of California students attended schools with year-round calendars. The State Department of Education estimates that the MTYRE program has saved that State more than $1.8 billion in construction costs since its inception. In 1997-98, $66 million was allocated from the "mega item" of the state budget. About $40 million was sent to Los Angeles Unified School District to cover the reported 40,872 excess students. However, once students are "excess," they can not be counted as students for the Office of Public School Construction in the erection of new facilities. Approximately 102,000 students are "excess." While the program has provided relief for school construction, it remains a controversy whether educationally the program is successful.

⁸⁶ For example, in 1988, the Los Angeles Unified School District wanted to rehabilitate a hotel into a school. The State Allocation Board paid $48 million to an escrow account in an attempt to hold the price to acquire the Ambassador Hotel. When the school district and State Allocation Board realized that the site was not acceptable and decided to back out of the contract, they found that the developer had removed the money placed in the escrow account. In addition, when the district attempted to backpedal out of the contract, the owner sued for a breach of contract. Currently, there are negotiations between the school district and the owner of the property, Donald Trump.

⁸⁷ A school district was responsible for developing detailed cost estimates for the proposed school or addition. Site support costs provided funds for the preparation of environmental impact documents, development of relocation reports, determination of relocation claims, and negotiation of site purchases. The state reimburses up to 85 percent of the amount expended for eligible sites.

⁹² Understanding the board's other five opinions would be difficult to track if not impossible to uncover.

⁹³ To evaluate the State Allocation Board's policies and procedures, it was necessary to obtain the State Allocation Board Handbook. The Handbook contains procedures and policies for reviewing and criteria for approving applications from school districts for bond funds to build new schools. When this report was initiated, the Handbook that the State Allocation Board provided was dated 1995, but contained policies adopted in 1993. Further, the State Allocation Board changes its policies and procedures often, and has no administrative process by which it updates its Handbook. An up-to-date, comprehensive list of policies and procedures was not available in any other format. A new handbook for the Lease Purchase Program was available on line - however, it also suffered from a lack of regular updating. The State Allocation Board meets every month and, hypothetically, policy changes can occur each month. Prior to Proposition 1A, despite being subject to the Administrative Procedures Act, the State Allocation Board had no public notice or participation requirements for the procedures by which it changes its policies. Only long-term policies are published in the California Regulatory Notice Register. Such policies included contracting and affirmative action requirements. Furthermore, staff reported that policies change so frequently, that it would be impossible to include relevant policies in the reporter or any other document.

⁹⁴ The number of students above the maximum number set by CDE to be in a classroom.

⁹⁶ In hardship cases, the State will fund more than 50 percent of new construction if a school district is unable to come up with its 50 percent match and had gone through a reasonable effort. Similarly, districts that are unable to offer a 20 percent match for modernization can seek relief from the State. Financial hardship is defined for those school districts that cannot afford to build, repair, or replace facilities because of fiscal restrictions (for example, an inability to match state funding because of an inability to pass local bonds or a lack of bonding capacity). Facility hardship can also apply to school districts that lack adequate housing for their pupils due to a lack of health and public safety conditions; or because of a natural disaster, traffic safety, or the remote geographic location of pupils (i.e., rural). Excessive costs may be attributed to geographic location, size of project, the cost associated with a new project in urban locations that may require high security or toxic cleanup, and sites that may require seismic retrofitting.

⁹⁸ In three legal challenges, the courts have ruled that cities were not precluded from making zoning or other land-use decisions, because of the availability of classroom space, see Mira Development Corporation v. City of San Diego, William S. Hart Union High School District v. Regional Planning Commission of the County of Los Angeles, Murietta Valley Unified School District v. County of Riverside. The practical effect of the rulings was that cities could limit development on the basis of the supply of classrooms. Some developers found it necessary to offer additional resources, land or money, to get support from school districts and city councils for their projects.

⁹⁹ If the State expends all of its Proposition 1A resources prior to 2006, school districts can ask developers to pay 100 percent of site acquisition and school construction costs. In order to receive developer support under these conditions, school districts must participate in the Multi-Track Year-Round Education program. The Proposition includes language that the State may reimburse developers for up to 50 percent of their costs if subsequent bond funds become available.

Proposition 55

KINDERGARTEN-UNIVERSITY PUBLIC EDUCATION FACILITIES BOND ACT OF 2004.

- This act provides for a bond issue of twelve billion three hundred million dollars ($12,300,000,000) to fund necessary education facilities to relieve overcrowding and to repair older schools.
- Funds will be targeted to areas of greatest need and must be spent according to strict accountability measures.
- Funds will also be used to upgrade and build new classrooms in the California Community Colleges, the California State University, and the University of California, to provide adequate higher education facilities to accommodate growing student enrollment.
- Appropriates money from General Fund to pay off bonds.

Summary of Legislative Analyst's Estimate of Net State and Local Government Fiscal Impact:

- State costs of about $24.7 billion to pay off both the principal ($12.3 billion) and interest ($12.4 billion) costs on the bonds. Payments of about $823 million per year.

ANALYSIS BY THE LEGISLATIVE ANALYST

Proposition 55

BACKGROUND

Public education in California consists of two distinct systems. One system includes local school districts that provide elementary and secondary (kindergarten through 12th grade, or "K-12") education to about 6.2 million pupils. The other system (commonly referred to as "higher education") includes the California Community Colleges (CCCs), the California State University (CSU), and the University of California (UC). The three segments of higher education provide education programs beyond the 12th grade to the equivalent of about 1.6 million full-time students.

K-12 Schools

School Facilities Funding. The K-12 schools receive funding for construction and modernization (that is, renovation) of facilities from two main sources—state general obligation bonds and local general obligation bonds. General obligation bonds are backed by the state and school districts, meaning that they are obligated to pay the principal and interest costs on these bonds.

- State General Obligation Bonds. The state, through the School Facility Program (SFP), provides money for school districts to buy land and to construct and renovate K-12 school buildings. Districts receive funding for construction and renovation based on the number of pupils who meet the eligibility criteria of the program. The cost of school construction projects is shared between the state and local school districts. The state pays 50 percent of the cost of new construction projects and 60 percent of the cost for approved modernization projects. (Local matches are not necessary in "hardship" cases.) The state has funded the SFP by issuing general obligation bonds. General Fund revenues would be used to pay these costs. These revenues come primarily from state income and sales taxes. Over the past decade, voters have approved a total of $20.1 billion in state bonds for K-12 school construction. About $1.9 billion of these funds remain available for expenditure.
- Local General Obligation Bonds. School districts are authorized to sell general obligation bonds to finance school construction projects with the approval of 55 percent of the voters in the district. These bonds are paid off by taxes on real property located within the district. Over the last ten years, school districts have received voter approval to issue more than $37 billion of general obligation bonds.

Bond Overview

general obligation bonds, school districts also receive significant funds from:

- Developer Fees. State law authorizes school districts to impose developer fees on new construction. These fees are levied on new residential, commercial, and industrial developments. Statewide, school districts report having received an average of over $400 million a year in developer fees over the last decade.
- Special Local Bonds (Known as "Mello-Roos" Bonds). School districts may form special districts in order to sell bonds for school construction projects. (These special districts generally do not encompass the entire school district.) The bonds, which require two-thirds voter approval, are paid off by charges assessed to property owners in the special district. Statewide, school districts have received on average about $270 million a year in special local bond proceeds over the past ten years.

K-12 School Building Needs. Under the SFP, K-12 school districts must demonstrate the need for new or modernized facilities. Through September 2004, the districts have identified a need to construct new schools to house nearly 1 million pupils and modernize schools for an additional 1.1 million pupils. The state cost to address these needs is estimated to be roughly $16 billion.

Higher Education

California's system of public higher education includes 141 campuses in the three segments listed below, serving about 1.6 million students:

- The CCCs provide instruction to 1.1 million students at 108 campuses operated by 72 locally governed districts throughout the state. The community colleges grant associate degrees and also offer a variety of vocational skill courses.
- The CSU has 23 campuses, with an enrollment of about 331,000 students. The system grants bachelor and master degrees, and a small number of joint doctoral degrees with UC.
- The UC has nine general campuses, one health sciences campus, and various affiliated institutions, with a total enrollment of about 201,000 students. This system offers bachelor, master, and doctoral degrees, and is the primary state-supported agency for conducting research.

Over the past decade, the voters have approved $5.1 billion in general obligation bonds for capital improvements at public higher education campuses. Virtually all of these funds have been committed to specific projects. The state also has provided almost $1.6 billion in lease revenue bonds (authorized by the Legislature) for this same purpose.

In addition to these state bonds, the higher education segments have other sources of funding for capital projects.

- Local General Obligation Bonds. Community college districts are authorized to sell general obligation bonds to finance school construction projects with the approval of 55 percent of the voters in the district. These bonds are paid off by taxes on real property located within the district. Over the last decade, community college districts have received local voter approval to issue over $7 billion of bonds for construction and renovation of facilities.
- Gifts and Grants. The CSU and UC in recent years together have received on average over $100 million annually in gifts and grants for construction of facilities.
- UC Research Revenue. The UC finances the construction of new research facilities by selling bonds and pledging future research revenue for their repayment. Currently, UC uses about $130 million a year of research revenue to pay off these bonds.

Higher Education Building Plans. Each year the institutions of higher education prepare capital outlay plans in which they identify project priorities over the next few years. Higher education capital outlay projects in the most recent plans total $5.3 billion for the period 2003-04 through 2007-08.

PROPOSAL

This measure allows the state to issue $12.3 billion of general obligation bonds for construction and renovation of K-12 school facilities ($10 billion) and higher education facilities ($2.3 billion). Figure 1 shows how these bond funds would be allocated to K-12 and higher education.

Future Education Bond Act. If the voters do not approve this measure, state law requires the same bond issue to be placed on the November 2004 ballot.

K-12 School Facilities

Figure 1 describes generally how the $10 billion for K-12 school projects would be allocated. However, the measure would permit changes in this allocation with the approval of the Legislature and Governor.

New Construction. A total of $5.26 billion would be available to buy land and construct new school buildings. A district would be required to pay for 50 percent of costs with local resources unless it qualifies for state hardship funding. The measure also provides that up to $300 million of these new construction funds is available for charter school facilities. (Charter schools are public schools that operate independently of many of the requirements of regular public schools.)

Modernization. The proposition makes $2.25 billion available for the reconstruction or modernization of existing school facilities. Districts would be required to pay 40 percent of project costs from local resources.

Critically Overcrowded Schools. This proposition directs a total of $2.44 billion to districts with schools which are considered critically overcrowded. These funds would go to schools that have a large number of pupils relative to the size of the school site.

Joint-Use Projects. The measure makes a total of $50 million available to fund joint-use projects. (An example of a joint-use project is a facility constructed for use by both a K-12 school district and a local library district.)

Higher Education Facilities

The measure includes $2.3 billion to construct new buildings and related infrastructure, alter existing buildings, and purchase equipment for use in these buildings for California's public higher education systems. As Figure 1 shows, the measure allocates $690 million each to UC and CSU and $920 million to CCCs. The Governor and the Legislature would select the specific projects to be funded by the bond monies.

FISCAL EFFECT

The cost of these bonds would depend on their interest rates and the time period over which they are repaid. If the $12.3 billion in bonds authorized by this proposition is sold at an interest rate of 5.25 percent (the current rate for this type of bond) and repaid over 30 years, the cost over the period would be about $24.7 billion to pay off both the principal ($12.3 billion) and interest ($12.4 billion). The average payment for principal and interest would be about $823 million per year.

[No. S020835. Dec. 31, 1992.]

THOMAS K. BUTT et al., Plaintiffs and Respondents, v.
THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA et al., Defendants and Appellants.

SUMMARY

Parents of school children enrolled in a unified school district filed a class action for injunctive relief against the state and the district's board of education, seeking to prevent the district from closing its schools six weeks before the official end of the school year due to a projected revenue shortfall. After granting plaintiffs' motion to amend the complaint to include the state Superintendent of Public Instruction and the state Controller as defendants, the trial court granted plaintiffs' motion for a preliminary injunction, ordering the state and the superintendent to ensure that the schools remained open until the end of the school year or to provide the students with a substantially equivalent educational opportunity. The court subsequently issued another order, pursuant to the superintendent's plan, authorizing the Controller to disburse an emergency loan to the district from unspent portions of appropriations for the Greater Avenues for Independence (GAIN) program and another unified school district, and authorizing the superintendent to relieve the present board, and to develop recovery and repayment plans. The state's appeal from the trial court's orders was transferred from the Court of Appeal to the Supreme Court. (Superior Court of Contra Costa County, No. C91-01645, Ellen Sickles James, Judge.)

The Supreme Court reversed the trial court's second order insofar as it approved funding of an emergency loan from appropriations for the GAIN program and the other school district; in all other respects, the court affirmed the orders, and directed the Court of Appeal to remand the matter to the trial court for further proceedings. The court held that the trial court, in deciding the propriety of a preliminary injunction, did not abuse its discretion in finding that there was a reasonable probability that plaintiffs would succeed on the merits of their case, since the early closure of the district's schools would have deprived the students of their fundamental right to basic equality in public education, and the state was required to intervene to prevent a deprivation of that right. The court also held that the trial court properly found that denial of the preliminary injunction would have caused students and their parents substantial and irreparable harm greater than that which defendants would suffer if the injunction were granted. The court held that the trial court acted within its equitable powers in ordering the superintendent to displace the board, operate the district, and impose a plan for the district's permanent financial recovery, but that it was improper for the trial court to order the state to extend the loan by using unspent funds from appropriations for the GAIN program and the other school district, since those funds were not "reasonably available" for that purpose. HEADNOTES

Classified to California Digest of Official Reports

- (1) Appellate Review § 119—Dismissal—Grounds—Mootness—Exception for Matters of Public Interest—Issues Concerning Injunction Requiring Emergency State Loan to Fund School District.—On the state's appeal from a preliminary injunction requiring it to extend an emergency loan to a school district so that it could keep its schools open until the end of the school year despite revenue shortfalls, and to implement a recovery plan for the district, some issues were moot due to the fact that a plan had already been implemented and the state did not seek rescission of the loan. Nevertheless, the Supreme Court had discretion to decide the issues, which included whether the state was responsible to ensure the students' fundamental right to basic educational equality and whether the trial court had authority to order a loan from funds the Legislature had appropriated for other purposes, since those issues involved potentially recurring questions of public importance. As to the appropriations issue, there was a substantial possibility that similar crises would produce similar emergency orders in the future, thus favoring review. Moreover, the state had fully litigated the issue, and any mootness stemmed from the Supreme Court's denial of the state's request for a stay pending appeal.
- (2) Injunctions § 21—Preliminary Injunctions—Appeal—Scope of Review.—Appellate review of a trial court's decision as to whether to issue a preliminary injunction is limited to whether the decision was an abuse of discretion. In deciding whether to issue a preliminary injunction, the trial court must weigh two "interrelated" factors: (1) the likelihood that the moving party will ultimately prevail on the merits, and (2) the relative interim harm to the parties resulting from the issuance or nonissuance of the injunction. The trial court's determination must be guided by a "mix" of the two factors, and the greater the plaintiff's showing on one, the less must be shown on the other to support an injunction. The scope of available preliminary relief is necessarily limited by the scope of the relief likely to be obtained at a trial on the merits, and the trial court may not grant a preliminary injunction, regardless of the balance of interim harm, unless there is some possibility that the plaintiff would ultimately prevail on the merits of the claim. Thus, unless the potential merit of the claim is conceded, the appellate court must address that issue when reviewing an order granting a preliminary injunction.

- (3a-3c) Schools § 4—School Districts; Financing; Funds—Shortening School Year on Emergency Basis Due to Budget Shortfall—State's Obligation.—In an action for injunctive relief by parents against the state, two state officials, and the board of education of a school district, seeking to prevent the district from ending the school year six weeks early due to a budget shortfall, the trial court, in granting plaintiffs a preliminary injunction, did not abuse its discretion in finding that there was a reasonable probability that plaintiffs would succeed on the merits of their case. Basic equality in public education for all students, regardless of the district in which they reside, is a fundamental right under the California Constitution, and denials of that right are subject to strict scrutiny. The state has the ultimate responsibility for assuring equal operation of the public school system, and is obliged to intervene when a local district's fiscal problems prevent its students from receiving basic educational equality. Moreover, there was no state policy of local autonomy and accountability at the district level that was compelling enough to justify the state's tolerance of the extreme and unprecedented educational deprivation that would have resulted from the early closure of the district's schools.

[See Cal.Jur.3d, Schools, §§ 291, 299.]

- (4) Schools § 1—Legislature's Nondelegable Responsibility Over Public School System.—Public education is an obligation that the state assumed by adoption of the state Constitution. The public school system, although administered through local districts created by the Legislature, is one system applicable to all of the common schools. In view of the importance of education to society and to the individual child, the opportunity to receive the schooling furnished by the state must be made available to all on an equal basis. The Legislature's "plenary" power over public education is subject only to constitutional restrictions. Local districts are the state's agents for local operation of the common school system, and the state's ultimate responsibility for public education cannot be delegated to any other entity.

- (5) Constitutional Law § 87.2—Equal Protection—Classification—Judicial Review—Strict Standard of Review for Suspect Classifications or Classifications Touching on Fundamental Interests—Right to Education.—Under the equal protection clauses of the federal and state Constitutions, heightened judicial scrutiny applies to state-maintained discrimination whenever the disfavored class is suspect or the disparate treatment has a real and appreciable impact on a fundamental right or interest. Education is such a fundamental interest for purposes of equal protection analysis under the California Constitution.
- (6) Schools § 4—School Districts; Financing; Funds—Shortening School Year on Emergency Basis Due to Budget Shortfall—Preliminary Injunction Against State—Balancing Harm to Parents and Students Against Harm to District.—In an action for injunctive relief by parents against the state, two state officials, and the board of education of a school district to prevent closure of the district's schools six weeks early due to a budget shortfall, the trial court properly found that denial of the parents' motion for a preliminary injunction would have caused district students and their parents substantial and irreparable harm that was greater than that which defendants would suffer if the injunction were granted. Plaintiffs' declarations suggested that the district's inability to complete the school year arose from its ever-worsening fiscal condition and the deterioration of negotiations for emergency aid, and that the teachers' lesson plans did not provide for the contingency of early closure. They also detailed the difficulties of maintaining the educational progress of over 31,000 suddenly displaced students. While plaintiffs may not have demonstrated that "irreparable" harm to students was unavoidable by other means, the trial court's findings both that plaintiffs had a reasonable probability of success on the merits and that they would suffer more harm if an injunction were denied than the state would suffer if it were granted fully justified its decision to grant the preliminary injunction.
- (7a, 7b) Schools § 4—School Districts; Financing; Funds—District in Financial Distress Due to Mismanagement—Trial Court's Equitable Power to Grant Relief—Ordering Superintendent of Public Instruction to Assume Management.—In an action for injunctive relief by parents against the state, the state Superintendent of Public Instruction, the state Controller, and the board of education of a school district, seeking to prevent the school district from ending the school year six weeks early due to a budget shortfall, the trial court did not exceed its powers in issuing an order, based on a plan submitted by the superintendent and the Controller, authorizing the superintendent to displace the board, operate the district, and impose a plan for the district's permanent financial recovery. Although no statute gave the superintendent such authority, the takeover order was within the trial court's inherent equitable power to enforce the state's constitutional obligations in light of the unique situation. The state was justified in satisfying its duty by extending a loan with conditions to ensure appropriate use of the funds and minimize the risk of default, especially since the district's ability to administer the loan under its existing systems and managers was uniquely suspect.

- (8) Constitutional Law § 40—Distribution of Governmental Powers—Between Branches of Government—Judicial Power—To Order Discretionary Acts By Executive or Legislature.—In general, courts have equitable authority to enforce their constitutional judgments. Principles of comity and separation of powers, however, place significant restraints on the authority of courts to order or ratify acts that are normally committed to the discretion of other branches or officials. In particular, the separation of powers doctrine (Cal. Const., art. III, § 3) obliges the judiciary to respect the separate constitutional roles of the Executive and the Legislature. Moreover, a judicial remedy must be tailored to the harm at issue. A court should always strive for the least disruptive remedy that is adequate to its legitimate task.
- (9) Constitutional Law § 40—Distribution of Governmental Powers—Between Branches of Government—Judicial Power—To Order Spending of Legislative Appropriations—Ordering Emergency Loan to School District From Funds Appropriated for Other Educational Purposes.—In an action for injunctive relief by parents against the state, two state officials, and the board of education of a school district, seeking to prevent the school district from ending the school year six weeks early due to a budget shortfall, the trial court improperly ordered the state to extend the district an emergency loan of $19 million out of unspent funds appropriated for the Greater Avenues for Independence (GAIN) program and for an emergency loan to another school district. The appropriations did not make funds "reasonably available" for the purpose of financing the remainder of the district's school term. GAIN's purpose is to provide employment, adult education, and job training to recipients of public aid. The GAIN appropriation was expressly designated for that program alone, and was not intended to fund the needs of non-GAIN students. Similarly, the emergency loan to the other district was specifically appropriated for that district, with conditions addressed to the circumstances of that case. The funding of the remainder of the district's term was clearly outside the particular purposes for which the appropriations were reserved.

OPINION

BAXTER. J.—In late April 1991, after a period of mounting deficits, the Richmond Unified School District (District) announced it lacked funds to complete the final six weeks of its 1990-1991 school term. The District proposed to close its doors on May 1, 1991. The Superior Court of Contra Costa County issued a preliminary injunction directing the State of California (State), its Controller, and its Superintendent of Public Instruction (SPI) to ensure that the District's students would receive a full school term or its equivalent. The court approved the SPI's plan for an emergency State loan, and for appointment by the SPI of an administrator to take temporary charge of the District's operation.

We declined to stay implementation of the plan pending the State's appeal. However, we transferred the appeal here in order to decide an important issue of first impression: Whether the State has a constitutional duty, aside from the equal allocation of educational funds, to prevent the budgetary problems of a particular school district from depriving its students of "basic" educational equality.

We affirm the trial court's determination that such a duty exists under the California Constitution. Further, the court did not err in concluding, on the basis of the plaintiffs' preliminary showing, that the particular circumstances of this case demanded immediate State intervention. However, the court exceeded its judicial powers by approving the diversion of emergency loan funds from appropriations clearly intended by the Legislature for other purposes.

FACTS AND PROCEDURAL HISTORY¹

On April 17, 1991, Thomas K. Butt and other named District parents filed a class action for temporary and permanent injunctive relief against the State and the District's board of education (Board).² The complaint alleged as follows: The State is responsible for educating all California children, and the Board is the State's agent for carrying out this responsibility in the District. The scheduled final day of the District's 1990-1991 school term was June 14, 1991, but the District had announced that its 44 elementary, secondary, and adult schools would close on May 1, 1991. The resulting loss of six weeks of instruction would cause serious, irreparable harm to the District's 31,500 students and would deny them their "fundamental right to an effective public education" under the California Constitution. Moreover, as an unjustified discrimination against District students compared to those elsewhere in California, the closure would violate equal protection guarantees of the California and United States Constitutions. Therefore, defendants should be enjoined from closing the District's schools before the scheduled end of the scholastic term.

On April 22, 1991, plaintiffs noticed a motion for preliminary injunction. In an attached declaration, Frank R. Calton, a member of the Board, stated that the District projected a revenue shortfall of $23 million for the 1990-1991 academic year and only had sufficient funds to pay its employees through April 1991. Calton declared the District would have to close at the end of April unless new funds were obtained or employees agreed to work for registered warrants in lieu of paychecks. He indicated that the District's efforts to obtain an emergency loan from the State had not yet succeeded, and the District was preparing to file for bankruptcy.

²The named plaintiffs sued on behalf of themselves, their children, and other parents and students of the District.

Plaintiffs' motion papers also included declarations by District teachers, academicians in the field of education, and members of the Contra Costa County board of education. These statements detailed the serious disruptive effect the proposed closure would have upon the educational process in the District and upon the quality of education afforded its students.

The motion was heard on April 29, 1991. The Attorney General represented the State in opposition. Counsel for the District represented that the Board's appearance was precluded by an automatic bankruptcy stay. The trial court granted plaintiffs' unopposed motion for amendment of the complaint to include the SPI and the Controller as defendants. Pending applications for intervention and amicus curiae status were not formally granted,³ but as stipulated by the parties, the court heard argument from the applicants and agreed to consider their briefs.

At the conclusion of the hearing, the trial court ruled orally that under the California Constitution, the State itself is responsible for the "fundamental" educational rights of California students and must remedy a local district's inability to provide its students an education "basically equivalent" to that provided elsewhere in the State. Concluding that the threatened closure would deny the District's students a "constitutionally [equal] education," the court ordered the State and the SPI to act as "they deem appropriate" to ensure that District schools remained open until June 14, 1991, or to provide District students a "substantially equivalent educational opportunity" within the statutory school year ending June 30, 1991.

This oral decision was followed by two written orders filed May 2. One of these, drafted by plaintiffs' counsel, purported to formalize the April 29 ruling. It made findings that closure of District schools by May 1 would cause District students irreparable harm, that the balance of harm favored a preliminary injunction, that education is a "fundamental right" in California, ³Applications to appear as amici curiae were submitted by the Richmond Federation of Teachers (RFT) and jointly by the Meiklejohn Civil Liberties Institute, the National Lawyers Guild, and Multi-Cultural Education, Training, and Advocacy, Inc. (collectively Meiklejohn). Complaints in intervention and/or applications for leave to intervene were submitted by the Oakland Unified School District (OUSD), RFT, and United Teachers of Richmond (UTR).

that no "compelling interest" justified denying District students six weeks of instruction available to "every other child in the State," and that plaintiffs' ultimate success on the merits was reasonably probable. The State and its agents again were directed to act "as . . . appropriate" to ensure District students, within the school year ending June 30, 1991, an education "equivalent basically" to that provided elsewhere in California for a full school term. The Controller was added as a State official expressly bound by the court's commands.

On the same day, May 2, the SPI and the Controller submitted their plan for compliance with the preliminary injunction. With counsel for all interested parties present, the court took evidence indicating that uncommitted funds exceeding the estimated $19 million necessary to complete the District's school year were available from existing State appropriations to the Greater Avenues for Independence (GAIN) program and for emergency assistance to the OUSD. Counsel for the OUSD stipulated that his client had "no objection" to use of the $10 million OUSD appropriation for purposes of an emergency loan to the District.

Accordingly, the court executed an order, drafted by counsel for the SPI, approving in principle the submitted plan.⁴ The order authorized the Controller to disburse an emergency loan to the District from unspent portions of the GAIN and OUSD appropriations. (See Stats. 1989, ch. 93, § 22.00; Stats. 1989, ch. 1438, § 1 et seq.) Meanwhile, the SPI, by virtue of the State's "ultimate responsibility" for equal education and his own statutory obligation to "superintend the schools of this state" (Ed. Code, § 33112, subd. (a)),⁵ would have authority to "relieve the . . . [B]oard of its legal duties and powers, appoint a trustee, develop a recovery plan and, subject to the approval of the Controller, [develop] a repayment plan on the [D]istrict's behalf as necessary" to ensure completion of the school term, the District's financial recovery, and the protection of the loaned funds.⁶

The Attorney General timely noticed appeals from the April 29 and May 2 orders on behalf of the State. Defendants SPI and Controller did not ⁴Though the court's order recites that the SPI and the Controller "presented . . . , after notice to all parties, an agreement" to provide an emergency loan, neither the agreement itself, nor a description of its precise terms, has been made part of the record on appeal.

⁵All further statutory references are to the Education Code unless otherwise indicated.

⁶The preliminary injunction motion was litigated with understandable haste, and evidence of the causes of the District's apparent insolvency was not presented below. On appeal, the SPI invites us to take judicial notice of grand jury findings on this subject which were released after the preliminary injunction was granted. (See The Financial Affairs of the Richmond Unified School District, Rep. of 1990-1991 Contra Costa County Grand Jury (May 29, 1991) [hereafter Report].) Without objection, we may note the Report's contents. (Evid. Code, §§ 452, subds. (c), (d), 455, 459; see People v. Gonzalez (1990) 51 Cal.3d 1179, 1259, fn. 54 [275 Cal.Rptr. 729, 800 P.2d 1159].) Of course, we cannot accept its findings as evidence or its criticisms of the District and the Board as conclusively founded. We are appeal. The State immediately requested transfer of the appeal from the Court of Appeal, First Appellate District, to this court (see Cal. Rules of Court, rule 20) and also asked that we stay enforcement of the trial court's orders pending appeal. (1)^(See fn. 7.) The SPI and the Controller opposed a stay but supported transfer of the appeal to this court. We granted the transfer request but denied a stay.⁷

DISCUSSION

1. Standard of review.

(2) In deciding whether to issue a preliminary injunction, a court must weigh two "interrelated" factors: (1) the likelihood that the moving party particularly loath to do so when the District and the Board were disabled below from defending against claims of mismanagement and, except for a special appearance at oral argument, have not participated in the appeal.

Nonetheless, we cannot ignore the grand jury's assessment that despite repeated warnings, an earnest but financially inexperienced Board permitted massive, accelerating deficit spending over a period of several years to expand staff, boost salaries and benefits, and support innovative programs installed by the District's former superintendent. (Report, pp. 3-5.) According to the Report, the resulting deficit for the years 1986-1990 was $29.5 million, with an $18.1 million deficit for 1990 alone. (Id., at p. 4.) In 1990, the District had received a State emergency loan exceeding $9 million, in consequence of which a limited-powers trustee appointed by the SPI was overseeing District financial affairs during the 1990-1991 school term. (Id., at p. 5.)

⁷Our denial of a stay allowed implementation of the plan approved by the trial court, and the District's school year was completed. Though the State vigorously contends the court lacked power to invade the GAIN and OUSD appropriations, it does not demand actual rescission of the court-approved loan. Moreover, we judicially notice without objection that in June 1992, the SPI approved a repayment and recovery plan adopted by the District, restored the Board's powers, and terminated the court-authorized appointment of the State administrator. (See Evid. Code, §§ 452, subs. (c), (h), 455, 459.) Although portions of the appeal may therefore be technically moot, we have discretion to decide the issues presented as potentially recurring questions of public importance. (E.g., O'Hare v. Superior Court (1987) 43 Cal.3d 86, 91, fn. 1 [233 Cal.Rptr. 332, 729 P.2d 766]; DiGiorgio Fruit Corp. v. Dept. of Employment (1961) 56 Cal.2d 54, 58 [13 Cal.Rptr. 663, 362 P.2d 487]; People v. West Coast Shows, Inc. (1970) 10 Cal.App.3d 462, 468 [89 Cal.Rptr. 290].)

The Chief Justice objects in particular that we neither must nor should address whether the sources of funding approved by the trial court were proper. However, he fails to indicate why this important and sensitive issue is any more moot, or any less worthy of consideration, than other portions of the trial court's order which have also been irretrievably implemented. Indeed, in these uncertain times, the substantial possibility arises that similar future crises will produce similar emergency orders for immediate diversion of State funds from expedient sources. Hence, contrary to the Chief Justice's suggestion, the issue is one capable of repetition but difficult to review, and this concern favors its prompt consideration under the "public interest" exception to the mootness doctrine. (DiGiorgio Fruit Corp., supra, 56 Cal.2d at p. 58.) Moreover, the State has fully litigated the merits of the appropriations issue throughout, and any mootness in this or other aspects of the injunction stems from our denial of the State's request for a stay pending appeal. Under these circumstances, the State should not be penalized on appeal for conceding that State funds already expended by the District cannot practicably be recovered.

will ultimately prevail on the merits and (2) the relative interim harm to the parties from issuance or nonissuance of the injunction. (Common Cause v. Board of Supervisors (1989) 49 Cal.3d 432, 441-442 [261 Cal.Rptr. 574, 777 P.2d 610].) Appellate review is limited to whether the trial court's decision was an abuse of discretion. (Cohen v. Board of Supervisors (1985) 40 Cal.3d 277, 286 [219 Cal.Rptr. 467, 707 P.2d 840].)

The trial court's determination must be guided by a "mix" of the potential-merit and interim-harm factors; the greater the plaintiff's showing on one, the less must be shown on the other to support an injunction. (King v. Meese (1987) 43 Cal.3d 1217, 1227-1228 [240 Cal.Rptr. 829, 743 P.2d 889].) Of course, "[t]he scope of available preliminary relief is necessarily limited by the scope of the relief likely to be obtained at trial on the merits." (Common Cause, supra, 49 Cal.3d at p. 442.) A trial court may not grant a preliminary injunction, regardless of the balance of interim harm, unless there is some possibility that the plaintiff would ultimately prevail on the merits of the claim. (Id., at pp. 442-443.) Unless potential merit is conceded, an appellate court must therefore address that issue when reviewing an order granting a preliminary injunction.

Here, the trial court found that plaintiffs' constitutional demand for State intervention had potential merit, and that the balance of interim harm justified the issuance of a preliminary injunction against the State. For the reasons that follow, we conclude that each of these determinations was within the court's discretion.⁸

2. Merits of plaintiffs' claims.

(3a) The trial court expressly found "[t]here is a reasonable probability that plaintiffs will succeed on the merits of their case." The court agreed with plaintiffs' claim that the equal protection guaranties of the California Constitution (art. I, § 7, subs. (a), (b); art. IV, § 16, subd. (a)) require State intervention to ensure that fiscal problems do not deprive a local district's ⁸The State insists that under the circumstances of this case, appellate review should not be limited to whether the trial court "abused its discretion" when weighing "interim" harm and "probable" merit. The State stresses that the unstayed injunction, though preliminary in form, was both final and unprecedented in fact. Accordingly, the State suggests, we must decide, as on appeal from a final judgment, whether plaintiffs were entitled to the relief they received.

We disagree. The abuse-of-discretion standard acknowledges that the propriety of preliminary relief turns upon difficult estimates and predictions from a record which is necessarily truncated and incomplete. Here, the urgency of the situation forced plaintiffs to produce, and the State to rebut, a hasty tentative showing of constitutional necessity. The evidence on which the trial court was forced to act may thus be significantly different from that which would be available after a trial on the merits. Neither the trial court nor this court could undertake a final adjudication of plaintiffs' lawsuit under such circumstances.

students of basic educational equality.⁹ The court also accepted plaintiffs' preliminary showing that the effect of the District's crisis on its students' educational rights was serious enough to trigger the State's constitutional duty. The State, supported by amicus curiae Pacific Legal Foundation (Pacific),¹⁰ assails these conclusions on multiple grounds.

At the outset, the State does not claim it lacks any and all constitutional role in local educational affairs. Instead, its reasoning proceeds as follows: The State fulfills its financial responsibility for educational equality by subjecting all local districts, rich and poor, to an equalized statewide revenue base.¹¹ Unless a district fails to provide the minimum six-month school term set forth in the "free school" clause (Cal. Const., art. IX, § 5),¹² the State has no duty to ensure prudent use of the equalized funds by local administrators. Even if local mismanagement causes one district's services to fall seriously below prevailing statewide standards, the resulting educational inequality is ⁹Article I, section 7, subdivision (a) provides in pertinent part that "[a] person may not be . . . denied equal protection of the laws. . . ." Article I, section 7, subdivision (b) provides in pertinent part that "[a] citizen or class of citizens may not be granted privileges or immunities not granted on the same terms to all citizens. . . ." Article IV, section 16, subdivision (a) provides that "[a]ll laws of a general nature have uniform operation."

¹⁰The positions adopted by the various parties and numerous amici curiae in this appeal are diverse. The Attorney General, representing the State as defendant and appellant, opposes all aspects of the trial court orders. Though they were joined as defendants below, the SPI and the Controller, deeming themselves "respondents" on appeal, support plaintiffs' view that the orders were proper in all respects. Amicus curiae Pacific supports the State's position. Amici curiae RFT and UTR approve State financial aid but object to displacement of the local governing board by a State administrator. Amici curiae Frank R. Calton and Howard P. Abelson urge that the Board acted correctly by deciding to close District schools and should not have been displaced. Calton and Abelson also suggest the injunction was improper because the Board had no opportunity to appear and defend against claims of mismanagement. Amici curiae Mario Diaz and Rebecca Hazlewood Bezemek (Diaz and Bezemek) take no position on State financial assistance but argue that the SPI's takeover of District government was improper. Amicus curiae briefs in support of plaintiffs have been filed by the American Civil Liberties Union Foundation, Human Rights Advocates, and Meiklejohn.

¹¹The funding scheme for public education is complex, but no party disputes the summary description provided in the State's brief: "The Legislature has attempted to equalize school district funding . . . by the use of a 'base revenue limit' for each district. Each district is classified by size and type. ([Ed.] Code, [§] 42238.) Based upon this classification scheme, each district has a 'base revenue limit' per unit of average daily attendance. The base revenue limit for any district includes the amount of property tax revenues a district can raise, with other specific local revenues, coupled with an equalization payment by the State, thus bringing each district into a rough equivalency of revenues. (Compare [Cal. Code Regs., tit. 5, [§] 15371, et seq.; Ed.] Code [§] 42238 et seq.) [¶] Because the student population is so diverse, the Legislature had to supplement the base revenue limit with specific augmentations targeted for categories of children with needs that require special attention. These supplements are designated as 'categorical' aid. . . ."

¹²Article IX, section 5 provides: "The Legislature shall provide for a system of common schools by which a free school shall be kept up and supported in each district at least six months in every year, after the first year in which a school has been established."

not grounded in district wealth, nor does it involve a "suspect classification" such as race. Thus, "strict scrutiny" of the disparity is not required, and the State's refusal to intervene must be upheld as rationally related to its policy of local control and accountability. Even if strict scrutiny is appropriate, the local-control policy is "compelling" enough to justify the State's inaction.

Under the unprecedented circumstances of this case, we cannot accept the State's contentions. We set forth our reasons in detail.

Since its admission to the Union, California has assumed specific responsibility for a statewide public education system open on equal terms to all. The Constitution of 1849 directed the Legislature to "provide for a system of common schools, by which a school shall be kept up and supported in each district" (Cal. Const. of 1849, art. IX, § 3.) That constitutional command, with the additional proviso that the school maintained by each district be "free," has persisted to the present day. (Cal. Const., art. IX, § 5.)

In furtherance of the State system of free public education, the Constitution also creates State and county educational offices, including a Superintendent of Public Instruction and a State Board of Education. (Cal. Const., art. IX, §§ 2-3.3, 7.) It authorizes the formation of local school districts (id., §§ 6½, 14), requires that all public elementary and secondary schools be administered within the Public School System (id., § 6), establishes a State School Fund (Fund) (id., § 4), reserves a minimum portion of State revenues for allocation to the Fund (id., art. XVI, §§ 8, 8.5), guarantees minimum allocations from the Fund for each public school (id., art. IX, § 6), specifies minimum salaries for public school teachers (ibid.), authorizes the State Board of Education to approve public school textbooks (id., § 7.5), and permits the Legislature to grant local districts such authority over their affairs as does not "conflict with the laws and purposes for which school districts are established" (id., § 14).

(4) Accordingly, California courts have adhered to the following principles: Public education is an obligation which the State assumed by the adoption of the Constitution. (San Francisco Unified School Dist. v. Johnson (1971) 3 Cal.3d 937, 951-952 [92 Cal.Rptr. 309, 479 P.2d 669]; Piper v. Big Pine School Dist. (1924) 193 Cal. 664, 669 [226 P. 926].) The system of public schools, although administered through local districts created by the Legislature, is "one system . . . applicable to all the common schools" (Kennedy v. Miller (1893) 97 Cal. 429, 432 [32 P. 558], italics in original.) ". . . In view of the importance of education to society and to the individual child, the opportunity to receive the schooling furnished by the state must be made available to all on an equal basis. . . ." (Jackson v.

Pasadena City School Dist. (1963) 59 Cal.2d 876, 880 [31 Cal.Rptr. 606, 382 P.2d 878].) “[M]anagement and control of the public schools [is] a matter of state[, not local,] care and supervision. . . .” (Kennedy v. Miller, supra, 97 Cal. at p. 431; see also Hall v. City of Taft (1956) 47 Cal.2d 177, 181 [302 P.2d 574]; California Teachers Assn. v. Huff (1992) 5 Cal.App.4th 1513, 1523-1524 [7 Cal.Rptr.2d 699].) The Legislature’s “plenary” power over public education is subject only to constitutional restrictions. (Hall v. City of Taft, supra, at pp. 180-181 [302 P.2d 574]; Tinsley v. Palo Alto Unified School Dist. (1979) 91 Cal.App.3d 871, 903-904 [154 Cal.Rptr. 591].) Local districts are the State’s agents for local operation of the common school system (Hall v. City of Taft, supra, at p. 181; San Francisco Unified School Dist. v. Johnson, supra, 3 Cal.3d at p. 952; California Teachers Assn., supra), and the State’s ultimate responsibility for public education cannot be delegated to any other entity (Hall v. City of Taft, supra; Piper v. Big Pine School Dist., supra, 193 Cal. at p. 669).

(3b) It is true that the Legislature has assigned much of the governance of the public schools to the local districts (e.g., §§ 14000, 35160 et seq., 35160.1), which operate under officials who are locally elected and appointed (§§ 35020, 35100 et seq.). The districts are separate political entities for some purposes. (E.g., Johnson v. San Diego Unified School Dist. (1990) 217 Cal.App.3d 692, 698-700 [266 Cal.Rptr. 187] [general theory of respondeat superior does not make State liable for torts of local district or its employees]; Gonzales v. State of California (1972) 29 Cal.App.3d 585, 590-592 [105 Cal.Rptr. 804] [same]; First Interstate Bank v. State of California (1987) 197 Cal.App.3d 627, 633-634 [243 Cal.Rptr. 8] [State not vicariously liable for district’s breach of contract]; Board of Education v. Calderon (1973) 35 Cal.App.3d 490, 496 [110 Cal.Rptr. 916] [local district is not the “state” or the “People,” so as to be civilly bound in dismissal proceedings by teacher’s acquittal of criminal sex offense under principles of res judicata].)

Yet the existence of this local-district system has not prevented recognition that the State itself has broad responsibility to ensure basic educational equality under the California Constitution. Because access to a public education is a uniquely fundamental personal interest in California, our courts have consistently found that the State charter accords broader rights against State-maintained educational discrimination than does federal law. Despite contrary federal authority, California constitutional principles require State assistance to correct basic “interdistrict” disparities in the system of common schools, even when the discriminatory effect was not produced by the purposeful conduct of the State or its agents.

In Serrano v. Priest (1971) 5 Cal.3d 584 [96 Cal.Rptr. 601, 487 P.2d 1241, 41 A.L.R.3d 1187] (Serrano I), this court struck down the existing State public school financing scheme, which caused the amount of basic revenues per pupil to vary substantially among the respective districts depending on their taxable property values. Serrano I concluded at length that such a scheme violated both state and federal equal protection guaranties because it discriminated against a fundamental interest—education—on the basis of a suspect classification—district wealth—and could not be justified by a compelling state interest under the strict scrutiny test thus applicable. (Pp. 596-619.) As the court concluded, “where fundamental rights or suspect classifications are at stake, a state’s general freedom to discriminate on a geographical basis will be significantly curtailed by the equal protection clause. [Citation.]” (P. 612, italics added.)

Among other things, Serrano I rejected a claim that the wealth-based financing scheme was immune from challenge because the interdistrict revenue disparities it produced were not de jure, but merely de facto. Our opinion detailed the purposeful state legislative action which had produced the geographically based wealth classifications. It also made clear, however, that under California principles developed in cases involving school racial segregation, the absence of purposeful conduct by the State would not prevent a finding that the State system for funding public education had produced unconstitutional results. (Serrano I, supra, 5 Cal.3d at pp. 603-604, citing Jackson v. Pasadena City School Dist., supra, 59 Cal.2d 876, 881.)

Serrano I also discussed two groups of federal cases suggesting that place of residence was an impermissible basis for State discrimination in the quality of education. Serrano I cited with approval Hall v. St. Helena Parish School Board (E.D.La. 1961) 197 F.Supp. 649. This federal decision struck down a Louisiana statute permitting local parishes to close their schools rather than integrate them. As Serrano I noted, Hall v. St. Helena Parish found an equal protection violation not only because of the statute’s racial consequences, but also “‘because its application in one parish, while the state provides public schools elsewhere, would unfairly discriminate against the residents of that parish, irrespective of race. . . . [A]bsent a reasonable basis for so classifying, a state cannot close the public schools in one area while, at the same time, it maintains schools elsewhere with public funds.’” (Serrano I, supra, 5 Cal.3d at p. 612, quoting Hall v. St. Helena Parish, supra, 197 F. Supp. at pp. 651, 656.)

Serrano I further noted a “second group of cases, dealing with apportionment [of votes], [in which] the high court has held that accidents of geography and arbitrary boundary lines of local government can afford no ground for discrimination among a state’s citizens. [Citation.] . . . If a voter’s address may not determine the weight to which his ballot is entitled, surely it should not determine the quality of his child's education. [Fn.]” (Serrano I, supra, 5 Cal.3d at p. 613.)

Finally, Serrano I rejected the State's claim that plaintiffs' wealth-discrimination theory would apply equally, and with disastrous effect, to all public services dependent in part on local property taxes. “[W]e are satisfied,” the majority concluded, that whatever the status of other public services, “its uniqueness among public activities clearly demonstrates that education must respond to the command of the equal protection clause.” (Serrano I, supra, 5 Cal.3d at p. 614, italics in original.)

In San Antonio School District v. Rodriguez (1973) 411 U.S. 1 [36 L.Ed.2d 16, 93 S.Ct. 1278], decided after Serrano I, the United States Supreme Court declined to subject Texas's similar local-property-tax based school financing scheme to heightened scrutiny under the Fourteenth Amendment. The Rodriguez majority concluded that a school finance scheme dependent on district tax values does not discriminate against the poor as a distinct class; in any event, the majority observed, wealth alone had never been deemed a suspect classification for federal purposes. Moreover, the majority reasoned, education is not a fundamental interest protected by the federal Constitution. Therefore finding the strict scrutiny standard of review inapplicable, the majority upheld Texas's system as rationally related to that state's policy of local control of schools. (411 U.S. at pp. 18-55.)

Nonetheless, in Serrano v. Priest (1976) 18 Cal.3d 728 [135 Cal.Rptr. 345, 557 P.2d 929] (Serrano II), this court reaffirmed the reasoning and result of Serrano I as required by the separate equal protection guaranties of the California Constitution. (Serrano II, supra, 18 Cal.3d at pp. 760-768.) Among other things, Serrano II reiterated that for California purposes, education remains a fundamental interest “which [lies] at the core of our free and representative form of government [fn.]” (Id., at pp. 767-768.)

Hence, Serrano II declared, “[i]n applying our state constitutional provisions guaranteeing equal protection of the laws we shall continue to apply strict and searching judicial scrutiny” to claims of discriminatory educational classifications. (Serrano II, supra, at p. 767.) More recent cases confirm that education is a fundamental interest under the California equal protection guaranties (e.g., Steffes v. California Interscholastic Federation (1986) 176 Cal.App.3d 739, 746 [222 Cal.Rptr. 355]) and that the unique importance of public education in California's constitutional scheme requires careful scrutiny of state interference with basic educational rights (see, e.g., Hartzell v. Connell (1984) 35 Cal.3d 899, 906-909 [201 Cal.Rptr. 601, 679 P.2d 35] [scope of free school guarantee]).

In Tinsley v. Palo Alto Unified School Dist., supra, 91 Cal.App.3d 871, parents sought mandate requiring several neighboring San Mateo and Santa Clara County school districts, the State, and certain State school officials, to submit a plan for the redress of interdistrict racial segregation in the affected locality. The petitioners declined to allege any specific acts committed by State or local parties as the cause of the interdistrict imbalance.

The State respondents answered the petition, but the districts successfully demurred, and the petition was dismissed as to them. The Court of Appeal reversed, holding that the California Constitution, unlike its federal counterpart as construed in Milliken v. Bradley (1974) 418 U.S. 717 [41 L.Ed.2d 1069, 94 S.Ct. 3112], contemplates interdistrict relief to remedy mere de facto racial imbalance which extends across district lines. (Tinsley, supra, 91 Cal.App.3d at pp. 899-907.) Several aspects of the Tinsley decision emphasize the State's ultimate responsibility for maintaining a nondiscriminatory common school system.

At the outset, the districts asserted that an appeal was premature under the "one final judgment" rule, because as mere agencies of the State, which had not demurred, they had no separate legal interests which an appeal from their dismissal could finally resolve. The Court of Appeal observed that if the districts' claim of mere agency was correct, any relief ordered against the State would necessarily affect them, and the judgment dismissing them from the action should therefore be reversed. In any event, the court concluded, the premise of identical interests did not bear scrutiny, because while "[t]he local districts, as agents, may have limited powers in interdistrict affairs, . . . the state . . . has plenary powers in all school district affairs. . . ." (Tinsley, supra, 91 Cal.App.3d at pp. 880-881.)

Turning to the merits, Tinsley dismissed the majority reasoning in Milliken insofar as based on the federal rule, long rejected in California (see Crawford v. Board of Education (1976) 17 Cal.3d 280 [130 Cal.Rptr. 724, 551 P.2d 28]; Jackson v. Pasadena City School Dist., supra, 59 Cal.2d 876), that only de jure racial segregation is a constitutional violation. (Tinsley, supra, 91 Cal.App.3d at p. 903.) Tinsley also distinguished the Milliken majority's concern that it "would disrupt and alter" Michigan's entrenched system of local control of schools to impose an interdistrict remedy for Detroit city school segregation without proof that the state or affected suburban districts had engaged in intentional segregative conduct. The Tinsley court noted, among other things, that in California, the State shares responsibility with "the local entities it has created" to provide "equal educational opportunity to the youth of the state" and "has a duty to intervene to prevent unconstitutional discrimination" in its schools. (Id., at pp. 903-904.)¹³

It therefore appears well settled that the California Constitution makes public education uniquely a fundamental concern of the State and prohibits maintenance and operation of the common public school system in a way which denies basic educational equality to the students of particular districts. The State itself bears the ultimate authority and responsibility to ensure that its district-based system of common schools provides basic equality of educational opportunity.

The State claims it need only ensure the six-month minimum term guaranteed by the free school clause (Cal. Const., art. IX, § 5). This contention, however, misconstrues the basis of the trial court's decision. Whatever the requirements of the free school guaranty, the equal protection clause precludes the State from maintaining its common school system in a manner that denies the students of one district an education basically equivalent to that provided elsewhere throughout the State.

The State argues that even if the District's fiscal problems threatened its students' basic educational equality, any State duty to redress the discrimination must be judged under the most lenient standard of equal protection review. The State reasons as follows: Plaintiffs do not claim discrimination on the suspect basis of race. Nor is wealth-based discrimination at issue; as all parties concede, the District received the full benefit of the equalized funding system mandated by our Serrano decisions. At most, plaintiffs assert that a misuse of equalized funds by the District's officials caused a geographical disparity in service. Because residence and geography are not suspect classifications, the State's failure to prevent educational discrimination on those grounds is not subject to strict scrutiny. Rather, State inaction must be accepted as rationally related to the legitimate State policy of local control of schools.

(5) However, both federal and California decisions make clear that heightened scrutiny applies to State-maintained discrimination whenever the ¹³In November 1979, the voters adopted a Senate amendment to the California Constitution's equal protection clause, article I, section 7, subdivision (a). The amendment declares that nothing in the California Constitution imposes upon the State, or any local district or official, any obligations beyond those imposed by the Fourteenth Amendment of the United States Constitution "with respect to the use of pupil school assignment or pupil transportation." The amendment further forbids California courts from imposing any school-assignment or pupil-transportation obligation except when a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment has occurred, and unless a federal court could impose such a remedy for the violation. Whatever effect this amendment may have on Tinsley's result, it does not affect consistent interpretations of the California equal protection guaranty where, as here, assignment or transportation of students is not at issue.

disfavored class is suspect or the disparate treatment has a real and appreciable impact on a fundamental right or interest. (Plyler v. Doe (1982) 457 U.S. 202, 216-217 [72 L.Ed.2d 786, 102 S.Ct. 2382]; Shapiro v. Thompson (1969) 394 U.S. 618, 634 [22 L.Ed.2d 600, 614-615, 89 S.Ct. 1322]; Darces v. Woods (1984) 35 Cal.3d 871, 885, 888 [201 Cal.Rptr. 807, 679 P.2d 458]; Fair Political Practices Com. v. Superior Court (1979) 25 Cal.3d 33, 47 [157 Cal.Rptr. 855, 599 P.2d 46]; Serrano II, supra, 18 Cal.3d 728, 761, 767-768; Weber v. City Council (1973) 9 Cal.3d 950, 959 [109 Cal.Rptr. 553, 513 P.2d 601]; Serrano I, supra, 5 Cal.3d 584, 597; Westbrook v. Mihaly (1970) 2 Cal.3d 765, 784-785 [87 Cal.Rptr. 839, 471 P.2d 487].) As we have seen, education is such a fundamental interest for purposes of equal protection analysis under the California Constitution.

(3c) The State suggests there was no showing that the impact of the threatened closure on District students' fundamental right to basic educational equality was real and appreciable. Of course, the Constitution does not prohibit all disparities in educational quality or service. Despite extensive State regulation and standardization (see discussion, post), the experience offered by our vast and diverse public school system undoubtedly differs to a considerable degree among districts, schools, and individual students. These distinctions arise from inevitable variances in local programs, philosophies, and conditions. "[A] requirement that [the State] provide [strictly] 'equal' educational opportunities would thus seem to present an entirely unworkable standard requiring impossible measurements and comparisons. . . ." (Hendrick Hudson Dist. Bd. of Ed. v. Rowley (1982) 458 U.S. 176, 198 [73 L.Ed.2d 690, 707, 102 S.Ct. 3034].) Moreover, principles of equal protection have never required the State to remedy all ills or eliminate all variances in service.

Accordingly, the California Constitution does not guarantee uniformity of term length for its own sake. While the current statutory system for allocating State educational funds strongly encourages a term of at least 175 days (see fn. 14, post, at p. 687), that system is not constitutionally based and is subject to change. In an uncertain future, local districts, faced with mounting fiscal pressures, may be forced to seek creative ways to gain maximum educational benefit from limited resources. In such circumstances, a planned reduction of overall term length might be compensated by other means, such as extended daily hours, more intensive lesson plans, summer sessions, volunteer programs, and the like. An individual district's efforts in this regard are entitled to considerable deference.

Even unplanned truncation of the intended school term will not necessarily constitute a denial of "basic" educational equality. A finding of constitutional disparity depends on the individual facts. Unless the actual quality of the district's program, viewed as a whole, falls fundamentally below prevailing statewide standards, no constitutional violation occurs.

Here, however, plaintiffs' preliminary showing suggested that closure of the District's schools on May 1, 1991, would cause an extreme and unprecedented disparity in educational service and progress. District students faced the sudden loss of the final six weeks, or almost one-fifth, of the standard school term originally intended by the District and provided everywhere else in California.¹⁴ The record indicates that the decision to close early was a desperate, unplanned response to the District's impending insolvency and the impasse in negotiations for further emergency State aid.¹⁵ Several District teachers declared that they were operating on standard-term lesson schedules made at the beginning of the school year. These declarants outlined in detail how the proposed early closure would prevent them from completing instruction and grading essential for academic promotion, high school graduation, and college entrance.¹⁶ Faced with evidence of such extensive educational disruption, the trial court did not abuse its discretion

¹⁴The trial court record contains no evidence of the prevailing term length in California, but the parties assumed below that a minimum term of 175 days prevails, and no dispute has arisen on the issue here. The statutes provide that an established local district may not receive any part of its annual apportionment from the State School Fund if it failed to remain in session at least 175 days during the most recent fiscal year, unless specified circumstances excusing the failure are established to the satisfaction of the SPI. (§§ 41420, subd. (a), 41422.) In an appendix to his brief, the SPI provides copies of local district certifications, submitted to the SPI as a condition of funding under section 41420, which indicate that virtually every established school district in California operated for at least 175 days during the 1990-1991 school year. The SPI asks us to take judicial notice of this information. Having received no objection, we do so. (Evid. Code, §§ 452, subds. (c), (h), 455, 459.)

¹⁶For example, John Enos, a high school government/economics teacher, stated that early termination of his required senior government class would eliminate intended lessons covering the State's executive and judicial branches, and county and local government. Geoffrey Cantrell, a high school mathematics teacher, stated that if the District closed early, Algebra I students would miss essential instruction in quadratic equations; Algebra II students would miss essential instruction in trigonometry; and geometry students would miss lessons in coordinate systems, logical proof, and trigonometric ratios. Craig Brammer, another high school mathematics teacher who also teaches a preparatory course for the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT), opined that loss of six weeks' instruction would severely impair his students' chances on the mathematics portion of the SAT. Betty Jean Crenshaw, a teacher of first-year languages, declared that early closure would prevent students from learning vocabulary and by concluding that the proposed closure would have a real and appreciable impact on the affected students' fundamental California right to basic educational equality.

The State asserts that its financial obligation to equal education is limited to the equalized system of interdistrict funding required by our Serrano decisions. Once revenues are fairly apportioned at the beginning of each school year, the State insists, it cannot be constitutionally liable for how local officials manage the funds.

Nothing in the Serrano cases themselves, or in other California decisions, supports the State's argument. On the contrary, the cases suggest that the State's responsibility for basic equality in its system of common schools extends beyond the detached role of fair funder or fair legislator. In extreme circumstances at least, the State "has a duty to intervene to prevent unconstitutional discrimination" at the local level. (Tinsley, supra, 91 Cal.App.3d at p. 904.)

The State's most vigorous contention is that its nonintervention should have been upheld even under the strict scrutiny standard of equal protection analysis. Allowing the District's students to absorb the consequences of District mismanagement, the State urges, was necessary to preserve the State's compelling educational policy of local autonomy and accountability. However, the State fails to demonstrate a policy of local control so compelling as to justify State tolerance of the extreme local educational deprivation at issue here.

In the first place, the local-district system of school administration, though recognized by the Constitution and deeply rooted in tradition, is not a constitutional mandate, but a legislative choice. (See Cal. Const., art. IX, §§ 6½, 14.) The Constitution has always vested "plenary" power over education not in the districts, but in the State, through its Legislature, which may create, dissolve, combine, modify, and regulate local districts at pleasure. (See Tinsley, supra, 91 Cal.App.3d at p. 904.) The legislative decision grammar necessary for advancement to second-year courses. Amy Shinsako, a first grade teacher, stated that early closure would prevent instruction in phonics, reading comprehension, creative writing, handwriting skills, two-digit addition and subtraction, and addition with three addends, all necessary for advancement to the second grade. Several declarants noted that failure to complete the term would prevent the scheduling of final examinations and other term-end projects crucial to the assignment of final grades. Other declarants detailed the difficulties District students would face if forced to transfer to other districts to complete the year's studies. They also noted that unless graduating seniors completed required courses and received final grades, the District might not be able to award high school diplomas, any diplomas awarded would be "stigmatized," and the ability of departing seniors to qualify for college admission might be seriously compromised.

to emphasize local administration does not end the State's constitutional responsibility for basic equality in the operation of its common school system. Nor does disagreement with the fiscal practices of a local district outweigh the rights of its blameless students to basic educational equality.

Moreover, though the Constitution and statutes encourage maximum local program and spending authority consistent with State law (Cal. Const., art. IX, § 14; Ed. Code, §§ 14000, 35160, 35160.1), the degree of supervision voluntarily retained by the State over the common school system is high indeed. The volume and scope of State regulation indicate the pervasive role the State itself has chosen to assume in order to ensure a fair, high quality public education for all California students.

School finance aside, the statutes address at length such matters as county and district organization, elections, and governance (§§ 4000-5450, 35000-35780); educational programs, instructional materials, and proficiency testing (§§ 51000-62008); sex discrimination and affirmative action (§§ 40-41, 200-263, 44100-44105); admission standards (§§ 48000-48053); compulsory attendance (§§ 48200-48416); school facilities (§§ 39000-40048); rights and responsibilities of students and parents (§§ 48900-49079); holidays (§§ 37220-37223); school health, safety, and nutrition (§§ 32000-32254, 49300-49570); teacher credentialing and certification (§§ 44200-44481); rights and duties of public school employees (§§ 44000-44104, 44800-45460; see also Gov. Code §§ 3540-3549.3 [organizational and bargaining rights]); and the pension system for public school teachers (§§ 22000-24924). The statutory scheme has spawned further voluminous regulations administered by the State's Department of Education and the SPI. (Cal. Code Regs., tit. 5, §§ 1-23005.) This long-established level of State involvement in the public education system undermines any claim that local control is a paramount and compelling State policy for all purposes.

Nor is there any indication that the State has had a compelling policy of absolute budgetary freedom and responsibility for local districts. On the contrary, during the years in which the District's deficit developed, districts were required to adopt budgets meeting State standards, and to submit them for oversight and approval by county and State authorities. (§§ 33127, former §§ 42120-42129.) Failure to adopt a conforming budget precluded State or county funding of the district (former § 42128), and a district was required to operate under its most recent approved budget (former § 42127.4).

The State argues that by saddling the District with long-term debt to cover short-term operations, the trial court's orders undermine the District's future financial health and compromise its ability to provide basic educational equivalency in years to come. The State also urges that other districts will feel free to overspend if encouraged to believe in the availability of State relief.

These are indeed troubling concerns, but we cannot accept the implication that the State deems them compelling. In fact, the State itself has endorsed a policy of emergency conditional loan assistance to districts in financial difficulty.

Under statutes in effect since 1977, distressed districts may, through the SPI, seek specific legislative apportionments for emergency loans. (§§ 41310, 41310.5, 41320 et seq.) As a condition of such aid, a district must prepare a financial recovery plan and obtain approval of the plan from the county superintendent and the SPI. (§ 41320.) The district must also accept a temporary SPI-appointed trustee with veto power over financially significant actions of the local governing board. (§ 41320.1.)

The District itself had received a $9,525,000 conditional State loan under this program in spring 1990 (Stats. 1990, ch. 171, § 3), and its operations were already being monitored by a State trustee at the time closure of District schools was threatened in April 1991. The 1989 Legislature had also appropriated $10 million for a similar emergency loan-with-trustee to the OUSD. (Stats. 1989, ch. 1438, §§ 1-11.) Under these circumstances, the State cannot claim it follows a compelling policy of local control by declining to intervene when financial adversity threatens a district's operations.

Shortly before this lawsuit began, the District faced the prospect of further legislative intervention in its crisis. Assembly Bill No. 128, 1991-1992 Regular Session (A.B. 128), as introduced in December 1990 and thereafter amended, would have appropriated an additional $29 million for emergency loans to the District. Acceptance of the proposed loan would have subjected the District to unprecedented restrictions on self-government. These included a temporary takeover of all District affairs by an SPI-appointed administrator pending approval and implementation of a plan for financial recovery and loan repayment. The administrator would have had broad power, among others, to unilaterally determine wages and benefits for all District employees who, as of April 29, 1991, were not covered by ratified collective bargaining agreements meeting the requirements of an approved recovery plan. (A.B. 128, Sen. Amend. of Jan. 18, 1991, §§ 2, 5.)

A.B. 128 failed passage, but that fact does not suggest a compelling policy against emergency State financial assistance to a local district. On the contrary, the State has forged into the realm of emergency assistance and control, using the "specific appropriation" requirement (§ 41320) to decide on a case-by-case basis whether, and on what terms, it will intervene.

The State claims that emergency assistance to mismanaged districts contravenes the compelling principle of equalized funding established in our Serrano decisions. As we have seen, however, nothing in the Serrano cases, which addressed wealth-based disparities in district revenues, prohibits emergency State assistance to a particular district which is experiencing financial difficulties despite its receipt of equalized funding.¹⁷

Finally, nothing in our analysis is intended to immunize local school officials from accountability for mismanagement, or to suggest that they may indulge in fiscal irresponsibility without penalty. The State is constitutionally free to legislate against any recurrence of the Richmond crisis. It may further tighten budgetary oversight, impose prudent, nondiscriminatory conditions on emergency State aid, and authorize intervention by State education officials to stabilize the management of local districts whose imprudent policies have threatened their fiscal integrity. To the extent such conditions compromise local autonomy and mortgage a district's future, they are not calculated to persuade local officials or their constituents that mismanagement and profligacy will be rewarded.

Indeed, in response to this case, the Legislature and the Governor have already agreed to tighter county and State control of local district budgets and spending.¹⁸ Under certain circumstances, this new legislation requires the SPI's complete takeover of an insolvent district as a precondition of an

¹⁷The Serrano decisions themselves, as well as the subsequent adoption of Proposition 13, have exacerbated the need for occasional emergency State intervention by restricting one aspect of local control—the power of local districts to tax themselves out of financial crises. Our Serrano opinions condemned the former dependence of school finance on local ad valorem property taxes, because, as a practical matter, however willing a local district might be to increase taxes for education, "districts with small [real property] tax bases simply cannot levy taxes at a rate sufficient to produce the revenue that more affluent districts reap with minimal tax efforts. . . ." (Serrano I, supra, 5 Cal.3d 584, 598.) In obedience to Serrano principles, the current system of public school finance largely eliminates the ability of local districts, rich or poor, to increase local ad valorem property taxes to fund current operations at a level exceeding their State-equalized revenue per average daily attendance. (§ 42238 et seq.) Moreover, Proposition 13 places a general ceiling on the ad valorem property taxes which may be levied on behalf of local governments and school districts. (Cal. Const., art. XIII A, § 1.)

¹⁸Legislation adopted in 1991 provides, among other things, that if a local district's proposed budget fails to win final county and State approval, the county superintendent of schools shall adopt a governing budget for the district which permits the district to meet current and "multiyear" commitments. The county superintendent may rescind any district action or payment which is inconsistent with the county superintendent's budget, except those emergency State appropriation.¹⁹ Thus, the State has already made vast inroads on the principle that local control is paramount to State intervention in an insolvent district's affairs. The State's plenary power over education includes ample means to discourage future mismanagement in the day-to-day operations of local districts.

In sum, the California Constitution guarantees "basic" equality in public education, regardless of district residence. Because education is a fundamental interest in California, denials of basic educational equality on the basis of district residence are subject to strict scrutiny. The State is the entity with ultimate responsibility for equal operation of the common school system. Accordingly, the State is obliged to intervene when a local district's fiscal problems would otherwise deny its students basic educational equality, unless the State can demonstrate a compelling reason for failing to do so.

The preliminary facts before the trial court support the inference that the District's impending failure to complete the final six weeks of its scheduled school term would cause educational disruption sufficient to deprive District students of basic educational equality. The State has identified no compelling interest which negated its duty to intervene. We therefore find no abuse of discretion in the trial court's conclusion that plaintiffs' constitutional claims had potential merit.²⁰

3. Interim harm.

The trial court also expressly concluded that plaintiffs, District students and their parents, would suffer "substantial and irreparable harm" if a preliminary injunction were denied. This harm, the court further found, in performance of a previously effective collective bargaining agreement. (§ 42127.3, subd. (b)(1), as amended by Stats. 1991, ch. 1213, § 18.) The county superintendent must also monitor all local budgets continuously to ensure that each district can meet its financial obligations for the current and ensuing fiscal years. A county superintendent's determination that a district will be unable to meet its obligations triggers a process which may culminate in forced revisions to the district's budget and rescission of actions, other than collective bargaining obligations, which are inconsistent with the revisions. (§ 42127.6, added by Stats. 1991, ch. 1213, § 20.)

¹⁹New sections 41325 through 41327 provide that when a local district accepts an emergency appropriation more than twice the size of its State-recommended reserve, the SPI must take control of the district for at least two fiscal years, assume all duties and powers of the local governing board, fire district officials who took no action to avert insolvency, impose a recovery plan including a ten-year repayment schedule, and remain in control until satisfied that local compliance with recovery requirements is probable.

²⁰Our conclusion that the trial court's finding of probable merit is supported by the equal protection clauses of the California Constitution makes it unnecessary to address claims that a State duty of intervention may also have arisen under the "free school" clause or the Fourteenth Amendment.

would be "greater . . . than defendants will suffer if the injunction is granted."

These determinations were based upon the uncontradicted declarations of District teachers, local and regional public school officials, and academic specialists in the field of public education. Besides detailing the severe and immediate academic disruption which would arise from the pending closure (see discussion, ante, fn. 16, at p. 687), these declarations set forth at length the "ripple" effect on District parents and students. For example, the declarations recounted, working parents, including the high percentage of needy families in the District, would be faced with expensive child care for the lost school hours; difficult efforts would be required to obtain other placement of the students for the remainder of the year; and special-need students would lose carefully nurtured progress.

The State submitted no evidence that it would suffer comparable or greater harm by offering emergency loan assistance necessary to ensure completion of the District's academic program for 1990-1991. Instead, the State simply argued that court-ordered State aid would damage the State's public school policies of local control and accountability.

(6) The State nonetheless claims plaintiffs' "interim harm" showing was inadequate as a matter of law. In the State's view, plaintiffs' declarations failed to establish that the early closure was unforeseeable, or to explain persuasively why any adverse effects on student progress could not be ameliorated.

We find the trial court's interim-harm findings amply supported. As previously noted, plaintiffs' preliminary showing suggested that the District's inability to complete its school year arose from its ever-worsening fiscal condition and from the deterioration of its negotiations for emergency aid. The declarations of District teachers uniformly indicated that their lesson plans did not provide for the contingency of early closure. Other declarations detailed the difficulties of alternate arrangements to maintain the educational progress of over 31,000 suddenly displaced District students, who included high school seniors poised for graduation. The court could reasonably infer that orderly planning to minimize the resulting educational disruption had not taken place and was not realistically possible.

In any event, the court was not obliged to deny a preliminary injunction simply because plaintiffs failed to demonstrate that "irreparable" harm to students was unavoidable by other means. The preliminary record properly convinced the court both that plaintiffs had a reasonable probability of success on the merits, and that they would suffer more harm in the meantime if an injunction were denied than the State would suffer if it were granted. This “mix” of the “interrelated” relevant factors fully justified the court’s decision to grant the injunction. (See Common Cause v. Board of Supervisors, supra, 49 Cal.3d at pp. 441-442; King v. Meese, supra, 43 Cal.3d at p. 1227.) No error appears.

4. Scope of remedial order.

In orders dated April 29, 1991, and May 2, 1991, the trial court directed the State, the SPI, and the Controller to ensure “by whatever means they deem appropriate” that District students would receive their educational rights; both orders made clear that “[h]ow these defendants accomplish this is up to the discretion of defendants. . . .” When no other State official proposed a solution, the SPI and the Controller, on May 2, 1991, offered a conditional loan plan for approval by the court.

After a hearing on that day, the court found that $19 million in aid funds proposed by the SPI and the Controller were presently available, and the court authorized the Controller to apportion such funds as an emergency loan to the District. The court further determined that, given the State’s obligation to provide an equal education, the SPI’s statutory authority to “[s]uperintend the schools of this state” (§ 33112, subd. (a)), and the “unique” emergency circumstances, “the [SPI] . . . has authority to relieve the [Board] of its legal duties and powers, appoint a trustee, develop a recovery plan and, subject to the approval of the Controller, [develop] a repayment plan on the [D]istrict’s behalf as necessary to ensure the operation of the schools through June 14, 1991, the financial recovery of the [D]istrict, and the protection of State funds loaned to the [D]istrict.”

(7a) The State and several amici curiae contend that even if the trial court could require State intervention to prevent violation of the District students’ constitutional rights, there was no legal or equitable basis for the court’s order authorizing the SPI to displace the Board, operate the District through his own administrator, and impose a plan for the District’s permanent financial recovery. Under the circumstances presented by this case, however, we conclude that this portion of the court’s order did not exceed its powers.

We agree that the statutes themselves provided no direct authority for the approach taken by the trial court. In general, though they act as regulated State agents, local governing boards are vested by statute with immediate jurisdiction over day-to-day district affairs. (§§ 14000, 35000 et seq.) The

SPI has important statutory responsibilities for allocating school funds (§§ 33118, 14000 et seq.), monitoring local budgets (§§ 42120 et seq., 41450), and administering the conditions of emergency loans appropriated by the Legislature (§§ 41310, 41320 et seq.; see also § 41325 et seq.), but no statute grants him emergency powers to operate a local district under other circumstances.²¹

The court relied in part on section 33112, subdivision (a), which provides that the SPI shall “[s]uperintend the schools of this state.” But no case has interpreted this statute to vest the SPI with nonexpress powers, and an older decision construed similar language narrowly against a county superintendent. (McKenzie v. Board of Education (1905) 1 Cal.App. 406, 409 [82 P. 392].) Indeed, counsel for the SPI conceded in the trial court that the SPI had no statutory authority to take over the District’s government.

The trial court also believed its takeover order was within its inherent equitable power to enforce the State’s constitutional obligations in light of the “unique emergency financial conditions” presented by the case. In the court’s view, ratification of all loan conditions proposed by the SPI was necessary to ensure the District’s continued operation through June 14, 1991, promote its permanent financial recovery, and protect the loan itself. We agree.

(8) In general, courts have equitable authority to enforce their constitutional judgments. (E.g., Crawford v. Board of Education, supra, 17 Cal.3d 280, 308.) Of course, principles of comity and separation of powers place significant restraints on courts’ authority to order or ratify acts normally committed to the discretion of other branches or officials. (Common Cause v. Board of Supervisors, supra, 49 Cal.3d 432, 445-446; Mandel v. Myers (1981) 29 Cal.3d 531, 540 [174 Cal.Rptr. 841, 629 P.2d 935]; Serrano II, supra, 18 Cal.3d 728, 751; Crawford v. Board of Education, supra, 17 Cal.3d at pp. 305-306; cf. Missouri v. Jenkins (1990) 495 U.S. 33, 50-58 [109 L.Ed.2d 31, 53-59, 110 S.Ct. 1651].) In particular, the separation of powers doctrine (Cal. Const., art. III, § 3) obliges the judiciary to respect the separate constitutional roles of the Executive and the Legislature.

Moreover, a judicial remedy must be tailored to the harm at issue. (E.g., Sheet Metal Workers v. EEOC (1986) 478 U.S. 421, 476 [92 L.Ed.2d 344, 388, 106 S.Ct. 3019]; Dayton Board of Education v. Brinkman (1977) 433

²¹A.B. 128 would have granted the SPI powers of this magnitude over the District, but the bill failed passage. (See discussion, ante, at p. 690.) 1991 statutory amendments call for the SPI’s takeover of districts that accept large emergency insolvency appropriations (§ 41325 et seq.; see discussion, ante, fn. 18 at p. 691), but even after 1991, the SPI has no such statutory authority independent of a specific insolvency appropriation by the Legislature.

U.S. 406, 420 [53 L.Ed.2d 851, 863-864, 97 S.Ct. 2766].) A court should always strive for the least disruptive remedy adequate to its legitimate task.

(7b) The trial court's remedial order in this case fell within proper boundaries. Having correctly held the State constitutionally responsible for the students' rights, the court could not deny the State and its officials effective means of fulfilling its obligation. Under the circumstances, the court was warranted in authorizing temporary transfer to the SPI of the Board's statutory powers over District affairs.

The emergency the court confronted on May 2, 1991, demanded a prompt State-assisted solution to prevent immediate closure of the District's schools. The State was justified in satisfying its constitutional duty of aid by extending a loan that would impose the ultimate consequences of the District's self-created predicament upon the District, rather than upon the State, its taxpayers, and the students of other districts. The State was also entitled to conditions on the loan that would ensure its appropriate use for the intended constitutional purpose, and would minimize the risk of the District's default in repayment.

The District's ability to administer the new loan under its existing systems and managers was uniquely suspect. As a matter of public record, the District's worsening financial situation had recently led the Legislature to provide a loan in excess of $9 million. A limited-powers State trustee appointed to monitor the District's fiscal affairs in connection with that loan had not been able to stem a growing District deficit estimated by one declarant, a member of the Board, to exceed $23 million for the 1990-1991 school year alone. In response to these difficulties, the Board had caused the District to seek bankruptcy protection against its existing creditors.

As counsel for the SPI explained on April 29, 1991, the District's unprecedented financial collapse indicated systemic management problems. Hence, counsel reported, the SPI considered it foolhardy to extend further substantial State credit to the District unless its management was placed in competent hands, its administrative practices were reformed and restructured from the outside, and a long-term plan for its financial recovery was imposed.²² On behalf of the State, the Attorney General contested the legality of vesting such extraordinary powers in the SPI, but no party disputed the logic of the SPI's position.

²²The following colloquy occurred between the court and counsel for the SPI: "[¶] MR. HERSHER [SPI's counsel]: . . . [The SPI] does not want to make . . . 20 to 30 million dollars in state funds available to a district that has already demonstrated substantial financial irresponsibility. It's pouring state money into a hole and it's never going to come back out. [¶] THE COURT: Would he want to do that if the State was given the responsibility for running the district as you suggested? [¶] MR. HERSHER: I believe so. I think what Bill Honig sees is that

Nor can we. Given the emergency circumstances, and under the extreme and aggravated conditions disclosed by the evidence, the court below could properly conclude that orderly completion of the District's 1990-1991 school term, and the sound financing essential to achieve that end, required temporary displacement of the sitting Board and the operation of the District by the SPI's designee for the purpose of stabilizing its financial affairs.²³ We conclude that the order approving temporary takeover of the District by the SPI was within the court's inherent equitable power to remedy the constitutional crisis.²⁴

5. Source of loan funds.

In order to obtain the necessary $19 million in emergency loan funds, the trial court authorized the Controller to disburse (1) $9 million of unspent funds from a special contingency appropriation to the Department of Education for the GAIN program, and (2) the unused $10 million appropriated as an emergency loan to the OUSD. (9) The State and amicus curiae Pacific argue that because the Legislature had not earmarked either of these sums the District has to be reorganized. The financial management of the District needs to be completely restructured, and there needs to be a long-term recovery plan [I]t has always been [the SPI's] position that somebody needs to . . . take over the District, come up with a long-term plan in which all the creditors of the District suffer equally or equitably."

²³Amici curiae Diaz and Bezemek ask us to receive additional evidence and make findings about the SPI's record as administrator of the District after May 2, 1991. Among other things, Diaz and Bezemek allege that the SPI's administrator has withdrawn the District's bankruptcy petition, dismantled essential programs, failed to reappoint a citizens' advisory committee, restructured the District's administration, dismissed faculty and counselors, obstructed reorganization of the District's existing debt, imposed an unconscionable interest rate on the court-approved loan, and diverted educational funds to debt repayment. Diaz and Bezemek claim this evidence supports their contention that the SPI's governance of the District presents an inherent conflict between his role as protector of State-loaned funds and his duty to restore the District to financial and educational health.

Appellate courts have limited powers to take evidence and find facts in nonjury civil cases. (Cal. Const., art. VI, § 11; Code Civ. Proc., § 909; Cal. Rules of Court, rule 23(b).) However, the matters Diaz and Bezemek seek to present are beyond the scope of this lawsuit and unnecessary to our analysis. Moreover, Diaz and Bezemek concede the proffered evidence is disputed; appellate courts will not resolve such factual conflicts. (E.g., In re Marriage of Davis (1983) 141 Cal.App.3d 71, 75-76 [190 Cal.Rptr. 104]; see McCracken v. Teets (1953) 41 Cal.2d 648, 653 [262 P.2d 561].) We therefore deny the motion.

²⁴The State argues that even if extraordinary judicial interference in the District's affairs was necessary to guarantee the constitutional rights of District students, the court erred by granting the SPI extralegal "discretion" to act rather than assuming control over the District itself, with the SPI as the court's appointed agent. The State cites no authority for its proposition that the court's remedial options were so narrowly confined. The remedial order of May 2, 1991, makes clear that the authority therein accorded the SPI flows from a direct and critical exercise of the court's equitable power and jurisdiction over the constitutional dispute. The order laudably minimizes direct judicial involvement in matters best left to officials with specific responsibilities and expertise in education, but its effect is no different than if it had expressly made the SPI a court functionary. We find no error.

for purposes "reasonably related" to resolving the District's financial crisis, the court improperly invaded the nonjudicial power of appropriation.

We agree. In a valid exercise of its constitutional powers, the Legislature had directed each of these sums to specific agencies and narrow purposes which did not include the District and its financial emergency. Hence, the Legislature had not made these funds reasonably available for disbursement to the District. By diverting the funds from their earmarked destinations and purposes, the court invaded the Legislature's constitutional authority.

Article III, section 3 of the California Constitution provides that "[t]he powers of state government are legislative, executive, and judicial. Persons charged with the exercise of one power may not exercise either of the others except as permitted by this Constitution." Article XVI, section 7 provides that "[m]oney may be drawn from the Treasury only through an appropriation made by law and upon a Controller's duly drawn warrant." Article IV, sections 10 and 12 set forth the respective powers of the Legislature and Governor over the enactment of appropriations. It has long been clear that these separation-of-powers principles limit judicial authority over appropriations. (Myers v. English (1858) 9 Cal. 341, 349; see Westinghouse Electric Co. v. Chambers (1915) 169 Cal. 131, 135 [145 P. 1025]; California State Employees' Assn. v. Flourney (1973) 32 Cal.App.3d 219, 234 [108 Cal.Rptr. 251]; see also Payne v. Superior Court (1976) 17 Cal.3d 908, 920, fn. 6 [132 Cal.Rptr. 405, 553 P.2d 565].)

In certain narrow circumstances, California courts have concluded that judicial orders for the disbursement of appropriated funds do not invade valid legislative functions. Mandel v. Myers, supra, 29 Cal.3d 531, is the only decision by this court which found judicial power to "commandeer" appropriated funds. The facts and analysis of that case demonstrate the strict limits on the judicial authority it recognized.

The plaintiff in Mandel, a Department of Health Services (DHS) worker, had prevailed in litigation challenging DHS's practice of allowing paid employee leave on Good Friday. The judgment against the State included an award of attorney fees. However, the Legislature removed appropriations for payment from successive claims and budget bills, including the 1978-1979 Budget Act (Act). The Act included the usual appropriation to DHS for "general operating expenses and equipment," which expressly included expenses for "services" and "all other proper purposes." Such "catchall" budget categories for State agencies had traditionally been used to pay agency legal expenses. However, the Act expressly precluded use of any appropriation therein "to achieve any purpose which has been denied by any formal action of the Legislature."

We upheld the trial court's order that the Controller pay the fee award from the general operating budget of DHS. We noted first that the "catchall" appropriation was "reasonably" or "generally" available for payment of legal expenses incurred by DHS, because the broad terms of the appropriation, as well as its historical uses, indicated such a legislative intent. In effect, we concluded that the Legislature had voluntarily made an appropriation for payments of this general kind. (Mandel v. Myers, supra, 29 Cal.3d at pp. 539-545.)

We further explained that, once having made an appropriation generally available, the Legislature may not impose specific restrictions which are unconstitutionally discriminatory, or which constitute an impermissible legislative attempt to readjudicate the merits of a final court judgment. Hence, we reasoned, the Legislature's attempt to avoid payment of the Mandel award in particular must be struck down. The DHS "catchall" appropriation thus remained "available" under its general terms for payment of the judgment. (Mandel v. Myers, supra, 29 Cal.3d at pp. 545-551.)

Subsequent Court of Appeal decisions adhered to these principles of Mandel. In Serrano v. Priest (1982) 131 Cal.App.3d 188 [182 Cal.Rptr. 387], attorneys who had won the school-finance class action sought judicial help after the State rebuffed their informal efforts to collect a court-ordered fee award. After Mandel was decided, the State conceded that the trial court had properly ordered payment from a "catchall" appropriation to the Department of Education, the SPI, and the State Board of Education for "operating expenses and equipment." (Pp. 197-198.) In Committee to Defend Reproductive Rights v. Cory (1982) 132 Cal.App.3d 852 [183 Cal.Rptr. 475], the court concluded, after disregarding an unconstitutional budget act provision against use of Medi-Cal funds for abortions (see Committee to Defend Reproductive Rights v. Myers (1981) 29 Cal.3d 252 [172 Cal.Rptr. 866, 625 P.2d 779, 20 A.L.R.4th 1118]), that abortion funding could be ordered from monies appropriated for other Medi-Cal pregnancy services. (132 Cal.App.3d at pp. 857-858.)

Plaintiffs and the SPI suggest that two more recent Court of Appeal decisions, Long Beach Unified Sch. Dist. v. State of California (1990) 225 Cal.App.3d 155 [275 Cal.Rptr. 449] and Carmel Valley Fire Protection Dist. v. State of California (1987) 190 Cal.App.3d 521 [234 Cal.Rptr. 795], have expanded Mandel's concept of "reasonable [or] general availability." The trial court in the instant case apparently relied on these decisions to conclude that it could divert the GAIN and OUSD appropriations to the District because they were "generally related" to education.

Long Beach and Carmel Valley do make occasional use of the term "generally related" to describe Mandel's principle of reasonable or general

"availability." (See Long Beach, supra, 225 Cal.App.3d at p. 181; Carmel Valley, supra, 190 Cal.App.3d at p. 541.) But nothing in those cases supports the trial court's apparent view that funds appropriated for one specific educational purpose may be judicially diverted to another. So far as the face of the opinions discloses, the stated intent of the target appropriation in each case, or its historical uses, indicated that the court's application of the funds was plausibly within purposes the Legislature might have contemplated.²⁵ No court has suggested that Mandel principles permit court-ordered diversion of an appropriation away from a clear, narrow, and valid purpose specified by the Legislature. We affirm that the words "generally related," as used in Long Beach and Carmel Valley, do not countenance such judicial incursions into the legislative power over appropriations.²⁶

The instant trial court misapplied Mandel when it authorized the diversion of appropriated funds from the specific purposes and programs for which the Legislature had validly earmarked them. Nine million dollars was taken from an appropriation in the 1989-1990 Budget Act for the GAIN program. (Stats. 1989, ch. 93, § 22.00.) GAIN's purpose is to provide employment, adult

²⁵In Carmel Valley, the Court of Appeal struck down budgetary language which had been inserted to foreclose the constitutionally required reimbursement of local agencies for expenses incurred in upgrading firefighter protective clothing as mandated by the State. (See Cal. Const., art. XIII B, § 6.) After disregarding these unconstitutional restrictions, the Court of Appeal quite logically determined that funds appropriated to the Department of Industrial Relations for Program 40, the Prevention of Industrial Injuries and Deaths of California Workers, were available for this expense. (Carmel Valley, supra, 190 Cal.App.3d at p. 541.) In Long Beach, a local school district sought reimbursement for the State-mandated expenses of developing desegregation programs. After the Legislature deleted an appropriation for this purpose from the 1985-1986 budget bill, the district obtained a trial court order for reimbursement from specified line-item accounts related to education, and from the general operating budget of the Department of Education, which had mandated the programs. The Court of Appeal affirmed on grounds that the record substantially supported the trial court's order. As the Court of Appeal explained, these and similar accounts had historically been used to support programs such as the one for which reimbursement was sought, and were logical sources of funding for this specific purpose. (Long Beach, supra, 225 Cal.App.3d at pp. 181-182; see also p. 185.)

²⁶We are aware that in Missouri v. Jenkins, supra, 495 U.S. 33, the United States Supreme Court upheld the power of federal courts to order local tax levies to enforce judicial remedies for unconstitutional school segregation. However, even if the federal Constitution permits federal courts to impose far-reaching remedies for State government violations of federal constitutional rights, it does not follow that California courts are exempt from the constraints imposed by the California Constitution upon their power to invade the functions of a coequal branch of State government.

Indeed, the California Constitution's separation of powers clause precludes any branch from usurping or improperly interfering with the essential operations of either of the other two branches. (See Cal. Const., art. IV, § 1 [legislative power]; Cal. Const., art. V, § 1 [executive power]; Cal. Const., art. VI, § 1 [judicial power].) Nothing in this opinion should be interpreted as sanctioning or immunizing such unconstitutional interference, or as addressing the question of the appropriate remedies that may be invoked in the event one branch improperly impinges on the essential operations of a coequal branch.

education, and job training to recipients of public assistance. (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 11320 et seq.) Local school districts can receive GAIN funds for adult education and training classes (id., §§ 11320.8, 11322, 11323), and the Legislature intended that the 1989-1990 GAIN appropriation might include such funding subject to strict conditions (see Stats. 1989, ch. 93, § 22.00, subd. (b)). However, this appropriation was expressly designated for that program alone and was not intended to fund the needs of non-GAIN students. Nothing in the trial court's order restricted use of the GAIN-derived funds to uses contemplated by the appropriation.

Similar considerations govern the remaining $10 million of the emergency loan, which was derived from the 1989 Legislature's special appropriation for the OUSD. This appropriation, by its express terms, was "for the purpose of an emergency loan to [that] [d]istrict in compliance with Article 2 (commencing with Section 41320) of Chapter 3 of Part 24 of the Education Code." (Stats. 1989, ch. 1438, § 1, italics added.)

Section 41310 expresses the intent that emergency loans to distressed districts under section 41320 et seq. not occur "unless funds have been specifically appropriated therefor by the Legislature." (Italics added.) The statutory scheme imposes detailed conditions on emergency loans granted under its auspices (§§ 41320.1-41323), and the Legislature further refined the conditions on the OUSD appropriation to address the particular circumstances of that case (Stats. 1989, ch. 1438, §§ 2-9).

When it makes an appropriation to a specific district, under specific conditions addressed to the problems of that district, the Legislature clearly intends and contemplates that the appropriation will only be used for that purpose, and under those conditions. Hence, the appropriation is not reasonably available for court-ordered diversion to another district under different conditions.

The trial court, understandably anxious to resolve the crisis, concluded that it could fund its order from any monies previously appropriated "for a purpose that is reasonably related to educational purposes." The court found that the GAIN and OUSD appropriations were "reasonably related to the State's obligation to keep the Richmond schools open through June 14, 1991"

As we have seen, however, the test of reasonable availability under Mandel does not extend to uses clearly outside the particular purpose for which an appropriation was reserved. The GAIN and OUSD appropriations were earmarked for purposes entirely distinct from the subject matter of this lawsuit.²⁷ They were not reasonably available for court diversion to finance the remainder of the District's school term.

In her concurring and dissenting opinion, Justice Kennard claims that by flatly disclaiming judicial power to divert appropriations from the purposes specified by the Legislature, we adopt a "formalistic" and outmoded view of the separation of powers. Citing language from two United States Supreme Court decisions (Mistretta v. United States (1989) 488 U.S. 361 [102 L.Ed.2d 714, 109 S.Ct. 647]; Nixon v. Administrator of General Services (1977) 433 U.S. 425 [53 L.Ed.2d 867, 97 S.Ct. 2777]), she proposes that interbranch conflicts of this kind be resolved under a "pragmatic" and "flexible" case-by-case balancing test, in which the derogation of one branch's powers by another may be warranted to promote overriding objectives within the "constitutional authority" of the latter. Because both the OUSD and GAIN appropriations were "generally related" to elementary and secondary education, she reasons, diversion of these funds to the District was not a "great" or "extreme" intrusion upon the appropriations power, and the court's action was justified by its constitutional responsibility to District students.

We cannot accept these contentions. Our adherence to Mandel can hardly be deemed rigid or formalistic; our decision in that case strained to find a practical, sensitive, and principled balance between legislative and judicial power over appropriations. In effect, Justice Kennard urges abandonment of Mandel's careful analysis in favor of a rule giving the judiciary unchecked power to override the valid budgetary acts of coequal branches.

However, nothing in the California or federal cases on which Justice Kennard relies even hints that a court may nullify a specific and valid exercise by the Legislature and the Executive of fundamental budgetary powers explicitly entrusted to those branches, simply for the purpose of ²⁷No party or amicus curiae suggests that the purposes specified by the Legislature for these two appropriations were "improper or invalid . . . restriction[s]" on their use which may be disregarded by the courts. (Mandel v. Myers, supra, 29 Cal.3d at p. 542.) This is not a case where the Legislature, in defiance of the Constitution or the judicial branch, had prohibited use of appropriations for particular purposes to which they would otherwise logically extend.

We recognize that, at the May 2 hearing, counsel for the OUSD indicated his client had "no objection" to diversion of its loan appropriation for the court's purposes. The OUSD's position may not have been entirely altruistic; on April 29, counsel had committed the OUSD to accepting an influx of displaced District students but expressed concern about the disruption such a solution would cause. Even if the OUSD believed that diversion of its appropriation was in its own best interests, however, the OUSD could not unilaterally alter the terms and conditions the Legislature had imposed on the appropriation. Moreover, the OUSD's waiver was conditional; counsel made clear that the OUSD reserved its right to demand refunding of the OUSD appropriation "if and when [the OUSD] chooses to exercise its rights to request a loan from the state of [$]10 million at any time up until June 30, 1993."

satisfying a judgment or order that is unrelated to the appropriation. (Compare, e.g., Mistretta v. United States, supra, 488 U.S. 361, 380-384 [102 L.Ed.2d 714, 735-738] [Congress's creation of United States Sentencing Commission, a judicial-branch agency charged with establishing mandatory federal sentencing guidelines, did not usurp authority of individual judicial officers or grant forbidden legislative power to judicial branch]; Nixon v. Administrator of General Services, supra, 433 U.S. 425, 441-446 [53 L.Ed.2d 867, 889-893] [legislation vesting Administrator of General Services with limited control over presidential papers of resigned chief executive did not undermine authority of executive branch]; Wilson v. Eu (1991) 54 Cal.3d 471, 473 [286 Cal.Rptr. 280, 816 P.2d 1306] [Legislature's failure to reapportion justifies judicial adoption of reapportionment plan]; Davis v. Municipal Court (1988) 46 Cal.3d 64, 72-87 [249 Cal.Rptr. 300, 757 P.2d 11] [District attorney's statutory power to disapprove local misdemeanor-diversion program was not improper delegation of legislative authority; prosecutor's absolute discretion to prevent diversion by charging "wobbler" as felony did not constitute forbidden judicial power]; Younger v. Superior Court (1978) 21 Cal.3d 102, 115-118 [145 Cal.Rptr. 674, 577 P.2d 1014] [statute requiring Department of Justice to destroy individual's marijuana arrest and conviction records upon application after sentence is complete did not create impermissible conflict with executive clemency powers].)

The balance proposed by Justice Kennard in this case would elevate the judiciary above its coequal brethren, upset the delicate system of checks and balances, and stand the separation of powers clause on its head. Applying Mandel's well-settled principles, we remain satisfied that the trial court acted in excess of its authority when it funded the District's loan with appropriations specifically earmarked by the Legislature for other purposes.²⁸

CONCLUSION AND DISPOSITION

The District's financial inability to complete the final six weeks of its 1990-1991 school term threatened to deprive District students of their ²⁸Although the instant record is silent on the point, Justice Kennard worries that there may have been no unearmarked educational appropriations available to enforce this trial court's order. She suggests further that such funds may also not be available under current laws and budgetary constraints to permit judicial enforcement of students' constitutional rights in similar future cases. These concerns have no practical effect in the instant lawsuit, because the State does not seek rescission of the District's loan, and the educational rights of the District's students are secure. In any event, we cannot overlook the fact that the urgency of the District's crisis denied the Legislature any opportunity to respond to the trial court's injunctive order. Once alerted by the trial court's constitutional ruling, however, the Legislature and the Governor have taken significant steps to prevent or remedy recurrences of the District's crisis. We may not assume they will fail or refuse to respond as necessary to our final determination of the State's constitutional responsibilities.

California constitutional right to basic educational equality with other public school students in this State. As the court further concluded, discrimination of this nature against education, a fundamental interest, could only be justified as necessary to serve a compelling interest. The State itself, as the entity with plenary constitutional responsibility for operation of the common school system, had a duty to protect District students against loss of their right to basic educational equality. Local control of public schools was not a compelling interest which would justify the State's failure to intervene.

The trial court thus properly ordered the State and its officials to protect the students' rights. The court also acted within its remedial powers by authorizing the SPI to assume control of the District's affairs, relieve the Board of its duties, and supervise the District's financial recovery. However, the court invaded the exclusive legislative power of appropriation by approving the diversion of appropriations for GAIN and the OUSD to an emergency loan for the District.

Accordingly, we reverse the trial court's remedial order of May 2, 1991, insofar as it approves funding of an emergency loan to the District from appropriations for the Oakland Unified School District and the Greater Avenues for Independence program. In all other respects, the court's orders of April 29 and May 2, 1991, are affirmed. The Court of Appeal is directed to remand the cause to the trial court for such further proceedings as may be appropriate under the views expressed in this opinion.

Panelli, J., Arabian, J., and George, J., concurred.

LUCAS, C. J., Concurring and Dissenting.—I concur with the majority's conclusions regarding the constitutional obligations of the State of California (State) to assure educational equality. I would not, however, address the propriety of the sources approved by the trial court to provide an emergency loan.

In my view, we need not consider questions regarding the use of the Oakland Unified School District (OUSD) emergency appropriation or the unused appropriation for the Greater Avenues for Independence (GAIN) program because the issues are moot and their resolution will have no impact on the status quo in this case. As the majority notes, at the May 2, 1991, proceeding, the State continued to object to the trial court's order arising out of the April 29, 1991, hearing. That order required the State, Superintendent of Public Instruction (SPI) and Controller, at their discretion and "by whatever means they deem appropriate," to ensure Richmond students were not deprived of six weeks of education provided to other students within California. In addition to renewing its basic position on the merits of the constitutional arguments, the State also objected to use of the specific funds proposed by the SPI and Controller. It offered no alternative sources of funding and appealed from both orders.

Before us, however, the State does not demand rescission of the court-approved loan or any change in the status of that funding. The funding was granted as a loan and a loan repayment agreement has been worked out by the parties. The State, acknowledging those facts, expressly asserts "We do not argue that the Controller must be compelled immediately to recover the money." In other words, it seeks no relief from the trial court's order granting payment from the challenged sources and compelling repayment of the funds under a prescribed repayment schedule.

Accordingly, as the SPI observes, the matter is moot. The State's response, found in its reply brief, is only that "the trial court in the next case will still be guided by, unless this court disapproves the test, the 'generally related' test set forth in Carmel Valley [Fire Protection Dist. v. State of California] (1987) 190 Cal.App.3d 521, 540-541 (234 Cal.Rptr. 795)] and Long Beach [Unified Sch. Dist. v. State of California] (1990) 225 Cal.App.3d 155, 181-182 (275 Cal.Rptr. 449)]." It does not assert that this issue is capable of evading review because of timing or that a present controversy over the use of these particular funds still exists. Instead, it seeks guidance only for the future. I would decline to render what would essentially be an advisory opinion here. (See People ex rel. Lynch v. Superior Court (1970) 1 Cal.3d 910, 912 [83 Cal.Rptr. 670, 464 P.2d 126] ["The rendering of advisory opinions falls within neither the functions nor the jurisdiction of this court"].)

MOSK, J., Concurring and Dissenting.—I am in general agreement with the views expressed in Justice Kennard's concurring and dissenting opinion.

However, I cannot embrace the ill-advised concession that the trial court's order "did pose a potential for disruption of a function of the legislative branch" although the degree of potential disruption "is not great" and the purported infringement on the legislative function is "not substantial." (Kennard, J., post, conc. and dis. opn. at pp. 710, 711.)

The theory of potential interference with legislative functions to any extent is inconsistent with the ultimate conclusion that the funds used for the emergency loan were "reasonably related" to the educational purposes of the legislation, and, indeed, "the trial court's order furthered, rather than defeated, that valid legislative purpose." As persuasively observed in footnote 2, the "funds were appropriated for purposes reasonably and closely related to the purpose for which the trial court ordered them to be used.” (Kennard, J., post, conc. and dis. opn. at p. 711.)

Under the foregoing circumstances—with which I agree—there cannot be some conceptual interference, even though “not great,” with the functions of the legislative branch.

With that caveat, I join the concurring and dissenting opinion.

KENNARD, J., Concurring and Dissenting.—I agree with the majority that the threatened closure of the schools of the Richmond Unified School District (District) was such an extreme departure from prevailing educational standards as to infringe on the students’ state constitutional rights to basic educational equality, requiring the State of California (State) to intervene to protect those rights.

I do not agree, however, that the trial court violated the separation of powers doctrine by ordering that emergency loan funds be made available from an unused special appropriation to the Department of Education and an unused emergency appropriation to the Oakland Unified School District (OUSD). The majority has, in effect, declared that although the students’ right to education is fundamental, no means may exist by which our judicial system can enforce that right. In my view, the trial court’s order was an appropriate and pragmatic resolution of a difficult case under extreme pressure. Because the Legislature had already appropriated the funds in question for educational purposes reasonably related to the District’s needs, I discern no constitutional violation, and would affirm the trial court’s orders in their entirety.

I

On April 17, 1991, the District, facing a $23 million budgetary shortfall, announced its schools would close on May 1, 1991, rather than as scheduled on June 14, 1991. Parents of students in the District’s schools then filed a class action against the State and the District’s board of education, alleging the closure would deprive children of their fundamental right to education and would violate equal protection guarantees. The trial court granted plaintiffs’ motion for a preliminary injunction, finding that “education is a fundamental right in California [and] unless injunctive relief is granted children in the District will be denied six weeks of instruction that will be provided to every other child in the State.” The trial court ordered the State, the Superintendent of Public Instruction (Superintendent), and the State Controller “to ensure that the students in the District are not deprived of six weeks of public education while others within the state are not so deprived." The trial court added that "how these defendants accomplish this is up to the discretion of the defendants."

Thereafter, the Superintendent and the Controller proposed a plan to keep the schools open. They proposed that $19 million in unspent funds from two educational programs—from the Greater Avenues for Independence (GAIN) program and from an appropriation to the OUSD—be loaned to the District. After an evidentiary hearing, the trial court ordered the State Controller to disburse an emergency loan to the District from these funds. This court denied the State's motion to stay the order pending appeal, but transferred the case here.

F

The majority holds that the trial court's remedial order violated the doctrine of separation of powers. Essentially, the majority reasons that by ordering that the unused funds be loaned to the District, the trial court impermissibly engaged in the appropriation of funds, an area of exclusive legislative concern.

The majority's conclusion originates from a fundamental misunderstanding of the separation of powers doctrine. Implicit in the majority's discussion is the assumption that under our tripartite scheme of government, particular powers can be definitively categorized as belonging to one of the three branches, and that these powers can never be exercised by a branch other than the designated branch. Thus, under the majority's approach, appropriation is exclusively a legislative function, and unless the Legislature has either appropriated funds for a specific purpose, or made a "catchall" appropriation under which a specific use of funds may fall, funds are simply not available for any purpose, no matter what rights are at stake.

This formalistic interpretation of the separation of powers concept is, however, contrary to modern understanding. The opinions of the United States Supreme Court, although not binding on this court in interpreting the separation of powers principles of the California Constitution, supply a persuasive body of case authority. Just as our state Constitution provides for the separation of the powers of government into three branches (Cal. Const., art. III, § 3), so does the federal Constitution segregate the branches of government (U.S. Const., art. I, § 1, art. II, § 1, & art. III, § 1).

The United States Supreme Court has "squarely rejected the argument that the Constitution contemplates a complete division of authority between the three branches.” (Nixon v. Administrator of General Services (1977) 433 U.S. 425, 443 [53 L.Ed.2d 867, 891, 97 S.Ct. 2777].) Rather than reading the federal Constitution as “‘requiring three airtight departments of government,’” the high court has adopted a “pragmatic, flexible approach.” (Id. at pp. 443, 442 [53 L.Ed.2d at pp. 891, 890-891].) This approach, the court has explained, is supported by historical understanding. James Madison, one of the principal architects of the United States Constitution, wrote that the concept of separation of powers “‘d[oes] not mean that these departments ought to have no partial agency in, or no control over the acts of each other,’” but instead that “‘where the whole power of one department is exercised by the same hands which possess the whole power of another department, the fundamental principles of a free constitution are subverted.’” (J. Madison, The Federalist No. 47, pp. 325-326 (J. Cooke ed. 1961) (original italics), quoted in Mistretta v. United States (1989) 488 U.S. 361, 380-381 [102 L.Ed.2d 714, 735-736, 109 S.Ct. 647].) Thus, the basic purpose of the separation of powers is to guard against the concentration of power in the hands of one branch, but it is important to distinguish “partial agency” from those aggrandizements of power that pose genuine threats to the constitutional scheme.

The pragmatic and flexible approach favored by the nation’s highest court is also appropriate because, in a society growing ever more complex, the practical requirements of efficient government action by each of the three branches must be considered. “‘While the Constitution diffuses power the better to secure liberty, it also contemplates that practice will integrate the dispersed powers into a workable government.’” (Mistretta v. United States, supra, 488 U.S. at p. 381 [102 L.Ed.2d at p. 736], quoting Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co. v. Sawyer (1952) 343 U.S. 579, 635 [96 L.Ed. 1153, 1199, 72 S.Ct. 863, 26 A.L.R.2d 1378] (conc. opn. of Jackson, J.)) In contemporary society, concerns about the workability of government are especially weighty.

Thus, the high court has not evolved a rigid classification of governmental powers as belonging exclusively to one branch or another. Instead, the court has stated that “the proper inquiry focuses on the extent to which [the act complained of] prevents [one of the three branches] from accomplishing its constitutionally assigned functions.” (Nixon v. Administrator of General Services, supra, 433 U.S. at p. 443 [53 L.Ed.2d at p. 891]; Mistretta v. United States, supra, 488 U.S. at p. 383 [102 L.Ed.2d at pp. 737-738].) If the “potential for disruption is present,” the court must then “determine whether that impact is justified by an overriding need to promote objectives within the constitutional authority” of the branch whose action is challenged. (Nixon v. Administrator of General Services, supra, 433 U.S. at p. 443 [53

This court has expressed a similar understanding. We have recognized that the purpose of the doctrine of separation of powers "is to prevent one branch of government from exercising the complete power constitutionally vested in another [citation]; it is not intended to prohibit one branch from taking action properly within its sphere that has the incidental effect of duplicating a function or procedure delegated to another branch. [Citation.]" (Younger v. Superior Court (1978) 21 Cal.3d 102, 117 [145 Cal.Rptr. 674, 577 P.2d 1014] [original italics].)

More recently, this court reiterated that the separation of powers doctrine "has not been interpreted as requiring the rigid classification of all the incidental activities of government, with the result that once a technique or method of procedure is associated with a particular branch of the government, it can never be used thereafter by another." . . . "From the beginning, each branch has exercised all three kinds of powers." (Davis v. Municipal Court (1988) 46 Cal.3d 64, 76 [249 Cal.Rptr. 300, 757 P.2d 11] [citations and italics omitted].)

III

A line of cases from California courts has established the principle that a court does not violate the separation of powers doctrine when it orders appropriate expenditures from already existing funds, if such funds are reasonably available for the expenditures in question. (Mandel v. Myers (1981) 29 Cal.3d 531, 540 [174 Cal.Rptr. 841, 629 P.2d 935]; Long Beach Unified Sch. Dist. v. State of California (1990) 225 Cal.App.3d 155, 180-181 [275 Cal.Rptr. 449]; Carmel Valley Fire Protection Dist. v. State of California (1987) 190 Cal.App.3d 521, 538-539 [234 Cal.Rptr. 795]; Committee to Defend Reproductive Rights v. Cory (1982) 132 Cal.App.3d 852, 856 [183 Cal.Rptr. 475].) The precise question in this case is whether funds can be considered "reasonably available" when they are not made part of a "catch-all" appropriation under which the specific use of the funds may fall. The majority concludes that unless the funds are part of a "catchall" appropriation, they are not reasonably available.¹

I would announce no such categorical rule. In my view, the proper inquiry is that set forth by the United States Supreme Court in Nixon v. Administrator of General Services, supra, 433 U.S. 425 and Mistretta v. United States, ¹The majority purports to reaffirm the rule of these cases, but in fact undermines it. The "catchall" appropriation exception to the majority's rule could easily be eliminated if the Legislature took the time to label more specifically the purpose of each appropriation in a particular area. If the Legislature did so, there would be no possible remedy for the failure to fund any program, no matter how essential.

supra, 488 U.S. 361: To what extent does the challenged act of one branch interfere with another branch's performance of its constitutionally assigned functions? If there is some potential disruption, the court must then determine whether the challenged act is "justified by an overriding need to promote objectives within the constitutional authority" of the branch whose action is challenged. (Nixon v. Administrator of General Services, supra, at p. 443 [53 L.Ed.2d at p. 891]; Mistretta v. United States, supra, at p. 383, fn. 13 [102 L.Ed.2d at p. 737].)

Applying the principles followed by the high court in Nixon v. Administrator of General Services, supra, 433 U.S. 425 and Mistretta v. United States, supra, 488 U.S. 361, and by this court in cases such as Younger v. Superior Court, supra, 21 Cal.3d 102 and Davis v. Municipal Court, supra, 46 Cal.3d 64, I conclude that the trial court's order authorizing the Controller to disburse funds from the GAIN and OUSD accounts as an emergency loan to the District to assure the District's schools remained open did pose a potential for disruption of a function of the legislative branch.

The degree of potential disruption, however, is not great. As the trial court concluded, the funds that were the source of the emergency loan were appropriated for purposes reasonably related to the educational purposes served by the District.

The OUSD loan funds were appropriated by the Legislature for the precise purpose for which they were employed here—to alleviate a fiscal crisis in a local school district and prevent disruption of an ongoing educational program. (See Stats. 1989, ch. 1438, § 1.) Moreover, the trial court had before it an application for leave to intervene from the OUSD itself, in which the OUSD stated that the threatened closure of the nearby District "would place substantial and difficult burdens on OUSD as displaced Richmond students seek admission to Oakland Schools," that would be "extremely costly and disruptive" to the operation of the Oakland schools. The emergency loan fund for the OUSD was intended by the Legislature to avoid disruption of the educational program at the Oakland schools, and the trial court's order furthered, rather than defeated, that valid legislative purpose.

The GAIN program was enacted to address the problem of teenage parenting, basic educational deficiencies, and long-term welfare dependency. Specifically, GAIN was intended to "[p]rovide the education and training services needed by teenage parents to help them earn a high school diploma or its equivalent," and to "[l]ink teenagers to other needed health and social services." (Welf. & Inst. Code, § 11330, subd. (c).) The purpose of the particular appropriation to the Department of Education at issue in this case was solely to meet educational needs, and not to provide health and social services. (Stats. 1989, ch. 93, § 22.00.) This goal is served by keeping the District's schools open. The trial court had before it uncontradicted evidence that a large number of the students in the District came from low-income families, many of whom were welfare-dependent. The court could rationally conclude that the otherwise unused GAIN funds were reasonably available to meet the basic educational needs of the District's students, a significant portion of whom were in the welfare-dependent population the GAIN program was targeted to assist. Under the circumstances, the funds were ordered to be used for a purpose reasonably congruent with the statutory purpose.²

Thus, because the trial court authorized the OUSD and GAIN funds to be used for a purpose that was reasonably related to the purposes for which the funds were appropriated, any infringement on the legislative function is not substantial. By contrast, we are not faced with a situation in which a trial court has ordered that funds appropriated for one purpose be used for some entirely unrelated purpose; nor are we confronted with a trial court order that funds actually in use for one program be diverted to another. It is vital that ²The majority asserts that this opinion "urges abandonment" of the rule of Mandel v. Myers, supra, 29 Cal.3d 531 (Mandel). This is incorrect.

In Mandel, supra, 29 Cal.3d 531, this court held that the separation of powers doctrine does not prevent the courts from ordering appropriate expenditures from already existing funds when such funds are "reasonably available for the expenditures in question . . ." (Id. at p. 542.) There, the court found that certain "catchall" funds were reasonably available for the expenditures in question, the payment of attorney fees in a case enforcing constitutional rights. But nothing in Mandel indicated that the only funds that might ever be reasonably available in any case were "catchall" funds. And, as later cases made clear, Mandel's test of "reasonable availability" encompasses unused funds that have been appropriated for purposes closely related to the purposes for which they are sought to be expended. (Long Beach Unified Sch. Dist. v. State of California, supra, 225 Cal.App.3d at p. 181; Carmel Valley Fire Protection Dist. v. State of California, supra, 190 Cal.App.3d at p. 541.)

In this case, as my analysis has demonstrated, the OUSD and GAIN funds were appropriated for purposes reasonably and closely related to the purpose for which the trial court ordered them to be used. Thus, Mandel and its progeny were not violated. The analysis in this opinion is entirely consistent with both the Mandel line of cases, and the cases from the United States Supreme Court and this court that more fully and generally articulate the doctrine of separation of powers. Mandel and its progeny represent an area of specific application of general separation of powers principles; properly understood, there is no disjunction between the Mandel line of cases and cases such as Nixon v. Administrator of General Services, supra, 433 U.S. 425, and Mistretta v. United States, supra, 488 U.S. 361, that set forth a principled and coherent view of the separation of powers doctrine.

Thus, the majority's accusation that the approach to separation of powers questions set forth in this opinion, which is the same approach employed by our nation's highest court, would "stand the separation of powers clause on its head," is meritless.

trial courts take care to minimize any impingement on legislative prerogatives. But the trial court in this case did use the least intrusive means available to it to ensure the students' rights.³

As discussed earlier, if there is some cognizable interference with the functions of another branch, the reviewing court must then determine whether the act is "justified by an overriding need to promote objectives within the constitutional authority" of the branch whose action is challenged. (Nixon v. Administrator of General Services, supra, 433 U.S. at p. 443 [53 L.Ed.2d at p. 891]; Mistretta v. United States, supra, 488 U.S. at p. 383, fn. 13 [102 L.Ed.2d at p. 737].) In my view, here the trial court's order was so justified.

The objective that the trial court sought to achieve by its orders in this case—to assure the protection of the fundamental rights of the District's students—was unquestionably within its constitutional authority. As this court has made clear on previous occasions, and as the majority reaffirms today, education is a fundamental right under the California Constitution. (Serrano v. Priest (1971) 5 Cal.3d 584, 608-609 [96 Cal.Rptr. 601, 487 P.2d 1241, 41 A.L.R.3d 1187]; Serrano v. Priest (1976) 18 Cal.3d 728, 766 [135 Cal.Rptr. 345, 557 P.2d 929].)

Moreover, the court, in acting to protect the students' rights to education, had no practical alternative to the remedial order it issued. It was the court's ³At the hearing on the preliminary injunction, an official of the Department of Education testified without contradiction that there were two sources from which department funds were available that could be employed to assist the District—the OUSD fund and the GAIN fund. No other funds were identified as available.

The funds appropriated to the Department of Education for the general support of elementary and secondary schools are not placed in a "catchall" fund subject to the discretion of Department of Education officials. Instead, under the Education Code, virtually all sums transferred from the state's general fund to the Department of Education for the general support of elementary and secondary education are transferred subject to a strict formula under which each local district is entitled to an amount computed on the basis of average daily student attendance. (Ed. Code, § 14000 et seq., § 46000 et seq.) No state official appears to have any discretion to vary the legislatively mandated allocation of funds.

My research reveals that the only funds that might have been considered reasonably available to aid the District under the majority's criteria at the time of the trial court's decision in this case were certain emergency funds under control of the Director of Finance. (Stats. 1990, ch. 467, § 2.00.) But there is nothing in the record to show that these funds had not been used for some other emergency purpose. Even assuming that none of these funds had been committed to some other use, however, the funds would have been grossly inadequate to meet the District's needs in any event. The total amount of funds available to the Director of Finance to meet all the emergency needs of the State under the then-current budget was $7 million. (Ibid.) As we have seen, the District faced a $23 million budget shortfall.

duty to act. As the United States Supreme Court has held, "a denial of constitutionally protected rights demands judicial protection; our oath and our office require no less of us." (Reynolds v. Sims (1964) 377 U.S. 533, 566 [12 L.Ed.2d 506, 530, 84 S.Ct. 1362].)

When the other branches of government have failed to act, the courts have not flinched from their duty to fashion appropriate remedies when necessary to guarantee constitutional rights to the people of this state. Thus, in Wilson v. Eu (1991) 54 Cal.3d 471, 473 [286 Cal.Rptr. 280, 816 P.2d 1306], we held that, although reapportionment is primarily a matter for the legislative branch, when that branch has failed to act and electoral rights will be irretrievably lost if no action is taken, "we must proceed forthwith to draft such [reapportionment] plans." And in Crawford v. Board of Education (1976) 17 Cal.3d 280, 307 [130 Cal.Rptr. 724, 551 P.2d 28], we held that when a recalcitrant school board failed to act to cure the harmful consequences of school segregation, the trial court could exercise "broad equitable powers" to frame a remedy that would assure the students' basic rights. (Accord, e.g., Swann v. Board of Education (1971) 402 U.S. 1, 15 [28 L.Ed.2d 554, 566, 91 S.Ct. 1267]; see Assembly v. Deukmejian (1982) 30 Cal.3d 638, 659 [180 Cal.Rptr. 297, 639 P.2d 939]; Midway Orchards v. County of Butte (1990) 220 Cal.App.3d 765, 779 [269 Cal.Rptr. 796].)

No sound reason exists to hold that although some fundamental rights demand judicial protection when they are endangered because the other branches of government have failed to act, other rights, equally fundamental, do not. Yet that is the consequence of the majority's holding in this case that the trial court erred in ordering that an emergency loan be made to the District.

The practical consequences of the majority's holding should not be overlooked. In an era of fiscal constraint and uncertainty for local governments, including school districts, we cannot assume that the District's problems will prove to be unique. If another school district experiences financial difficulties and the other branches of government fail to act, parents may indeed bring a lawsuit to protect their children's right to education. Under today's decision, the trial court will declare that the children have a constitutional right to basic educational equality, and that the State bears responsibility for assuring this right is not denied. The court may then announce that no means exist by which it can enforce that right. And the doors to the schoolhouse will close.

I would affirm the orders of the trial court in their entirety.

FISCAL MANAGEMENT ADVISORY 97-02

October 30, 1997

TO: County and District Superintendents

FROM:
Patrick Keegan, Deputy Superintendent
Finance, Technology, and Information Services

SUBJECT: Fees, Deposits, and Other Charges

School district administrators frequently ask the Department to provide additional guidance on the matter of fees. This Advisory which supersedes Fiscal Management Advisory 87-03 is provided for that purpose, and reflects the most recent legislation and California Supreme Court interpretations. The following narrative contains a number of conclusions based on legal references. Most of these references are to a particular case or opinion. Those conclusions without attribution represent the opinions of the Department's Legal Office.

TUITION, FEES, DEPOSITS, AND OTHER CHARGES IN CALIFORNIA
PUBLIC SCHOOLS, K-12 AND ADULT SCHOOLS

I. A Free Public School System

"A pupil enrolled in a school shall not be required to pay any fee, deposit, or other charge not specifically authorized by law."¹

With this language the State Board of Education made clear that fees are not to be imposed except where specifically authorized by law. This administrative regulation, or "law" of the State Board was promulgated based on the authority of Article IX, Section 5 of the California Constitution. Article IX, Section 5 provides for a free school system:

"The Legislature shall provide for a system of common schools by which a free school shall be kept up and supported in each district at least six months in every year, after the first year in which a school has been established."

The State Supreme Court in 1874 held that this provision entitled students to be educated at public expense.²

The Attorney General has, in several opinions,³ consistently ruled that school districts do not have authority to levy fees for any elective or compulsory class. Further, districts may not require security deposits for locks, lockers, books, class apparatus, musical instruments, uniforms, or other equipment.

The administrative regulation noted above prohibited fees except those "...specifically authorized by law." Certain fees have been authorized by law since the rule was promulgated.

The 1984 California Supreme Court decision, Hartzell v. Connell,⁴ raises serious questions about the imposition of a non-statutory fee for extracurricular activities. The lead opinion acknowledges that fees may be charged for "recreational" activities but not for "educational" activities. Extracurricular activities are described in the opinion as an integral component of public education; they are a part of the educational program according to this decision.

The court held that the "...imposition of fees for educational activities offered by public high school districts violates the free school guarantee. The constitutional defect in such fees can neither be corrected by providing waivers to indigent students nor justified by pleading financial hardship."

II. Fees Authorized by Law

The Education Code specifically authorizes certain fees. Except for home to school transportation fees discussed later, none of those Code sections have been challenged and the Hartzell v. Connell decision did not directly rule on their legality. Therefore, districts may continue to levy fees as authorized in the following Education Code sections:

- A. Fees that a district may collect for furnishing materials to a pupil for items the pupil has fabricated from such materials for his or her own use. Such fees may not exceed cost. (Education Code section 39526)
- B. Fees that a district may charge pupils for transportation to and from school under limited circumstances. (Education Code sections 38028, 39807.5 and 39837)
- C. Charges for food served to pupils. (Education Code sections 39870-39874, 39876)
- D. Charges to the parent or guardian of any pupil who loses a book, defaces books or other school property. Liability limits for lost items or damage are adjusted annually by the State Superintendent of Public Instruction pursuant to statute. (Education Code section 48904)
- E. Charges for field trips or excursions, principally for transportation. The authority to charge a fee for field trips or excursions is not directly stated in the Education Code. Rather, it provides that "No pupil shall be prevented from making the field trip or excursion because of lack of sufficient funds." (Education Code section 35330)
- F. Districts must make medical, hospital, or accident insurance available to pupils who may be injured while participating in field trips. The cost of the insurance may be paid by the pupil or his parents. (Education Code section 35331)
- G. Governing boards may expend from the general fund of the district any money which is budgeted for community services to establish and maintain community service classes. They may charge student fees not to exceed the cost of maintaining such classes. (Education Code section 51815)
- H. A governing board may charge a tuition fee to adults for any class except classes in English and citizenship for foreigners, classes in elementary subjects, and classes for which high school credit is granted when taken by a person not holding a high school diploma. (Education Code section 52612)

- I. Districts must provide, and each member of an athletic team must have, accidental death, injury and medical insurance coverage. The cost of such insurance may be paid by the pupil unless the pupil is unable to pay for such insurance. (Education Code sections 32220-32224)
- J. A school district may require a deposit from a borrower of school band instruments, music, uniforms, and other regalia for use on an excursion to a foreign country. (Education Code section 40015)
- K. Pupils whose parents are actual and legal residents of an adjacent foreign country or an adjacent state shall be charged a tuition fee. (Education Code sections 48050 and 48052)
- L. The regulations of the governing board may provide for the sale of materials purchased from the incidental expense account to pupils in classes for adults, for use in connection with such classes. The proceeds of all such sales shall be deposited in that account (Education Code section 52615). A high school district board may charge for textbooks used in classes for adults or impose a refundable deposit on loaned books. (Education Code section 60410)
- M. The governing board of a school district may sell class material to persons enrolled in classes for adults. This may include materials necessary for the making of articles by students enrolled in adult education. The materials shall be sold at not less than the cost to the district; any article made shall be the property of the person who made it. (Education Code section 39527)
- N. The governing board of any elementary, high, or unified school district may charge a fee for school camp programs, provided that payment of such fee is not mandatory. No pupil shall be denied the opportunity to participate in a school camp program because of non-payment of the fee. (Education Code section 35335)
- O. Families utilizing child care and development services shall be charged a fee by the school district, but no fees shall be assessed against families whose children are enrolled in the state preschool program, or for such services provided to severely handicapped children (Education Code sections 8263(e)(f) and 8250(d)). Standards for fees appear in Education Code section 8265. The school district may also impose a fee for a program of supervision of children before and after school. (Education Code section 8487 and 8488)
- P. School districts may offer a fingerprint program for children in kindergarten or newly enrolled children and shall assess a fee to the parent or guardian who chooses to participate. (Education Code section 32390)

III. District Obligation to Provide Without Charge

The opinions of the Attorney General mentioned earlier indicate that charges may not be levied for the following:

- A. A deposit in the nature of a guarantee that the district would be reimbursed for loss to the district on account of breakage, damage to, or loss of school property.
- B. An admission charge to an exhibit, fair, theater or similar activity for instruction or extracurricular purposes when a visit to such places is part of the district's educational program.
- C. A tuition fee or charge as a condition to enrollment in any class or course of instruction, including a fee for attendance in a summer or vacation school, a registration fee, a fee for a catalog of courses, a fee for an examination in a subject, a late registration or program change fee, a fee for the issuance of a diploma or certificate, or a charge for lodging.
- D. Membership fees in a student body or any student organization as a condition for enrollment or participation in athletic or other curricular or extracurricular activities sponsored by the school.
- E. Education Code section 48053 prohibits charging an apprentice, or his or her parents or guardian, for admission or attendance in any class.
- F. Textbooks and workbooks must be furnished without charge by elementary and high school districts except for classes for adults. A charge may not be made for their use (Education Code sections 60070 and 60410).

Education Code section 40011 provides:

"Writing and drawing paper, pens, inks, blackboard erasers, crayons, lead pencils, and other necessary supplies for the use of the schools, shall be furnished under direction of the governing board of the school district."

The Attorney General has issued an opinion interpreting this language. He was asked specifically whether a student could be required to furnish any or all of the following:

- A. Art material for art classes and mechanical drawing sets
- B. Cloth to be used in dressmaking classes and wood for carpentry classes
- C. Gym suits and shoes for physical education classes

- D. Bluebooks in which to write a final examination
- E. Paper on which to write a theme or report when such theme or report is a required assignment.

The Attorney General concluded that all the above-mentioned materials were "necessary supplies" and as such had to be furnished by the school district. He reasoned that the articles listed in A, B, C, and D, "appear to be supplies that must be available to students in order to participate in regular classroom work in the particular subjects involved." As to E, the Attorney General stated that "paper to be used on which to write a theme or report must also be furnished when required as a part of the classroom activity."⁵

The Attorney General limited his discussion to the questions specifically asked and did not state what materials a district is not obligated to furnish. However:

"[s]upplies,...must be furnished free of cost to students when the supplies are what might be termed 'school supplies' and are necessary in order for the students to pursue a course of study."

The Attorney General's use of the term "school supplies" is meant to exclude from the district's obligation those items or materials which, although necessary for class participation, are essential regardless of whether or not a person is a student. For example, a school district would not be obligated to furnish corrective lenses, clothes, and so forth. Such items are needed whether or not one is a student.

Specifically with respect to gym clothes, Education Code section 49066(b) states that: "No grade of a pupil participating in a physical education class, however, may be adversely affected due to the fact that the pupil does not wear standardized physical education apparel where the failure to wear such apparel arises from circumstances beyond the control of the pupil," such as, for example, lack of funds.

It should be determined whether a fee for a particular item is specifically authorized by statute. If not, it should be determined whether a particular item is required by law to be furnished free or whether it comes under the category of "necessary supplies." If it does, then the district must furnish the item without charge.

It is the position of the Department that a school district may require its ~~students~~ to purchase their own gym clothes of a district specified design and color so long as the design and color are of a type sold for general wear outside of school. Once the required gym uniforms become specialized in terms of included logos, school name or other characteristics not found on clothing for general use outside of school, they are school supplies and the district must provide those uniforms free of charge.

It is the opinion of the Department's legal office that a school district may not charge a fee or require students to purchase necessary materials even if the district maintains a special fund to assist students with financial need or waives such fee or charge for students with financial need. The fee or charge still remains a condition for all other students not so assisted. The court in Hartzell v. Connell, discussed below, held that a fee-waiver policy for needy students does not save the fee.

IV. Extracurricular Activities

On April 20, 1984, the California Supreme Court decided, in Hartzell v. Connell 35 Cal. 3d 899, that a public school district may not charge fees for educational programs simply because they are denominated "extracurricular." As expressed by the lead opinion, the court concluded that "the imposition of fees as a precondition for participation in non-statutory educational programs offered by public high schools on a noncredit basis violates the free schools guarantee of the California Constitution and the prohibition against school fees contained in Title 5, Section 350 of the California Administrative Code." (now California Code of Regulations).

Some significant observations by the various justices and ramifications of the decision are as follows:

- A. The lead opinion was written by Chief Justice Bird with Justices Broussard and Reynoso concurring specifically. The approach taken to the issue by the Chief Justice holds that the free school guarantee extends to all activities which constitute an integral, fundamental part of elementary and secondary education or which amount to necessary elements of any school's activity. The opinion concludes that extracurricular activities constitute an integral component of public education.
- B. The lead opinion holds that fee based extracurricular activities are also illegal under Title 5 California Code of Regulations 350 (5 CCR 350) which prohibits the imposition of "...any fee, deposit, or other charge not specifically authorized by law."
- C. Apart from the fee issue, this particular holding has wide reaching significance. Along with constitutional provisions and statutes, any regulation adopted by the State Board of Education or Superintendent of Public Instruction is a "law." Education Code section 35160, the so-called "permissive code" authority allows school districts to carry on any activity or act in any manner "...which is not in conflict with or inconsistent with, or preempted by, any law..."
- D. As noted above, several provisions of the Education Code permit school districts to impose charges or fees, e.g.: Section 35330 (field trips and excursions), Section 48909 (charge for lost textbook), Section 35335 (school camps), Sections 32220-32224 (requires members of athletic teams to purchase death, accident and hospital insurance), Section 40015 (deposit for use of a school musical instrument), Section 39804 (pupil transportation), and so forth. In his separate opinion, in which he concurs in the judgment, Justice Kaus raised the question whether, under the decision, any of the statutory fees and charges (Paragraph II, supra) would be unconstitutional. Because none of the statutory fees were in issue, the court made no ruling in that respect. The Hartzell decision is binding precedent for invalidation of any non-statutory fees of the type examined by that court. Except for home to school transportation fees (Section 39807.5), the constitutionality of the statutory fees and charges is yet to be judicially decided.

- E. In a footnote the lead opinion states that the: "[e]ducational activities are to be distinguished from activities which are purely recreational in character. Examples of the latter might include attending weekend dances or athletic events." This statement may cause future litigation on the issue of whether the challenged fee based activity is educational or recreational. The issue is complicated by the fact that while citing an athletic event as possibly being recreational, the court invalidated a fee based athletic activity because it was held to be educational. This could be reconciled by interpreting the footnote as allowing a fee if the participation is solely as a spectator.
- F. The defendants argued that their fee-waiver policy for needy students satisfies the requirements of the free school requirement. They suggested that the right to be educated at public expense amounts merely to a right not to be financially prevented from enjoying educational opportunities. The court answered that such an argument plainly contradicts the plain free school language of the Constitution.

V. Home to School Transportation Fees

Education Code section 39807.5 allows school districts to charge parents a fee for home to school transportation provided to their children by the district. On a constitutional challenge the California Supreme Court in Arcadia School District v. State Department of Education,⁶ upheld the transportation fee statute. According to the court, permitting school districts to charge parents and guardians for the transportation of students to and from school does not violate the California Constitution free school guarantee. Unlike the extracurricular activities held to be free in Hartzell v. Connell (supra), transportation is neither an educational activity nor an essential part of school activity. Home to school transportation is not included within the free school guarantee.

VI. Tuition for Summer School.

No statute specifically authorizes tuition for summer school. Therefore, tuition or any fee or charge is prohibited under Section 350 of Title 5 California Code of Regulations (supra at page 1), which according to the court in Hartzell v. Connell (supra), is a law within the meaning of the so-called permissive provisions of Education Code section 35160.

VII. Community Service Classes

The governing board of a school district is authorized to maintain community service classes and to charge fees to cover the costs of maintaining such classes (Education Code sections 51810 and 51815). These classes may be convened at any time during the school year as may be determined by the governing board (Education Code section 51812).

Community service classes are not intended to teach required courses that students in grades K-12 must complete as part of their instructional programs. Community service classes usually include classes in music, drama, art, handicraft, science, literature, nature study, nature contacting, aquatic sports, athletics, and other such classes of general interest to the community (See Education Code, section 51810). These classes are primarily intended for adults and are open only to those minors whom the governing board believes will profit from such classes (Education Code, section 51811). It is the Department's position, therefore, that community service classes may not be used as summer schools for K-12 students, except for the incidental attendance of students with special interest in the subjects being taught.

VIII. Summer Schools Conducted Under Contract by Private Parties

The provisions of law relating to contracts whereby private parties conduct a portion of the educational program are not entirely clear. Neither the California Constitution nor the Education Code specifically prohibits contracts for educational services. Education Code section 35160 authorizes districts to engage in any activity not prohibited by law.

Section 6, Article IX, of the California Constitution prohibits a school district from transferring, directly or indirectly, any part of the public school system, or the placing of any part of the public school system under the jurisdiction of any authority other than a public school authority. This constitutional provision was explained in CTA v. Fullerton.⁷ That case involved a school district which let a contract for a private vendor to conduct its driver training program. The court held that the district had not transferred a part of the school system, but only a part of the curriculum. The court's reasoning is that the curriculum is only a function of the system and not a part of the system. This reasoning would seem also to validate contracting for a summer school program. However, in discussing this constitutional prohibition, the court stated that the Constitution would be violated if the control and management of the driver training program were to be transferred to a private authority. This would be true because the various administrative units authorized to maintain and administer the curriculum with the public school system constitute, along with the curriculum, a part of the system. Thus, contracting for a summer school program would be valid under Article IX, Section 6 only if the school district maintains exclusive control and management of the educational program.

The requirement for the maintenance of control and management, however, places the contracting district in a legally impossible position when tuition fees are charged. If the contractor providing the program charges tuition the district might thereby be in violation of the prohibition against tuition charges.

IX. Leasing School Buildings for Educational Use.

The Education Code provides authority for school districts to lease, or allow the use of, unneeded school buildings and classroom space, or to enter into joint occupancy or joint use agreements with private entities including private schools. (Education Code sections 39360, 39379, 39380, 39381, 39440, 39444, 39470, and 40040, et seq.)

When authorizing school buildings to be used by another entity for a summer school program, however, the district should consider the following:

- A. When leasing to a sectarian organization, the district must avoid violating the religious establishment prohibition of the First Amendment to the United States Constitution. According to the California Attorney General, a school district cannot lease or loan vacant classrooms to a sectarian institution for religious purposes while public school is concurrently in session.⁸
- B. The use granted under the Civic Center Act must not result in a monopoly for the benefit of any person or organization. (Education Code section 40041 et seq.) (Effective 1/1/98 renumbered to 38130)

X. Charter Schools.

Education Code section 47605(d) prohibits a charter school from charging tuition, but does not mention fees or other charges. Should it be argued that a certain educationally based fee or other charge is not in the nature of a tuition, the charter school would, nevertheless, be prohibited from assessing them. Although a charter school is exempt from the laws governing school districts (Education Code section 47610), the California Constitution, which is the highest law of the state, cannot be rendered inapplicable by the Legislature. Therefore, any tuition, fee or other charge relating to the charter school's educational program is prohibited by the free school guarantee of the California Constitution Article IX, Section 5, as interpreted in Hartzell v. Connell, supra.

⁸60 Ops. Cal. Atty. Gen. 269

XI. Educational Clinics.

A certified clinic may not charge any fee for services to any pupil or to the parent, guardian, or custodian of any pupil for which the clinic receives reimbursement (Education Code section 58557)

The purpose of this Advisory is to inform school districts and county superintendents of the existing law involving fees in the schools and of the various cases and opinions on the subject. Except with respect to citations and references to other regulations and court decisions, this advisory is merely exemplary and compliance therewith is not mandatory, nor is there any intent to suggest a particular course of action. Each local educational agency should seek the advice of its own legal counsel in the development of local policy.

43 PART 1. AUTHORITY FOR THE CLAIM

44 The Commission on State Mandates has the authority pursuant to Government
Code section 17551(a) to "...hear and decide upon a claim by a local agency or school

1 district that the local agency or school district is entitled to be reimbursed by the state
2 for costs mandated by the state as required by Section 6 of Article XIII B of the 3 California Constitution.” Clovis Unified School District is a “school district” as defined in 4 Government Code section 17519.¹

5 PART II. LEGISLATIVE HISTORY OF THE CLAIM

6 This test claim alleges mandated costs subject to reimbursement by the state for 7 school districts to establish and implement policies and procedures to comply with 8 “Hazardous Materials Assessments” pursuant to Education Code, Title 1, Division 1, 9 Part 10.5.

10 SECTION 1. LEGISLATIVE HISTORY PRIOR TO JANUARY 1, 1975

11 Education Code Section 15002 allowed the governing board of a school district, 12 when directed by a vote of the voters within the district, to purchase or improve school 13 lands.

14 Education Code Section 15002.1 required the governing board of a school
15 district to have a building site investigated by competent personnel, prior to acquisition, 16 to ensure that the final site selection was determined by an evaluation of all factors
17 affecting the public interest and not limited to selection on the basis of raw land cost
18 only. The investigation was to include geological and soil engineering studies to assess

“School District” means any school district, community college district, or county superintendent of schools.”

1 the potential for earthquake or other geological characteristics that would require an
2 economically unfeasible construction effort to make a building safe for occupancy. The 3 evaluation was to include location of the site with respect to population, transportation,
4 water supply, waste disposal facilities, utilities, traffic hazards, surface drainage
5 conditions, and all cost factors of the total project. No school building was to be 6 constructed on the trace of a geological fault along which surface rupture could 7 reasonably be expected to occur within the life of the school building. Other geological 8 and soil investigations were required by the Department of General Services if 9 construction cost was expected to exceed $10,000. No studies were required to be 10 made if the site had been the subject of adequate prior studies. A copy of the report of 11 each investigation was to be submitted to the Department of General Services and to 12 the Department of Education. The cost of the studies and investigations conducted 13 pursuant to this section were to be treated as a capital expenditure.

14 SECTION 2. LEGISLATIVE HISTORY AFTER DECEMBER 31, 1974

15 Chapter 557, Statutes of 1976, Section 2, added Education Code Section
16 15002.2² which requires geological and soil engineering studies within the boundaries

² Education Code Section 15002.2, as added by Chapter 557, Statutes of 1976, Section 2:

“Geological and soil engineering studies as described in Section 15002.1 shall be made, within the boundaries of any special studies zone, for the construction of any school building as defined in Section 15452, or if the estimated cost exceeds ten thousand dollars ($10,000), for the reconstruction or alteration of or addition to any such school building for work which alters structural elements. The Department of General Services may require similar geological and soil engineering studies for the

1 of any special studies zone if the estimated cost exceeds ten thousand dollars
2 ($10,000) for the reconstruction, or alteration of, or addition to, any such school building
3 for work which alters structural elements, or as otherwise required by the Department of 4 General Services. A copy of the report of each investigation conducted pursuant to this 5 section shall be submitted to the Department of General Services and to the 6 Department of Education. The cost of geological and soil engineering studies and 7 investigations may be treated as a capital expenditure.

construction or alteration of any school building on a site located outside of the boundaries of any special studies zone. No studies need be made if the site under consideration has been the subject of adequate prior studies.

No school building shall be constructed, reconstructed, or relocated on the trace of a geological fault along which surface rupture can reasonably be expected to occur within the life of the school building.

A copy of the report of each investigation conducted pursuant to this section shall be submitted to the Department of General Services pursuant to Article 4 (commencing with Section 15451) of Chapter 2 of this division and to the Department of Education. The cost of geological and soil engineering studies and investigations conducted pursuant to this section may be treated as a capital expenditure."

³ Education Code Section 39157 as added by Chapter 735, Statutes of 1982,
Section 2:

“(a) When a school building constructed in accordance with plans and specifications approved by the Department of General Services is completed, the notice of completion is filed, and all final verified reports and all testing and inspection documents, as required by this article or as required by the rules and regulations adopted pursuant to this article, are submitted to and on file with the Department of General Services, and all required fees paid by the school district, the department shall issue a certification that the school building complies with the requirements of this article. Nothing in this article shall prevent beneficial occupancy by a school district prior to the issuance of this certification.

(b) When a school building, constructed in accordance with approved plans and specifications, is completed but final verified reports, as are required under Section 39151, have not been submitted to the Department of General Services due to the incapacitating illness, death, or the default of any persons required to file such reports, the Department of General Services shall, upon written request of the school district, review all of the project records and make such examinations as it deems necessary to enable it to certify that the school building otherwise complies with the requirements of this article. The Department of General Services may request the school district to have made, reported, and verified any other tests and inspections which the department deems necessary to complete its examinations of the construction.

(c) The costs incurred by the Department of General Services in connection with this section shall be paid by the school district. The actual costs to perform the examinations, tests, and inspections shall be an appropriate cost of the project to be paid from the building funds of the district. Certification of the project by the Department of General Services shall be withheld until all the costs have been paid by the school district.

(d) This section shall not relieve any individual of his or her responsibility to file

1 notice of completion, all final verified reports and all testing and inspection documents
2 to the Department of General Services. When these requirements are received, the 3 Department shall issue a certification that the school building complies with the 4 requirements of the article. Subdivision (b) provides that, when a school building
5 constructed in accordance with approved plans and specifications is completed, but 6 final verified reports have not been submitted to the Department due to the 7 incapacitating illness, death, or the default of any persons required to file such reports,
8 the school district shall request the Department to review all of the project records and 9 make such examination as necessary to certify that the school building otherwise
10 complies with the requirements of the article. The Department of General Services may 11 request the school district to have made, reported, and verified any other tests and 12 inspections which the department deems necessary to complete its examination of the 13 construction. Subdivision (c) requires the school district to pay the costs incurred by the 14 Department. The actual costs to perform the examinations, tests, and inspections shall 15 be an appropriate cost of the project to be paid from the building funds of the district.
16 Certification of the project by the Department shall be withheld until all the costs have 17 been paid by the school district. Subdivision (d) provides that no individual is relieved 18 of his or her responsibility to file verified reports or any other documents required by the 19 rules and regulations adopted pursuant to this article.

"The governing board of a school district shall not approve a project involving the acquisition of a schoolsite by a school district unless all of the following occur:

(a) The lead agency, as defined in Section 21067 of the Public Resources Code, determines that the property purchased or to be built upon is not any of the following:

(1) The site of a current or former hazardous waste disposal site or solid waste disposal site unless, if the site was a former solid waste disposal site, the governing board of the school district concludes that the wastes have been removed.

(2) A hazardous substance release site identified by the State Department of Health Services in a current list adopted pursuant to Section 25356 for removal or remedial action pursuant to Chapter 6.8 (commencing with Section 25300) of Division 20 of the Health and Safety Code.

(3) A site which contains one or more pipelines, situated underground or aboveground, which carries hazardous substances, acutely hazardous materials, or hazardous wastes, unless the pipeline is a natural gas line which is used only to supply natural gas to that school or neighborhood.

(b) The lead agency preparing the environmental impact report or negative declaration has consulted with the city in which the proposed schoolsite is located, or the county in which the proposed schoolsite is located if the proposed site is in an unincorporated area, and with any air pollution control district or air quality management district having jurisdiction in the area, to identify facilities within one-fourth of a mile of the proposed schoolsite which might reasonably be anticipated to emit hazardous air emissions.

(c) The governing board of the school district makes either of the following written findings:

(1) Consultation identified none of the facilities specified in subdivision (b).

(2) The facilities specified in subdivision (b) exist, but the health risks from the facilities do not and will not constitute an actual or potential endangerment of public health to persons who would attend or be employed at the school.

(d) As used in this section:

(1) "Hazardous air emissions" means emissions into the ambient air of air contaminants which have been identified as a toxic air contaminant by the State Air Resources Board or by the air pollution control officer for the jurisdiction in which the project is located. As determined by the air pollution control officer,

(b) The lead agency, as defined in Section 21067 of the Public Resources Code, preparing the environmental impact report or negative declaration has consulted with the city administering agency in which the proposed schoolsite is located, or the county in which the proposed schoolsite is located if the proposed site is in an unincorporated area, and with any air pollution control district or air quality management district having jurisdiction in the area, to identify facilities within one-fourth of a mile of the proposed schoolsite which might reasonably be anticipated to emit hazardous air emissions, or to handle hazardous or acutely hazardous materials, substances, or waste. The lead agency shall include a list of the locations for which information is sought.

(c) The governing board of the school district makes ~~either~~ one of the following written findings:

(1) Consultation identified none of the facilities specified in subdivision (b).

If the governing board makes this finding, the governing board shall also make a subsequent finding, prior to the occupancy of the school, that the emissions have been mitigated to these levels.

(d) As used in this section:

(1) "Hazardous air emissions" means emissions into the ambient air of air contaminants which have been identified as a toxic air contaminant by the State Air Resources Board or by the air pollution control officer for the jurisdiction in which the project is located.

5 facilities will, before the school is occupied, result in the mitigation of all chronic or 6 accidental hazardous air emissions to levels that do not constitute an actual or potential
7 endangerment of public health to persons who would attend or be employed at the

A Phase I environmental assessment may include, but is not limited to, a review of public and private records of current and historical land uses, prior releases of a hazardous material, data base searches, review of relevant files of federal, state, and local agencies, visual and other surveys of the property, review of historical aerial photographs of the property and the area in its vicinity, interviews with current and previous owners and operators, and review of regulatory correspondence and environmental reports. Sampling or testing is not required as part of the Phase I environmental assessment.

(h) "Preliminary endangerment assessment" means an activity that is performed to determine whether current or past hazardous material management practices or waste management practices have resulted in a release or threatened release of hazardous materials, or whether naturally occurring hazardous materials are present, which pose a threat to children's health, children's learning abilities, public health or the environment. A preliminary endangerment assessment requires sampling and analysis of a site, a preliminary determination of the type and extent of hazardous material contamination of the site, and a preliminary evaluation of the risks that the hazardous material contamination of a site, may pose to children's health, public health, or the environment, and shall be conducted in a manner that complies with the guidelines published by the Department of Toxic Substances Control entitled "Preliminary Endangerment Assessment: Guidance Manual," including any amendments that are determined by the Department of Toxic Substances Control to be appropriate to address issues that are unique to schoolsites.

(i) "Proposed schoolsite" means real property acquired or to be acquired or proposed for use as a schoolsite, prior to its occupancy as a school.

(j) "Regulated substance" means any material defined in subdivision (g) of

2 presence of hazardous materials that could pose a significant health risk, and the maintenance activities pose a significant risk to children or adults at the schoolsite.

(e) If, at any time during construction at a schoolsite, a previously unidentified release or threatened release of a hazardous material or the presence of a naturally occurring hazardous material is discovered, the school district shall cease all construction activities at the sites notify the Department of Toxic Substances Control, and take actions required by subdivision (a) that are necessary to address the release or threatened release or the presence of any naturally occurring hazardous materials. Construction may be resumed if the Department of Toxic Substances Control determines that the construction will not interfere with any response action necessary to address the hazardous material release or threatened release or the presence of a naturally occurring hazardous material, determines that the site conditions will not pose a significant threat to the health and safety of workers involved in the construction of the schoolsite, and certifies that the nature and extent of the release, threatened release, or presence of a naturally occurring hazardous material have been fully characterized.

(f) Construction may proceed at any portions of the site that the Department of Toxic Substances Control determines are not affected by the release or threatened release of hazardous materials, or presence of any naturally occurring hazardous materials, provided that all of the following apply:

(1) Those portions of the site have been fully characterized.

(2) The Department of Toxic Substances Control determines that the construction will not interfere with any response action necessary to address the release or threatened release of hazardous materials, or presence of any naturally occurring hazardous materials.

(3) The site conditions will not pose a significant threat to the health and safety of workers involved with construction.

(g) The Department of Toxic Substances Control shall notify the State Department of Education, the Division of the State Architect, and the Office of Public School Construction when the Department of Toxic Substances Control certifies that all necessary response actions have been completed at a schoolsite.

(h) The school district shall reimburse the Department of Toxic Substances Control for all response costs incurred by the department.

(i) The costs incurred by the school districts when complying with this section are allowable costs for purposes of an applicant under Chapter 12.5 (commencing with Section 17070.10) of Part 10 and may be reimbursed in accordance with Section 17072.13."

4 Substances Control. Subdivision (b) releases the district from required action when a
5 release of hazardous material to groundwater underlying the schoolsite occurred at a 6 site other than the schoolsite and the school district did not cause or contribute to the 7 release. The school district will provide access to the schoolsite to an authorized 8 representative of the Department of Toxic Substances Control and will not interfere with 9 the response action activities. Subdivision (c) requires the school district to notify the 10 State Department of Education if there has been a significant increase in the estimated 11 cost of the response action. Subdivision (d) prohibits construction until the Department 12 of Toxic Substances Control determines that the construction will not interfere with the 13 response action, the site conditions will not pose a significant threat to the health and 14 safety of the construction workers, and the nature and extent of the hazardous 15 materials has been fully characterized. Further, the school district may not occupy a 16 school building following construction until it obtains from the Department of Toxic 17 Substances Control a certification that all response actions necessary to ensure that 18 hazardous materials at the schoolsite no longer pose a significant risk to children and 19 adults have been completed. Subdivision (e) requires a school district to cease all
20 construction activities at the site and notify the Department of Toxic Substances Control 21 if, during construction, a previously unidentified hazardous material is discovered.

1 Subdivision (f) provides that construction may proceed in any area of the site
2 unaffected by hazardous materials when those portions are fully characterized, it will
3 not interfere with the response action, and site conditions are not a health risk.
4 Subdivision (g) requires the Department of Toxic Substances Control to notify the State
5 Department of Education, the Division of the State Architect, and the Office of Public
6 School Construction when all response actions have been completed at a schoolsite.
7 Subdivision (h) requires the school district to reimburse the Department of Toxic 8 Substances Control for all response costs incurred. Subdivision (i) provides that the 9 costs incurred by a school district are allowable costs and may be reimbursed under the 10 Leroy F. Greene School Facilities Act of 1998.

11 Chapter 1002, Statutes of 1999, Section 3, added Education Code Section
12 17213.1¹². Subdivision (a) requires school districts, as a condition of receiving state

¹² Education Code Section 17213.1, as added by Chapter 1002, Statutes of 1999, Section 3:

“As a condition of receiving state funding pursuant to Chapter 12.5 (commencing with Section 17070.10) the governing board of a school district shall comply with subdivision (a), and is not required to comply with subdivision (a) of Section 17213, prior to the acquisition of a schoolsite, or if the school district owns or leases a schoolsite, prior to the construction of a project.

(a) Prior to acquiring a schoolsite the governing board shall contract with an environmental assessor to conduct a Phase I environmental assessment of the proposed schoolsite.

(1) The Phase I environmental assessment shall contain one of the following recommendations:

(A) A further investigation of the site is not required.

(B) A preliminary endangerment assessment is needed, including sampling or testing, to determine the following:

(i) If a release of hazardous material has occurred and, if so, the extent of the release.

(ii) If there is the threat of a release of hazardous materials.

(iii) If a naturally occurring hazardous material is present.

(2) If the Phase I environmental assessment concludes that further investigation of the site is not required, the assessment together with all documentation related to the proposed acquisition or use of the proposed schoolsite shall be submitted to the State Department of Education. A school district may submit a Phase I environmental assessment to the State Department of Education prior to its submission of other documentation related to the proposed schoolsite acquisition or use. Within 10 calendar days of receipt of the Phase I environmental assessment, the State Department of Education shall transmit the Phase I environmental assessment to the Department of Toxic Substances Control for its review and approval, which shall be conducted by the Department of Toxic Substances Control within 30 calendar days of its receipt of the assessment. If the Department of Toxic Substances Control concurs with the conclusion of the Phase I environmental assessment that a further investigation of the site is not required, the Department of Toxic Substances Control shall approve the Phase I environmental assessment and shall notify the State Department of Education and the governing board of the school district of the approval.

(3) If the Phase I environmental assessment concludes that a preliminary endangerment assessment is needed, or if the Department of Toxic Substances Control concludes that a preliminary endangerment assessment is needed, the school district shall either contract with an environmental assessor to prepare a preliminary endangerment assessment of the proposed schoolsite and enter into an agreement with the Department of Toxic Substances Control to oversee the preparation of the preliminary endangerment assessment or elect not to pursue the acquisition or construction project. The preliminary endangerment assessment shall contain one of the following conclusions:

(A) A further investigation of the site is not required.

(B) A release of hazardous materials has occurred, and if so, the extent of the release, that there is the threat of a release of hazardous materials, or that a naturally occurring hazardous material is present, or any combination thereof.

(4) The school district shall submit the preliminary endangerment assessment to the Department of Toxic Substances Control for its review and approval. The school district shall also make the preliminary endangerment assessment available to the public for review for not less than 30 calendar days.

(5) The Department of Toxic Substances Control shall complete its review within 60 calendar days of receipt of the preliminary endangerment assessment and shall either approve or disapprove the preliminary endangerment assessment.

(6) If the Department of Toxic Substances Control disapproves the preliminary endangerment assessment, it shall inform the district of the decision, the basis for the decision, and actions necessary to secure the Department of Toxic Substances Control approval of the preliminary endangerment assessment. The school district shall take actions necessary to secure the approval of the Department of Toxic Substances Control of the preliminary endangerment assessment or elect not to pursue the acquisition or construction project.

(7) If the preliminary endangerment assessment determines that a further investigation of the site is not required and the Department of Toxic Substances Control approves this determination, it shall notify the State Department of Education and the school district of its approval. The school district may then proceed with the acquisition or construction project.

(8) If the preliminary endangerment assessment determines that a release of hazardous material has occurred, that there is the threat of a release of hazardous materials, that a naturally occurring hazardous material is present, or any combination thereof, that requires further investigation, and the Department of Toxic Substances Control approves this determination, the school district may elect not to pursue the acquisition or construction project. If the school district elects to pursue the acquisition or construction project, it shall do all of the following:

(A) Prepare a financial analysis that estimates the cost of response action that will be required at the proposed schoolsite.

(B) Assess the benefits that accrue from using the proposed schoolsite when compared to the use of alternative schoolsites, if any.

(C) Obtain the approval of the State Department of Education that the proposed schoolsite meets the schoolsite selection standards adopted by the State Department of Education pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 17251.

(D) Evaluate the suitability of the proposed schoolsite in light of the recommended alternative schoolsite locations in order of merit if the school district has requested the assistance of the State Department of Education, based upon the standards of the State Department of Education, pursuant to subdivision (a) of Section 17251.

(9) The school district shall reimburse the Department of Toxic Substances Control for all of the department's response costs.

(b) The costs incurred by the school districts when complying with this section are allowable costs for purposes of an applicant under Chapter 12.5 (commencing with

1 funding, prior to acquiring a schoolsite, to contract with an environmental assessor to 2 conduct a Phase I environmental assessment of the proposed schoolsite. The Phase I
3 environmental assessment will recommend that either no further investigation is 4 required or a preliminary endangerment assessment is needed. Pursuant to subdivision
5 (a)(2), if the Phase I environmental assessment concludes that further investigation of 6 the site is not required, the fee, assessment results and all documentation related to the 7 proposed acquisition shall be submitted to the State Department of Education. The 8 State Department of Education will forward the fee and information to the Department
9 of Toxic Substances Control for its review. The Department of Toxic Substances
10 Control may concur that no further investigation is needed and inform the school district
11 of its approval. Alternatively, it may find the assessment incomplete or disapprove it 12 entirely. The school district must then take actions necessary to secure the approval of 13 the Phase I environmental assessment, elect to conduct a preliminary endangerment
14 assessment, or elect not to pursue the acquisition or the construction project. Pursuant 15 to subdivision (a)(3), if a preliminary endangerment assessment is to be performed, the 16 school district shall contract with an environmental assessor to supervise the Section 17070.10) of Part 10 and may be reimbursed in accordance with Section 17072.13.

(c) A school district that releases a preliminary endangerment assessment, or information concerning a preliminary endangerment assessment, required by this section, may not be held liable in any action filed against the school district for making the preliminary endangerment assessment available for public review.”

1 preparation of and sign a preliminary endangerment assessment of the proposed
2 schoolsite and enter into an agreement with the Department of Toxic Substances
3 Control to oversee the preparation of the preliminary endangerment assessment,
4 entitled an "Environmental Oversight Agreement". A school district may, with the 5 concurrence of the Department of Toxic Substances Control, enter into an agreement
6 with the Department of Toxic Substances Control to oversee the preparation of a
7 preliminary endangerment assessment without first having prepared a Phase I
8 environmental assessment. Upon request from the school district, the Director of the 9 Department of Toxic Substances Control shall exercise its authority to designate a 10 person to enter the site and inspect and obtain samples if that will assist in 11 expeditiously completing the preliminary endangerment assessment. The preliminary 12 endangerment assessment will conclude either that a further investigation of the site is 13 not required or that hazardous materials are or may be present. Pursuant to 14 subdivision (a)(4), the school district shall submit a preliminary draft of the preliminary 15 endangerment assessment to the Department of Toxic Substances Control for its 16 review and approval and a copy to the State Department of Education for its files. At 17 the same time, a school district shall publish a notice in a local newspaper and post the 18 notice at the proposed schoolsite announcing that the assessment has been submitted 19 and is available for public review and comment. The school district may choose to 20 make the assessment available while the Department of Toxic Substances Control is 21 conducting its review and the district can choose to receive written comments from the 22 public for at least 30 calendar days before a public hearing. The school district will

1 make any correspondence and interim documentation of changes available upon
2 request. Copies of public comments will be sent to the Department of Toxic
3 Substances Control. The school district can also choose to wait until the Department of 4 Toxic Substances Control completes its review before releasing the assessment to the 5 public. If the final draft preliminary endangerment assessment is approved and the 6 school district chooses to proceed with site acquisition, the school district shall make 7 the final draft preliminary endangerment assessment available to the public on the 8 same basis and at the same time it makes available the draft environmental impact
9 report or negative declaration pursuant to the California Environmental Quality Act
10 (Section 21000 of the Public Resources Code). The school district shall hold a public 11 hearing on the final draft preliminary endangerment assessment and the draft
12 environmental impact report or negative declaration at the same time and all public 13 comments will be forwarded to the Department of Toxic Substances Control. Pursuant 14 to subdivision (a)(6), if the Department of Toxic Substances Control disapproves the 15 preliminary endangerment assessment, it shall inform the district of the basis of its 16 decision and actions necessary to secure approval. If the Department of Toxic 17 Substances Control approves the assessment but concludes that hazardous materials
18 are or may be present, the school district should prepare a financial analysis of the cost
19 of response action, assess the benefits and suitability of the proposed schoolsite
20 compared to any alternative school sites, and obtain approval from the State
21 Department of Education. The school district shall reimburse the Department of Toxic 22 Substances Control for all of the department's response costs. Subdivision (b)

1 provides that the costs incurred by the school districts may be reimbursed in 2 accordance with Education Code Section 17072.13¹³.

¹³ Education Code Section 17072.13, as amended by Chapter 935, Statutes of 2002, Section 4:

“In addition to the amounts provided pursuant to Sections 17072.10 and 17072.12, the board may provide funding as follows:

(a) For 50 percent of the cost of the evaluation of hazardous materials at a site to be acquired by a school district and for 50 percent of the other response costs of the removal of hazardous waste or solid waste, the removal of hazardous substances, or other remedial action in connection with hazardous substances at that site. Except as provided in subdivision (b), the funding provided pursuant to this section may not exceed 50 percent of a number calculated by subtracting the school district's cost of the site from what the appraised value of the site would be after the response action is completed.

(b) The board may provide funding for up to 100 percent of the cost of the evaluation of hazardous materials at a site to be acquired by a school district eligible for financial hardship assistance pursuant to Article 8 (commencing with Section 17075.10) and for up to 100 percent of the other response costs for the site. The funding provided pursuant to this subdivision may not exceed 100 percent of a number calculated by subtracting the school district's cost of the site from what the appraised value of the site would be after the response action is completed.

(c) A school district with a site that meets the environmental hardship criteria set forth in paragraph (1) may apply to the board for site acquisition funding for that site prior to having construction plans for that site approved by the Division of the State Architect and State Department of Education. The site acquisition funding is subject to the funding limits provided in subdivisions (a) or (b) and may not result in an increase in the funding limits available to a school district under this section.

(1) A project is eligible for environmental hardship site acquisition funding if both of the following apply:

(A) The remedial action plan for the site approved by the Department of Toxic Substances Control, pursuant to Section 17213, is estimated by the Department of Toxic Substances Control to take six months or more to complete.

(B) The State Department of Education determines that the site is the best available alternative site.

(2) The initial site-specific reservation pursuant to this subdivision shall be for a period of one year. Extension may be approved in one-year intervals upon demonstration to the State Allocation Board of progress toward acquisition. In the event there is not demonstrable progress, the State Allocation Board shall have the option of rescinding the reservation.

(3) Environmental hardship site acquisition funds approved by the State Allocation Board can be used only for the site identified in the remedial action plan approved by the Department of Toxic Substances Control.

(4) The date that the State Allocation Board approves the environmental hardship site acquisition funding will become the State Allocation Board approval date for the project's construction funding for that site.

(5) A school district may apply to the State Allocation Board for construction funding for the environmental hardship site when the project has received final Division of the State Architect plan approval and final State Department of Education site and plan approval.

(d) The cost incurred by the school districts when complying with any requirement identified in this section are allowable costs for purposes of an applicant under this chapter and may be reimbursed in accordance with Section 17072.12. The site acquisition funding is subject to the funding limits provided in subdivision (a) or (b) and may not result in an increase in the funding limits available to a school district under this section.

(e) The State Allocation Board shall develop regulations that allow school districts with financial hardship site acquisition funding prior to ownership of the site or evidence that the site is in escrow."

(e) "Hazardous material" has the meaning the term is given in subdivision (d) of Section 25260 of the Health and Safety Code.

(f) "Operation and maintenance," "removal action work plan," "respond," "response," "response action" and "site" have the meanings those terms are given in Article 2 (commencing with Section 25310) of the state act.

(g) "Phase I environmental assessment" means a preliminary assessment of a property to determine whether there has been or may have been a release of a hazardous material, or whether a naturally occurring hazardous material is present, based on reasonably available information about the property and the area in its vicinity. -A Phase I environmental assessment may include, but is not limited to, a review of public and private records of current and historical land uses, prior releases of a hazardous material, data base searches, review of relevant files of federal, state, and local agencies, visual and other surveys of the property, review of historical aerial photographs of the property and the area in its vicinity, interviews with current and previous owners and operators, and review of regulatory correspondence and environmental reports. Sampling or testing is not required as part of the Phase I environmental assessment. A Phase I environmental assessment conducted pursuant to the requirements adopted by the American Society for Testing and Materials for due diligence for commercial real estate transactions and that includes a review of all reasonably available records and data bases regarding current and prior gas or oil wells and naturally occurring hazardous materials located on the site or located where they could potentially effect the site, satisfies the requirements of this article for conducting a Phase I environmental assessment unless and until the Department of Toxic Substances Control adopts final regulations that establish guidelines for a Phase I environmental assessment for purposes of schoolsites that impose different requirements from those imposed by the American Society for Testing and Materials.

(h) "Preliminary endangerment assessment" means an activity that is performed to determine whether current or past hazardous material management practices or waste management practices have resulted in a release or threatened release of hazardous materials, or whether naturally occurring hazardous materials are present, which pose a threat to children's health, children's learning abilities, public health or the environment. A preliminary endangerment assessment requires sampling and analysis of a site, a preliminary determination of the type and extent of hazardous material contamination of the site, and a preliminary evaluation of the risks that the hazardous material contamination of a site may pose to children's health, public health, or the environment, and shall be conducted in a manner that complies with the guidelines published by the Department of Toxic Substances Control entitled "Preliminary Endangerment Assessment: Guidance Manual," including any amendments that are determined by the Department of Toxic Substances Control to be appropriate to address issues that are unique to schoolsites.

"(a) Notwithstanding any other provision of law:

(1) For sites addressed by this article for which school districts elect to receive state funds pursuant to Chapter 12.5 (commencing with Section 17070.10), the state act applies to schoolsites where naturally occurring hazardous materials are present, regardless of whether there has been a release or there is a threatened release of a hazardous material.

(2) For sites addressed by this article for which school districts elect to receive state funds pursuant to Chapter 12.5 (commencing with Section 17070.10), all references in the state act to hazardous substances shall be deemed to include hazardous materials and all references in the state act to public health shall be deemed to include children's health.

(3) All risk assessments conducted by school districts that elect to receive state funds pursuant to Chapter 12.5 (commencing with Section 17070.10) at sites addressed by this article shall include a focus on the risks to children's health posed by a hazardous materials release or threatened release, or the presence of naturally occurring hazardous materials, on the schoolsite.

(4) The response actions selected under this article shall, at a minimum, be protective of children's health, with an ample margin of safety.

(b) In implementing this article, a school district shall provide a notice to residents in the immediate area, approved in form by the Department of Toxic Substances Control, prior to the commencement of work on a preliminary endangerment assessment.

(c) Nothing in this article shall be construed to limit the authority of the Department of Toxic Substances Control or the State Department of Education to take any action otherwise authorized under any other provision of law.

(d) Unless the Legislature otherwise funds its costs for overseeing actions taken pursuant to this article, the Department of Toxic Substances Control shall comply with Chapter 6.66 (commencing with Section 25269) of Division 20 of the Health and Safety Code when recovering its costs incurred in carrying out its duties pursuant to this article.

(e) Article 11 (commencing with Section 25220) of Chapter 6.5 of Division 20 of the Health and Safety Code does not apply to schoolsites at which all necessary response actions have been completed."

¹⁶ Education Code Section 17213.1, as amended by Chapter 443, Statutes of 2000, Section 4, effective Sept. 14, 2000:

"As a condition of receiving state funding pursuant to Chapter 12.5 (commencing with Section 17070.10) the governing board of a school district shall comply with subdivision (a), and is not required to comply with subdivision (a) of Section 17213, prior to the acquisition of a schoolsite, or if the school district owns or leases a schoolsite, prior to the construction of a project.

(a) Prior to acquiring a schoolsite the governing board shall contract with an environmental assessor to conduct supervise the preparation of and sign a Phase I environmental assessment of the proposed schoolsite unless the governing board decides to proceed directly to a preliminary endangerment assessment, in which case it shall comply with paragraph (4).

(1) The Phase I environmental assessment shall contain one of the following recommendations:

(A) A further investigation of the site is not required.

(B) A preliminary endangerment assessment is needed, including sampling or testing, to determine the following:

(i) If a release of hazardous material has occurred and, if so, the extent of the release.

(ii) If there is the threat of a release of hazardous materials.

(iii) If a naturally occurring hazardous material is present.

(2) If the Phase I environmental assessment concludes that further investigation of the site is not required, the assessment together with all documentation related to the proposed acquisition or use of the proposed schoolsite shall be submitted to the State Department of Education. A school district may submit a Phase I environmental assessment to the State Department of Education prior to its submission of other documentation related to the proposed schoolsite acquisition or use. Within 10 calendar days of receipt of the Phase I environmental assessment and of the fee to be forwarded to the Department of Toxic Substances Control for its review, the State Department of Education shall transmit the Phase I environmental assessment to the Department of Toxic Substances Control for its review and approval, which shall be conducted by the Department of Toxic Substances Control within 30 calendar days of its receipt of the assessment and of sufficient information to allow the Department of Toxic Substances Control to confirm that the environmental assessor signing the assessment meets the qualifications set forth in subdivision (b) of Section 17210. In those instances in which the Department of Toxic Substances Control requests additional information after receipt of the Phase I environmental assessment pursuant to paragraph (3), the Department of Toxic Substances Control shall conduct its review and approval within 30 days of its receipt of the requested additional information. If the Department of Toxic Substances Control concurs with the conclusion of the Phase I environmental assessment that a further investigation of the site is not required, the Department of Toxic Substances Control shall approve the Phase I environmental assessment and shall notify the State Department of Education and the governing board of the school district of the approval.

(3) If the Department of Toxic Substances Control determines that the Phase I environmental assessment is not complete or disapproves the Phase I environmental assessment, the department shall inform the school district of the decision, the basis for the decision, and actions necessary to secure department approval of the Phase I environmental assessment. The school district shall take actions necessary to secure the approval of the Phase I environmental assessment, elect to conduct a preliminary endangerment assessment, or elect not to pursue the acquisition or the construction project. To facilitate completion of the Phase I environmental assessment, the information required by this paragraph may be provided by telephonic or electronic means.

(4) If the Phase I environmental assessment concludes that a preliminary endangerment assessment is needed, or if the Department of Toxic Substances Control concludes after it reviews a Phase I environmental assessment pursuant to this section that a preliminary endangerment assessment is needed, the school district shall either contract with an environmental assessor to prepare supervise the preparation of and sign a preliminary endangerment assessment of the proposed schoolsite and enter into an agreement with the Department of Toxic Substances Control to oversee the preparation of the preliminary endangerment assessment or elect not to pursue the acquisition or construction project. The agreement entered into with the Department of Toxic Substances Control may be entitled an "Environmental Oversight Agreement" and shall reference this paragraph. A school district may, with the concurrence of the Department of Toxic Substances Control, enter into an agreement with the Department of Toxic Substances Control to oversee the preparation of a preliminary endangerment assessment without first having prepared a Phase I environmental assessment. Upon request from the school district, the Director of the Department of Toxic Substances Control shall exercise its authority to designate a person to enter the site and inspect and obtain samples pursuant to Section 25358.1 of the Health and Safety Code, if the director determines that the exercise of that authority will assist in expeditiously completing the preliminary endangerment assessment. The preliminary endangerment assessment shall contain one of the following conclusions:

(B) A release of hazardous materials has occurred, and if so, the extent of the release, that there is the threat of a release of hazardous materials, or that a naturally occurring hazardous material is present, or any combination thereof.

(45) The school district shall submit a preliminary draft of the preliminary endangerment assessment to the Department of Toxic Substances Control for its review and approval and to the State Department of Education for its files. The school district shall also make ~~may~~ entitle a document that is meant to fulfill the requirements of a "preliminary endangerment assessment" available to the public for review for not less than 30 calendar days. ~~(and that document shall be deemed to be a preliminary endangerment assessment if it specifically refers to the statutory provisions whose requirements it intends to meet and the document meets the requirements of a preliminary endangerment assessment.~~

(6) The Department of Toxic Substances Control shall complete its review within 60 calendar days of receipt of the preliminary endangerment assessment and shall either ~~approve or disapprove~~ return the preliminary draft to the school district with comments and requested modifications or requested further assessment or approve the preliminary endangerment assessment ~~(6 as a final draft preliminary endangerment assessment.~~ If the final draft preliminary endangerment assessment is approved and the school district proposes to proceed with site acquisition or a construction project, the school district shall make the final draft preliminary endangerment assessment available to the public on the same basis and at the same time it makes available the draft environmental impact report or negative declaration pursuant to the California Environmental Quality Act (Division 13 (commencing with Section 21000) of the Public Resources Code) for the site, unless the document developed pursuant to the California Environmental Quality Act (Division 13 (commencing with Section 21000) of the Public Resources Code) will not be made available until more than 90 days after the final draft preliminary endangerment assessment is approved, in which case the school district shall, within 60 days of the approval of the final draft of the preliminary endangerment assessment, separately publish a notice of the availability of the final draft for public review in a local newspaper of general circulation. The school district shall hold a public hearing on the final draft preliminary endangerment assessment and the draft environmental impact report or negative declaration at the same time, pursuant to the California Environmental Quality Act (Division 13 (commencing with Section 21000) of the Public Resources Code). All comments pertaining to the final draft preliminary endangerment assessment and the draft environmental impact report or negative declaration shall be forwarded to the Department of Toxic Substances Control immediately. If the district has complied with the California Environmental Quality Act (Division 13 (commencing with Section 21000) of the Public Resources Code) prior to initiating the preliminary endangerment assessment, the district shall reconsider the adequacy of its approved environmental impact report or negative declaration in light of the approved final draft of the preliminary endangerment assessment and determine whether a further environmental document is necessary. The district shall hold a public hearing on the final draft preliminary endangerment assessment and its determination on the adequacy of the existing environmental documents at the same time and in the same manner as it would for a draft environmental impact report or draft negative declaration as previously set forth in this section. The Department of Toxic Substances Control shall approve or disapprove the final preliminary endangerment assessment within 30 days of the district's approval action on the environmental document prepared under the California Environmental Quality Act (Division 13 (commencing with Section 21000) of the Public Resources Code) and shall issue notice of its determination accompanied by a statement of the basis of the determination. The school district shall consider whether any changes between the final draft and final preliminary endangerment assessment require any change in its determination pursuant to the California Environmental Quality Act (Division 13 (commencing with Section 21000) of the Public Resources Code). The school district shall not file its notice of determination under the California Environmental Quality Act (Division 13 (commencing with Section 21000) of the Public Resources Code) until after the Department of Toxic Substances Control has approved the final preliminary endangerment assessment. The public participation process set forth in this section shall be used by the school district and the Department of Toxic Substances Control instead of procedures set forth in Sections 25358.7 and 25358.7.1 of the Health and Safety Code with respect to preliminary endangerment assessments. If further response actions beyond a preliminary endangerment assessment are required and the district determines that it will proceed with the acquisition or construction project, the district shall comply with the public participation requirements of Sections 25358.7 and 25358.7.1 of the Health and Safety Code and other applicable provisions of the state act with respect to those response actions.

(7) If the Department of Toxic Substances Control disapproves the final draft preliminary endangerment assessment, it shall inform the district of the decision, the basis for the decision, and actions necessary to secure the Department of Toxic Substances Control approval of the preliminary endangerment assessment. -The school district shall take actions necessary to secure the approval of the Department of Toxic Substances Control of the preliminary endangerment assessment or elect not to pursue the acquisition or construction project.

(78) If the preliminary endangerment assessment determines that a further investigation of the site is not required and the Department of Toxic

1 supervise the preparation of and sign the Phase I environmental assessment rather
2 than conduct it. The governing board may choose to eliminate this step and proceed
3 directly to a preliminary endangerment assessment. As amended, subdivision (a)(2)

Substances Control approves this determination, it shall notify the State Department of Education and the school district of its approval. The school district may then proceed with the acquisition or construction project.

(89) If the preliminary endangerment assessment determines that a release of hazardous material has occurred, that there is the threat of a release of hazardous materials, that a naturally occurring hazardous material is present, or any combination thereof, that requires further investigation, and the Department of Toxic Substances Control approves this determination, the school district may elect not to pursue the acquisition or construction project. -If the school district elects to pursue the acquisition or construction project, it shall do all of the following:

(A) Prepare a financial analysis that estimates the cost of response action that will be required at the proposed schoolsite.

(B) Assess the benefits that accrue from using the proposed schoolsite when compared to the use of alternative schoolsites, if any.

(C) Obtain the approval of the State Department of Education that the proposed schoolsite meets the schoolsite selection standards adopted by the State Department of Education pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 17251.

(D) Evaluate the suitability of the proposed schoolsite in light of the recommended alternative schoolsite locations in order of merit if the school district has requested the assistance of the State Department of Education, based upon the standards of the State Department of Education, pursuant to subdivision (a) of Section 17251.

(910) The school district shall reimburse the Department of Toxic Substances Control for all of the department's response costs.

(b) The costs incurred by the school districts when complying with this section are allowable costs for purposes of an applicant under Chapter 12.5 (commencing with Section 17070.10) of Part 10 and may be reimbursed in accordance with Section 17072.13.

(c) A school district that releases a Phase I environmental assessment, a preliminary endangerment assessment, or information concerning a preliminary endangerment assessment either of these assessments, any of which is required by this section, may not be held liable in any action filed against the school district for making the preliminary endangerment assessment either of these assessments available for public review."

1 requires the governing board pay a fee to the Department of Toxic Substances Control
2 at the same time the Phase I environmental assessment is submitted. Subdivision
3 (a)(2) further allows the Department of Toxic Substances Control to request additional 4 information and extend their deadline for review and approval to 30 days after the 5 receipt of that information. As added, subdivision (a)(3) requires the school district to 6 take actions necessary to secure the approval of the Phase I environmental 7 assessment, elect to conduct a preliminary endangerment assessment, or elect not to 8 pursue the acquisition or the construction project if the Department of Toxic Substances
9 Control determines that the Phase I environmental assessment is not complete or 10 disapproves the Phase I environmental assessment. As amended, subdivision (a)(4)
11 allows the school district, with the concurrence of the Department of Toxic Substances
12 Control, to enter into an agreement with the Department to oversee the preparation of a
13 preliminary endangerment assessment without first having prepared a Phase I
14 environmental assessment. As amended, subdivision (a)(5) allows the school district 15 to submit a preliminary draft of the preliminary endangerment assessment to the 16 Department of Toxic Substances Control and to the State Department of Education.
17 As amended, subdivision (a)(6) requires the school district to make the approved final 18 draft preliminary endangerment assessment available to the public on the same basis
19 and at the same time or separately. If the document developed pursuant to the 20 California Environmental Quality Act is delayed, publish a notice of the availability of the 21 final draft for public review in a local newspaper of general circulation. The school
22 district shall hold a public hearing on the final draft preliminary endangerment

1 assessment and the draft environmental impact report or negative declaration at the 2 same time. All comments pertaining to the final draft preliminary endangerment
3 assessment and the draft environmental impact report or negative declaration shall be 4 forwarded to the Department of Toxic Substances Control immediately. If the district
5 has complied with the California Environmental Quality Act prior to initiating the 6 preliminary endangerment assessment, the district shall reconsider the adequacy of its 7 approved environmental impact report or negative declaration in light of the approved
8 final draft of the preliminary endangerment assessment and determine whether a 9 further environmental document is necessary. The district shall hold a public hearing on 10 the final draft preliminary endangerment assessment and its determination on the 11 adequacy of the existing environmental documents at the same time and in the same
12 manner as it would for a draft environmental impact report or draft negative declaration
13 as previously set forth in this section. The Department of Toxic Substances Control
14 shall approve or disapprove the final preliminary endangerment assessment within 30
15 days of the district's approval action on the environmental document prepared under 16 the California Environmental Quality Act and shall issue notice of its determination 17 accompanied by a statement of the basis of the determination. The school district shall 18 consider whether any changes between the final draft and final preliminary 19 endangerment assessment require any change in its determination pursuant to the 20 California Environmental Quality Act. The school district shall not file its notice of 21 determination under the California Environmental Quality Act until after the Department
22 of Toxic Substances Control has approved the final preliminary endangerment

1 assessment. If further response actions beyond a preliminary endangerment
2 assessment are required and the district determines that it will proceed with the 3 acquisition or construction project, the district shall comply with the public participation
4 requirements of Sections 25358.7¹⁷ and

¹⁷ Health and Safety Code Section 25358.7:

“(a) The department or the regional board, as appropriate, shall take the actions specified in this section to provide an opportunity for meaningful public participation in response actions undertaken for sites listed pursuant to Section 25356.

(b) The department, or the regional board, as appropriate, shall inform the public, and in particular, persons living in close proximity to a hazardous substance release site listed pursuant to Section 25356, of the existence of the site and the department's or regional board's intention to conduct a response action at the site, and shall conduct a baseline community survey to determine the level of public interest and desire for involvement in the department's or regional board's activities, and to solicit concerns and information regarding the site from the affected community. Based on the results of the baseline survey, the department or regional board shall develop a public participation plan that shall establish appropriate communication and outreach measures commensurate with the level of interest expressed by survey respondents. The public participation plan shall be updated as necessary to reflect any significant changes in the degree of public interest as the site investigation and cleanup process moves toward completion.

(c) The department or regional board shall provide any person affected by a response action undertaken for sites listed pursuant to Section 25356 with the opportunity to participate in the department's or regional board's decisionmaking process regarding that action by taking all of the following actions:

(1) Provide access to information which the department or regional board is required to release pursuant to the California Public Records Act (Chapter 3.5 (commencing with Section 6250) of Division 7 of Title 1 of the Government Code), relating to the action, except for the following:

(A) Trade secrets, as defined in subdivision (a) of Section 25358.2.

(B) Business financial data and information, as specified in subdivision (c) of Section 25358.6.

(C) Information which the department or regional board is prohibited from releasing pursuant to any state or federal law.

(2) Provide factsheets, based on the expressed level of public interest, regarding plans to conduct the major elements of the site investigation and response actions. The factsheets shall present the relevant information in nontechnical language and shall be detailed enough to provide interested persons with a good understanding of the planned activities. The factsheets shall be made available in languages other than English if appropriate.

(3) Provide notification, upon request, of any public meetings held by the department or regional board concerning the action.

(4) Provide the opportunity to attend and to participate at those public meetings.

(5) Based on the results of the baseline community survey, provide opportunities for public involvement at key stages of the response action process, including the health risk assessment, the preliminary assessment, the site inspection, the remedial investigation, and the feasibility study stages of the process. If the department or regional board determines that public meetings or other opportunities for public comment are not appropriate at any of the stages listed in this section, the department or regional board shall provide notice of that decision to the affected community.

(d) The department or regional board shall develop and make available to the public a schedule of activities for each site for which remedial action is expected to be taken by the department or regional board pursuant to this chapter and shall make available to the public any plan provided to the department or regional board by any responsible party, unless the department is prohibited from releasing the information pursuant to any state or federal law.

(e) In making decisions regarding the methods to be used for removal or remedial actions taken pursuant to this chapter, the department or regional board shall incorporate or respond in writing to the advice of persons affected by the actions.

(f) This section does not apply to emergency actions taken pursuant to Section 25354.”

¹⁸ Health and Safety Code Section 25358.7.1:

“(a) At each site, a community advisory group may be established by the affected community to review any response action and comment on the response action to be conducted in that community. The department or regional board shall regularly communicate, and confer as appropriate, with the community advisory committee. The department or regional board shall also advise local environmental regulatory agencies and other appropriate local agencies of planned response actions and provide opportunities for review and comment. If the department or regional board, whichever is overseeing a response action, receives a petition signed by at least 50 members of a community affected by the response action at a site or a resolution adopted by the legislative body of the jurisdiction within which the response action has been or will be initiated, the department or regional board shall assist the petitioners or the legislative

2 school district to make the Phase I environmental assessment or preliminary body to establish a community advisory group to review the response action at the site.

(b) To the extent possible, the composition of each community advisory group shall reflect the composition of the affected community and the diversity of interests of the community by including all of the following types of individuals on the community advisory group:

(1) Persons owning or residing on property located near the hazardous substance release site or in an adjacent community, or other persons who may be directly affected by the response action.

(2) Individuals from the local business community.

(3) Local political or government agency representatives.

(4) Local citizen, civic, environmental, or public interest group members residing in the community.

(c) The following entities may participate in community advisory group meetings in order to provide information and technical expertise:

(1) The department or regional boards.

(2) Representatives of local environmental regulatory agencies.

(3) The potentially responsible parties or other persons who are conducting the response action.

(d) The existence of a community advisory group shall not diminish any other obligation of the department or regional board with respect to public participation requirements specified in Section 25358.7. Nothing in this section shall affect the status of any citizen advisory group formed before the enactment of this section, a federal Department of Defense Restoration Advisory Board, or a federal Department of Energy Advisory Board."

(a) Prior to acquiring a schoolsite, the governing board shall contract with an environmental assessor to supervise the preparation of, and sign, a Phase I environmental assessment of the proposed schoolsite unless the governing board decides to proceed directly to a preliminary endangerment assessment, in which case it shall comply with paragraph (4).

(1) The Phase I environmental assessment shall contain one of the following recommendations:

(A) A further investigation of the site is not required.

(B) A preliminary endangerment assessment is needed, including sampling or testing, to determine the following:

(i) If a release of hazardous material has occurred and, if so, the extent of the release.

(iii) If a naturally occurring hazardous material is present.

(2) If the Phase I environmental assessment concludes that further investigation of the site is not required, the assessment, together with all documentation related to the proposed acquisition or use of the proposed schoolsite, shall be submitted to the State Department of Education. A school district may submit a Phase I environmental assessment to the State Department of Education and proof that the environmental assessor meets the qualifications specified in subdivision (b) of Section 17210 prior to its submission of other documentation related to the proposed schoolsite acquisition or use. Within 10 calendar days after the State Department of receipt of Education receives the Phase I environmental assessment, the proof of the environmental assessor's qualifications, and of the fee to be forwarded to the Department of Toxic Substances Control for its review of the Phase I environmental assessment, the State Department of Education shall transmit the Phase I that assessment and that proof of the environmental assessment assessor's qualifications to the Department of Toxic Substances Control for its review and approval, which shall be conducted by the Department of Toxic Substances Control within 30 calendar days of its receipt of the that assessment and of sufficient information to allow the Department of Toxic Substances Control to confirm that the environmental assessor signing the assessment meets the qualifications set forth in subdivision (b) of Section 17210 that proof of qualifications. 12 or as increased according to a construction costs inflation index recognized by 13 the Department of General Services.
- 14 K) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17212.5, making geological and soil 15 engineering studies, as described in Section 17212, when required by the 16 Department of General Services for the construction or alteration of any school 17 building on a site located outside of the boundaries of any special studies zone.
- 18 L) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17212.5, submitting a copy of the report of 19 each investigation conducted pursuant to the section to the Department of 20 General Services pursuant to Article 3 (commencing with Section 17280) and to 21 the State Department of Education.
- 22 M) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213, subdivision (a), verifying, prior to

1 approval of a project, that the lead agency, as defined in Section 21067 of the 2 Public Resources Code, has determined that the property purchased or to be
3 built upon is not any of the following:

4 (1) The site of a current or former hazardous waste disposal site or 5 solid waste disposal site unless, if the site was a former solid waste 6 disposal site, the governing board of the school district concludes that the 7 wastes have been removed.

8 (2) A hazardous substance release site identified by the State Department of 9 Health Services in a current list adopted pursuant to Section 25356 for 10 removal or remedial action pursuant to Chapter 6.8 (commencing with 11 Section 25300) of Division 20 of the Health and Safety Code.

12 (3) A site which contains one or more pipelines, situated underground or 13 aboveground, which carries hazardous substances, acutely hazardous
14 materials, or hazardous wastes, unless the pipeline is a natural gas line
15 which is used only to supply natural gas to that school or neighborhood.

16 N) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213, subdivision (b), verifying, prior to 17 approval of a project, that the lead agency, as defined in Section 21067 of the 18 Public Resources Code, has consulted with the administering agency in which
19 the proposed schoolsite is located and with any air pollution control district or air
20 quality management district having jurisdiction in the area, to identify facilities
21 within one-fourth of a mile of the proposed schoolsite which might reasonably be
22 anticipated to emit hazardous air emissions, or to handle hazardous or acutely

1 hazardous materials, substances, or waste and has included a list of the
2 locations for which information was sought.

3 O) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213, subdivision (b), prior to approval of
4 a project, making one of the following written findings: (1) Consultation
5 identified none of the facilities specified in subdivision (b).

6 (2) The facilities specified in subdivision (b) exist, but one of the following
7 conditions applies:

8 (A) The health risks from the facilities do not and will not constitute an
9 actual or potential endangerment of public health to persons who
10 would attend or be employed at the school.

11 (B) The governing board finds that corrective measures required under 12 an existing order by another jurisdiction which has jurisdiction over 13 the facilities will, before the school is occupied, result in the 14 mitigation of all chronic or accidental hazardous air emissions to 15 levels that do not constitute an actual or potential endangerment of 16 public health to persons who would attend or be employed at the 17 proposed school. If the governing board makes this finding, the 18 governing board shall also make a subsequent finding, prior to the 19 occupancy of the school, that the emissions have been mitigated to 20 these levels.

21 P) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a), prior to acquiring a 22 schoolsite, contracting with an environmental assessor to supervise the

1 preparation of, and sign, a Phase I environmental assessment of the proposed
2 schoolsite unless the governing board decides to proceed directly to a
3 preliminary endangerment assessment.

4 (1) The Phase I environmental assessment shall contain one of the following
5 recommendations:

6 (A) A further investigation of the site is not required.

7 (B) A preliminary endangerment assessment is needed, including
8 sampling or testing.

9 Q) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(2), if the Phase I
10 environmental assessment concludes that further investigation of the site is not
11 required, submitting the signed assessment, proof that the environmental 12 assessor meets the qualifications specified in subdivision (b) of Section 17210,
13 and the required fee to the Department of Toxic Substances Control.

14 R) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(3), if the 15 Department of Toxic Substances Control determines that the Phase I
16 environmental assessment is not complete, or disapproves the Phase I
17 environmental assessment, taking actions necessary to secure the approval of 18 the Phase I environmental assessment, elect to conduct a preliminary 19 endangerment assessment, or elect not to pursue the acquisition or the 20 construction project.

21 S) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(4)(A), if the
22 Department of Toxic Substances Control concludes, after its review of a Phase I

1 environmental assessment pursuant to this section that a preliminary
2 endangerment assessment is needed (or when a district elects to forego a
3 Phase I environmental assessment and proceed directly to a preliminary
4 endangerment assessment), submitting to the State Department of Education
5 the Phase I environmental assessment and requested additional information, if
6 any, that was reviewed by the Department of Toxic Substances Control.

7 T) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(4)(B), if the Phase
8 I environmental assessment concludes that a preliminary endangerment
9 assessment is needed, or if the Department of Toxic Substances Control
10 concludes after it reviews a Phase I environmental assessment pursuant to this
11 section that a preliminary endangerment assessment is needed, contracting with 12 an environmental assessor to supervise the preparation of, and sign, a
13 preliminary endangerment assessment of the proposed schoolsite and entering 14 into an agreement with the Department of Toxic Substances Control to oversee 15 the preparation of the preliminary endangerment assessment or electing not to 16 pursue the acquisition or construction project. The preliminary endangerment
17 assessment shall contain one of the following conclusions:

18 (i) A further investigation of the site is not required.

19 (ii) A release of hazardous materials has occurred, and if so, the extent of the 20 release, that there is the threat of a release of hazardous materials, or 21 that a naturally occurring hazardous material is present, or any 22 combination thereof.

- 1 U) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(5), submitting the
2 preliminary endangerment assessment to the Department of Toxic Substances
3 Control for its review and approval and to the State Department of Education for 4 its files.
- 5 V) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(6), at the same
6 time a school district submits a preliminary endangerment assessment to the
7 Department of Toxic Substances Control pursuant to paragraph (5), publishing a
8 notice that the assessment has been submitted to the department in a local
9 newspaper of general circulation, and posting the notice in a prominent manner
10 at the proposed schoolsite that is the subject of that notice. The notice shall state
11 the school district's determination to make the preliminary endangerment
12 assessment available for public review and comment.

14 the public participation requirements of Sections 25358.7 and 25358.7.1 of the 15 Health and Safety Code and other applicable provisions of the state act with 16 respect to those response actions only if further response actions beyond a
17 preliminary endangerment assessment are required and the district determines 18 that it will proceed with the acquisition or construction project.
- 19 X) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(8), if the 20 Department of Toxic Substances Control disapproves the preliminary 21 endangerment assessment, taking actions necessary to secure the approval of
22 the Department of Toxic Substances Control of the preliminary endangerment

1 assessment or electing not to pursue the acquisition or construction project.

2 Y) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(9), if the
3 preliminary endangerment assessment determines that a further investigation of 4 the site is not required and the Department of Toxic Substances Control
5 approves this determination, then proceeding with the acquisition or construction 6 project.

7 Z) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(10), if the
8 preliminary endangerment assessment determines that a release of hazardous
9 material has occurred, that there is the threat of a release of hazardous
10 materials, that a naturally occurring hazardous material is present, or any 11 combination thereof, that requires further investigation, and the Department of 12 Toxic Substances Control approves this determination, either electing not to 13 pursue the acquisition or construction project, or, electing to pursue the 14 acquisition or construction project. If electing to pursue the acquisition, doing all
15 of the following:

16 (A) Preparing a financial analysis that estimates the cost of response
17 action that will be required at the proposed schoolsite.

18 (B) Assesses the benefits that accrue from using the proposed 19 schoolsite when compared to the use of alternative schoolsites, if 20 any.

2 subdivision (b) of Section 17251.

3 (D) Evaluating the suitability of the proposed schoolsite in light of the 4 recommended alternative schoolsite locations in order of merit if
5 the school district has requested the assistance of the State
6 Department of Education, based upon the standards of the State
7 Department of Education, pursuant to subdivision (a) of Section
8 17251.

9 AA) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(11), reimbursing
10 the Department of Toxic Substances Control for all of the department's response
11 costs.

12 BB) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.2, subdivision (a), if a preliminary 13 endangerment assessment prepared pursuant to Section 17213.1 discloses the 14 presence of a hazardous materials release, or threatened release, or the 15 presence of naturally occurring hazardous materials, at a proposed schoolsite at 16 concentrations that could pose a significant risk to children or adults, and the 17 school district owns the proposed schoolsite, entering into an agreement with the 18 Department of Toxic Substances Control to oversee response action at the site
19 and taking response action pursuant to the requirements of the state act as may 20 be required by the Department of Toxic Substances Control.

21 CC) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.2, subdivision (c), if at anytime
22 during the response action the school district determines that there has been a

1 significant increase in the estimated cost of the response action, notifying the 2 State Department of Education.

3 DD) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.2, subdivision (d)(2), before 4 occupying a school building following construction, obtaining from the 5 Department of Toxic Substances Control a certification that all response actions, 6 except for operation and maintenance activities, necessary to ensure that
7 hazardous materials at the schoolsite no longer pose a significant risk to children
8 and adults at the schoolsite have been completed and that the response action
9 standards and objectives established in the final removal action work plan or 10 remedial action plan have been met and are being maintained.

11 EE) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.2, subdivision (e), if, at anytime
12 during construction at a schoolsite, a previously unidentified release or 13 threatened release of a hazardous material or the presence of a naturally 14 occurring hazardous material is discovered, ceasing all construction activities at 15 the sites, notifying the Department of Toxic Substances Control, and taking 16 actions required by subdivision (a) that are necessary to address the release or
17 threatened release or the presence of any naturally occurring hazardous
18 materials, and resuming construction only if the Department of Toxic Substances
19 Control determines that the construction will not interfere with any response
20 action necessary to address the hazardous material release or threatened
21 release or the presence of a naturally occurring hazardous material, determines
22 that the site conditions will not pose a significant threat to the health and safety

1 of workers involved in the construction of the schoolsite, and certifies that the
2 nature and extent of the release, threatened release, or presence of a naturally
3 occurring hazardous material have been fully characterized.

4 FF) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.2, subdivision (h), reimbursing the

²⁴ Government Code section 17556, as last amended by Chapter 589, Statutes of 1989:

“The commission shall not find costs mandated by the state, as defined in Section 17514, in any claim submitted by a local agency or school district, if, after a hearing, the commission finds that:

(a) The claim is submitted by a local agency or school district which requested legislative authority for that local agency or school district to implement the program specified in the statute, and that statute imposes costs upon that local agency or school district requesting the legislative authority. A resolution from the governing body or a letter from a delegated representative of the governing body of a local agency or school district which requests authorization for that local agency or school district to implement a given program shall constitute a request within the meaning of this paragraph.

(d) The local agency or school district has the authority to levy service charges, fees, or assessments sufficient to pay for the mandated program or increased level of service.

(e) The statute or executive order provides for offsetting savings to local agencies or school districts which result in no net costs to the local agencies or school districts, or includes additional revenue that was specifically intended to fund the costs of the state mandate in an amount sufficient to fund the cost of the state mandate.

(f) The statute or executive order imposed duties which were expressly included in a ballot measure approved by the voters in a statewide election.

4 relieve the state of its constitutional requirement to later reimburse school districts when
5 these activities became mandated.²⁵

6 SECTION 3. FUNDING PROVIDED FOR THE MANDATED PROGRAM

7 No funds are appropriated by the state for reimbursement of these costs
8 mandated by the state and there is no other provision of law for recovery of costs from

19 Public Resources Code, has consulted with the administering agency in which
20 the proposed schoolsite is located and with any air pollution control district or air
21 quality management district having jurisdiction in the area, to identify facilities

1 within one-fourth of a mile of the proposed schoolsite which might reasonably be
2 anticipated to emit hazardous air emissions, or to handle hazardous or acutely
3 hazardous materials, substances, or waste and has included a list of the 4 locations for which information was sought.

5 O) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213, subdivision (b), prior to approval of 6 a
7 project, making one of the following written findings:

8 (1) Consultation identified none of the facilities specified in subdivision (b).

9 (2) The facilities specified in subdivision (b) exist, but one of the following
10 conditions applies:

11 (A) The health risks from the facilities do not and will not constitute an 12 actual or potential endangerment of public health to persons who 13 would attend or be employed at the school.

14 (B) The governing board finds that corrective measures required under 15 an existing order by another jurisdiction which has jurisdiction over 16 the facilities will, before the school is occupied, result in the 17 mitigation of all chronic or accidental hazardous air emissions to 18 levels that do not constitute an actual or potential endangerment of 19 public health to persons who would attend or be employed at the 20 proposed school. If the governing board makes this finding, the 21 governing board shall also make a subsequent finding, prior to the

1 occupancy of the school, that the emissions have been mitigated to
2 these levels.

3 P) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a), prior to acquiring a
4 schoolsite, contracting with an environmental assessor to supervise the
5 preparation of, and sign, a Phase I environmental assessment of the proposed
6 schoolsite unless the governing board decides to proceed directly to a
7 preliminary endangerment assessment.

8 (1) The Phase I environmental assessment shall contain one of the following
9 recommendations:

10 (A) A further investigation of the site is not required.

11 (B) A preliminary endangerment assessment is needed, including
12 sampling or testing.

13 Q) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(2), if the Phase I
14 environmental assessment concludes that further investigation of the site is not 15 required, submitting the signed assessment, proof that the environmental 16 assessor meets the qualifications specified in subdivision (b) of Section 17210,
17 and the required fee to the Department of Toxic Substances Control.

18 R) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(3), if the
19 Department of Toxic Substances Control determines that the Phase I
20 environmental assessment is not complete, or disapproves the Phase I
21 environmental assessment, taking actions necessary to secure the approval of

1 the Phase I environmental assessment, elect to conduct a preliminary
2 endangerment assessment, or elect not to pursue the acquisition or the
3 construction project.

4 S) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(4)(A), if the
5 Department of Toxic Substances Control concludes, after its review of a Phase I
6 environmental assessment pursuant to this section that a preliminary
7 endangerment assessment is needed (or when a district elects to forego a
8 Phase I environmental assessment and proceed directly to a preliminary
9 endangerment assessment), submitting to the State Department of Education
10 the Phase I environmental assessment and requested additional information, if
11 any, that was reviewed by the Department of Toxic Substances Control.

12 T) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(4)(B), if the Phase
13 I environmental assessment concludes that a preliminary endangerment
14 assessment is needed, or if the Department of Toxic Substances Control
15 concludes after it reviews a Phase I environmental assessment pursuant to this
16 section that a preliminary endangerment assessment is needed, contracting with 17 an environmental assessor to supervise the preparation of, and sign, a
18 preliminary endangerment assessment of the proposed schoolsite and entering
19 into an agreement with the Department of Toxic Substances Control to oversee 20 the preparation of the preliminary endangerment assessment or electing not to

1 pursue the acquisition or construction project. The preliminary endangerment
2 assessment shall contain one of the following conclusions:

- 3 (i) A further investigation of the site is not required.
- 4 (ii) A release of hazardous materials has occurred, and if so, the extent of the 5 release, that there is the threat of a release of hazardous materials, or 6 that a naturally occurring hazardous material is present, or any
7 combination thereof.

8 U) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(5), submitting the
9 preliminary endangerment assessment to the Department of Toxic Substances
10 Control for its review and approval and to the State Department of Education for 11 its files.

12 V) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(6), at the same
13 time a school district submits a preliminary endangerment assessment to the 14 Department of Toxic Substances Control pursuant to paragraph (5), publishing a 15 notice that the assessment has been submitted to the department in a local 16 newspaper of general circulation, and posting the notice in a prominent manner
17 at the proposed schoolsite that is the subject of that notice. The notice shall state
18 the school district's determination to make the preliminary endangerment
19 assessment available for public review and comment.

20 W) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(7), complying with

1 the public participation requirements of Sections 25358.7 and 25358.7.1 of the
2 Health and Safety Code and other applicable provisions of the state act with
3 respect to those response actions only if further response actions beyond a
4 preliminary endangerment assessment are required and the district determines
5 that it will proceed with the acquisition or construction project.

6 X) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(8), if the
7 Department of Toxic Substances Control disapproves the preliminary
8 endangerment assessment, taking actions necessary to secure the approval of
9 the Department of Toxic Substances Control of the preliminary endangerment
10 assessment or electing not to pursue the acquisition or construction project.

11 Y) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(9), if the 12 preliminary
13 endangerment assessment determines that a further investigation of the site is 14 not required and the Department of Toxic Substances Control approves this 15 determination, then proceeding with the acquisition or construction project.

16 Z) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(10), if the 17 preliminary endangerment assessment determines that a release of hazardous
18 material has occurred, that there is the threat of a release of hazardous
19 materials, that a naturally occurring hazardous material is present, or any 20 combination thereof, that requires further investigation, and the Department of 21 Toxic Substances Control approves this determination, either electing not to

1 pursue the acquisition or construction project, or, electing to pursue the
2 acquisition or construction project. If electing to pursue the acquisition, doing all
3 of the following:

4 (A) Preparing a financial analysis that estimates the cost of response
5 action that will be required at the proposed schoolsite.

6 (B) Assesses the benefits that accrue from using the proposed 7 schoolsite when compared to the use of alternative schoolsites, if 8 any.

9 (C) Obtaining the approval of the State Department of Education that 10 the proposed schoolsite meets the schoolsite selection standards
11 adopted by the State Department of Education pursuant to 12 subdivision (b) of Section 17251.

13 (D) Evaluating the suitability of the proposed schoolsite in light of the 14 recommended alternative schoolsite locations in order of merit if
15 the school district has requested the assistance of the State
16 Department of Education, based upon the standards of the State
17 Department of Education, pursuant to subdivision (a) of Section
18 17251.

19 AA) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.1, subdivision (a)(11), reimbursing
20 the Department of Toxic Substances Control for all of the department's response
21 costs.

1 BB) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.2, subdivision (a), if a preliminary
2 endangerment assessment prepared pursuant to Section 17213.1 discloses the
3 presence of a hazardous materials release, or threatened release, or the
4 presence of naturally occurring hazardous materials, at a proposed schoolsite at
5 concentrations that could pose a significant risk to children or adults, and the 6 school district owns the proposed schoolsite, entering into an agreement with the
7 Department of Toxic Substances Control to oversee response action at the site
8 and taking response action pursuant to the requirements of the state act as may 9 be required by the Department of Toxic Substances Control.

10 CC) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.2, subdivision (c), if at anytime
11 during the response action the school district determines that there has been a

18 hazardous materials at the schoolsite no longer pose a significant risk to children
19 and adults at the schoolsite have been completed and that the response action
20 standards and objectives established in the final removal action work plan or 21 remedial action plan have been met and are being maintained.

1 EE) Pursuant to Education Code Section 17213.2, subdivision (e), if, at anytime
2 during construction at a schoolsite, a previously unidentified release or
3 threatened release of a hazardous material or the presence of a naturally

5 the sites, notifying the Department of Toxic Substances Control, and taking
6 actions required by subdivision (a) that are necessary to address the release or
7 threatened release or the presence of any naturally occurring hazardous
8 materials, and resuming construction only if the Department of Toxic Substances
9 Control determines that the construction will not interfere with any response
10 action necessary to address the hazardous material release or threatened
11 release or the presence of a naturally occurring hazardous material, determines
12 that the site conditions will not pose a significant threat to the health and safety
13 of workers involved in the construction of the schoolsite, and certifies that the 14 nature and extent of the release, threatened release, or presence of a naturally
15 occurring hazardous material have been fully characterized.

CHAPTER 557

An act to amend Section 15002.1 of, to amend and renumber Section 15002.2 of, and to add Section 15002.2 to, the Education Code, relating to school building sites.

[Approved by Governor August 24, 1976. Filed with Secretary of State August 25, 1976.]

03884 288640 772

SECTION 1. Section 15002.1 of the Education Code is amended to read:

15002.1. The governing board of a school district, prior to acquiring any site on which it proposes to construct any school building as defined in Section 15452 shall have the site, or sites, under consideration investigated by competent personnel to ensure that the final site selection is determined by an evaluation of all factors affecting the public interest and is not limited to selection on the basis of raw land cost only. If the prospective school site is located within the boundaries of any special studies zone or within an area designated as geologically hazardous in the seismic safety element of the local general plan as provided in subdivision (f) of Section 65302 of the Government Code, the investigation shall include such geological and soil engineering studies by competent personnel as are needed to provide an assessment of the nature of the site and potential for earthquake or other geologic hazard damage.

The geological and soil engineering studies of the site shall be of such a nature as will preclude siting of a school in any location where the geological and site characteristics are such that the construction effort required to make the school building safe for occupancy is economically unfeasible. No such studies need be made if the site or sites under consideration have been the subject of adequate prior studies. The evaluation shall also include location of the site with respect to population, transportation, water supply, waste disposal facilities, utilities, traffic hazards, surface drainage conditions, and other factors affecting the operating costs, as well as the initial costs, of the total project.

For the purposes of this article, a special studies zone is defined as one which is shown on any map, or maps, compiled by the State Geologist pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 7.5 (commencing with Section 2621) of Division 2 of the Public Resources Code. A copy of the report of each investigation conducted pursuant to this section shall be submitted to the Department of Education.

SEC. 2. Section 15002.2 is added to the Education Code, to read:

15002.2. Geological and soils engineering studies as described in Section 15002.1 shall be made, within the boundaries of any special studies zone, for the construction of any school building as defined in Section 15452 or, if the estimated cost exceeds ten thousand dollars ($10,000), the reconstruction or alteration of or addition to any such school building for work which alters structural elements. The Department of General Services may require similar geological and soils engineering studies for the construction or alteration of any school building on a site located outside of the boundaries of any special studies zone. No such studies need be made if the site under consideration has been the subject of adequate prior studies.

No school building shall be constructed, reconstructed, or relocated on the trace of a geological fault along which surface rupture can reasonably be expected to occur within the life of the school building.

A copy of the report of each investigation conducted pursuant to this section shall be submitted to the Department of General Services pursuant to Article 4 (commencing with Section 15451) of Chapter 2 of this division and to the Department of Education. The cost of geological and soil engineering studies and investigations conducted pursuant to this section may be treated as a capital expenditure.

SEC. 3. Section 15002.2 of the Education Code is amended and renumbered to read:

15002.3. The reconstruction of any school on all or a portion of a site which has been used for public school purposes uninterruptedly since prior to 1890 may be financed through the State School Building Aid and Earthquake Reconstruction and Replacement Bond Law of 1972 (Chapter 15.8 (commencing with Section 19946) of Division 14), if the legal title to such site or a portion thereof is held either by: (a) a city school district, or (b) a charter city, and a city school district has obtained or is in the process of obtaining a lease of not less than 50 years on such site or portion thereof from the charter city.

CHAPTER 242

An act to amend Sections 10550, 16084, 16320, 16323, 22603.3, 35146, 45259, 52302, 52343, 54483, 68130, 69642, 72122, 72332, 72340, 72425, 76001, 76002, 76004, 76403, 76425, 84500, and 87660 of the Education Code, to amend Sections 8203, 8330, 8367, 16044, 21189, 39002.5, 39602, 41201, 41856, 49063, 52327.5, 69532, 76140, 78452, 78601, 81165, 81602, 84520, 85233, 85235, 85237.5, 85243, 87009, and 89546 of the Education Code, as proposed by the 1977 Education Code Supplemental Act, to amend the heading of Article 6 (commencing with Section 76110), Chapter 1, Part 47 of, to amend and renumber the second Section 48607 of, to add Sections 39016, 39017, 39170.5, 41841.5, 52302.5, and 89758 to, to repeal Sections 72335 and 74370 of, and to repeal Chapter 21 (commencing with Section 17600) of Part 10 of, and to repeal and add Article 5 (commencing with Section 51260), Chapter 2 of Part 28 of, the Education Code, and to amend Section 41 of Chapter 1011 of Statutes of 1976, relating to education and recodification of the laws pertaining thereto, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

[Approved by Governor July 7, 1977. Filed with Secretary of State July 7, 1977.]

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. Section 8203 of the Education Code, as proposed by the 1977 Education Code Supplemental Act, is amended to read:

8203. It is the intent of the Legislature that in providing child development programs the Superintendent of Public Instruction will give priority to children of families who qualify under applicable federal statutes or regulations as recipients of public assistance and other low-income and disadvantaged families. Federal reimbursement shall be claimed for any child receiving services under this division for whom federal funds are available.

It is further the intent of the Legislature to maximize the Department of Education's capacity to stimulate and coordinate resources, provide technical assistance, monitor program implementation, generate maximum federal reimbursement wherever possible for the federally eligible children, and to provide alternative funding from state and local agencies for those children for whom federal reimbursement may not be available.

SEC. 2. Section 8330 of the Education Code, as amended by the 1977 Education Code Supplemental Act, is amended to read:

8330. The county superintendent of schools maintaining a child development program may include in its budget the amount necessary to carry out its program pursuant to this chapter. The county board of supervisors shall levy a county tax necessary to raise such amount in only those school districts, or community college districts for which the county superintendent of schools is providing or maintaining a child development program pursuant to Section 8321. Such tax shall be at a rate not to exceed ten cents ($.10) per one hundred dollars ($100) of assessed valuation and shall be in addition to any other county tax authorized by law to be collected. The revenue derived from taxes levied pursuant to this section may be used to purchase real property and fixtures, to make alterations or additions to existing buildings, and to purchase furniture, apparatus or equipment for child development facilities maintained by the taxing county superintendent of schools. As used in this section, "purchase" includes the acquisition of property under a lease-purchase agreement.

SEC. 3. Section 8367 of the Education Code, as amended by the 1977 Education Code Supplemental Act, is amended to read:

8367. Any city, county, or city and county charter provision to the contrary notwithstanding, each person employed by an agency on July 1, 1955, and each person employed by an agency on September 11, 1957, who was theretofore excluded, solely by reason of the provisions of the predecessor of Section 8366 in effect prior to July 1, 1955, or who was therefore excluded solely by reason of the provisions of the predecessor of this section prior to September 11, 1957, from membership in any retirement system in which the agency participates or to which it contributes for the purpose of providing retirement rights and benefits for employees of the agency not employed in a status requisite for membership in the State Teachers' Retirement System, shall become a member of the retirement system from which he was excluded, on July 1, 1955, or on September 11, 1957, if theretofore excluded solely by reason of the provisions of the predecessor of this section in effect prior to that date. Every such member shall be entitled to credit for service in child development programs rendered prior to July 1, 1955, or prior to September 11, 1957, if theretofore excluded, and before he became a member of the system, in the same manner as if he had not theretofore been excluded from membership in the retirement system, except that he shall not be required to make any contributions to the retirement system in respect to such service rendered prior to his membership, and all contributions necessary to provide benefits on account of such service shall be paid to the retirement system by the agency by which the member is employed. For the purpose of computing benefits for services rendered prior to July 1, 1955, as provided in this section, the average monthly salary earned by such employee in the fiscal year 1954-55 shall be used and for the purpose of computing benefits for service rendered between July 1, 1955, and September 11, 1957, for members receiving credit for service between those dates under the provisions of the predecessor of this section as amended by Chapter 1238 of the Statutes of 1957, the average monthly salary earned by such employees in the fiscal year 1956-57 shall be used.

Notwithstanding any other provisions of this section, for the purpose of computing benefits for any person retired on and after district, if a public hearing upon such question would lead to the giving out of information concerning school pupils which would be in violation of Article 5 (commencing with Section 49073) of Chapter 6.5 of Part 27 of this code.

Before calling such executive session of the governing board of the district to consider these matters, the governing board of the district shall, in writing, by registered or certified mail or by personal service, if the pupil is a minor, notify the pupil and his parent or guardian, or the pupil if the pupil is an adult, of the intent of the governing board of the district to call and hold such executive session. Unless the pupil, or his parent, or guardian shall, in writing, within 48 hours after receipt of such written notice of intention, request that the hearing of the governing board be held as a public meeting, then the hearing to consider such matters shall be conducted by the governing board in executive session. If such written request is served upon the clerk or secretary of the governing board, the meeting shall be public except that any discussion at such meeting that might be in conflict with the right to privacy of any pupil other than the pupil requesting the public meeting or on behalf of whom such meeting is requested, shall be in executive session. Whether the matter is considered at an executive session or at a public meeting, the final action of the governing board of the school district shall be taken at a public meeting and the result of such action shall be a public record of the school district.

SEC. 12. Section 39002.5 of the Education Code, as proposed by the 1977 Education Code Supplemental Act, is amended to read:

39002.5. Geological and soils engineering studies as described in Section 39002 shall be made, within the boundaries of any special studies zone, for the construction of any school building as defined in Section 39141, or if the estimated cost exceeds ten thousand dollars ($10,000), the reconstruction or alteration of or addition to any such school building for work which alters structural elements. The Department of General Services may require similar geological and soils engineering studies for the construction or alteration of any school building on a site located outside of the boundaries of any special studies zone. No such studies need be made if the site under consideration has been the subject of adequate prior studies.

No school building shall be constructed, reconstructed, or relocated on the trace of a geological fault along which surface rupture can reasonably be expected to occur within the life of the school building.

A copy of the report of each investigation conducted pursuant to this section shall be submitted to the Department of General Services pursuant to Article 3 (commencing with Section 39140) of this chapter and to the Department of Education. The cost of geological and soil engineering studies and investigations conducted pursuant to this section may be treated as a capital expenditure.

SEC. 13. Section 39016 is added to the Education Code, to read:
39016. The State Controller shall, during the next fiscal year following that in which the executive officer of the State Allocation Board certifies to him the amount of payment, deduct the total amount of the payment of each district in equal amounts from each of the February, March, April and May installments of the apportionments made to such district from the State School Fund under Sections 46304, 46305, and 41050, Sections 41330 to 41343, inclusive, and Sections 41600 to 41972, inclusive, whichever are in effect; provided, however, that in no event shall such deductions exceed an amount which would result in a district's receiving, in any school year, from the State School Fund, less than one hundred twenty dollars ($120) per pupil in average daily attendance in the district during the preceding school year. On order of the State Controller, the amount so deducted shall be transferred to the State School Site Utilization Fund which is hereby created.

SEC. 14. Section 39017 is added to the Education Code, to read:
39017. Whenever the State Allocation Board certifies to the State Controller that a school district, within two years of the date the State Allocation Board determines that such site is unused, has either begun to use a site affected by Sections 39015 and 39016 or has sold such site, the State Controller shall cease to withhold any additional payments and shall return to the district from the State School Site Utilization Fund all of the payments, without interest, which had been withheld for the particular site. If the school district begins to use or sell such site more than two years after the aforesaid determination, the State Allocation Board shall so certify to the State Controller and no further payments shall be withheld as specified in Section 39016.

SEC. 14.5. Section 39170.5 is added to the Education Code, to read:

39170.5. In bidding on contracts to be made pursuant to Section 39246, bidders may include in their bids abstractions of their quotations indicating the pricing structure used to compute the annual lease or rental payments for the sole purpose of identifying that portion of each annual lease or rental payment which may represent tax exemption reimbursement to the vendor, lessor or to their assignees.

SEC. 15. Section 39602 of the Education Code, as proposed by the 1977 Education Code Supplemental Act, is amended to read:

39602. The governing board of any school district may, by resolution, establish a fund or funds for losses, including, but not limited to, school district property, any liability, and workers' compensation in the county treasury for the purpose of covering the deductible amount under deductible types of insurance policies or losses due to noninsured perils. In the fund or funds shall be placed such sums, to be provided in the budget of the school district, as will create an amount which, together with investments made from the fund or funds, will be sufficient in the judgment of the governing board to protect the school district from such losses on the deductible amount under deductible types of insurance policies or losses due to subsequent personnel actions.

SEC. 57. Section 89758 is added to the Education Code, to read:

89758. (b) The lead agency preparing the environmental impact report or negative declaration has consulted with the city in which the proposed schoolsite is located, or with the county in which the proposed schoolsite is located if the proposed site is in an unincorporated area, and with any air pollution control district or air quality management district having jurisdiction in the area, to identify facilities within one-fourth of a mile of the proposed schoolsite which might reasonably be anticipated to emit hazardous air emissions.

(c) The governing board of the school district makes either of the following written findings:

(1) Consultation identified none of the facilities specified in subdivision (b).

(2) The facilities specified in subdivision (b) exist, but the health risks from the facilities do not and will not constitute an actual or potential endangerment of public health to persons who would attend or be employed at the school.

(1) The site of a current or former hazardous waste disposal site or solid waste disposal site and, if so, whether the wastes have been removed.

(2) A hazardous substance release site identified by the State Department of Health Services in a current list adopted pursuant to Section 25356 for removal or remedial action pursuant to Chapter 6.8 (commencing with Section 25300) of Division 20 of the Health and Safety Code.

(3) A site which contains one or more pipelines, situated underground or aboveground, which carries hazardous substances, acutely hazardous materials, or hazardous wastes, unless the pipeline is a natural gas line which is used only to supply natural gas to that school or neighborhood.

(b) As used in this section:

(1) "Hazardous substance" has the same meaning as defined in Section 25316 of the Health and Safety Code.

(2) "Acutely hazardous material" has the same meaning as defined in subdivision (a) of Section 25532 of the Health and Safety Code.
