Dear Ms. Halsey:

The State Controller's Office (SCO) is transmitting our response to the Commission's Draft Proposed Decision dated August 25, 2016, for the above IRC.

The Commission partially approved the IRC and recommended that the SCO reinstate a portion of the costs to the extent the claimant can provide documentation to support the validity of the costs incurred. The SCO would like to provide its comments in relation to the issues addressed in the Draft Proposed Decision.

If you have any questions, please contact me by telephone at (916) 323-5849.

Sincerely,

Animal Adoption Program

Commission's Analysis

In its Draft Proposed Decision (DPD), dated August 25, 2016, the Commission partially approved the IRC and requested that the SCO reinstate costs that relate to the following incorrect reductions to the extent the claimant can provide documentation to support the validity of the costs incurred. The Commission identified three categories of incorrect reductions:

1. Any reduction of costs relating to the SCO's exclusion of specified "birds" and "other animals" "legally allowed as personal property" and thus subject to the protection of the mandated activities;
2. Any reduction of costs relating to the exclusion of animals deemed treatable upon arrival at the shelter and later euthanized during the increased holding period because they became non-rehabilitatable; and
3. Any reduction of costs relating to the SCO's recalculation of costs following the Purifoy decision and its use of an average number of reimbursable days, to the extent the recalculation resulted in an exclusion of "eligible animals" correctly held under the law.

The Commission further found that all other reductions made by the SCO were correct.

SCO's Comments

The SCO maintains that the reductions in costs identified above were consistent with the intent of the mandated program and the reimbursable criteria. The SCO would like to offer comments relating to each one of the reductions.

1. Reduction of costs relating to the SCO's exclusion of specified "birds" and "other animals" "legally allowed as personal property"

The SCO analyzed a significant number of animal data obtained from the claimant's Chameleon Database system. The table on the following page represents the total number of animal records the city provided and the SCO reviewed and analyzed during the course of the audit.

Fiscal Year	Animal Record Type			Total
	Dogs and Cats	Other Animals	Birds
2000-2001	63,392	1,358	1,593	66,343
2001-2002	58,688	2,061	2,637	63,386
2002-2003	54,386	2,590	1,741	58,717
2005-2006	46,910	4,266	2,926	54,102
2006-2007	46,311	4,254	2,015	52,580
2007-2008	50,391	3,255	2,447	56,093
Total	320,078	17,784	13,359	351,221

The city ran a query from its Chameleon system during the course of the audit and provided the SCO with a listing of all animals by intake date for consistency. The city provided the data via Excel spreadsheets that allowed the SCO to analyze and sort the animal statistical information. The animal data contained the following fields:

- Animal ID number
- Intake Date
- Intake Type (primarily Stray, Owner Surrendered, Wildlife, Foster, Evidence, etc.)
- Intake Sub-Type (primarily Over the Counter, Return, Caught, Left at Shelter, Pick up, Humane, etc.)
- Animal Type (dog, cat, bird, other animal)
- Primary Breed (such as dove, duck, pigeon, chicken, mallard, parakeet, etc for birds; rabbit, turtle, slider, guinea pig, rat, hamster, snake, etc. for other animals; and various breed names for dogs and cats)
- Outcome Date
- Outcome Type (Adoption, Redeemed, Missing, Escaped, Released, Body Disposition, Died, Euthanized)
- Outcome Subtype (Irremediably Suffering, In Kennel, Medical, 8 Weeks [for newborn animals], Behavior Observation, Owner New, Rescue Group, etc.)

The SCO calculated total days held for each animal record using the intake and outcome dates.

The line items of the animal data contained a multitude of variable possibilities for each record including the fields identified above. The SCO analyzed this data by sorting various fields and grouping the population into subgroups, from which the SCO determined which animals met the requirements of the mandated program to be counted for reimbursement. Any animal record excluded from the reimbursement potentially contained multiple fields with non-reimbursable components.

This analysis was not arbitrary. The SCO staff conducted extensive interviews at various animal shelters at the City of Los Angeles and across the State, as many local agencies use the same animal tracking database system, and used animal shelter staff expertise to properly understand the animal data, categorize various animal populations without bias, and determine allowable animal populations that meet the criteria of the parameters and guidelines for this program.

The SCO's analysis of the claimant's Chameleon animal data is extensive. For example, the listing of all animal records for FY 2007-2008, including dogs and cats, other animals, and birds, would contain about 700 pages. This does not include pages containing the various analysis and data sorting activities performed to arrive at the end result. The SCO is providing a listing of animals for categories of Other Animals (Tab 3) and Birds (Tab 4) for FY 2007-2008 as an example.

The Commission made distinct comments in its DPD about the SCO excluding "ineligible other animals such as rodents, livestock, or wild animals" and "ineligible birds, such as pigeons, doves, ducks, chickens, owls, pheasants, mallards, and gamefowls" from reimbursement. The SCO wishes to point out that the list of exclusions noted in the Final Audit Report dated April 6, 2011, included all examples of excluded animals or birds, regardless of the materiality level. These exclusions were immaterial relative to all other exclusions that the Commission agreed with. For example, for FY 2007-2008, the exclusions in question for categories of other animals and birds combined totaled about 1.8% relative to all other exclusions that are not disputed.

The SCO excluded animals categorized as wildlife largely due to the fact that wild animals or wild birds are very unlikely to become personal property and they do not meet the definition of a stray or abandoned animal. The claimant's database specifically identified an intake type as "wildlife" and did not categorize wild animals primarily as "stray" or "abandoned" because in the vast majority of cases, these animals are not adoptable. The vast majority of wild animals are taken in injured at the shelters. Many of them die, are euthanized shortly after arrival, or are released if they become well. Therefore, the vast majority of these animal categories automatically are not allowable due to other factors. The actual exclusions of wild animal or wild bird categories just for the wildlife status alone were not only immaterial, but also appeared consistent with the intent of the mandate to keep stray or abandoned animals longer to increase their chances of becoming adoptable.

The Commission made some assumptions in its analysis of the SCO's exclusions related to "other animals" and "birds." The Commission used the example of rodents that were excluded as "other ineligible animals." The Commission writes "the Controller excluded all rodents, without evidence of the type of rodents excluded or whether the rodent can legally be allowed as a pet. Therefore, the Controller's exclusion of rabbits, guinea pigs, and hamsters.... is incorrect." The Commission's statement is factually inaccurate. It relies on the assumption that the claimant classified rabbits, guinea pigs, and hamsters as rodents in its animal records. The claimant classified those animals as separate categories or primary breeds. The SCO has deemed all stray rabbits, guinea pigs, and hamsters allowable, if those animals died during the increased holding period or were ultimately euthanized, per the requirements of the parameters and guidelines. The SCO considered rodents excluded only if they were categorized as wildlife upon intake. Such instances were extremely rare. The SCO's listing of excluded animals was an all-inclusive list of all exclusions regardless of how incidental those might have been. For example, for FY 2007-2008, the exclusions in question for category of "other animals" comprised only 0.2% relative to other proper exclusions noted for that fiscal year.

The Commission also pointed out the SCO's exclusion of "birds, such as pigeons, doves, ducks, chickens, owls, pheasants, mallards, and gamefowls." These exclusions were also immaterial relative to other proper exclusions, totaling about 3.7% for FY 2007-2008. For those excluded, the two most frequent material categories included pigeons and gamefowls. The pigeons were taken in as predominantly "wildlife." Many were injured and died, were euthanized shortly after arrival, or were released. The gamefowls were typically impounded under intake type “evidence” and predominantly included fighting birds that were confiscated for humane reasons and were euthanized either because of their injuries or aggressive behavior. These birds were not stray or abandoned and did not meet the reimbursable criteria of making animals adoptable.

The Merriam-Webster Dictionary defines the word “stray” as: a) an animal (such as a cat or dog) that is lost or has no home or b) a domestic animal that is wandering at large or is lost. It is reasonable to categorize some wild animals as wildlife rather than stray or abandoned. It is also reasonable to conclude that wild animals may not meet the definition of adoptable animal as well.

Civil Code section 1834.4, subdivision (a), states:

It is the policy of the state that no adoptable animal should be euthanized if it can be adopted into a suitable home. Adoptable animals include only those animals eight weeks of age or older that, at or subsequent to the time the animal is impounded or otherwise taken into possession, have manifested no sign of a behavioral or temperamental defect that could pose a health or safety risk or otherwise make the animal unsuitable for placement as a pet, and have manifested no sign of disease, injury, or congenital or hereditary condition that adversely affects the health of the animal that is likely to adversely affect the animal’s health I the future.

The intent of this mandate was to increase the holding period for stray or abandoned animals that could potentially be adopted or redeemed. The SCO’s exclusion of wild animals or various species consistent with wildlife, fighting birds impounded as “evidence” with aggressive behavior, or other birds considered wild took into account the fact that the animals were not stray nor abandoned, they were unlikely to be adopted, and did not meet the definition of an “adoptable” and “treatable” animal.

The SCO’s methodology to exclude these animals was not random or arbitrary. The SCO’s staff conducted extensive interviews at various animal shelters in the City of Los Angeles and across the State and used shelter staff expertise to properly understand the animal data, categorize various animal populations without bias, and determine allowable animal populations that meet the criteria of the parameters and guidelines for this program.

To demonstrate the relative immateriality of this issue at hand, the SCO revisited its analysis of the “other animals” and “birds” animal census data for FY 2007-2008. Because this process is time-consuming, the SCO will demonstrate only one year’s example. The table on the following page represents the data statistics for categories of Other Animals and Birds for FY 2007-2008.

¹ 48 out of 57 birds euthanized on days 3-6, were euthanized on day 3 for aggressive behavior and belonged to Evidence intake type and Humane sub-type.

² 96 previously excluded other animals and birds comprise 1.8% of total exclusions of other animals and birds in FY 2007-2008.

The addition of 96 unallowable animals previously excluded from reimbursement for various reasons addressed above would result in additional $7,356 in care and maintenance costs for FY 2007-2008.

2. Exclusion of animals deemed treatable upon arrival at the shelter and later euthanized during the increased holding period because they became non-rehabilitatable

The Commission found that the SCO's interpretation of the plain language of the parameters and guidelines was incorrect. The SCO relied on the phrase "animals that die during the increased holding period or are ultimately euthanized" as a judgement criteria to determine eligible animals for reimbursement. The Commission stated that this phrase was "vague and ambiguous" and needed further interpretation.

The SCO used the language in the parameters and guidelines as its primary judgement criteria. The SCO conducts its audits to the plain language of the criteria to avoid any bias. The Animal Adoption program's parameters and guidelines contain very detailed descriptions of the reimbursable activities, including very specific calculation steps, formulas, and animal population exclusions. The SCO used the criteria set forth by the Commission without exercising subjective interpretations, especially when the criteria was written with such specificity and detail. The SCO had no reason to treat this phrase as vague and in need of interpretation, when all other phrases, descriptions of activities, exclusions, and formulas contained very specific language and appeared to be intentional. Specifically, the use of the word “or” indicated the distinct separation between words “die” and “ultimately euthanized” as two unique categories.

Moreover, the statement “die during the increased holding period or are ultimately euthanized” was also consistent with the type of details captured in the claimant’s Chameleon database for all animal records. The animal records contained brief explanation categories if the animal was euthanized for medical reasons, behavioral reasons, time and space constraints, etc. The data did not provide further detail as to the health status of the animal from arrival to demise. However, the DPD described a hypothetical scenario of an animal coming in sick being deemed treatable, then non-rehabilitatable, and ultimately euthanized within the increased holding period as a result of its health changing. This scenario is simply impossible to track with the data being captured. The vast majority of animals that were euthanized within the first few days after impoundment were recorded as either irremediably suffering or having medical issues. If the animal record showed an animal being euthanized on day three for medical reasons, the shelter staff made a humane decision to relieve that animal of its suffering. Shelters across the State will delay euthanizing animals prematurely, as required by this mandate. This was evident from reviewing the animal records and statistics during the course of the audits for the Animal Adoption program. However, it is impossible to determine whether the animals euthanized for medical reasons would fit in the hypothetical scenario described in the DPD.

The recorded reasons for disposition of the animals are brief descriptions from the drop-down menu per the design of the claimant’s Chameleon system and its fields. The animals that were euthanized in the first few days after coming into the shelters predominantly suffered from serious medical conditions and therefore were not considered treatable or adoptable. The exclusion of these animals contained no bias from the SCO and was consistent with the plain language in the parameters and guidelines, for the lack of any other judgement criteria.

For those animals euthanized during the increased holding period, the level of detail necessary to review each individual animal’s health status and progression of their disease prior to euthanasia simply isn’t available from the animal data statistics maintained in the claimant’s Chameleon database.

Hypothetically, the shelters’ vets could have records with such specific analysis as whether the animal was initially considered treatable and then changed to non-rehabilitatable. However, this task would be most time-consuming, without the potential of leading to any material results. We believe that such an exercise would be impractical and would include subjective bias.

3. SCO’s recalculation of costs following the Purifoy decision and its use of an average number of reimbursable days

The SCO’s use of the average increased holding period days was the most reasonable and appropriate methodology to compute allowable costs for this mandate. This methodology was derived by performing a detailed analysis of all possible animal intake scenarios for each day of the week. This methodology is also unbiased and mathematically sound. The claimant clearly agreed, as the claimed information also used the average increased holding period days as well to compute claimed costs.

The Commission suggested in its DPD that the SCO should evaluate each animal’s intake information to determine the actual increased holding period of each animal. However, this suggestion assumes that an infinite amount of detail exists in each animal record and also assumes a practical ease of performing such calculations. In reality, it is practically impossible.

The claimant's animal data averaged between 50,000 and 60,000 line items per fiscal year, as noted in our comments above. The animal census data contains each animal's date of impoundment and the date of outcome. The Controller computed each animal's total number of holding period days, but used an average number of reimbursable days to determine the allowable population of animals and to compute allowable costs.

In order to compute the actual increased holding period days for every animal on an individual basis, we would need to know what day of the week the animal was impounded. In order to do so, someone would have to manually open each animal record and check what day of the week an animal came into the shelter. They would then need to evaluate, based on the calendar of the specific week and year, the actual number of days in the increased holding period. Once the animal's eligibility was established, someone would need to compute each animal's allowable costs using the reimbursable days. This task would be impractical and most likely would not produce results materially different from using an average calculation.

The Commission suggested that using an average reimbursable days potentially excludes a marginal amount of "eligible animals." We concur. However, we believe that it is equally possible that the use of this average also includes an equal number of non-eligible animals as well. The use of a mathematical average assumes some outliers. But in this case, it provides the most reasonable and cost-effective way to analyze unusually large quantities of animal data. In fact, the large size of the animal population (as noted above) makes the use of an average value statistically more accurate and decreases the probability of error.
